No. 1766-Est.-A.—The services of Major T. S. B. Williams, Indian Medical Service, have been replaced at the disposal of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India.

The 10th August, 1915.

No. 1367-G.—With reference to the notification of the Government of India, in the Foreign Department, No. 1606-G., dated the 29th July, 1910, the following revised section of the Political Department Memorial Rules is published for general information :—

II.—MEMORIALS, ETC., ADDRESSED TO HIS MAJESTY THE KING-EMPEROR OF INDIA, OR TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

1. Every memorial must be submitted to the Political Officer of the State within whose jurisdiction the subject matter has arisen, accompanied by a copy of the order appealed against and by a letter requesting its transmission to the authority to which it is addressed.

2. Memorials may be transmitted either in manuscript or in print, but must, with all accompanying documents, be properly authenticated by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet.

3. Subject to the exceptions hereinafter contained, every memorial received which conforms to the above rules should be forwarded by the Political Officer through the usual official channel with a concise statement of material facts, and, unless there be special reasons to the contrary, an expression of opinion.

4. Memorials, together with their accompanying documents, should be in English. If the accompanying documents must necessarily be forwarded in the vernacular, an English translation should be appended, which should be attested by the signature of the memorialist on each sheet.

N. B.—The transmitting officer should examine such translations, and if they are found to be incorrect or faulty, notice the fact in sending on the memorial.

5. Every memorial should be accompanied by copies of all the orders passed in the case by the authorities who have dealt with it in India.

6. Local Governments, Administrations, and Political* Officers in direct subordination to the Foreign and Political Department of the Government of India are vested with discretionary power to withhold memorials addressed to His Majesty or to the Secretary of State in the following cases :—

(1) When the memorial is illegible or unintelligible.

(2) When the memorial contains language which, in the opinion of the authority who would otherwise forward it, is disloyal, disrespectful, or improper.

(3) When a previous petition of the memorialist (which term includes a rejoinder submitted by the memorialist in answer to a previous petition of some other party) has been disposed of by the Secretary of State, and the petition discloses no new facts or circumstances which afford grounds for a reconsideration of the case.

(4) When the memorialist has not previously appealed to the Government of India (or the Government of Madras, Bombay or Bengal, as the case may be) and received the decision of the Governor General (or Governor) in Council upon it.

(5) When the memorial is an appeal preferred more than six months after the date on which the memorialist was informed of the orders against which he appeals, provided that the Local Government, Administration, or Political Officer, as the case may be, may, at their or his discretion, extend the period to twelve months, if the delay will facilitate a settlement of the dispute, or other good cause is shown.

(6) When the memorial refers to matters in which the memorialist is not personally interested.

(7) When the memorial is in effect an appeal in a boundary case between Native States in which the decision, original or appellate, of the Political Officer has been passed after enquiry on the spot and confirmed on appeal by the Local Government, Local Administration or the Government of India, as the case may be.

(8) Cases which turn entirely on questions of fact, where the Political Officer and Local Government or Local Administration are in agreement.

7. Provided they do not contravene the conditions specified in the preceding section, memorials which are appeals against orders passed by the Governor-General in Council (or Governor in Council in Madras, Bombay or Bengal, as the case may be) in the exercise of political control in territories not included in British India, shall be forwarded, except in the following cases in which a discretionary power to withhold the memorials may be exercised :—

†(1) When the order appealed against has been passed by the Government of India, Madras, Bombay or Bengal (as the case may be), as a recognised Court of Appeal in regard to a judgment or order of any Court of civil or criminal jurisdiction established or continued by the Governor General in Council in such territories.

(2) When the order appealed against is a mere refusal to exercise political control in regard to a judgment or order of any special Court established by the Governor

* Political Officers who are not Heads of Local Administrations may not exercise discretionary power to withhold memorials of the kind referred to in clauses (7) and (8) of Rule 6.

† Note to Rule 7 (1) of Sections I and II.—Memorials which are practically appeals for mercy or pardon must be transmitted. But their transmission will not affect the discretion in regard to capital sentences allowed to Local Governments and Administrations by the Home Department Resolution No. 20-1443-13, dated the 14th October, 1885, as modified by Foreign Department Circular letter No. 3289-I.B., dated the 30th August 1901.

General in Council in such territories, from which Court there is, by its constitution, no appeal, though a general political control over it is declared or understood to exist.

(3) When the order appealed against is a mere refusal to interfere in a matter of purely internal policy with the action or orders of the Ruler of a Native State, of which the memorialist is a subject: provided that the State is one in which it is not customary for the British Government to intervene in matters of internal policy, and that the matter complained of does not disclose a state of misrule so gross that the Paramount Power would be called upon to interfere.

N. B.—This rule applies to a temporary Administration established in a Native State by the Governor-General in Council when the temporary Administration is appointed to exercise the same powers and occupy the same position as the Native Administration which it supersedes.

8. Memorials from persons, * in such territories which are not covered by these rules, may be treated under the memorial rules of the Home Department when they are applicable.

* E. g., petitions from Government servants about dismissal, pensions, etc.

9. The following special rules apply to the case of appeals against the orders of the Government of Bombay:—

(1) In the following cases the decision of the Local Government shall ordinarily be considered as final, an appeal to the Secretary of State for India only being admissible with the permission of the Local Government, which should be previously obtained:—

(a) Giras cases in States of classes I to IV in Kathiawar, which would have been tried by the Rajasthanik Court when it existed, but are now tried by the States Huzur Courts from whose decision an appeal lies to the Agency and to the Local Government.

(b) Giras cases in States below class IV in which the decision of the Agent to the Governor, Kathiawar, is at present final under the rules sanctioned in Government Resolution No. 6511, dated the 18th November, 1898, subject to the general political control of the Local Government.

(c) Cutch Jadeja Court cases.

(2) Memorialists who desire to appeal against the orders of the Government of Bombay, in political cases shall have the option of addressing such appeals either to the Government of India or to the Secretary of State and such appeal shall be forwarded subject to the provisions of Rules 6 and 7. When in the exercise of this option an appeal has been presented to the Government of India, no further appeal shall lie to the Secretary of State. This rule shall not apply to—

(a) appeals in Giras cases or in those which are specially covered by any of the foregoing rules;

(b) memorials of the class specially reserved in Rule IV of the rules published with Home Department Notification No. 148 (Public), dated the 19th January, 1905;

(c) memorials which involve questions affecting the status, dignity or powers of a Ruling Chief or his relations with the Paramount Power (including questions of succession or adoption) and with other Chiefs.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Finance Department.

At a meeting of the Imperial Legislative Council held on the 24th of January 1914, the Hon'ble Mr. Rama Rayaningar moved a Resolution recommending that local Governments should be consulted as to the desirability of establishing Advisory Boards composed of non-official gentlemen nominated by the revenue heads of districts to assist officials in assessing income tax. After some discussion, in the course of which certain primâ facie objections to the policy advocated by the Hon'ble Mover were stated, the Resolution was accepted on the ground that it was advisable to consult local Governments and through them public opinion as to the practicability and expediency of adopting the proposed method of assessment.

2. The Government of India have now received the views of all local Governments and Administrations on the subject, and it is found that the proposal has been widely canvassed and unhesitatingly condemned by practically all who were consulted. The general conclusion arrived at is that the creation of formal Advisory Boards would not improve the accuracy of assessment and would tend to make the tax more unpopular.

3. The objections advanced by local Governments and the public bodies and individuals whom they consulted confirm generally the criticism to which the proposal was subjected in the discussion in the Imperial Legislative Council. The more important arguments are summarised below:—

I. It is widely felt that business men would have the strongest objection to the disclosure of their accounts, and consequently of important information regarding their financial credit and methods of business, to a Board composed of their neighbours and possibly including trade rivals. It is an accepted principle of Income Tax law that information of this kind, while necessary for purposes of assessment, should be regarded as absolutely confidential as between the State and the taxpayer, and the maintenance of this principle would be seriously endangered by the proposed system of assessment.

II. The principal utility of the proposed Boards would by hypothesis lie in their local and personal knowledge. It would therefore be necessary to appoint a special Board in each area of assessment and the authorities consulted anticipate the utmost difficulty in obtaining men possessing the requisite standing and sense of public responsibility. This difficulty would be specially great in rural areas. It is also urged that apart from other considerations the frequent prevalence of local factions would enhance the difficulty of securing a Board which would command the confidence both of Government and the assessees.

III. The proposed Advisory Boards would be exposed to conflicting influences, the sense of their duty to Government on the one hand and, on the other, pressure implied or expressed on the part of the assessees, with many of whom they would necessarily have some personal or business relations. The position would be most difficult to sustain, and it is generally believed that qualified men would be reluctant to undertake the task.

IV. It is represented that private individuals are often found by experience to be unwilling to take the responsibility of tendering advice in a formal and public way, and that influential and representative citizens who may at present be relied upon to give the Collector of Income Tax the benefit of their personal knowledge would thus be of diminished utility if identified with membership of an official committee.

V. The introduction of Advisory Boards would tend to weaken the sense of responsibility of the official Income Tax Collector. The duties which he performs are necessarily of an inquisitorial and somewhat distasteful nature, and it would not be an altogether unnatural result if he should display a tendency to throw as much responsibility as possible on the shoulders of the Advisory Boards.

4. These opinions appear to the Government of India to be conclusive and they do not therefore propose to take any further steps in the direction of requiring local Governments to constitute formal Advisory Boards for the assessment of the tax.

5. The Government of India, however, do not desire to interfere with the existing practice by which non-official agency is widely employed in an informal manner in connection with income tax assessments. It appears from the recent correspondence with local Governments that in every province the assessing officer is required to seek information from persons likely to be acquainted with the circumstances of those already on the assessment roll, or who might be brought on it. In towns, municipal commissioners and leading representatives of the different communities and of commercial and industrial interests, are consulted; and in rural areas, headmen, zaildars, and village panchayats where these exist. In one or two provinces small committees consisting of influential citizens, representative traders and manufacturers, are informally associated with Government officials in the work of assessment. The information thus collected is recorded confidentially by the Government assessing officer, and a further feature of the arrangements generally obtaining is that in each case efforts are made to obtain information from a number of independent sources with the object of correcting or eliminating as far as possible biassed or inaccurate statements. Or, again, where questions of accounts are concerned, the assessee may be permitted, if he so desires, to have his books examined by a non-official commission and care is taken to select for such commissions gentlemen well qualified by their knowledge of business, their familiarity with systems of accounts and by a reputation for trustworthiness.

These expedients are legitimate and suitable and it is understood that they have proved of material assistance in the work of assessing the tax. The matter, however, is one with which Provincial Governments are competent to deal, and it is unnecessary for the Government of India to do more than indicate their general approval of the methods employed, leaving it to local Governments to maintain and develope the existing procedure on practical lines suited to the varying circumstances of the communities with whom the assessing officer has to deal.

Ordered also that it be published in the Gazette of India.

No. 13461-W.—In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 19 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878 (VIII of 1878), as amended by Act XII of 1914, the Governor General in Council is pleased to prohibit the export of monazite sand from British India to all ports in Europe and on the Mediterranean and Black Seas other than those of the United Kingdom, France, Italy, Russia (except the Baltic ports), Spain and Portugal.

Provided that nothing in this Notification shall apply to goods shipped by, or for the use of, the Crown.

No. 13467-W.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 19 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878 (VIII of 1878), as amended by Act XII of 1914, the Governor General in Council is pleased to prohibit the bringing, by sea or by land, into British India of all goods, wares or merchandise from the United Kingdom which had previously been imported into that country from Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Switzerland and Italy, unless copies of the "Specification for Foreign and Colonial Merchandise" (Form 30) or the "Shipping Bill" (Form 64), as the case may be, in the forms prescribed by the Board of Trade and reproduced in the annexed Schedule, duly certified by the Customs authorities in the United Kingdom, are presented to the Customs Collector at the port of import in respect of such goods, wares or merchandise :

Provided that nothing in this notification shall apply to :—

(a) Goods imported under a general or special license granted by the Governor General in pursuance of the Trading with the Enemy Proclamation, No.2, as amended by the Proclamation of the 8th October 1914 ;

(b) Goods shipped for India before the 7th July 1915 ;

(c) The boná fide personal and household effects of persons entering the country ;

(d) Goods imported from an allied country by way of a neutral country on a through bill of lading or by through postal parcel, or in respect of goods of enemy origin imported under license ; and

(e) Imports of alabaster, carbide of calcium, codliver oil, curbstone, cyanide of calcium, flax, flaxseed, food-stuffs (other than sugar), granite, granite setts for paving, ice, iron ore, marble, pavement slates, paving slates, paving stones, sienna-earth, slatestone, strawboard, tar, timber of any kind (including pit props), mechanical wood-pulp (excluding cellulose).

Provided also that the Collector of Customs may, at his discretion and if he sees no reason for suspecting that the goods have emanated from an enemy territory, allow delivery of any goods, wares or merchandise exported from the United Kingdom after having been imported into that country from the other European countries specified above, even if unaccompanied by certified copies of the documents above prescribed, and not covered by the first proviso to this notification, on the importer furnishing him with a deposit or bond to the amount of three times the value of the goods to ensure the production of the necessary documents within a prescribed period.

Sec. No. 5345/1915

No. 13597-W.—The following Order in Council is published for general information :—

AT THE COUNCIL CHAMBER, WHITEHALL,

The 19th day of July, 1915.

By the Lords of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council.

WHEREAS it is provided by Section 2 of the Customs (Exportation Prohibition) Act, 1914, that any Proclamation or Order in Council made under Section 8 of the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1879, as amended by the Act now in recital, may, whilst a state of war exists, be varied or added to by an Order made by the Lords of the Council on the recommendation of the Board of Trade:

And whereas it is provided by Section 2 of the Customs (Exportation Restriction) Act, 1914, that any Proclamation made under Section one of the Exportation of Arms Act, 1900, may, whether the Proclamation was made before or after the passing of the Act now in recital, be varied or added to by an Order made by the Lords of the Council on the recommendation of the Board of Trade:

And whereas by a Proclamation, dated the 3rd day of February, 1915, and made under Section 8 of the Customs and Inland Revenue Act, 1879, and Section one of the Exportation of Arms Act, 1900, and Section one of the Customs (Exportation Prohibition) Act, 1914, the exportation from the United Kingdom of certain Warlike Stores was prohibited :

And whereas by subsequent Orders of Council the said Proclamation was amended and added to in certain particulars :

And whereas there was this day read at the Board a recommendation from the Board of Trade to the following effect :—

" That the exportation of the goods which, in virtue of the Proclamation of February 3rd and subsequent amending Orders of Council, are at present prohibited to be exported to all foreign ports in Europe and on the Mediterranean and Black Seas, other than those of France, Russia (except Baltic ports), Spain and Portugal, should be prohibited to all foreign ports in Europe and on the Mediterranean and Black Seas, other than those of France, Italy, Russia (except Baltic ports), Spain and Portugal."

Now, THEREFORE, Their Lordships, having taken the said recommendation into consideration, are pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, that the same be approved.

Whereof the Commissioners of His Majesty's Customs and Excise, the Director of the War Trade Department, and all other persons whom it may concern, are to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

No. 757.—The Governor-General in Council has much pleasure in directing the publication of the following letter from the Chief of the General Staff, dated the 29th July 1915, submitting a despatch from General Sir J. E. Nixon, K.C.B., Commanding, Indian Expeditionary Force "D," describing the operations in the vicinity of Shaiba,—12th to 14th April 1915. The Governor-General in Council concurs in the opinion expressed by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, regarding the conduct of the troops engaged in the operations and the manner in which the latter were carried out. His Excellency in Council also shares the opinion of the Commander-in-Chief that the manner in which the attack on the 14th April 1915 was executed, reflects the greatest credit on Major-General C. J. Melliss, V.C., C.B., and on the troops engaged.

No. 11741-1.

FROM

THE CHIEF OF THE GENERAL STAFF,

To

THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

SIR,

I am directed by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India to submit for the information of the Government of India the following report :—

Report by General Sir J. E. Nixon, K.C.B., Commanding Indian Expeditionary Force "D," on the Operations in the vicinity of Shaiba, 12th-14th April 1915.

2. His Excellency considers that the conduct of the troops in these operations was exemplary throughout, that the operations were skilfully carried out and that in particular, the manner in which the attack on the 14th April was executed, reflects the greatest credit both on Major-General Melliss and on the troops engaged.

3. His Excellency recommends that this report be treated as a despatch and published in the Gazette of India.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

(Sd.) P. LAKE, Lieutenant-General,
Chief of the General Staff.

INDIAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCE "D."

Basrah, 6th May 1915.

FROM

GENERAL SIR JOHN ECCLES NIXON, K.C.B., Commanding Force "D."

To

THE CHIEF OF THE GENERAL STAFF, SIMLA.

SIR,

I have the honour to forward for the information of the Government of India, the accompanying despatches from Major-General C. I. Fry, regarding the fighting at Shaiba on the 12th April, and from Major-General C. J. Melliss, V.C., C.B., regarding the action at Shaiba on the 13th, followed by the defeat of the Turkish forces on the 14th at the battle of Barjisiyah.

2. The Shaiba garrison on the 11th April 1915, consisted of the troops named in the margin, the whole under the command of Major-General Fry.

6th Division. 16th Brigade.

Brigadier-General W. S. Delamain, C.B., D.S.O.—
- 2nd Dorset Regiment.
- 104th Wellesley's Rifles.
- 117th Mahrattas.

18th Brigade.

Major-General C. I. Fry.—
- 2nd Norfolk Regiment.
- 110th Mahratta Light Infantry.
- 120th Rajputana Infantry.
- 48th Pioneers.
- 63rd Battery, Royal Field Artillery (less 1 gun) } 10th Brigade, Royal Field Artillery.
- 76th Battery, Royal Field Artillery. } 10th Brigade, Royal Field Artillery.
- 23rd Mountain Battery.
- 17th Company, Sappers and Miners.
- 22nd Company, Sappers and Miners.
- No. 34 Divisional Signal Company.

Cavalry Brigade.

Brigadier-General H. Kennedy.—
- "S" Battery, Royal Horse Artillery.
- 7th Lancers.
- 16th Cavalry.
- 33rd Cavalry.

The defensive perimeter, in which this force was camped, extended over 3½ miles.

During the flood season from February to June, water, varying in depth from one to four feet, lies between Basrah and the further shore, and two methods of approach are in use across this lagoon, one by wading across 6 miles and landing near Old Basrah, whence troops and convoys have to march another 4 miles to reach Shaiba; the other by using the native boat, known as "bellum," which is punted by two men and carries 8 to 10 armed men or their equivalent in stores or ammunition. This latter line of approach passes through nearly 8 miles of water. and is traversed transversely by a creek too deep to wade.

3. I took over command of this Force on the 9th April at Basrah from Lieutenant-General Sir A. A. Barrett, K.C.B., K.C.V.O., who was granted leave on the 10th by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief owing to ill health.

The same morning, about daybreak, a party of the horsemen reconnoitred close to Shaiba, but retired before our cavalry.

On the 11th it was reported that the enemy's cavalry had occupied Barjisiyah wood, and that some 4,000 infantry were moving into Shwebda; later in the day Major-General Fry, who had succeeded to the command of the 6th Division, reported that he considered them to be the advanced guard of the enemy's main forces, and that a serious engagement was probable within the next day or two.

I ordered the 30th Brigade, reinforced by the 30th Mountain Battery, under the command of Major-General Melliss, V.C., C.B., to move to Shaiba the following morning, and since he, as senior officer, would command all the forces there, I placed at his disposal the staff of the 6th Division and ordered them to proceed to Shaiba with him.

4. At about 7-30 A.M. on the 12th, General Fry reported that he was attacked from the south in force, and at 11-20 A.M. that he was confident of being able to resist all attacks but was unable to prevent the occupation of Old Basrah by the enemy.

Meanwhile, General Melliss' Brigade, having marched from Makina Masus, commenced its crossing about 9 A.M.

The water was high and the enemy disclosed guns and infantry near Old Basrah; at about 10 A.M. General Fry sent word to say that the enemy were in force between Shaiba and Old Basrah, and that he could not spare more than two battalions to co-operate with General Melliss' Brigade.

As, owing to the distance, I was unable to cover with guns the crossing of General Melliss' Brigade, and, moreover, as he could make no use in the water of the Mountain Battery which accompanied him, I ordered him to return after he had accomplished about one third of the journey, and to cross by "bellum" by the second route.

The boatmen refused to assist and only about 80 "bellums" were available; I therefore ordered men of the 20th Punjabis, who readily came forward, to punt them. By about 4 P.M. General Melliss, accompanied by the Staff of the 6th Division and most of the 24th Punjabis, started and got successfully across to Shaiba that evening by about 10-30 P.M. During the return journey these "bellums" were attacked by the enemy in some force.

These were the only reinforcements which I found it possible to send by the evening of the 14th. The enemy in "bellums" were in considerable force in the lagoon on the route taken on the 13th, and it was therefore necessary to organise better protection for the next day in the shape of a special guard with mountain guns placed on "bellum" rafts. This convoy got across on the 14th with gun ammunition and the remainder of the 24th Punjabis and the arrangements made would have allowed this convoy to be continued daily.

5. The actions themselves are described by the Commanders, and I will now pass on to the part played by the Euphrates Blockade Flotilla, consisting of armed launches, small steamers and gun barges on which were mounted two 4·7", one 12-pr, and three 3-pr. Naval guns, one 5" B. L. and one 18-pr. gun. This flotilla, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel R. P. Molesworth, R.G.A., was enabled to do good service, aided as it was by the valuable assistance of Lieutenant A. G. Seymour, R.N., H.M.S. "Espiegle," officers and men of the Royal Navy on this station.

When the fighting commenced round Shaiba on the 12th, this Flotilla was operating off Nakhailah intercepting supplies, which were coming to the enemy across the water in "mahailas" (country boats of from 30 to 80 tons burthen).

The Officer Commanding the Blockade, having observed the action of Barjisiyah on the 14th, approached Nakhailah early on the morning of the 15th and finding that many of the enemy were escaping in native craft, at once gave chase and pursued them to Ratawi, destroying 8 and capturing 4 large "mahailas"; a heavy gale on the following day forced him to lie to.

On the 17th he reached Chubashiah but found it entirely desetred. The enemy were seen retiring in scattered groups across the desert, and though he fired a few rounds at them, they offered no target. It would appear, from subsequent information, that, during their retreat, the enemy were harassed and robbed by their former allies, the Arabs, and that they fled across the desert in wild confusion, scarcely halting until they reached Kamsieh, a distance of close on 90 miles from the scene of their defeat, so thoroughly disorganised were they.

It is now known that Suleiman Askeri, the Turkish Commander, shot himself at Nakhailah after assembling his officers and denouncing the faithlessness of the Arabs.

A large quantity of ammunition, both gun and rifle, was captured upon the battlefield at Barjisiyah and subsequently at Nakhailah; this was either brought in or destroyed on the spot. The total in round numbers amounts to some—

1,500 shell—4·5", 15-pr., and Mountain gun.

400—500,000 rounds S. A. A.

3,000 hand-grenades, some boxes of lyddite and a number of bombs, fuzes and primers.

6. I cannot speak too highly of the steadiness, spirit and pluck shown by the troops in these actions, nor of the able manner in which they were handled by their Commanders.

In the battle of Barjisiyah our troops had to attack over open ground a superior force of the enemy, skilfully entrenched and concealed, on a front of over 3 miles.

The Turkish troops showed themselves well trained and exhibited tenacity and courage; while their musketry and machine gun fire were remarkably effective.

In driving such an enemy from his position by a bayonet charge, after a steady advance in the face of a hot fire, the British force performed a feat of which any troops might be proud.

7. The races, from which the portion of the Southern Army engaged here are drawn, have shown, in the stiffest fight which has fallen to their lot for years, a steadfastness and gallantry worthy of all praise.

Mahrattas, Dekhani Mahomedans, men from Rajputana, Gujars and Mers have earned for themselves in these operations a proud reputation. They vied with their British comrades in this field, the Royal Artillery—the Norfolks—the Dorsets, in spirit and resolution, and have added lustre to their former traditions.

8. Major-General Fry, under whose orders the defences of Shaiba had been organised, made a very successful defence against the enemy's constant attacks for the first 24 hours, during which the enemy suffered heavy losses and were everywhere repulsed.

9. I would specially bring to notice the services of Major-General C. J. Melliss, V. C., C. B., who at once seized the opportunity of taking the offensive and, after driving the enemy from the vicinity of Shaiba on the 13th April, followed up this success the next day by attacking the Turkish forces in the strong position to which they had retired.

The determination and skill with which he handled his troops on the 14th April resulted in the complete defeat of the enemy after a very hard-fought action, and I fully endorse his recommendation that Barjisiyah be commemorated as a battle honour for the corps engaged.

10. I entirely agree with the recommendations made by Major-Generals Fry and Melliss in the Despatches I am now forwarding and I will only add remarks with regard to the following officers:—

Brigadier-General W. S. Delamain, C. B., D. S. O.—This officer has consistently distinguished himself in command of his Brigade throughout the campaign, and has shown marked ability as a Commander.

Colonel R. N. Gamble, D.S.O., General Staff Officer, 6th Division, was Senior Officer to Major-General Melliss, who speaks most warmly of the services he rendered throughout the hard-fought and successful operations of the 13th and 14th April. I would also add that his thorough knowledge of the locality, of the troops, and of earlier operations has been of the greatest assistance to me.

Lieutenant-Colonel E. S. Cleeve, Royal Field Artillery.—This officer has shown himself an exceptionally able Artillery Commander, who, until disabled by a wound on the 14th April, handled his guns, not only to the admiration of his own side, but also to that of the officer commanding the opposing artillery. That Turkish officer, when taken prisoner, particularly requested that he might be presented to the officer who had directed the fire of the British guns, as our artillery fire, he said, had silenced the Turkish batteries in rapid succession in a way that he would not have considered possible.

11. In addition I wish to mention the following who prominently came to my notice, and who were not under the orders of either Major-General Fry or Major-General Melliss.

Major-General G. F. Gorringe, C. B., C. M. G., D. S. O.—In addition to the command of his own Division, he ably commanded the local defence troops and also undertook the temporary organization of the Communications and Base. His experience of river expeditions rendered him most valuable in arranging the despatch of troops and supplies across the lagoon between Basrah and Shaiba.

Lieutenant-Colonel R. P. Molesworth, R. A., for some weeks commanded the Euphrates Blockade Flotilla, which, with the aid of the Royal Navy, often under extremely arduous and hazardous conditions, did excellent service in stopping the enemy's supplies and harassing his retreat. Lieutenant-Colonel Molesworth has shown much enterprise and energy in these duties and also in reconnaissance work which has been most valuable.

Captain C. A. Pogson, 117th Mahrattas, has done very valuable intelligence work in connection with the Euphrates Blockade and showed much enterprise and daring. He has probably undergone more continuous hardships than any other individual in the force.

Lieutenant R. H. Dewing, Royal Engineers.—On April 15th, the Euphrates Blockade guns drove two "mahailas" (large country cargo boats) into the reeds. Lieutenant Dewing went in after them and destroyed them with explosives.

Lieutenant Commander A. G. Seymour, R. N. (H. M. S. Espiegle).—The guns and gun crews of the Royal Navy under this officer have contributed largely to the success of the Euphrates Blockade, while his advice on Naval matters and constant support were most valuable to the Officer-Commanding.

Major (temporary Lieutenant-Colonel) L. H. Queripel, R. A., Deputy Director of Army Signals, Head Quarters, has shown energy and capability in meeting the sudden strain thrown on the signal service by the operations round Shaiba.

Captain F. Booth, The King's Own (Royal Lancaster Regiment); No. 34 (Divisional Signal) Company.—His zeal and unremitting supervision successfully disposed of the heavy traffic that was unceasing between 12th and 16th April.

2nd-Lieutenant J. McConville, The King's (Liverpool Regiment) No. 34 (Divisional Signal) Company, from 12th to 16th April never left his station day or night, doing very valuable work.

No. 46, Serjeant A. Butcher, No. 34 (Divisional Signal) Company, between 12th and 16th constantly helped the Signallers in their work besides directing traffic and supervising the repair of lines. His services were of the greatest use.

Jemadar Marugesan, No. 34 (Divisional Signal) Company, made two brave attempts on 12th April to repair the Shaiba line, but on both occasions was recalled by the General Officer Commanding, 30th Brigade. Between that date and the 16th supervised his station with unremitting zeal.

No. 370, Naik Sher Ali, 20th Duke of Cambridge's Own Infantry (Brownlow's Punjabis) behaved with initiative and gallantry during the attack on a " bellum " convoy on night of the 12th-13th April.

Colonel P. Hehir, Indian Medical Service, Acting Deputy Director of Medical Services, materially assisted the operations by the ability and untiring energy which he displayed in the working of the important department over which he at the time was presiding.

Major H. A. Bransbury, Royal Army Medical Corps, commanded the sections of No. 19 Combined Clearing Hospital that carried out the evacuation of the wounded after Shaiba—attended himself to all cases (over 1,100 wounded including those of the enemy) as they arrived, displaying much initiative and resource.

4th Class Assistant Surgeon H. N. Murphy, Indian Subordinate Medical Department, was attached to No. 19 Combined Clearing Hospital during the evacuation of wounded from Shaiba—worked with untiring energy and marked intelligence, proving himself to be very capable and reliable.

12. Others of the Medical Service I consider worthy of commendation are :—

Lieutenant-Colonel H. M. Adamson, Royal Army Medical Corps.—(Commanding No. 3 A., British General Hospital up to 21st April).

Lieutenant-Colonel G. B. Irvine, Indian Medical Service.—(Commanding No. 9, Indian General Hospital).—

Lieutenant-Colonel D. J. Collins, Royal Army Medical Corps.—(Commanding No. 3 A., British General Hospital after 21st April).

Lieutenant-Colonel F. J. Palmer, Royal Army Medical Corps.—(Surgical Specialist, No. 3 A., British General Hospital).

Major H. R. Brown, Indian Medical Service.—(Commanding No. 19 Combined Clearing Hospital).

Captain C. C. C. Shaw, Indian Medical Service.—(No. 19 Combined Clearing Hospital).

Captain G. F. Graham, Indian Medical Service.—(Medical Officer, 20th Duke of Cambridge's Own Infantry, Brownlow's Punjabis).

1st Class Assistant Surgeon W. H. Brown, Indian Subordinate Medical Department.—(In charge of Depôt of Medical Stores).

13. In conclusion I cannot fail to mention the great assistance I received from Major-General G. V. Kemball, C.B., D.S.O.—Major-General, General Staff, and Brigadier-General W. G. Hamilton, D. S. O., Deputy Adjutant and Quartermaster-General, to whom I am much indebted for their able support; also to Lieutenant-Colonel Sir P. Z. Cox, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., the Chief Political Officer.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN NIXON, General,

Commanding Indian Expeditionary Force "D".

Report on the Operations at Shaiba on 11th and 12th April 1915, by Major-General C. I Fry, Indian Army, Commanding at Shaiba.

No. 1815 (Confidential), dated Dirhamiyah, 21st April 1915.

From—MAJOR-GENERAL C. I. FRY, Commanding at Shaiba,

To—Major-General, General Staff, Indian Expeditionary Force "D."

I have the honour to submit this report which deals with the first portion of the operations at Shaiba and covers the period during which I was in command of the garrison.

11th April 1915. 7 A.M.

2. The first indication of the advance of the Turkish forces from Nakhailah was a message received from my normal protective Cavalry reconnaissance at 7 A.M., to the effect that Barjisiyah Wood and Shwebda were occupied by hostile cavalry and that further troops were advancing on the latter place from the north-west.

9 A.M.

The Protective Cavalry were reinforced by the 33rd Cavalry and at 9 A.M. information was received that a large body of the enemy's cavalry had been located in Barjisiyah Wood, another body behind it, a large body of Arabs to the north-west of Shwebda and a large column of regular infantry estimated at 4,000 men was advancing on Shwebda from the direction of Nakhailah. No guns could be distinguished and there were no signs of enemy in other directions.

3-30 P.M.

Except for the approach of the columns on Shwebda, the situation remained unchanged till about 3-30 P.M., when our advanced patrols were driven back by hostile cavalry.

4 P.M. 7 P.M.

At 4 P.M., the 6th Cavalry Brigade under Brigadier-General H. Kennedy moved out, supported by a small mixed column always held in readiness for the occasion. The enemy, however, retired in to Barjisiyah Wood and by 7 P.M. all was quiet.

3. My intelligence this evening pointed to an attack during the later portion of the night by a force of some 12,000 Regulars (mostly Kurds).

12 Field Guns.
10,000 Tribesmen.

The plan of attack was said to be—

(a) An attack by the Turkish Regulars direct on the Fort.

(b) Saiyid Yezdi and his following were to attack, from Ana's Tomb, the north of our position.

(c) Ajaimi's Tribesmen on the south of Shaiba from Zubair.

(d) Yusuf, with the "beni malick", from Old Basrah.

All tents were struck and troops occupied their alarm posts.

The distribution of the Garrison, which varied only slightly during the ensuing day, is given in the sketch Map of Shaiba Defences.*

12th April 1915. 5 A.M.

4. The expected attack was actually made at 5 A.M., on 12th April 1915, and turned out to be very much on the above plan. Heavy fire was opened on the Fort Section of the defences from the west and south-west just as it was becoming light, our two piquets in this direction making the enemy disclose themselves and retiring without loss.

The enemy's advanced line reached to about 900 yards of the position and were then checked.

5-45 A.M.

At 5-45 A.M. enemy's gun fire was opened on the Fort from 2 guns to the westward and these were engaged by our Field Artillery.

6-10 A.M.

A determined advance of the Turkish Infantry was made at 6-10 A.M., supported by heavy rifle fire mainly against South Salient, but their attacking line was extended round the west of the Fort up to Kiln Post.

* Vide Map No. 1 in pocket (not reproduced.)

6-30 A. M.

Large bodies of enemy's infantry were seen advancing over the horizon to the westward and masses were also seen occupying the ridge of hills immediately north of Old Basrah.*

7 A. M.

8 A. M.

By 7 A. M. the enemy were definitely repulsed and retired leaving small parties in observation, who entrenched themselves about 1,700 yards from the west and south-west of our position. The attack against Cairn post was not very determined and broke up about 8 A.M., considerable numbers, however, collecting in the tamarisk wood to the south of that post.

9 A. M.

5. Hitherto on the northern face of the position all had been quiet and the defences at Kiln Post and West Work had not been seriously engaged, but at 9 A.M. a large force ofi rregulars with 6 standards occupied North Mound and houses in the vicinity. Here they remained all day and the subsequent night, making various attempts to advance on our position, but they were easily checked by rifle and machine gun fire.

6. Meanwhile further enemy's guns had opened on the position till it was estimated that they had two heavy 4·5", six Field and four Mountain guns dispersed mostly in pairs in an arc extending from west to the south.

11 A. M.

Their heavy guns kept up a good and accurate fire but never exactly located our batteries, which were under cover, while their other guns did little harm, their shells in most cases bursting too high. Our artillery observing officers on Kiln Post located the flashes of the enemy's artillery and in most cases their detachments were driven off, and 6 guns were completely silenced—these guns were withdrawn in the middle of the day while the mirage rendered their position invisible. Two guns of 23rd Mountain Battery, which had been placed for the night immediately south of the Fort, were withdrawn about 11 A. M. without difficulty.

7. Preparations had been made for the despatch of a column of all arms towards Old Basrah to cover the landing of the 30th Brigade and a Mountain Battery, which were known to have left Basrah. This, however, was not put into effect as that force was recalled to Basrah.

2-15 P. M.

8. The enemy resumed their attack at 2-15 P.M., mainly directed as before on the South Salient, and to prevent them establishing themselves on the western portion of the Dorset position I sent ½ Battalion 2nd Norfolk Regiment from the reserve to occupy this place, replacing them in my General Reserve by ½ Battalion 2nd Dorset Regiment from 16th Brigade.

2-30 P. M.

9. Up to this time nothing of note had occurred on the Eastern Defence work beyond some sniping, but at 2-30 P. M. as the snipers had become troublesome to the Artillery observation post, Major Wheeler, 7th Lancers, volunteered to take his squadron and clear them. The movement was made at the gallop, but the original objective was covered by enemy's irregulars in a hidden position—these were ridden over and many lanced, while "S" Battery, Royal Horse Artillery, and machine guns repelled an attempted counter-attack by hostile horsemen. The manœuvre was very effective and the squadron was admirably led with great dash by Major Wheeler, who lost only one man and three horses wounded.

3 P.M.

4 P. M.

10. At 3 P. M. the attack died away and sniping tactics were resorted to—and soon afterwards about 3-25 P. M. further enemy's guns opened fire from a southerly direction, and at 4 P. M. the enemy's artillery appeared to be registering ranges on various portions of the positions with percussion fuze without doing much damage.

Night arrangements.

11. For the ensuing night I reinforced Cairn Post with a Double Company 120th Infantry from the southern portion of East Work, their place being taken by a Double Company 110th Light Infantry. The ½ Battalion, 2nd Norfolk Regiment, was withdrawn from Dorset position to their original position and the ½ Battalion, 2nd Dorset Regiment, rejoined the 16th Brigade. To increase my reserve, however, I asked General Delamain for ½ Battalion from 16th Brigade and this, furnished by the 117th Infantry, was placed centrally between the two portions of Piquet Hill Works. During the earlier part of the night the 24th Punjabis arrived in "bellums" from Basrah and bivouacked near the Cavalry Camp.

* Vide Sketch Map, Appendix B, page 14 (not reproduced.)

12. About 5 P. M. a distinct rearward movement was noticed in front of our north defensive line and fourteen big "bellums" were seen going off in a northerly direction filled with Arabs from North Mound vicinity. 5 P. M.

13. At dusk a furious attack was made from the western extremity of Dorset position, supported by fire from south-west and west, heavy rifle and machine gun fire being brought to bear on the South Salient and ground immediately east and west of the Fort, but they made no progress and the attack died away to intermittent firing. The machine gun in South Salient was out of action from 7 P. M. to 9 P. M. but was replaced by one from the 48th Pioneers during this time, and the searchlight here too was put out of action by rifle fire 15 minutes after it had opened up. 6-45 P. M. 7 P. M.

14. Throughout the night intermittent firing, with occasional heavy bursts with machine gun fire, took place to cover bold attempts to cut our wire entanglements, especially on South Salient where the enemy's main efforts were concentrated, though these attacks extended to the north end of the Fort on our right and to Cairn Post on the left. The brunt of these attacks fell on the 48th Pioneers and 17th Company, 3rd Sappers and Miners, which units with ceaseless vigilance repelled every effort of the enemy. During the heavier periods of the attacks the star shell fired by Field and Mountain Artillery greatly assisted in the defence. The machine gun of the 2nd Norfolk Regiment at the southern extremity of South Salient did most excellent service throughout the day and night in a very exposed position. The 120th Infantry and portion of the 110th Light Infantry in East Work and Cairn Post were less heavily engaged, but frequently repelled the efforts of wire cutters and were throughout alert for developments.

15. At 11 P.M. the enemy were heard digging off South Salient and a half Double Company 48th Pioneers was held in readiness to meet any penetration by the enemy, while I held 1 Double Company 2nd Norfolk Regiment ready for particular support in this direction. 11 P.M.

16. The night thus passed with occasional lulls till 3-30 A M., when the final attempt was made and small parties were seen close up to the entanglements (one party was heard to call out in Hindustani "Do not fire"). After this no further attacks were made and all became quiet. 13th April.

17. From 4-30 A.M. Major-General Melliss, V.C., C.B., who had arrived late the previous evening with the 6th Divisional Staff, took over command of the garrison, but not being 'au fait' with the defence arrangements, had left the conduct of the operations for the night to me, and my report on subsequent operations has been submitted to him. 4-30 A.M.

18. The casualties during this action were comparatively slight and were, approximately, British officers, wounded, 4; Rank and file killed 5, wounded 62.

19. The artillery expended some 1,495 shrapnel and 15 star shell during the above period of the action.

20. The 6th Cavalry Brigade were not employed during the day except one squadron 7th Lancers and "S" Battery, Royal Horse Artillery, under Lieutenant-Colonel C. A. Sykes, Royal Horse Artillery, which did good work in co-operation with the Infantry and other Artillery; they however came in for many casualties among their horses as, unfortunately, their camp was situated directly behind the Fort Section of the defence and in line with the main hostile attacks. I wish to mention:—

Major G. G. M. Wheeler, 7th Lancers.—For the gallant and admirable leading of his Squadron in the charge against a body of the enemy south of Piquet Works, who had been causing much annoyance to our artillery observation post, with a most successful and effective result.

21. The Artillery afforded, as has been my experience throughout the campaign, a magnificent support and their rapid location of the enemy's guns was followed by a slackening and in many cases a cessation of their fire. Lieutenant-Colonel E. S. Cleeve, R.F.A., most efficiently directed the artillery during the defence as my C. R. A. and I would also mention—

Major E. V. Sarson, R.F.A. Major H. Broke Smith, R.F.A. Major E. E. Edlmann, D.S.O., R.G.A.	for their clever handling of their batteries and accuracy of fire in silencing the enemy's guns and repelling his attack.

22. The 16th Infantry Brigade were not seriously engaged during the day or night and the General Officer Commanding has no recommendations to make. I would like however to pay tribute to Brigadier-General W. S. Delamain, C.B., D.S.O., and his Brigade, who originally constructed the defences which the 18th Infantry Brigade were occupying.

23. I wish to bring forward to special notice the very gallant defence made by the 48th Pioneers and 17th Company, 3rd Sappers and Miners, who bore the brunt of the enemy's attacks. All ranks behaved with great steadiness and their vigilance and good shooting repelled all attempts of the Turkish forces to break through the defences. This section of the defence was admirably commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel A. J. N. Harward, 48th Pioneers.

The following further names are brought forward for recognition :—

No. 365 Naik Hukmi, 48th Pioneers, when at dawn No. 7 Piquet retired, refused to leave the piquet until the last man had got away safely under a heavy fire.

No. 345 Havildar Harchand, 48th Pioneers, commanded No. 7 Piquet and withdrew his men with skill and coolness so well that the enemy continued to fire into the piquet position after its evacuation.

No. 1686 Sepoy Chanda Singh }
No. 1406 Sepoy Naraın Singh } 48th Pioneers, stretcher bearers, brought in a dangerously wounded man to the aid post for 100 yards under very heavy enfilade fire.

24. The 17th Company, 3rd Sappers and Miners (with 48th Pioneers), withstood all the shocks of the Turkish attacks, being in occupation of the South Salient, with utmost coolness and steadiness and were ably commanded by Captain E. J. Loring, R.E., I would mention—

No. 31125 Sapper C. A. Wells, R.E , Searchlight Section, who did excellent work under heavy fire till his light was put out of action.

Jemadar Mohammed Din, No. 17 Company, 3rd Sappers and Miners.—For his coolness under heavy fire and the able way in which he directed the fire of his men under trying circumstances in a particularly exposed part of the defences.

25. The 120th Rajputana Infantry under Major P. F. Pocock, though not very seriously attacked during the day, were frequently assailed at night in attempts of the enemy to cut their wire entanglement. They occupied a somewhat exposed position at Cairn Post and behaved very steadily and with great coolness.

26. The 2nd Norfolk Regiment and 110th Light Infantry, excepting 1 Double Company of the latter under Lieutenant-Colonel Britten, who were engaged during the night in repelling attempts on their obstacles, were not seriously engaged, though kept continually on the alert, especially at night, to meet developments. I mention—

Lieutenant H. S. Farebrother, 2nd Norfolk Regiment, for his skilful handling of the machine gun at South Salient until seriously wounded.

No. 6592 Lance-Corporal R. Waller, 2nd Norfolk Regiment, was in charge of the machine gun at South Salient after Lieutenant Farebrother was wounded and handled his gun exceedingly well and assisted largely in keeping off the attack when it was heaviest. Though wounded, he still continued to direct the work of the gun throughout the night 12th-13th.

The action of Lieutenant Farebrother and Lance-Corporal Waller has also been brought to my notice by Lieutenant-Colonel Harward, Commanding the Fort Section, in which this machine gun was employed in a very important and exposed position. He reports that the accuracy and intensity of the fire was remarkably good.

27. Medical.—I cannot speak too highly of the behaviour of the Medical Department in all its ranks. There was no flinching during the bombardment and perfect steadiness, and their work was done in a most efficient manner under the able direction of Lieutenant-Colonel J. Hennessev, R.A.M.C. As I have already noted during this campaign, the Army Bearer Corps and Hospital Corps behaved excellently. I would particularly bring to notice the good work done by—

Major T. G. Foster, R.A.M.C., and Captain R. E. Wright, I.M.S., No. 3 Field Ambulance, who were working in the Fort Section of the defence and most exposed to fire.

28. 34th Divisional Signal Company.—I wish to specially notice the excellent work done by the 18th Brigade Section of this company. Throughout the operations under report they were constantly engaged in the dual capacity of Brigade Signal Section and Divisional Signal Section, being the link between me and my whole force. They were consequently exceedingly hardworked and got no rest. I cannot speak too highly of their work and they were ably commanded by Captain H. G. Morrell who was untiring in his exertions.

I would also bring to favourable notice—

No. 41 Serjeant F. Murphy for continuous hard work supervising both telephone and visual signalling.

No. 16 Corporal J. Sleven for unremitting assistance in looking after and keeping telephones in working order. He also laid a fresh line to Cairn Piquet under heavy fire when the line was broken.

No. 47 Pte. A. Cloud. No. 44 Pte. A. Barker. No. 53 Pte. A. Palmer. No. 8597 Lance-Corporal J. Anderson, Cameron Highlanders (attached).	For continuous hard and willing work requiring care and great coolness.

29. Finally I wish to bring to special notice the good work done by my Staff Officers, Captain E. G. Dunn, Royal Irish Rifles, Brigade Major, and Captain W. F. C. Gilchrist, 52nd Sikhs (F.F.), Staff Captain. They have had on their shoulders the Staff work of the Shaiba Force and of the 18th Infantry Brigade up to the time of the arrival of the Divisional Headquarters on the night of 12th, and have carried out their duties with untiring zeal and efficiency, especially during the enemy's attack on the 12th, when their forethought and general good staff work were of the greatest assistance to me.

I would also mention Major H. Smyth, Cheshire Regiment, Intelligence Officer, attached to my Staff. The information collected by this Officer was wonderfully accurate and was of the greatest assistance to me.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your obedient servant,

C. I. FRY, Major-General,

Commanding at Shaiba.

REPORT ON OPERATIONS ON 13th AND 14th APRIL NEAR SHAIBA.

No. 250-G.

HEADQUARTERS 6TH DIVISION.

Shaiba, 24th April 1915.

FROM

THE GENERAL OFFICER COMMANDING, SHAIBA FORCE,

To

THE MAJOR-GENERAL, GENERAL STAFF,
INDIAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCE "D."

SIR,

I have the honour to submit reports on the operations of the Shaiba Force on 13th and 14th April 1915.

I arrived at Shaiba by "bellum" convoy at 8-30 P.M. on the 12th April with the 24th Punjabis (less 1 Double Company) and 6th Divisional Staff, placed at my disposal by the Army Commander. A general all round night attack on the landward sides of the defensive perimeter was in progress at the time of my arrival. This attack was nowhere pressed home, but continued with varying intensity throughout the night of 12-13th, the enemy endeavouring without success to cut the barbed wire entanglement at various points.

As senior, I assumed command from Major-General C. I. Fry that night, after making myself acquainted with the distribution and disposition of the troops.

The night attack died away at 4 A.M.

* "S" Royal Horse [Ar]tillery.
[7]th Lancers.
16th Cavalry.
33rd Cavalry.
3 squadrons, each [uni]t.

The Cavalry Brigade,* in pursuance of orders issued by Major-General Fry on the afternoon of the 12th instant and approved by me that night, moved out at 7 A. M. towards North Mound in order to clear our right flank and ascertain the enemy's strength and dispositions to the north-west. The 104th Rifles (Lieutenant-Colonel Clery) followed as a support and were placed under the orders of the Cavalry Brigadier.

The Cavalry, 7th Lancers leading, remainder following in support, on nearing North Mound came under a very heavy rifle fire from superior forces advancing from North Mound, the broken ground near House A,† and from House B.†

† [V]ide large map No. [?] in pocket ([n]ot reproduced).

The 7th Lancers, under Lieutenant-Colonel Cook, made a gallant charge on North Mound and vicinity and a large number of hostile Arabs were put to flight. Trenches, however, immediately behind North Mound and House A were strongly held, and a hot fire was poured into the Cavalry ranks. A squadron of the 7th Lancers most gallantly led by Major Wheeler actually charged the mound itself. Major Wheeler, closely supported by Jemadar Sudhan Singh, 7th Lancers, rode at the enemy's standard planted on the mound and both were shot dead in their gallant attempt. The remaining squadrons of the 7th Lancers, under Lieutenant-Colonel Cook's command, made a gallant attempt to clear the enemy from the palm groves, but from good cover the enemy's fire at short range proved so effective that the 7th Lancers had to retire and Brigadier-General Kennedy, realizing that the enemy in force were firmly established and that his main body (16th and 33rd Cavalry) were exposed to a severe flanking fire from entrenched infantry, decided not to press the attack and to withdraw his Brigade. I had previously instructed him verbally not to commit his Brigade at this phase of the action if serious opposition were encountered. This took place at 7-45 A.M.

The actions of the Cavalry Brigade were well supported by "S" Battery, Royal Horse Artillery, under Lieutenant-Colonel Sykes, while the 104th Rifles, posted just north of House C,* covered the retirement by a well sustained and accurate fire. I ordered the withdrawal to camp of this battalion on the retirement of the Cavalry.

*Vide large map No. IV in pocket (not reproduced).

From Kiln Post, where I established my Headquarters, an excellent view of the whole of the terrain to the north of Shaiba is obtainable and large bodies of the enemy were visible advancing near North Mound and to the east of it. At 8-30 A.M. I ordered Brigadier-General Delamain, Commanding 16th Brigade, to move out from the defensive perimeter with 3 battalions (2nd Dorsets, 104th Rifles and 24th Punjabis) with North Mound as his first objective, covering his advance with the concentrated fire of the 63rd and 76th Batteries, Royal Field Artillery, and 23rd Mountain Battery, whilst "S" Battery, Royal Horse Artillery, also co-operated. The concentrated fire of the guns and the engaging of successive enemy's targets was most skilfully controlled and directed by the Divisional Artillery Commander, Lieutenant-Colonel Cleeve, whose valuable assistance throughout the operations of the 13th I particularly desire to bring to notice.

The co-operation between Infantry and Artillery in the attack and indeed throughout the action of the 13th was most marked, and very largely contributed to the success of the operations. By 11 A.M. Brigadier-General Delamain was in occupation of North Mound and the enemy, many of whom had clung to their trenches with great tenacity, were in full retreat to the northward. Over 90 of his dead were found on North Mound itself. Meanwhile consistent sniping and desultory attacks were in progress to the west-south-west, and south of my perimeter, and troops, computed at 3 battalions, were visible to the south-west of the Brick Kiln and a considerable force to the westward. I now decided to continue the clearing movement against this unbroken enemy, and incidentally to capture two of their guns, which their teams owing to our accurate shell fire had been unable to remove.

With this object I ordered the General Officer Commanding, 16th Brigade, to make a partial left wheel pivotting on North Mound, which was to be held to protect his right flank. I pushed a ½ Battalion 119th Infantry (Lieutenant-Colonel Chitty) to reinforce Brigadier-General Delamain's left and ordered 1½ Battalions of the 18th Brigade (2nd Norfolks, 2 Double Companies 48th Pioneers) under Lieutenant-Colonel Peebles to prolong the line of the 16th Brigade to the left, co-operating with their advance. The Cavalry Brigade were again moved forward and placed under Brigadier-General Delamain's orders, to protect his right flank. Supported by a sustained and accurate shrapnel fire from our batteries, the enemy, though in considerable force in well constructed trenches, were unable to withstand the élan of our Infantry. Many surrendered and the two abandoned mountain guns were secured. The Cavalry Brigade on the right flank succeeded in getting home into the now broken enemy and accounting for more than 100 of them.

By 2-30 P.M. the whole vicinity of the camp was clear of the enemy, but large numbers could still be seen to the southward in direction of South Mound, where 2 Turkish guns had been located. The General Officer Commanding, 16th Brigade, reported at 2-35 P. M. that he was advancing on South Mound some 3 miles distant and hoped to capture these guns.

I decided that at this late hour it was not desirable to undertake a general engagement with the enemy's main forces with my troops who had been under arms continuously throughout the previous night and were in need of a rest.

I therefore issued orders to break off the engagement for the day and ordered a general retirement to the Fort at 3 P. M.

The enemy's casualties were estimated at 1,000, many of their dead being left on the field while over 400 prisoners, 2 guns and a standard fell into our hands.

The night of the 13-14th, in marked contrast to the previous night, was entirely undisturbed by hostile sniping or shell fire.

Report on operations on 14th April 1915.

From personal observation shortly after dawn on 14th April 1915, from the Kiln Post, considerable bodies of the enemy were seen in the direction of South Mound some 2½ miles south-west of Shaiba Fort, while the immediate vicinity of the fort was practically clear of the enemy.

The exact whereabouts of the enemy's main force was uncertain. On the 12th April a large force had been reported to be at Old Basrah, while all reports pointed to the Barjisiyah Woods being strongly held, but it was evident that the enemy had been severely shaken by the action of the 13th April. I decided therefore to continue the offensive without awaiting the arrival of the remainder of the 30th Brigade (2 battalions). These reinforcements would, I was aware, be necessarily delayed by the difficulty of transport through the area which is inundated to a depth of from 2 to 4 feet and which extends for some 8 miles between Shaiba and Basrah. Moreover the necessary line of advance to Shaiba from Old Basrah had been, as I was aware, hitherto closed by the enemy, while reports of withdrawal from Barjisiyah Wood in a north-west direction rendered it desirable to advance without further delay.

Note—63rd Battery had only 5 guns.

I therefore ordered the whole force (less 104th Rifles, 48th Pioneers and 3 field guns as Camp Garrison) to start at 9 A.M. to engage the enemy wherever found.

Operation Orders were issued accordingly. 300 rounds rifle ammunition and water pakhals were taken by the troops, who carried a havresack ration.

The troops moved off at 9-30 A.M. in preparatory formation for Artillery fire, the 16th Brigade, with the 23rd Mountain Battery, 22nd Company Sappers and Miners and 24th Punjabis attached, moving with their left directed on a point 300 yards to the west of South Mound, while the three Battalions of the 18th Brigade, with 17th Company Sappers and Miners, moved off on the left of the 16th Brigade, echeloned back, left refused. The Cavalry Brigade was moved wide on the right flank of the 16th Brigade, detaching ½ Squadron to protect our extreme left flank, guns in rear of centre and Divisional Headquarters with the guns.

The 16th Brigade were directed on South Mound, with 18th Brigade refused on my left, as I apprehended a possible attack from the direction of Old Basrah or Zubair. The advance on South Mound took place under ineffective long range rifle fire from the enemy's advanced troops—mostly mounted men who soon gave way before our advance, South Mound being occupied and Divisional Headquarters established there by 10-30 A.M.

It now became apparent that the enemy's main force was in position in the vicinity of Barjisiyah Wood and that Old Basrah and Zubair were not strongly held. I accordingly ordered the left of the 16th Brigade to be directed somewhat north of the Watch Tower while I ordered 2 battalions of the 18th Brigade (2nd Battalion, Norfolk Regiment, and 120th Rajputana Infantry) to pass from left to the right rear of the 16th Brigade and the remaining battalion of the 18th Brigade (110th Mahratta Light Infantry) to remain echeloned on left of 16th Brigade. Whilst these movements were in progress I rode forward to where the Cavalry Brigade were in position on my right flank, engaged in dismounted fire action. From this point I endeavoured to make a reconnaissance of the enemy's position but owing to the mirage this proved extremely difficult. It was not possible to locate any of the enemy's trenches but I was able to determine that his right extended as far south as the high Watch Tower, but where his left rested I could not ascertain. On returning to Divisional Headquarters I therefore ordered General Delamain to direct the left of his advance on the Watch Tower and requested General Fry, Commanding 18th Brigade, to pass over his remaining battalion (110th Mahratta Light Infantry) to the right rear of his own Brigade. My plan of operations was to engage the enemy along his front extending from a point to the west of the Watch Tower, while I drove back his left with the 18th Brigade and thereby threatened his line of retirement towards Nakhailah. I ordered my Cavalry Brigade to co-operate with this object, while giving the Brigadier a free hand to seize any opportunity for vigorous action which might offer.

It soon became evident that the enemy occupied a very extensive front of some 3½* miles and considerably overlapped our line. The 18th Brigade had to come up into line with and on the right of the 16th Brigade in order to engage the enemy along his front—the 110th Infantry being my sole reserve. By 11-15 A.M. I discovered definitely that the enemy's line covered over 3 miles, extending from west of Watch Tower to the north end of Barjisiyah Wood ("Dry Wells" on map)*.

*Not reproduced.

The 18th Brigade having come into line with the 16th Brigade a general advance from South Mound was continued for a mile without incident. By 11-30 A.M. the two battalions in the front line of the 16th Brigade (2nd Battalion, Dorset Regiment and 24th Punjabis) became suddenly heavily engaged with the enemy in position at 900 yards distance from the Dorsets and 600 from the Punjabis, while on the right the 18th Brigade were also fully engaged, the Norfolks and 120th Infantry coming under heavy rifle and machine gun fire from trenches some 400 yards to their front.

The enemy's trenches were well sited and practically invisible from the front, while the glacis-like slope of the ground trending towards the Barjisiyah Woods afforded them an ideal position for defence, and a large proportion of our casualties occurred at this stage.

At 1 P.M. I ordered the 18th Brigade to advance direct on the gap in the trees near the north end of Barjisiyah Wood and the 16th Brigade to close the gap between the 2 Brigades—both to co-operate in the attack. Heavy firing now became general all along the line, the whole of our Artillery being engaged in close support of the Infantry attack. At 11-30 P.M. three casualties occurred in the Divisional Staff, my C. R. A., Lieutenant-Colonel Cleeve, being wounded and his successor Major Edlmann being hit before he could take over his duties, while Captain Cardew, Assistant Director, Army Signals, was also wounded. At this period the General Officer Commanding, 16th Brigade, ordered the 22nd Company Sappers and Miners to prolong the right of the 24th Punjabis, and ½ battalion, 117th Mahrattas, to reinforce on the right of the Sappers and Miners, and with these reinforcements a further advance was effected in this part of the field. The General Officer Commanding, 18th Brigade, now pushed forward ½ battalion of 110th Mahratta Light Infantry on the right of the 120th Infantry, holding the remaining wing of the 110th and No. 17 Company, Sappers and Miners, in reserve, but owing to an enfilading fire from the right flank the advance of the 18th Brigade was checked.

At 2-30 P.M. I called on the Cavalry Brigade for vigorous action to assist the forward movement of the 110th on the extreme right flank. The Cavalry assisted by dismounted rifle fire, while "S" Battery, Royal Horse Artillery, also co-operated.

At 3-0 P.M. the fight was practically stationary, the enemy clinging to his trenches with desperate tenacity—while the Cavalry reported their inability to press forward on the enemy's left flank owing to severe shell fire and the mud line. The Artillery were supporting our Infantry attack to the utmost, but such support was extremely difficult to render owing to the mirage and the invisibility of the enemy's trenches. Our gunners did splendid work and I must mention one of many instances of it. The Norfolks were losing heavily and asked for further Artillery support. Lieutenant Gilpin, 63rd Battery, Royal Field Artillery, went forward into the Norfolk firing line for observation of fire, and communication with his Battery Commander was maintained by Captain De Grey, Adjutant of the Norfolks, who from the firing line flag signalled back to the Battery the result of Lieutenant Gilpin's observations. Many were the gallant deeds of resolute courage by all ranks on this day, but this appears a striking example of the right kind of Infantry and Artillery co-operation.

The day was now waning and I told both Infantry Brigadiers that the enemy's position in advance of Barjisiyah Woods must be taken and that a general advance with the whole of the Artillery in close support must now be made. The troops responded most gallantly to this fresh call, the 76th Battery in action close to the Watch Tower supporting the 16th Brigade, the 63rd Battery and 23rd Mountain Battery, the 18th Brigade.

At 4-15 P.M. the 2nd Battalion, Norfolks, and 120th Infantry under Colonel Peebles and Major Pocock respectively, dashed at the enemy's trenches with the bayonet, while the 110th, also under heavy fire, pressed unflinchingly forward on the right supported by "S" Battery and dismounted Cavalry fire. Almost simultaneously part of the 16th Brigade consisting of the 2nd Battalion, Dorsets, 24th Punjabis, 119th Infantry (less 1 Double Company in reserve) and 1 Double Company, 117th Mahrattas, withdrawn from the left flank guard, made a general advance and by 5-0 P.M. the enemy abandoned the front trenches all along the line and fled, many surrendering.

In the meantime at 4-0 P.M., in view of the necessary withdrawal before-nightfall, the 48th Pioneers with all available Jaipur carts were ordered out from Shaiba. The Pioneers were directed to take up a rear guard position about South Mound to cover the retirement of the main body and the carts were also directed there to be ready to assist in the collection and evacuation of the wounded. The arrangements for the collection and disposal of the large numbers of wounded were ably arranged for by Lieutenant-Colonel H. O. B. Browne-Mason, Royal Army Medical Corps, Officiating Assistant Director of Medical Services.

The retirement timed for 5-30 actually commenced at 6-0 P.M. owing to the difficulty of collection and removal of the wounded scattered over a wide area. Our withdrawal was entirely unmolested and the troops reached Shaiba with all wounded by 8-30 P.M.

It is impossible to conceive a more exposed tract of ground than the plain devoid of cover over which our Infantry had to attack the Turkish trenches, cleverly concealed and sited. Our advance in the last 400 yards was down a glacis-like slope. It was on the crest of this slope that so many of our losses occurred. Splendid dash, combined with resolute courage, alone carried our men across that bullet-swept glacis. It was a sheer dogged soldiers' fight and no words of mine can adequately express my admiration of the conduct of those gallant regiments who won through, viz., 2nd Battalion, Norfolks, 2nd Battalion, Dorsets, 24th Punjabis, 110th Mahratta Light Infantry, 119th Infantry, 117th Mahrattas, 120th Infantry, 17th and 22nd Companies of the 3rd Sappers and Miners.

It is gratifying to record the fact that all the Indian troops engaged (24th Punjabis excepted) are old Bombay Presidency Regiments. They have proved on this occasion that they are worthy to stand shoulder to shoulder with the best troops that the Empire can produce and I trust that these Corps may be permitted to inscribe the battle honour of "Barjisiyah" on their colours as a fitting tribute to their gallant conduct on this hard-fought field.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

I desire to bring to notice the specially good services of the following:—

COMMANDERS, STAFF, ETC.

Major-General C. I. Fry—Commanded his Brigade to my entire satisfaction during the battle of Barjisiyah on the 14th; his Brigade behaved admirably under his direction.

Brigadier-General W. S. Delamain, C.B., D.S.O.—A very able Brigade Commander: handled his troops during the action of 13th and the battle of 14th with marked success.

Colonel R. N. Gamble, D.S.O.—I am much indebted to this officer for the invaluable assistance he afforded during the operations of the 13th and the battle of the 14th April. He is a Staff Officer of marked ability and character, very cool and collected. He should be in command of troops and I strongly recommend him for promotion.

Major G. A. F. Sanders, R.E.—An excellent Staff Officer of great ability, very cool and collected. His services on my Staff during the operations of 13th and battle of 14th were most valuable to me.

Captain B. G. Peel, 81st Pioneers—A very useful Staff Officer.

Lieutenant-Colonel E. S. Cleeve, R.A.—A very capable Artillery Commander. As my Divisional Artillery Commander his services during the operations of 13th were of great value, the handling of the Artillery on that day being a decisive factor in the success of the operations. I greatly felt the loss of his services on the 14th after he was wounded.

Lieutenant-Colonel U. W. Evans, R.E.—A very able Engineer Commander of great energy and resource. He gave me great assistance during the operations of 13th and 14th April.

Lieutenant-Colonel H. O. B. Browne-Mason, R.A.M.C.—Acted as my Assistant Director of Medical Services during the operations of 13th and at the battle of the 14th. His arrangements for evacuating the large number of our wounded during the battle of Barjisiyah showed marked ability and organising power. I feel greatly indebted to him.

Major H. A. Holdich, Brigade Major, 16th Brigade.—A cool and able Staff Officer.

Captain J. H. Carruthers, Staff Captain, 16th Brigade.

Shaikh Ibrahim El Abdullah El Ibrahim of Zubair.—Regularly furnished information of the enemy's movements. The information was almost always correct and the Shaikh must have incurred great trouble and expense in procuring it.

Major H. Smyth.—Intelligence Officer at Shaiba.

Interpreter Mirza Ali.—Headquarters, 16th Infantry Brigade.

I also desire to bring to notice the names of the following officers who throughout the day conveyed my orders to various parts of the battlefield with promptitude and despatch at considerable personal risk:—

Major A. T. S. Dickinson, Brigade Major, 30th Infantry Brigade.

Captain A. J. Shakeshaft, 2nd Battalion, Norfolk Regiment.

Lieutenant H. D. Hickley, 2nd Battalion, 7th Gurkhas.

Lieutenant H. H. Rich, 120th Infantry.

2nd Lieutenant Lemon, attached 104th Rifles.

The Dorset Regiment being in want of ammunition the General Officer Commanding, 16th Brigade, sent up 16 mules with ammunition boxes. The behaviour of the drivers of these mules has been brought to notice by the Officer Commanding, Dorset Regiment, and the Officer Commanding, 24th Punjabis, the latter describing them as heroes. 9 mules were killed. 1 Driver was killed, and three wounded, one escaping unhurt. The greater part of the ammunition reached the firing line, the drivers showing the greatest courage. One driver was seen holding on to his mules, some of whom wounded, although wounded himself and under very heavy fire.

MEDICAL SERVICES.

Captain R. E. Wright, I.M.S. ... Displayed exceptional ability in handling his sub-division of No. 3 Field Ambulance throughout the day. He displayed particular initiative in proceeding to the firing line of the 18th Brigade under a heavy fire and, by ascertaining personally the position of the groups of wounded, was able to conduct a detachment of Jaipur Transport Carts direct to the place where they were most required when speedy evacuation was most essential. He afterwards superintended the main advanced dressing station at South Mound in a most efficient manner.

Captain F. C. Fraser, I.M.S. ... Displayed great coolness in bringing his sub-division forward under heavy shell and rifle fire and was in close touch with the 16th Brigade throughout the day. I was particularly struck by the steadfast behaviour of the A. B. C. men of this sub-division and attribute it in great part to his excellent example and leading.

Colonel (temporary Brigadier-General) Benjamin Holloway, C.I.E., to be temporary Major-General whilst Secretary to the Government of India, Army Department. Dated 10th July 1915.

Supplement dated the 10th July 1915, to the " London Gazette " of the 9th July 1915.

From the Field-Marshal Commanding-in-Chief, The British Army in France.

To the Secretary of State for War, War Office, London, S. W.

General Headquarters,
15th June, 1915.

MY LORD,—

I have the honour to report that since the date of my last despatch (5th April, 1915) the Army in France under my command has been heavily engaged opposite both flanks of the line held by the British Forces.

1. In the North the town and district of Ypres have once more in this campaign been successfully defended against vigorous and sustained attacks made by large forces of the enemy, and supported by a mass of heavy and field artillery, which, not only in number, but also in weight and calibre, is superior to any concentration of guns which has previously assailed that part of the line.

In the South a vigorous offensive has again been taken by troops of the First Army, in the course of which a large area of entrenched and fortified ground has been captured from the enemy, whilst valuable support has been afforded to the attack which our Allies have carried on with such marked success against the enemy's positions to the east of Arras and Lens.

2. I much regret that during the period under report the fighting has been characterised on the enemy's side by a cynical and barbarous disregard of the well-known usages of civilised war and a flagrant defiance of the Hague Convention.

All the scientific resources of Germany have apparently been brought into play to produce a gas of so virulent and poisonous a nature that any human being brought into contact with it is first paralysed and then meets with a lingering and agonising death.

The enemy has invariably preceded, prepared and supported his attacks by a discharge in stupendous volume of these poisonous gas fumes whenever the wind was favourable.

Such weather conditions have only prevailed to any extent in the neighbourhood of Ypres, and there can be no doubt that the effect of these poisonous fumes materially influenced the operations in that theatre, until experience suggested effective counter-measures, which have since been so perfected as to render them innocuous.

The brain power and thought which has evidently been at work before this unworthy method of making war reached the pitch of efficiency which has been demonstrated in its practice shows that the Germans must have harboured these designs for a long time.

As a soldier I cannot help expressing the deepest regret and some surprise that an Army which hitherto has claimed to be the chief exponent of the chivalry of war should have stooped to employ such devices against brave and gallant foes.

3. On the night of Saturday, April 17th, a commanding hill which afforded the enemy excellent artillery observation toward the West and North-West was successfully mined and captured.

This hill, known as Hill 60, lies opposite the northern extremity of the line held by the 2nd Corps.

The operation was planned and the mining commenced by Major-General Bulfin before the ground was handed over to the troops under Lieutenant-General Sir Charles Fergusson, under whose supervision the operation was carried out.

The mines were successfully fired at 7 P.M. on the 17th instant, and immediately afterwards the hill was attacked and gained, without difficulty, by the 1st Battalion, Royal West Kent Regiment, and the 2nd Battalion, King's Own Scottish Borderers. The attack was well supported by the Divisional Artillery, assisted by French and Belgian batteries.

During the night several of the enemy's counter-attacks were repulsed with heavy loss, and fierce hand to-hand fighting took place; but on the early morning of the 18th the enemy succeeded in forcing back the troops holding the right of the hill to the reverse slope, where, however, they hung on throughout the day.

On the evening of the 18th these two battalions were relieved by the 2nd Battalion, West Riding Regiment, and the 2nd Battalion, King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, who again stormed the hill under cover of heavy artillery fire, and the enemy was driven off at the point of the bayonet.

In this operation fifty-three prisoners were captured, including four officers.

On the 20th and following days many unsuccessful attacks by the enemy were made on Hill 60, which was continuously shelled by heavy artillery.

On May 1st, another attempt to recapture Hill 60 was supported by great volumes of asphyxiating gas, which caused nearly all the men along a front of about 400 yards to be immediately struck down by its fumes.

The splendid courage with which the leaders rallied their men and subdued the natural tendency to panic (which is inevitable on such occasions), combined with the prompt intervention of supports, once more drove the enemy back.

A second and more severe "gas" attack, under much more favourable weather conditions, enabled the enemy to recapture this position on May 5th.

The enemy owes his success in this last attack entirely to the use of asphyxiating gas. It was only a few days later that the means, which have since proved so effective, of counteracting this method of making war were put into practice. Had it been otherwise, the enemy's attack on May 5th would most certainly have shared the fate of all the many previous attempts he had made.

4. It was at the commencement of the Second Battle of Ypres on the evening of the 22nd April, referred to in paragraph 1 of this report, that the enemy first made use of asphyxiating gas.

Some days previously I had complied with General Joffre's request to take over the trenches occupied by the French, and on the evening of the 22nd the troops holding the lines east of Ypres were posted as follows:—

From Steenstraate to the east of Langemarck, as far as the Poelcappelle Road, a French Division.

Thence, in a south-easterly direction toward the Passchendaele-Becelaere Road, the Canadian Division.

Thence, a Division took up the line in a southerly direction east of Zonnebeke to a point west of Becelaere, whence another Division continued the line south-east to the northern limit of the Corps on its right.

Of the 5th Corps there were four battalions in Divisional Reserve about Ypres; the Canadian Division had one battalion in Divisional Reserve and the first Canadian Brigade in Army Reserve. An Infantry Brigade, which had just been withdrawn after suffering heavy losses on Hill 60, was resting about Vlamertinghe.

Following a heavy bombardment, the enemy attacked the French Division at about 5 P.M., using asphyxiating gases for the first time. Aircraft reported that at about 5 P.M., thick yellow smoke had been seen issuing from the German trenches between Langemarck and Bixschoote. The French reported that two simultaneous attacks had been made east of the Ypres-Staden Railway, in which these asphyxiating gases had been employed.

What follows almost defies description. The effect of these poisonous gases was so virulent as to render the whole of the line held by the French Division mentioned above practically incapable of any action at all. It was at first impossible for anyone to realise what had actually happened. The smoke and fumes hid everything from sight, and hundreds of men were thrown into a comatose or dying condition, and within an hour the whole position had to be abandoned, together with about 50 guns.

I wish particularly to repudiate any idea of attaching the least blame to the French Division for this unfortunate incident.

After all the examples our gallant Allies have shown of dogged and tenacious courage in the many trying situations in which they have been placed throughout the course of this campaign it is quite superfluous for me to dwell on this aspect of the incident, and I would only express my firm conviction that, if any troops in the world had been able to hold their trenches in the face of such a treacherous and altogether unexpected onslaught, the French Division would have stood firm.

The left flank of the Canadian Division was thus left dangerously exposed to serious attack in flank, and there appeared to be a prospect of their being overwhelmed and of a successful attempt by the Germans to cut off the British troops occupying the salient to the East.

In spite of the danger to which they were exposed the Canadians held their ground with a magnificent display of tenacity and courage; and it is not too much to say that the bearing and conduct of these splendid troops averted a disaster which might have been attended with the most serious consequences.

They were supported with great promptitude by the reserves of the Divisions holding the salient and by a Brigade which had been resting in billets

Throughout the night the enemy's attacks were repulsed, effective counter-attacks were delivered, and at length touch was gained with the French right, and a new line was formed.

The 2nd London Heavy Battery, which had been attached to the Canadian Division, was posted behind the right of the French Division, and, being involved in their retreat, fell into the enemy's hands. It was recaptured by the Canadians in their counter-attack, but the guns could not be withdrawn before the Canadians were again driven back.

During the night I directed the Cavalry Corps and the Northumbrian Division, which was then in general reserve, to move to the west of Ypres, and placed these troops at the disposal of the General Officer Commanding the Second Army. I also directed other reserve troops from the 3rd Corps and the First Army to be held in readiness to meet eventualities.

In the confusion of the gas and smoke the Germans succeeded in capturing the bridge at Steenstraate and some works south of Lizerne, all of which were in occupation by the French.

The enemy having thus established himself to the west of the Ypres Canal, I was somewhat apprehensive of his succeeding in driving a wedge between the French and Belgian troops at this point. I directed, therefore, that some of the reinforcements sent north should be used to support and assist General Putz, should he find difficulty in preventing any further advance of the Germans west of the canal.

At about 10 o'clock on the morning of the 23rd connection was finally ensured between the left of the Canadian Division and the French right, about eight hundred yards east of the canal; but as this entailed the maintenance by the British troops of a much longer line than that which they had held before the attack commenced on the previous night, there were no reserves available for counter-attack until reinforcements, which were ordered up from the Second Army, were able to deploy to the east of Ypres.

Early on the morning of the 23rd I went to see General Foch, and from him I received a detailed account of what had happened, as reported by General Putz. General Foch informed me that it was his intention to make good the original line and regain the trenches which the French Division had lost. He expressed the desire that I should maintain my present line, assuring me that the original position would be re-established in a few days. General Foch further informed me that he had ordered up large French reinforcements, which were now on their way, and that troops from the North had already arrived to reinforce General Putz.

I fully concurred in the wisdom of the General's wish to re-establish our old line, and agreed to co-operate in the way he desired, stipulating, however, that if the position was not re-established within a limited time, I could not allow the British troops to remain in so exposed a situation as that which the action of the previous twenty-four hours had compelled them to occupy.

During the whole of the 23rd the enemy's artillery was very active, and his attacks all along the front were supported by some heavy guns which had been brought down from the coast in the neighbourhood of Ostend.

The loss of the guns on the night of the 22nd prevented this fire from being kept down and much aggravated the situation. Our positions, however, were well maintained by the vigorous counter-attacks made by the 5th Corps.

During the day I directed two Brigades of the 3rd Corps, and the Lahore Division of the Indian Corps, to be moved up to the Ypres area and placed at the disposal of the Second Army.

In the course of these two or three days many circumstances combined to render the situation east of the Ypres Canal very critical and most difficult to deal with.

The confusion caused by the sudden retirement of the French Division, and the necessity for closing up the gap and checking the enemy's advance at all costs, led to a mixing up of units and a sudden shifting of the areas of command, which was quite unavoidable. Fresh units, as they came up from the South, had to be pushed into the firing line in an area swept by artillery fire which, owing to the capture of the French guns, we were unable to keep down.

All this led to very heavy casualties; and I wish to place on record the deep admiration which I feel for the resource and presence of mind evinced by the leaders actually on the spot.

The parts taken by Major-General Snow and Brigadier-General Hull were reported to me as being particularly marked in this respect.

An instance of this occurred on the afternoon of the 24th when the enemy succeeded in breaking through the line at St. Julien.

Brigadier-General Hull, acting under the orders of Lieutenant-General Alderson, organised a powerful counter-attack with his own Brigade and some of the nearest available units. He was called upon to control, with only his Brigade Staff, parts of battalions from six separate divisions which were quite new to the ground. Although the attack did not succeed in retaking St. Julien, it effectually checked the enemy's further advance.

It was only on the morning of the 25th that the enemy were able to force back the left of the Canadian Division from the point where it had originally joined the French line.

During the night and the early morning of the 25th, the enemy directed a heavy attack against the Division at Broodseinde crossroads which was supported by a powerful shell fire, but he failed to make any progress.

During the whole of this time the town of Ypres and all the roads to the East and West were uninterruptedly subjected to a violent artillery fire, but in spite of this the supply of both food and ammunition was maintained throughout with order and efficiency.

During the afternoon of the 25th many German prisoners were taken including some officers. The hand-to-hand fighting was very severe, and the enemy suffered heavy loss.

During the 26th the Lahore Division and a Cavalry Division were pushed up into the fighting line, the former on the right of the French, the latter in support of the 5th Corps.

In the afternoon the Lahore Division, in conjunction with the French right, succeeded in pushing the enemy back some little distance toward the North, but their further advance was stopped owing to the continual employment by the enemy of asphyxiating gas.

On the right of the Lahore Division the Northumberland Infantry Brigade advanced against St. Julien and actually succeeded in entering, and for a time occupying, the southern, portion of that village. They were, however, eventually driven back, largely owing to gas and finally occupied a line a short way to the South. This attack was most successfully and gallantly led by Brigadier-General Riddell, who, I regret to say, was killed during the progress of the operation.

Although no attack was made on the south-eastern side of the salient, the troops operating to the east of Ypres were subjected to heavy artillery fire from this direction which took some of the battalions, which were advancing North to the attack, in reverse.

Some gallant attempts made by the Lahore Division on the 27th, in conjunction with the French, pushed the enemy further North; but they were partially frustrated by the constant fumes of gas to which they were exposed. In spite of this, however, a certain amount of ground was gained.

The French had succeeded in retaking Lizerne, and had made some progress at Steenstraate and Het Sas; but up to the evening of the 28th no further progress had been made toward the recapture of the original line.

I sent instructions, therefore, to Sir Herbert Plumer, who was now in charge of the operation, to take preliminary measures for the retirement to the new line which had been fixed upon.

On the morning of the 29th I had another interview with General Foch, who informed me that strong reinforcements were hourly arriving to support General Putz and urged me to postpone issuing orders for any retirement until the result of his attack, which was timed to commence at daybreak on the 30th, should be known. To this I agreed, and instructed Sir Herbert Plumer accordingly.

No substantial advance having been made by the French. I issued orders to Sir Herbert Plumer at one o'clock on May 1st to commence his withdrawal to the new line.

The retirement was commenced the following night, and the new line was occupied on the morning of May 4th.

I am of opinion that this retirement, carried out deliberately with scarcely any loss, and in the face of an enemy in position, reflects the greatest possible credit on Sir Herbert Plumer and those who so efficiently carried out his orders.

The successful conduct of this operation was the more remarkable from the fact that on the evening of May 2nd, when it was only half completed, the enemy made a heavy attack, with the usual gas accompaniment, on St. Julien and the line to the west of it.

An attack on a line to the east of Fortuin was made at the same time under similar conditions.

In both cases our troops were at first driven from their trenches by gas fumes, but on the arrival of the supporting battalions and two brigades of a Cavalry Division, which were sent up in support from about Potijze, all the lost trenches were regained at night.

On the 3rd May, while the retirement was still going on, another violent attack was directed on the northern face of the salient. This was also driven back with heavy loss to the enemy.

Further attempts of the enemy during the night of the 3rd to advance from the woods west of St. Julien were frustrated entirely by the fire of our artillery.

During the whole of the 4th the enemy heavily shelled the trenches we had evacuated, quite unaware that they were no longer occupied So soon as the retirement was discovered the Germans commenced to entrench opposite our new line and to advance their guns to new positions. Our artillery, assisted by aeroplanes, caused him considerable loss in carrying out these operations.

Up to the morning of the 8th the enemy made attacks at short intervals, covered by gas, on all parts of the line to the east of Ypres, but was everywhere driven back with heavy loss.

Throughout the whole period since the first break of the line on the night of April 22nd all the troops in this area had been constantly subjected to violent artillery bombardment from a large mass of guns with an unlimited supply of ammunition. It proved impossible whilst under so vastly superior fire of artillery to dig efficient trenches, or to properly reorganise the line, after the confusion and demoralisation caused by the first great gas surprise and the subsequent almost daily gas attacks. Nor was it until after this date (May 8th) that effective preventatives had been devised and provided. In these circumstances a violent bombardment of nearly the whole of the 5th Corps front broke out at 7 A.M. on the morning of the 8th, which gradually concentrated on the front of the Division between north and south of Frezenberg. This fire completely obliterated the trenches and caused enormous losses.

The artillery bombardment was shortly followed by a heavy infantry attack, before which our line had to give way.

I relate what happened in Sir Herbert Plumer's own words :—

"The right of one Brigade was broken about 10-15 A.M.; then its centre, and then part of the left of the Brigade in the next section to the south The Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, however, although suffering very heavily, stuck to their fire or support trenches throughout the day. At this time two battalions were moved to General Headquarters 2nd line astride the Menin road to support and cover the left of their Division.

"At 12-25 P.M. the centre of a Brigade further to the left also broke; its right battalion, however, the 1st Suffolks, which had been refused to cover a gap, still held on and were apparently surrounded and overwhelmed. Meanwhile, three more battalions had been moved up to reinforce, two other battalions were moved up in support to General Headquarters line, and an Infantry Brigade came up to the grounds of Vlamertinghe Chateau in Corps Reserve.

"At 11-30 A.M. a small party of Germans attempted to advance against the left of the British line, but were destroyed by the 2nd Essex Regiment.

"A counter-attack was launched at 3-30 P.M. by the 1st York and Lancaster Regiment, 3rd Middlesex Regiment, 2nd East Surrey Regiment, 2nd Royal Dublin Fusiliers and the 1st Royal Warwickshire Regiment. The counter attack reached Frezenberg, but was eventually driven back and held up on a line running about north and south through Verlorenhoek, despite repeated efforts to advance. The 12th London Regiment on the left succeeded at great cost in reaching the original trench line, and did considerable execution with their machine-gun.

"The 7th Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the 1st East Lancashire Regiment attacked in a north-easterly direction towards Wieltje, and connected the old trench line with the ground gained by the counter-attack, the line being consolidated during the night.

"During the night orders were received that two Cavalry Divisions would be moved up and placed at the disposal of the 5th Corps, and a Territorial Division would be moved up to be used if required.

"On the 9th the Germans again repeated their bombardment. Very heavy shell fire was concentrated for two hours on the trenches of the 2nd Gloucestershire Regiment and 2nd Cameron Highlanders, followed by an Infantry attack which was successfully repulsed. The Germans again bombarded the salient, and a further attack in the afternoon succeeded in occupying 150 yards of trench. The Gloucesters counter-attacked, but suffered heavily, and the attack failed. The salient being very exposed to shell fire from both flanks, as well as in front, it was deemed advisable not to attempt to retake the trench at night, and a retrenchment was therefore dug across it.

"At 3 P.M. the enemy started to shell the whole front of the centre Division, and it was reported that the right Brigade of this Division was being heavily punished, but continued to maintain its line.

"The trenches of the Brigades on the left centre were also heavily shelled during the day and attacked by infantry. Both attacks were repulsed.

"On the 10th instant the trenches on either side of the Menin-Ypres Road were shelled very severely all the morning. The 2nd Cameron Highlanders, 9th Royal Scots, and the 3rd and 4th King's Royal Rifles, however, repulsed an attack made, under cover of gas, with heavy loss. Finally, when the trenches had been practically destroyed and a large number of the garrison buried, the 3rd King's Royal Rifles and 4th Rifle Brigade fell back to the trenches immediately west of Bellewaarde Wood So heavy had been the shell fire that the proposal to join up the line with a switch through the wood had to be abandoned, the trees broken by the shells forming an impassable entanglement.

"After a comparatively quiet night and morning (10th-11th) the hostile artillery fire was concentrated on the trenches of the 2nd Cameron Highlanders and 1st Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders at a of slightly more northern point than on the previous day. The Germans attacked in force and gained a footing in part of the trenches, but were promptly ejected a supporting company of the 9th Royal Scots. After a second short artillery bombardment the Germans again attacked about 4-15 P.M., but were again repulsed by rifle and machine-gun fire. A third bombardment followed, and this time the Germans succeeded in gaining a trench—or rather what was left of it—a local counter-attack failing. However, during the night the enemy were again driven out. The trench by this time being practically non-existent, the garrison found it untenable under the very heavy shell fire the enemy brought to bear upon it, and the trench was evacuated. Twice more did the German snipers creep back into it, and twice more they were ejected. Finally, a retrenchment was made, cutting off the salient which had been contested throughout the day. It was won owing solely to the superior weight and number of the enemy's guns, but both our infantry and our artillery took a very heavy toll of the enemy, and the ground lost has proved of little use to the enemy.

"On the remainder of the front the day passed comparatively quietly, though most parts of the line underwent intermittent shelling by guns of various calibres.

"With the assistance of the Royal Flying Corps the 31st Heavy Battery scored a direct hit on a German gun, and the North Midland Heavy Battery got on to some German howitzers with great success.

"With the exception of another very heavy burst of shell fire against the right Division early in the morning, the 12th passed uneventfully.

"On the night of the 12th-13th the line was re-organised, the centre Division retiring into Army Reserve to rest, and their places being taken in the trenches by the two Cavalry Divisions; the Artillery and Engineers of the centre Division forming with them what was known as the Cavalry Force' under the command of General De Lisle.

"On the 13th the various reliefs having been completed without incident, the heaviest bombardment yet experienced broke out at 4-30 A.M., and continued with little intermission throughout the day. At about 7-45 A.M. the Cavalry Brigade astride the railway, having suffered very severely, and their trenches having been obliterated, fell back about 800 yards. The North Somerset Yeomanry on the right of the Brigade, although also suffering severely, hung on to their trenches throughout the day, and actually advanced and attacked the enemy with the bayonet. The Brigade on its right also maintained its position; as did also the Cavalry Division, except the left squadron which, when reduced to sixteen men, fell back. The 2nd Essex Regiment, realising the situation, promptly charged and retook the trench, holding it till relieved by the Cavalry. Meanwhile a counter-attack by two Cavalry Brigades was launched at 2-30 P.M., and succeeded, in spite of very heavy shrapnel and rifle fire, in regaining the original line of trenches, turning out the Germans who had entered it, and in some cases pursuing them for some distance. But a very heavy shell fire was again opened on them, and they were again compelled to retire to an irregular line in rear, principally the craters of shell holes. The enemy in their counter-attack suffered very severe losses.

"The fighting in other parts of the line was little less severe. The 1st East Lancashire Regiment were shelled out of their trenches, but their support company and the 2nd Essex Regiment, again acting on their own initiative, won them back. The enemy penetrated into the farm at the north-east corner of the line, but the 1st Rifle Brigade, after a severe struggle, expelled them. The 1st Hampshire Regiment also repelled an attack, and killed every German who got within fifty yards of their trenches. The 5th London Regiment, despite very heavy casualties, maintained their position unfalteringly. At the southern end of the line the left Brigade was once again heavily shelled, as indeed was the whole front. At the end of a very hard day's fighting our line remained in its former position, with the exception of the short distance lost by one Cavalry Division Later, the line was pushed forward, and a new line was dug in a less exposed position, slightly in rear of that originally held. The night passed quietly.

"Working parties of from 1,200 to 1,800 men have been found every night by a Territorial Division and other units for work on rear lines of defence, in addition to the work performed by the garrisons in reconstructing the front line trenches which were daily destroyed by shell fire.

"The work performed by the Royal Flying Corps has been invaluable. Apart from the hostile aeroplanes actually destroyed, our airmen have prevented a great deal of aerial reconnaissance by the enemy, and have registered a large number of targets with our artillery.

"There have been many cases of individual gallantry. As instances may be given the following:—

"During one of the heavy attacks made against our infantry gas was seen rolling forward from the enemy's trenches. Private Lynn of the 2nd Lancashire Fusiliers at once rushed to the machine gun without waiting to adjust his respirator. Single-handed he kept his gun in action the whole time the gas was rolling over, actually hoisting it on the parapet to get a better field of fire. Although nearly suffocated by the gas, he poured a stream of lead into the advancing enemy and checked their attack. He was carried to his dug-out, but, hearing another attack was imminent, he tried to get back to his gun. Twenty-four hours later he died in great agony from the effects of the gas.

"A young subaltern in a cavalry regiment went forward alone one afternoon to reconnoitre. He got into a wood, 1,200 yards in front of our lines, which he found occupied by Germans, and came back with the information that the enemy had evacuated a trench and were digging another—information which proved most valuable to the artillery as well as to his own unit.

"A patrol of two officers and a non-commissioned officer of the 1st Cambridgeshires went out one night to reconnoitre a German trench 350 yards away. Creeping along the parapet of the trench, they heard sounds indicating the presence of six or seven of the enemy. Further on they heard deep snores, apparently proceeding from a dug-out immediately beneath them. Although they knew that the garrison of the trench outnumbered them, they decided to procure an identification. Unfortunately, in pulling out a clasp knife with which to cut off the sleeper's identity disc, one of the officer's revolvers went off. A conversation in the agitated whispers broke out in the German trench, but the patrol crept safely away, the garrison being too startled to fire.

"Despite the very severe shelling to which the troops had been subjected, which obliterated trenches and caused very many casualties, the spirit of all ranks remains excellent. The enemy's losses, particularly on the 10th and 13th, have unquestionably been serious. On the latter day they evacuated trenches (in face of the cavalry counter-attack) in which were afterwards found quantities of equipment and some of their own wounded. The enemy have been seen stripping our dead, and on three occasions men in khaki have been seen advancing."

The fight went on by the exchange of desultory shell and rifle fire, but without any remarkable incident until the morning of May 24th. During this period, however, the French on our left had attained considerable success. On the 15th instant they captured Steenstraate and the trenches in Het Sas, and on the 16th they drove the enemy headlong over the canal, finding two thousand Germans dead. On the 17th they made a substantial advance on the east side of the canal, and on the 20th they repelled a German counter-attack, making a further advance in the same direction, and taking one hundred prisoners.

On the early morning of the 24th a violent outburst of gas against nearly the whole front was followed by heavy shell fire, and the most determined attack was delivered against our position east of Ypres.

The hour the attack commenced was 2-45 A.M. A large proportion of the men were asleep, and the attack was too sudden to give them time to put on their respirators.

The 2nd Royal Irish and the 9th Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, overcome by gas fumes, were driven out of a farm held in front of the left Division, and this the enemy proceeded to hold and fortify.

All attempts to retake this farm during the day failed, and during the night of the 24th-25th the General Officer Commanding the left Division decided to take up a new line which, although slightly in rear of the old one, he considered to be a much better position. This operation was successfully carried out.

Throughout the day the whole line was subjected to one of the most violent artillery attacks which it had ever undergone; and the 5th Corps and the Cavalry Divisions engaged had to fight hard to maintain their positions. On the following day, however, the line was consolidated, joining the right of the French at the same place as before, and passing through Wieltje (which was strongly fortified) in a southerly direction on to Hooge, where the Cavalry have since strongly occupied the chateau, and pushed our line further east.

5. In pursuance of a promise which I made to the French Commander-in-Chief to support an attack which his troops were making on the 9th May between the right of my line and Arras, I directed Sir Douglas Haig to carry out on that date an attack on the German trenches in the neighbourhood of Rougebance (north-west of Fromelles) by the 4th Corps, and between Neuve Chapelle and Givenchy, by the 1st and Indian Corps.

The bombardment of the enemy's positions commenced at 5 A.M.

Half-an-hour later the 8th Division of the 4th Corps captured the first line of German trenches about Rougebanc, and some detachments seized a few localities beyond this line. It was soon found, however, that the position was much stronger than had been anticipated, and that a more extensive artillery preparation was necessary to crush the resistance offered by his numerous fortified posts.

Throughout the 9th and 10th repeated efforts were made to make further progress. Not only was this found to be impossible, but the violence of the enemy's machine gun fire from his posts on the flanks rendered the captured trenches so difficult to hold that all the units of the 4th Corps had to retire to their original position by the morning of the 10th.

The 1st and Indian Divisions south of Neuve Chapelle met with no greater success, and on the evening of the 10th I sanctioned Sir Douglas Haig's proposal to concentrate all our available resources on the southern point of attack.

The 7th Division was moved round from the 4th Corps area to support this attack, and I directed the General Officer Commanding the First Army to delay it long enough to ensure a powerful and deliberate artillery preparation.

The operations of the 9th and 10th formed part of a general plan of attack which the Allies were conjointly conducting on a line extending from the north of Arras to the south of Armentieres; and, although immediate progress was not made during this time by the British forces, their attack assisted in securing the brilliant successes attained by the French forces on their right, not only by holding the enemy in their front but by drawing off a part of the German reinforcements which were coming up to support their forces east of Arras.

It was decided that the attack should be resumed on the night of the 12th instant, but the weather continued very dull and misty, interfering much with artillery observation. Orders were finally issued, therefore, for the action to commence on the night of the 15th instant.

On the 15th May I moved the Canadian Division into the 1st Corps area and placed them at the disposal of Sir Douglas Haig.

The infantry of the Indian Corps and the 2nd Division of the 1st Corps advanced to the attack of the enemy's trenches which extended from Richebourg L'Avoue in a south-westerly direction.

Before daybreak the 2nd Division had succeeded in capturing two lines of the enemy's trenches, but the Indian Corps were unable to make any progress owing to the strength of the enemy's defences in the neighbourhood of Richebourg L'Avoue.

At daybreak the 7th Division, on the right of the 2nd, advanced to the attack, and by 7 A.M. had entrenched themselves on a line running nearly North and South, half-way between their original trenches and La Quinque Rue, having cleared and captured several lines of the enemy's trenches, including a number of fortified posts.

As it was found impossible for the Indian Corps to make any progress in face of the enemy's defences Sir Douglas Haig directed the attack to be suspended at this point and ordered the Indian Corps to form a defensive flank.

The remainder of the day was spent in securing and consolidating positions which had been won, and endeavouring to unite the inner flanks of the 7th and 2nd Divisions, which were separated by trenches and posts strongly held by the enemy.

Various attempts which were made throughout the day to secure this object had not succeeded at nightfall in driving the enemy back.

The German communications leading to the rear of their positions were systematically shelled throughout the night.

About two hundred prisoners were captured on the 16th instant.

Fighting was resumed at daybreak; and by 11 o'clock the 7th Division had made a considerable advance, capturing several more of the enemy's trenches. The task allotted to this Division was to push on in the direction of Rue D'Ouvert, Chateau St. Roch and Canteleux.

The 2nd Division was directed to push on when the situation permitted towards the Rue de Marais and Violaines.

The Indian Division was ordered to extend its front far enough to enable it to keep touch with the left of the 2nd Division when they advanced.

On this day I gave orders for the 51st (Highland) Division to move into the neighbourhood of Estaires to be ready to support the operations of the First Army.

At about noon the enemy was driven out of the trenches and posts which he occupied between the two Divisions, the inner flanks of which were thus enabled to join hands.

By nightfall the 2nd and 7th Divisions had made good progress, the area of captured ground being considerably extended to the right by the successful operations of the latter.

The state of the weather on the morning of the 18th much hindered an effective artillery bombardment, and further attacks had, consequently, to be postponed.

Infantry attacks were made throughout the line in the course of the afternoon and evening; but, although not very much progress was made, the line was advanced to the La Quinque Rue-Bethune Road before nightfall.

On the 19th May the 7th and 2nd Divisions were drawn out of the line to rest. The 7th Division was relieved by the Canadian Division and the 2nd Division by the 51st (Highland) Division.

Sir Douglas Haig placed the Canadian and 51st Divisions, together with the artillery of the 2nd and 7th Divisions, under the command of Lieutenant-General Alderson, whom he directed to conduct the operations which had hitherto been carried on by the General Officer Commanding First Corps; and he directed the 7th Division to remain in Army Reserve.

During the night of the 19th-20th a small post of the enemy in front of La Quinque Rue was captured.

During the night of the 20th-21st the Canadian Division brilliantly carried on the excellent progress made by the 7th Division by seizing several of the enemy's trenches and pushing forward their whole line several hundred yards. A number of prisoners and some machine guns were captured.

On the 22nd instant the 51st (Highland) Division was attached to the Indian Corps, and the General Officer Commanding the Indian Corps took charge of the operations at La Quinque Rue, Lieutenant-General Alderson with the Canadians conducting the operations to the north of that place.

On this day the Canadian Division extended their line slightly to the right and repulsed three very severe hostile counter attacks.

On the 24th and 25th May the 47th Division (2nd London Territorial) succeeded in taking some more of the enemy's trenches and making good the ground gained to the east and north.

I had now reason to consider that the battle, which was commenced by the First Army on the 9th May and renewed on the 16th, having attained for the moment the immediate object I had in view, should not be further actively proceeded with; and I gave orders to Sir Douglas Haig to curtail his artillery attack and to strengthen and consolidate the ground he had won.

In the battle of Festubert above described the enemy was driven from a position which was strongly entrenched and fortified, and ground was won on a front of four miles to an average depth of 600 yards.

The enemy is known to have suffered very heavy losses, and in the course of the battle 785 prisoners and 10 machine guns were captured. A number of machine guns were also destroyed by our fire.

During the period under report the Army under my command has taken over trenches occupied by some other French Divisions.

I am much indebted to General D'Urbal, commanding the 10th French Army, for the valuable and efficient support received throughout the battle of Festubert from three groups of French 75 centimetre guns.

In spite of very unfavourable weather conditions, rendering observation most difficult, our own artillery did excellent work throughout the battle.

6. During the important operations described above, which were carried on by the First and Second Armies, the 3rd Corps was particularly active in making demonstrations with a view to holding the enemy in its front and preventing reinforcements reaching the threatened areas.

As an instance of the successful attempts to deceive the enemy in this respect it may be mentioned that on the afternoon of the 24th instant a bombardment of about an hour was carried out by the 6th Division with the object of distracting attention from the Ypres salient.

Considerable damage was done to the enemy's parapets and wire; and that the desired impression was produced on the enemy is evident from the German wireless news on that day, which stated "West of Lille the English attempts to attack were nipped in the bud."

In previous reports I have drawn attention to the enterprise displayed by the troops of the 3rd Corps in conducting night reconnaissances, and to the courage and resource shown by officers and other patrols in the conduct of these minor operations.

Throughout the period under report this display of activity has been very marked all along the 3rd Corps front, and much valuable information and intelligence have been collected.

7. I have much pleasure in again expressing my warm appreciation of the admirable manner in which all branches of the Medical Services now in the field, under the direction of Surgeon-General Sir Arthur Sloggett, have met and dealt with the many difficult situations resulting from the operations during the last two months.

The medical units at the front were frequently exposed to the enemy's fire, and many casualties occurred amongst the officers of the regimental Medical Service. At all times the officers, non-commissioned officers and men, and nurses carried out their duties with fearless bravery and great devotion to the welfare of the sick and wounded.

The evacuation of casualties from the front to the Base and to England was expeditiously accomplished by the Administrative Medical Staffs at the front and on the Lines of Communication. All ranks employed in units of evacuation and in Base Hospitals have shown the highest skill and untiring zeal and energy in alleviating the condition of those who passed through their hands.

The whole organisation of the Medical Services reflects the highest credit on all concerned.

8. I have once more to call your Lordship's attention to the part taken by the Royal Flying Corps in the general progress of the campaign, and I wish particularly to mention the invaluable assistance they rendered in the operations described in this report, under the able direction of Major-General Sir David Henderson.

The Royal Flying Corps is becoming more and more an indispensable factor in combined operations. In co-operation with the artillery, in particular, there has been continuous improvement both in the methods and in the technical material employed. The ingenuity and technical skill displayed by the officers of the Royal Flying Corps, in affecting this improvement, have been most marked.

Since my last despatch there has been a considerable increase both in the number and in the activity of German aeroplanes in our front. During this period there have been more than sixty combats in the air, in which not one British aeroplane has been lost. As these fights take place almost invariably over or behind the German lines, only one hostile aeroplane has been brought down in our territory. Five more, however, have been definitely wrecked behind their own lines, and many have been chased down and forced to land in most unsuitable ground.

In spite of the opposition of hostile aircraft and the great number of anti-aircraft guns employed by the enemy, air reconnaissance has been carried out with regularity and accuracy.

I desire to bring to your Lordship's notice the assistance given by the French Military Authorities, and in particular by General Hirschauer, Director of the French Aviation Service, and his assistants, Colonel Bottieaux and Colonel Stammler, in the supply of aeronautical material, without which the efficiency of the Royal Flying Corps would have been seriously impaired.

9. In this despatch I wish again to remark upon the exceptionally good work done throughout this campaign by the Army Service Corps and by the Army Ordnance Department, not only in the field, but also on the Lines of Communication and at the Base Ports.

To foresee and meet the requirements in the matter of Ammunition, Stores, Equipment, Supplies and Transport has entailed on the part of the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of these Services a sustained effort which has never been relaxed since the beginning of the war, and which has been rewarded by the most conspicuous success.

The close co-operation of the Railway Transport Department, whose excellent work, in combination with the French Railway Staff, has ensured the regularity of the maintenance services, has greatly contributed to this success.

The degree of efficiency to which these Services have been brought was well demonstrated in the course of the Second Battle of Ypres.

The roads between Poperinghe and Ypres, over which transport, supply and ammunition columns had to pass, were continually searched by hostile heavy artillery during the day and night; whilst the passage of the canal through the town of Ypres, and along the roads east of that town, could only be effected under most difficult and dangerous conditions as regards hostile shell fire. Yet, throughout the whole five or six weeks during which these conditions prevailed, the work was carried on with perfect order and efficiency.

10. Since the date of my last report some Divisions of the "New" Army have arrived in this country.

I made a close inspection of one Division, formed up on parade, and have at various times seen several units belonging to others.

These Divisions have as yet had very little experience in actual fighting; but, judging from all I have seen, I am of opinion that they ought to prove a valuable addition to any fighting force.

As regards the Infantry, their physique is excellent, whilst their bearing and appearance on parade reflects great credit on the officers and staffs responsible for their training. The units appear to be thoroughly well officered and commanded. The equipment is in good order and efficient

Several units of artillery have been tested in the firing line behind the trenches, and I hear very good reports of them Their shooting has been extremely good, and they are quite fit to take their places in the line.

The Pioneer Battalions have created a very favourable impression, the officers being keen and ingenious and the men of good physique and good diggers. The equipment is suitable. The training in field works has been good, but, generally speaking, they require the assistance of Regular Royal Engineers as regards laying out of important works. Man for man in digging the battalions should do practically the same amount of work as an equivalent number of sappers, and in rivetting entanglement, etc., a great deal more than the ordinary infantry battalions.

11. During the months of April and May several divisions of the Territorial Force joined the Army under my command.

Experience has shown that these troops have now reached a standard of efficiency which enable them to be usefully employed in complete divisional units.

Several divisions have been so employed; some in the trenches, others in the various offensive and defensive operations reported in this despatch.

In whatever kind of work these units have been engaged, they have all borne an active and distinguished part, and have proved themselves thoroughly reliable and efficient.

The opinion I have expressed in former despatches as to the use and value of the Territorial Force has been fully justified by recent events.

12. The Prime Minister was kind enough to accept an invitation from me to visit the Army in France, and arrived at my Headquarters on the 30th May.

Mr. Asquith made an exhaustive tour of the front, the hospitals and all the administrative arrangements made by Corps Commanders for the health and comfort of men behind the trenches.

It was a great encouragement to all ranks to see the Prime Minister amongst them; and the eloquent words which on several occasions he addressed to the troops had a most powerful and beneficial effect.

As I was desirous that the French Commander-in-Chief should see something of the British troops, I asked General Joffre to be kind enough to inspect a division on parade.

The General accepted my invitation, and on the 27th May he inspected the 7th Division, under the command of Major-General H. de la P. Gough, C. B., which was resting behind the trenches.

General Joffre subsequently expressed to me in a letter the pleasure it gave him to see the British troops, and his appreciation of their appearance on parade. He requested me to make this known to all ranks.

The Moderator of the Church of Scotland, the Right Reverend Dr. Wallace Williamson, Dean of the Order of the Thistle, visited the Army in France between the 7th and 17th May, and made a tour of the Scottish regiments with excellent results.

13. In spite of the constant strain put upon them by the arduous nature of the fighting which they are called upon to carry out daily and almost hourly, the spirit which animates all ranks of the Army in France remains high and confident.

They meet every demand made upon them with the utmost cheerfulness.

This splendid spirit is particularly manifested by the men in hospital, even amongst those who are mortally wounded.

The invariable question which comes from lips hardly able to utter a sound is, " How are things going on at the front ? "

14. In conclusion, I desire to bring to Your Lordship's special notice the valuable services rendered by General Sir Douglas Haig in his successful handling of the troops of the First Army throughout the Battle of Festubert, and Lieutenant-General Sir Herbert Plumer for his fine defence of Ypres throughout the arduous and difficult operations during the latter part of April and the month of May.

I have the honour to be,

Your Lordship's most obedient Servant,

J. D. P. French,

Field-Marshal, Commanding-in-Chief,

The British Army in France.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 12th August 1915, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. The storm which was near Nowgong at the close of the previous week filled up near Agra and failed to carry rainfall further west than Rajputana. On the disappearance of the storm the distribution of pressure changed to the type which is usually associated with a break in the rains over the greater part of the country, and by the end of the week rainfall was confined to Burma, northeast India and the central Himalayas. The rainfall of the week was hence below the average generally and was above it only in Bengal, Bihar, the east of the United Provinces and Central India East.

2. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general in Lower Burma every day, except the 9th and 10th, and in Upper Burma on the 6th and 7th.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Nearly general rain fell in Assam on every day of the week, except the 5th and 11th, in Bengal on the 7th, 8th, 9th and 12th, in Orissa on the 7th, in Chota Nagpur on the 7th and 8th, and in Bihar on the 8th, 9th and 11th.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—There was nearly general rain over the whole of the United Provinces on the 5th, and in the eastern districts on the 7th and 8th. Rainfall was also nearly general in the west of the Central Provinces on the 7th and 8th, and in Central India East on the 7th.

Northwest India.—Rain fell at nearly every station in Rajputana on the 5th and 6th. A few falls occurred in the east and north Punjab, Kashmir and southeast Gujarat.

The Peninsula.—Nearly general but light rainfall occurred on the west coast on the first four days of the week, and in north Hyderabad on the 8th. Only a few scattered falls were reported from other parts of the Peninsula.

3. The chief rainfall amounts reported were as follows :—

August 5th. Victoria Point 1·83", Toungoo 2·23", Kyaukpyu 2·24", Akyab 3·75", Myitkyina 1·04", Cox's Bazar 1·65", Bogra 1·52", Jalpaiguri 1·89", Darjiling 1·31", Cawnpore 0·98", Mainpuri 1·40", Dehra Dun 1·41", Neemuch 1·24", Hoshangabad 0·99", Simla 0·93", Murree 1·13", Jodhpur 0·68", Ajmer 4·37", Kotah 1·28" and Mount Abu 1·56".

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 7th August 1915.

Burma.—Heavy rain was general over Lower Burma. In Upper Burma the fall in the dry zone was scanty and irregularly distributed. Agricultural operations for winter rice in Lower Burma and in irrigated tracts of Upper Burma are progressing. Cultivation of upland crops continues Standing crops are generally favourable. Cattle are healthy. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon has risen and is much above normal.

Assam.—The weather is generally seasonable and favourable for agricultural operations. More rain is badly wanted for transplantation of winter rice in Darrang and Nowgong. Plucking and manufacture of tea continue. Transplantation of winter rice and harvesting of autumn rice and jute are in progress. Prospects of tea are good and those of jute and paddy are generally not favourable. Slight damage to winter rice seedlings and to transplanted winter rice by insect pests is reported from Darrang and Sibsagar, respectively. The price of common rice is stationary. Cattle disease is reported from seven districts. Insufficiency of fodder is reported from Sylhet, Kamrup and Sibsagar.

Bengal.—During the week seasonable rain fell throughout the Province. More rain is, however, still wanted in some districts especially those in the Burdwan division. Transplantation of winter paddy and harvesting of autumn paddy and jute are in progress. Some damage to standing crops by insect pests is reported from parts of the 24-Parganas, Nadia and Jessore Prospects are fairly good. Cattle disease exists in eight districts. Scarcity of fodder continues to be reported from parts of the Mymensingh and Tippera districts The distress in Noakhali has practically ceased. Scarcity, however, still prevails in parts of Tippera. The daily average of persons engaged on relief works in Tippera during the week amounted to 260 A sum of Rs. 2,450 was distributed in the form of agricultural loans in Noakhali. The average price of common rice has risen slightly as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—The rainfall was general over the Province. It was mostly light but moderate to heavy in parts of Chota Nagpur and Orissa. Transplantation of winter paddy is in progress. More rain is, however, wanted in Orissa and parts of Chota Nagpur and Bihar. Sugarcane, jute and other standing crops are doing well. The average price of common rice has risen as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient except in parts of Puri Cattle disease is reported from seventeen districts. The average daily attendance on test works in the Basudebpur and Soro thanas of the district of Balasore was 63 and 11, respectively. Transplantation of paddy is in progress in all the Feudatory States of Orissa but more rain is wanted for this purpose.

United Provinces.—Good rain has fallen everywhere. More rain is still wanted in a few districts in the west of the Provinces and in Central Doab and Mirzapur while a break is now needed in other parts. Standing crops are generally doing well. Some damage by locusts and insects is reported from three districts. Autumn sowings are practically over. Weeding of crops, transplantation of late rice and preparation of fields for spring crops are in progress. Agricultural stock is in good condition though some cattle disease still exists. Fodder and water are ample. Markets are full. Prices are still high but a slight fall is reported from important centres such as Meerut, Agra and Allahabad.

Punjab.—Light or moderate rain was received in the southeast and in the submontane tracts. Elsewhere the weather was generally dry. Rain though beneficial for standing crops was generally insufficient for unirrigated sowings. It is badly wanted everywhere. Sowings of autumn crops continue and are generally below normal on irrigated and much restricted on unirrigated areas. The condition of standing irrigated crops is generally fair but unirrigated crops are suffering for want of rain except in the southeast and in the submontane districts where they are improving. Cattle are healthy and fodder and water for drinking and irrigation are generally sufficient. Prices are stationary or are rising and generally range between warning and scarcity rates. Price of wheat:—Ambala 9, Rawalpindi and Lyallpur 9¼ and Ferozepore and Lahore 9¼ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—Slight rain fell in Swabi, Mardan, Nowshera and Bannu. The week was rainless in Dera Ismail Khan. The weather is intensely hot in Peshawar and hot and clear in Bannu. Rain is urgently required in Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of crops in Peshawar is average on irrigated and fair, on the whole, on unirrigated lands. In Bannu it is good to average and in Dera Ismail Khan average. Maize and chari have been sown in some places in Peshawar. Sowing of autumn crops is proceeding in Bannu and in Dera Ismail Khan. Sugarcane is still being damaged by insects in Bannu. Harvesting of extra spring crops has been practically finished in Bannu with outturn good to average. The condition of cattle is generally good in Peshawar and Bannu and fair in Dera Ismail Khan. Fodder and water are sufficient and procurable except in Nowshera where fodder is insufficient and in certain villages of Dera Ismail Khan where the water supply is diminishing. The Paharpur canal is running. Prices of wheat and barley are stationary, those of gram have fallen and of maize have risen in Peshawar. Prices of all food grains are rising in Bannu while in Lakki the price of wheat is stationary. In Dera Ismail Khan prices of bajra and gram have risen and those of wheat are stationary. The general public health is good.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 7 to 13 and maize from 7 to 17 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is good. There is no cattle disease. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall was insufficient. Standing crops are in bad condition for want of rain. Cattle disease prevails in Anantnag. Fodder is insufficent in Baramula. The water supply is unequal to the demand. Prices are high.

Rajputana.—During the week useful rain fell throughout Rajputana except Jaisalmer varying from 60 cents in Sirohi to 8 inches in Kotah. Weather is generally cloudy. More rain is needed. Autumn sowings are progressing. Situation has improved to a certain extent though scarcity of pasturage and fodder is still felt in Marwar, Mewar, Dungarpur, Jhalawar, Kishengarh, parts of Tonk and Ajmer-Merwara. The condition of cattle is poor in a few places owing to deficiency of pasturage. Water is generally sufficient. Prices are falling in Banswara, Karauli, Ajmer, Dungarpur, Mewar, and Bharatpur. There is, however, a marked rise of about six seers in the hilly tracts but the rise is less marked in Marwar and Jaipur. Elsewhere the prices are steady.

Central India.—The rainfall was general throughout. The principal falls were over 5 inches in the Kannod pargana of the Indore State, over 3 inches in the Indore and Mehidpur districts of the Indore State, over 8 inches in Alirajpur, over 6 inches in Dhar, over 5 inches in Jhabua and Manpur and over 3 inches in Barwani of the Southern States. The rainfall was sufficient throughout. Sowing and weeding of autumn crops are in progress everywhere. Standing crops are in good condition. Agricultural stock is good except in some villages of the Rampura and Garoth parganas of the Indore State, in the Narsinghgarh and Korwai States of the Bhopal Agency and in some villages in the Manpur pargana of the Southern States where cattle disease is reported. The fodder supply is sufficient throughout except in seven parganas of the Gwalior State and in the Rampura Bhanpura district of the Indore State. Prices are high in Baghelkhand, are normal in Bhopal, are fluctuating in the Southern States and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—Light to moderate rain was received all over the Provinces, the largest quantity registered being 9 inches in Bilaspur. Transplantation of rice and weeding operations continue. Preparation of land for the sowing of spring crops has begun in Chhindwara, Wardha and Bhandara. Germination of autumn crops is satisfactory and standing crops are in good condition but a break would be welcome. Agricultural stock is in good condition The supply of fodder and water is adequate. Fluctuations in prices of food grains are insignificant.

Feudatory States.—The rainfall was generally well distributed in all the States.

Bombay.—Good and beneficial rain fell during the week throughout the Presidency but more rain is needed in Sind, Ahmedabad, the Panch Mahals, Kaira, Kathiawar and Palanpur. Sowing is generally progressing. Transplantation continues. Seedlings have been damaged by insects in the Upper Sind Frontier and by heavy rain in three talukas of Poona and four talukas of Satara and are withering in Karachi, one division of Kathiawar, two talukas of Larkana and two talukas of Thar and Parkar. The fodder supply is sufficient except in Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar, three talukas and two mahals of Karachi, two talukas of Nawabshah, two talukas of Ahmedabad and one division of Kathiawar. Cattle are in good condition Agricultural stock is sufficient except in Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar and two talukas of Poona. Drinking water is generally sufficient. Water for irrigation is deficient in Sind, Baroda, Ahmedabad, Kaira and Sholapur.. Prices have slightly risen in the Karnatak, have fallen in the Deccan and are generally steady elsewhere.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall was heavy in parts of the Aurangabad district and fair to light elsewhere. The average fall was 94 cents. Autumn crops are being sown. Crops are being generally weeded and are in fair to good condition but have been damaged by rats and cater-pillars in parts of the Usmanabad and Raichar districts. Early rice is being sown and the crop is in good condition. Cattle disease prevails in four talukas. Prices of grains are high but almost steady. The higest price in districts of jwar is 10 seers per rupee in Warangal and the lowest 24 seers per rupee in Adilabad.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good in Hassan, Kadur and Shimoga and light elsewhere. The price of ragi has fallen in Mysore and Chitaldrug. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are generally in good condition but more rain is needed in Bangalore, Tumkur and Mysore. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 5 inches 93 cents. Ploughing for rice and transplanting continue. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Fodder for cattle is sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was very heavy in the Vizagapatam Agency and in the west coast except Travancore, heavy in Ganjam, the Vizagapatam littoral, Godavari and the Nilgiris, fair to good in Kistna, Kurnool, Sandur and Travancore, nil in Cuddapah and North Arcot and light elsewhere. Standing crops are fair to good but require more rain in parts of two districts. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is proceeding with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding normally. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water supply is sufficient except in Kurnool and in parts of Ganjam, Bellary, Anantapur, Nellore, South Arcot, Madura, Ramnad and the central parts except Trichinopoly. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of six districts. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of four districts. Prices are stationary.

Memorandum on the monsoon conditions prevailing during June and July, with a forecast for August and September 1915.

WEATHER IN INDIA DURING JUNE AND JULY.

1. The Arabian Sea monsoon arrived on the west coast about the middle of June, a fortnight after the normal date, and although it gave abundant rain to the greater part of the Peninsula it failed to penetrate properly into regions further north. The Bay current set in very gradually and on the whole provided less rain than usual with the result that over practically the whole region stretching from Bihar and Orissa to the valley of the Indus the rainfall of June was more or less in defect of the normal. During July there was a marked break between the 2nd and the 12th and although thereafter there was a gradual improvement in the general activity of the currents the monsoon failed to extend satisfactorily into Rajputana, Sind and the Punjab.

Thus the most striking feature of the weather of the period was the scanty rainfall in northwest India.

The combined rainfall of June and July in the plains of India fell short of the normal by 2·1 inches or 11 per cent. The deficit however occurred mainly in northern and central India and was serious only in the Punjab, Kashmir, Sind and Rajputana.

2. The following tables give for June, July and the total period the actual rainfall, the departure from normal and the percentage departure from normal for the fifteen chief political divisions and thirty three sub-divisions.

Division.	June.			July.			Period, June and July.
	Actual 1915.	Departure from normal.	Percentage departure from normal.	Actual 1915.	Departure from normal.	Percentage departure from normal.	Actual 1915.	Departure from normal.	Percentage departure from normal.

CONDITIONS AFFECTING THE RAINS OF AUGUST AND SEPTEMBER 1915.

3. The recent data regarding the conditions most likely to have influence on the rains of August and September 1915 are:—

South America.

4. At Buenos Aires pressure in June was in excess by ·035" and in July in defect by ·024". Pressure at Santiago was in excess by ·016" in June and by ·031" in July.

Indian Ocean.

5. Mauritius.—Pressure conditions were less steady than usual, but on the whole pressure was in defect by amounts averaging ·06" in June and ·04" in July.

Zanzibar.—Pressure was below the average by ·03" in June and ·01" in July. Winds were normal as regards direction, but their velocity was appreciably high in June and low in July.

Seychelles.—Pressure was low by ·02" in June and normal in July. Winds were on the whole above their normal strength particularly in July, and throughout their direction was more easterly than usual.

Logs of vessels.—The available information indicates that except in the neighbourhood of the African coast winds in the western half of the equatorial belt were exceedingly unsteady and from abnormal directions during the first ten days of June and again in the first week of July.

Snowfall in the Mountain Regions to the north and west of India.

6. According to the limited information available there were no widespread heavy falls of snow during June and July in the mountain zone bordering upper India and at the present time the unmelted residue of the winter accumulations is on the whole of about average thickness.

Inferences from the data.

7. Pressure.—High pressure in South America and low pressure over the Indian Ocean are favourable to Indian monsoon rainfall. This year the mean pressure in South America during the two months June and July was slightly above the average, while over the Indian Ocean the corresponding pressure was in slight defect. Thus the pressure conditions are on the whole favourable.

8. Snowfall.—Heavy snowfall in the hills is detrimental to rainfall in India. There has recently been no abnormal snowfall, and as the prolonged winter conditions mentioned in the forecast issued in June last which were probably responsible for the delay in the establishment of the monsoon and its subsequent weakness have now ceased to exert an influence this factor is not likely to have a prejudicial effect during the remainder of the season.

9. Winds.—Unsteady winds over the Indian Ocean generally accompany breaks in the monsoon. This year the winds have been much more unsteady than usual and further breaks in the rainfall may be expected.

Summary.

(a) Although there may be one or more breaks in the monsoon, the total rainfall for August and September is more likely to be above the average than below.

(b) There appears no reason to doubt that northwest India will share in the improvement.

SIMLA;
The 6th August 1915.

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No. 777—79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 P.M. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette.

J. P. HEWETT,
Secretary to the Government of India."

Class 11. No. 2897. K. F. Master, of Baroda Camp. June 19, 1915.

NOTICES.

THE PATENT OFFICE, 1, COUNCIL HOUSE STREET, CALCUTTA.

Public room, open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Saturdays, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

1. All communications relating to applications for patents and for registration of designs under the Indian Patents and Designs Act (II of 1911), or in continuation of applications under the Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888) should be addressed to the Controller of Patents and Designs, 1, Council House Street, Calcutta. Documents sent by post should be carefully packed.

2. Directions for the guidance of inventors and others are given in the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911 (price 10 annas), and in the Indian Patents and Designs Rules, 1912 (price 2 annas). These should be consulted before an application is made to the Controller.

3. Advice. The Patent Office cannot undertake (1) to give opinions on the interpretation of Patent Law, or on the advisability of protecting inventions and designs nor their infringement; (2) to make searches in respect of information available in the public room; (3) to recommend any particular agent; or (4) to assist in the disposal of inventions. Applicants are warned that the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, is in force in British India only, and patents granted under it do not extend to the United Kingdom or any of the British possessions. The International Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property does not include India. For information regarding patents in countries other than India applications should be made to the patent offices in the countries concerned.

4. Fees are payable in cash and must be received in the Patent Office within the time allowed by the Acts. When cheques are offered in payment of fees, it must be clearly understood that the office cannot hold itself responsible for any delay that may occur in the collection of cash on the cheques; any cheque not payable in Calcutta is subject to commission. In cases where it is not possible to have the fees handed in at the Patent Office, it is preferable to send them by money-order or postal order payable at Calcutta to the Controller of Patents and Designs, and to advise him that they have been so sent. Stamps will not be received in payment of fees.

5. Trade and property marks and names are not registered and medicines are not patented under the Indian Patents and Designs Act. There is no provision of Law in British India for their registration. Neither does this Act deal with pictures, photographs, etc., for which copyright is obtainable under the Indian Copyright Act, 1914.

6. Printed Specifications of applications, which have been accepted, are published within about three weeks after acceptance has been notified in the Gazette of India. These specifications can be purchased at the Patent Office at a uniform price of 8 annas per copy; and may be seen free of charge, together with other publications of the Patent Office, at the following places:—

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

The book has been published by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and copies are now procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There are two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and a very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited, and a considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Government Printing, India, Calcutta.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Simla, the 17th August, 1915.

No. 44.—The following Statutes are published for general information :—

1.—THE PRIZE COURTS ACT, 1915.

[5 & 6 GEO. 5, CH. 57.]

ARRANGEMENT OF SECTIONS.

Section.

1. Power to transfer proceedings from one prize court to another.
2. Power to make orders enforceable by other prize courts.

CHAPTER 57.

AN ACT TO AMEND THE ENACTMENTS RELATING TO PRIZE COURTS.

[2nd July 1915.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Power to transfer proceedings from one prize court to another.

1.—(1) Where proceedings are pending in any prize court against any ship or cargo, the court may at any stage of the proceedings, on application being made by the Proper Officer of the Crown, and upon being satisfied that the proceedings, or the proceedings so far as they relate to the cargo or any part thereof, would be more conveniently conducted in any other prize court, make an order remitting the proceedings, or the proceedings so far as they relate to the cargo or to any part of the cargo, to such other prize court.

(2) Where any proceedings have been remitted to another prize court that other court shall have the same jurisdiction to deal with the matter as if the subject-matter of those proceedings had originally been seized within its jurisdiction or been brought within its jurisdiction after capture, and any order or other steps made or taken in those proceedings before the order of remission shall be deemed to have been made or taken by or in that court.

Power to make orders enforceable by other prize courts.

2. A prize court may, as respects any cause or matter within its jurisdiction, and on the application of the Proper Officer of the Crown, declare that any order or decree made by it, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, is enforceable within the jurisdiction of another prize court, and shall, on the like application, have power to enforce any decree or order which another prize court has declared to be enforceable within the jurisdiction of such first-mentioned court.

Supplemental powers of prize courts.

3.—(1) Where a prize court under this Act orders the remission of any proceedings, or declares that any order or decree is enforceable by another prize court, the first-mentioned court may order the subject-matter of the proceedings, or of the order or decree, to be removed, in such manner and subject to such conditions as the court thinks fit, into the jurisdiction of the other court, and, where any such order of removal is made, either court may direct that any expenses incurred in the removal shall be borne by the cargo or any part of the cargo or the ship in such manner as the court thinks proper.

(2) For the purpose of the voyage of a ship from the jurisdiction of one court to that of another under such an order of removal, the ship, if not a British ship, shall be treated as if it were a British ship registered in the United Kingdom.

(3) The power of His Majesty in Council to make rules for regulating the procedure and practice of prize courts shall extend to making rules for carrying this Act into effect.

(4) The powers conferred by this Act are without prejudice to any other powers which the High Court in England may possess for the like purposes independently of this Act, and to the obligation imposed on prize courts by section nine of the Naval Prize Act, 1864.

27 and 28 Vict., c. 25.

Salaries and remuneration of judges and officers of prize courts.

4.—(1) The power conferred by section ten of the Naval Prize Act, 1864, to grant salaries in lieu of fees to judges of prize courts shall be extended so as also to confer a power of granting a remuneration by way of a lump sum, and, as so extended, shall, notwithstanding anything in any other enactment, apply also to officers of prize courts or performing duties in connection with matters of prize:

Provided that the powers under that section or this section shall not be exercised as respects any prize court in India except on the application of the Governor General of India in Council, or as respects any prize court in the Dominion of Canada, the Commonwealth of Australia, the Dominion of New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, or Newfoundland, except on the application of the Governor General or of the Governor in Council, as the case may be.

(2) This section shall be deemed to have had effect since the commencement of the present war.

5. This Act may be cited as the Prize Courts Act. 1915, and shall be construed as one with the Naval Prize Act, 1864; and the Naval Prize Acts, 1864 to 1914, and the Prize Courts (Egypt, Zanzibar and Cyprus) Act, 1914, and this Act may be cited together as the Naval Prize Acts, 1864 to 1915.

[5 & 6 GEO. 5, CH. 58.]

Section.

CHAPTER 58.

AN ACT TO AMEND THE ARMY ACT.

[2nd July 1915.]   A. D. 1915.

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

1. (1) Section one hundred and forty-one of the Army Act (which prohibits the assignment of pay and other allowances) shall extend to allowances to wives and dependants of officers and soldiers ; and, accordingly, in that section, immediately before the word " widow," there shall be inserted the word " wife," and for the word " relative " there shall be substituted the word " dependant."

Provisions as to separation allowances.

(2) Sub-section (9) of section one hundred and fifty-six of the Army Act (which restricts the pledging of identity certificates and life certificates by persons entitled to military pensions, pay and bounty) shall extend to separation or other allowances and relief, and accordingly, in that sub-section, after the word " bounty," wherever it occurs, there shall be inserted the words " allowance or relief."

2. In paragraph (d) of sub-section (3) of section 108A of the Army Act (which relates to billeting in cases of emergency), for the words " and paragraph (2) of Part II, of the Second Schedule to the Army Act " there shall be substituted " so much of paragraph (2) of Part I, of the Second Schedule to this Act as limits the period during which meals are required to be furnished, and paragraph (2) of Part II, of that schedule."

Amendment of s. 108A (3) (d) of Army Act.

3. In paragraph (2) of section one hundred and twenty-one of the Army Act (which relates to fraudulent claims for carriages, animals, etc.,) after the words " have his horse billeted " there shall be inserted the words " or personates or represents himself to be a person authorised to act in the purchase or hire, for the purposes of His Majesty's military service, of any carriage, animal, vessel, aircraft, food, forage, or stores."

Amendment of s. 121 (2) of Army Act.

Amendment of s. 145 (2) of Army Act.

4. Sub-section (2) of section one hundred and forty-five of the Army Act (which relates to the liability of a soldier to maintain his wife and children) shall be repealed from the words "the Army Council or officer shall order" to the end of the sub-section; and in lieu thereof there shall be substituted the following provision:—

"the Army Council or officer shall order to be deducted from the daily pay of the soldier, and to be appropriated in liquidation of the sum adjudged to be paid by such order or decree, or towards the maintenance of the wife or children of the soldier, as the case may be, in such manner as the Army Council or officer think or thinks fit, a portion of such daily pay not exceeding—where the soldier is a warrant officer (Class I.) not holding an honorary commission—in respect of wife or children, one shilling and six pence, and in respect of a bastard child, one shilling;

where the soldier is a warrant officer (Class II.) not holding an honorary commission, or a non-commissioned officer who is not below the rank of sergeant—in respect of a wife or children, one shilling, and in respect of a bastard child, seven pence; in the case of any other soldier—in respect of a wife or children, six pence, and in respect of a bastard child, four pence."

Explanation of s. 154 of Army Act.

5. For removing any doubt it is hereby declared that section one hundred and fifty-four of the Army Act (which relates to the apprehension of deserters) applies to absentees without leave, and accordingly in that section, after the word "deserters," there shall be inserted the words "and absentees without leave," and after the word "deserter," wherever it occurs, there shall be inserted the words "or absentee without leave."

Amendment of s. 156 (1) of Army Act.

6. In sub-section (1) of section one hundred and fifty-six of the Army Act (which relates to the acquisition from soldiers of military equipment, stores, and other things), for the words "a soldier" and "any soldier," wherever they occur in that sub-section, there shall be substituted the words "an officer or soldier."

Amendment of s 190 (27) of Army Act.

7. In paragraph (27) of section one hundred and ninety of the Army Act, for the words "The expression 'governor' as respects the presidency of Bengal means the Governor-General of India in Council and as respects the presidencies of Madras and Bombay means the Governor in Council of the presidency" there shall be substituted the words "The expression 'governor' as respects any presidency in India means the Governor in Council of the presidency."

Amendments consequential on 4 and 5 Geo. 5, c. 26.

8. The amendments mentioned in the Schedule to this Act, being amendments consequential on the Army (Supply of Food, Forage, and Stores) Act, 1914, shall be made in the Army Act.

Short title.

9. This Act may be cited as the Army (Amendment) No. 2 Act, 1915.

(f) draft an annual report on the working of the Board.

Disposal of business.

18. All questions which the Board or the Executive Committee is required to take into consideration by the Act or these Rules shall be referred to the members of the Board or the Executive Committee, either at meetings of the Board or the Executive Committee or by circulation of the papers:

Provided that when a question is referred by circulation of papers any member of the Board or the Executive Committee, as the case may be, may require that the question be referred at a meeting.

List of business.

19. (1) The Chairman shall cause to be prepared and circulated among the members, at least ten days before a meeting of the Board or three days before a meeting of the Executive Committee, a list of business to be disposed of at that meeting.

(2) No business not on the list shall be considered without the sanction of the Chairman.

Decision by majority.

20. (1) Every question at a meeting of the Board or Executive Committee shall be decided by a majority of votes of the members present and voting on that question. Provided that at a meeting of the Board votes may be given either personally or by proxy.

(2) In the case of an equal division of votes the Chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

Disposal of urgent and unimportant business.

21. (1) All business which is considered by the Chairman to be too urgent to be postponed till the next meeting of the Board, or not to be of such importance as to require consideration by the Board in the first instance, shall, subject to the provisions of rule 16 be disposed of by the Executive Committee.

(2) The proceedings of all meetings of the Executive Committee shall, after previous circulation, be laid before the Board at its next meeting.

Board's Establishment.

22. (1) The Board shall, from time to time, fix the number, salaries and allowances of the establishment to be employed by it.

(2) Subject to the scale of establishment fixed under section (1) the Chairman shall have power to appoint, dismiss, grant leave to, fine, suspend or reduce any person in the service of the Board:

Provided that no person shall be appointed to, or dismissed from, an office the salary of which is one hundred and fifty rupees or upwards without the sanction of the Board at a meeting.

Procedure for regulating the rate of cess, payable under section 116-E of the Act.

23. The procedure regulating the rate at which the cess referred to in section 116-E of the Act shall be levied from the 1st July 1916 shall be as follows:—

At the meeting of the Board to be held, under the provisions of rule 7, in March of each year (or as near thereto as may be convenient), the chairman shall lay before the Board an estimate of the receipts and expenditure of the Board for the year beginning on the 1st July next following, together with proposals regarding the rate at which the cess shall be payable during the year. The estimates and the proposals as to the rate at which the cess shall be levied, after such revision, if any, as the Board may direct, shall be submitted to the Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry, for sanction. The rate at which the cess shall be levied as sanctioned by the Government of India shall be notified in the Gazette of India.

24. (1) The cess shall be payable in the following manner:—

(a) The cess payable on a Garden Sardar shall be deposited by the employer in the Local Treasury or Sub-Treasury in Assam prior to the counter-signature of the license of such Garden Sardar by the Inspector of Labourers or Magistrate under the provisions of section 59 of the Act. The total amount of the cess so deposited in each month shall be remitted by the Deputy Commissioner within the first week of the succeeding month by Remittance Transfer Receipt to the Chairman of the Board. When the cess at the prescribed rate has been deposited in the Treasury in respect of all the Garden Sardars, whose licenses have been counter-signed under section 59 of the Act during the month covered by the remittance, the Deputy Commissioner shall, when making the remittance, furnish the said Chairman with a certificate to that effect. When the cess has not been so deposited in respect of all or any of such Garden Sardars, the Deputy Commissioner shall, within the first seven days of the succeeding month, furnish the said Chairman with a list of the Garden Sardars in respect of whom the full cess has not been deposited The names and addresses of the employers of the said Sardars shall also be entered in the said list.

Recovery of cess.

Provided firstly that the cess payable on a Garden Sardar who has been deputed to a recruiting district after the passing of the Act and who has not, before this rule comes into force, returned to the estate on which he has been engaged to labour, shall be remitted, where his employer has appointed a local agent, through such local agent to the Chairman of the Board, and where his employer has not appointed a local agent, by such employer direct to the said Chairman, within one month of the date on which this rule comes into force. The Superintendent of Emigration in each recruiting district shall furnish the Chairman of the Board with a statement giving the names of the sardars in respect of whom cess is payable under this proviso, together with the names and addresses of their employers or the names of the gardens for which they recruit and of the local agents, if any, under whom they work.

Provided secondly that the cess payable in the case of a sardar in respect of whom the provisions of Chapter IV of the Act except sections 56 (1) and 57 have been relaxed, shall be payable within one month of the date on which such sardar arrives in the recruiting district. The cess shall be remitted through the local agent to the Chairman of the Board Within the first week of each month the local agent shall furnish the Chairman of the Board with a statement showing the names of the sardars who have arrived in the recruiting district during the preceding month, together with the names and addresses of their employers.

(b) The cess payable on every person recruited or engaged as a labourer or assisted to emigrate under Chapter IV or section 91 of the Act shall be payable within the month following that in which such person has been despatched from the recruiting district to the labour district. Where an employer has appointed a local agent, the cess shall be remitted through such local agent to the Chairman of the Board, and where a local agent has not been so appointed, the employer shall remit the sum due as cess direct to the said Chairman.

(2) If default in payment of the cess be made, the Chairman of the Board may—

(a) in the case of a Garden Sardar referred to in clause 1 (a) of this rule, on receipt of the list of Garden Sardars in respect of whom cess has not been paid,

(b) in the case of a Garden Sardar referred to in the first proviso to clause 1 (a) of this rule, after expiry of two months from the date on which this rule comes into force,

(c) in the case of a Garden Sardar referred to in the second proviso to clause 1 (a) of this rule, after the expiry of one month from the date on which the sardar arrives in the recruiting district,

(d) in the case of a person recruited or engaged as a labourer or assisted to emigrate under Chapter IV or section 91 of the Act, on the expiry of the month following that in which such person was despatched from the recruiting district to the labour district, send a demand by registered letter to the defaulting employer for the amount due, and if, within a period of a month after the postal receipt for the registered letter has reached the Chairman, payment is still in arrears, the Chairman may proceed to recover the amount due by making application under section 215 of the Act to the Magistrate of the District in which the defaulter resides.

(3) In each recruiting district the Superintendent of Emigration shall furnish the Chairman of the Board with a monthly statement showing, in respect of each local agent and of each employer who has not appointed a local agent, the total number of persons recruited or engaged as labourers or assisted to emigrate by such local agent or employer during the month to which the return relates, and the number of persons as aforesaid despatched to each tea garden in the labour districts by each such local agent or employer.

Deposit of moneys received on behalf of the Board.

25. All moneys received on behalf of the Board shall be deposited in the Bank of Bengal to the credit of the Board, provided that the Board may, from time to time, authorise the retention in the charge of the Chairman of such sums as it thinks fit as petty cash to meet contingent expenditure.

Audit of Accounts.

26. The account of the receipts and expenditure of the Board shall be audited annually in the month of August by an officer to be deputed by the Accountant-General, Bengal.

Accounts and report to be considered at meeting.

27. At the first meeting held after the audit has been completed, the business shall include the consideration and adoption of the annual report and the accounts for the year ending on 30th June preceding.

Submission of report and accounts.

28. The Chairman shall submit the annual report, together with the audited statement of receipts and expenditure, to the Governor General in Council not later than October in each year.

Publication of report and abstract statement of expenditure.

29 The report and an abstract statement of the receipts and expenditure shall be published in the Gazette of India.

Power of Board and Supervisors to inspect places of accommodation and registers or records.

30 Any member of the Board and any Supervisor appointed under section 116-C shall have authority to enter into and inspect any place of accommodation established under the provisions of Section 62 of the Act, and to call for and inspect any register or other record maintained by a local agent under the provisions of the Act or of any rule prescribed thereunder.

No. 13739-W.—Mr. C. R. Watkins, B.A., an Assistant Collector in the Imperial Customs Service, was relieved of his duties as Assistant Wheat Commissioner, Bombay, on the 6th August 1915.

No. 13755-W.—The following regulations respecting certificates of origin for foreign goods imported into Russia are published for general information :—

REGULATIONS CONCERNING PROOF OF ORIGIN OF FOREIGN GOODS.

I. The following will be accepted as proof of the origin of goods subject to Customs duty at the rates of the "Conventional," or, as the case may be, "General" Tariff for European trade :—

1. Certificates of origin issued by : (a) Russian diplomatic and consular officers, with the official seal affixed; (b) Chambers of Commerce, Municipal or Police Authorities, with the official seal affixed; (c) Customs houses discharging the goods from the country whose products are assessed in Russia at "Conventional" rates, or, as the case may be, "General" rates of the Tariff;

2. Accounts, invoices, or letters of manufacturers, wholesale stores, merchants, commission offices and traders.

II. The documents enumerated in point 1 (letters b and c) and point 2 of Section I will be recognised as sufficient proof of origin only when the said documents have been attested by Russian diplomatic or consular officers, if there be such in the country of origin. Not only the signatures in the documents must be so attested, but also the accuracy of the statements regarding the origin of the goods indicated. In the case of accounts, invoices, and letters of foreign manufacturers, etc. (point 2 of Section I), the above officials must also certify that the persons submitting these documents do in fact possess the commercial or industrial undertakings in the name of which the documents are submitted.

Note.—In countries where there are no Russian diplomatic or consular representatives, the documents may be attested by English, French, or Belgian diplomatic or consular officials, according to a list sanctioned by the Minister for Foreign Affairs.

III. Should (Russian) Customs establishments experience any difficulties in interpreting the foreign text of documents presented, the owner of the goods must, on demand, submit a translation in Russian, certifying the correctness of the same with his signature.

IV. The documents referred to in Section I will be accepted only if issued by persons residing, or institutions established in the country of origin of the goods, and not in countries through which they are being conveyed in transit.

V. These documents must contain information as to the quantity of packages, their marks and numbers, gross and net weight, and a description of the goods by their technical or trade name, the following exceptions being admitted :—

(a) In proof of origin of articles assessed in the Tariff not by weight but by piece, documents will be accepted without indication of the net and gross weight.

(b) In documents concerning vessels (ships), the dimensions may be indicated by gross capacity in tons.

(c) The net weight need not be given in the case of the following : all goods assessed in the Tariff by gross weight, and all goods allowed a deduction for tare if imported in packing specifically named in the Tare Table sanctioned by the Minister of Finance.

(d) Slight disparities in the marks and numbers of goods' packages, as compared with the entries in the documents, need not disqualify the documents if the Customs authorities have no doubt that the documents refer to the goods imported.

VI. It is sufficient to present one of the documents indicated in Section I if the goods come to Russia direct from the country of origin.

VII. By direct importation of goods from the country of origin is to be understood :

(a) the carriage of goods from a port of the country of origin to a Russian port without transhipment and without discharge at a port of a third country;

(b) the carriage of goods by rail or by a mixed route, by rail and by steamer, with through waybills or bills of lading, if the place of despatch indicated in these documents is situated within the boundaries of the country of origin, and the place of destination is any interior or frontier point of Russia, even if the goods have to be conveyed via other countries to the products of which favourable tariff rates are applied.

VIII. The conveyance of goods through German, Austro-Hungarian, or Turkish territories, as also the transhipment or discharge of goods at ports of these countries, shall deprive the goods of any right to favourable tariff rates.

IX. On the delivery of goods imported indirectly from the country of origin the following will be required :

1. For goods coming from Customs warehouses, in addition to one of the documents indicated in Section I, a certificate of a Custom house of the country from which the goods are imported into Russia to the effect that the packages indicated in the said documents were not released from the warehouses of that Custom house, and indicating by what waybills or bills of lading they were despatched directly to Russia. This certificate must be attested by Russian diplomatic or consular officials ; and

2. For goods acquired in a foreign interior market, a certificate of origin from Russian diplomatic or consular officials, indicating that the goods, on delivery into that country, did not pass in transit through German, Austro-Hungarian or Turkish territory, and were not transhipped or discharged at ports of those countries.

X. Goods specified in the appended list, on direct import into Russia from the country of origin, do not require certificates of origin. If these goods are imported indirectly from the country of origin, they require a certificate of the Custom house of the country from which they were despatched direct to Russia, this certificate indicating the country of origin, the point whence the goods were received at the place where the Custom house issuing the certificate is situated, and the routes by which the goods were proceeding to Russia. This certificate must be attested by a Russian diplomatic or consular officer.

Note.—At the desire of the owners of the goods, instead of the Customs certificate mentioned in this Section, documents mentioned in Sections I and IX may be presented.

XI. Asiatic goods, imported by Persian, Afghan, Mongolian and overland Chinese frontiers, do not require certificates of origin.

XII. In goods' declarations, when the amount of the duty depends on the country of origin, the owner must indicate the country of origin, otherwise the declaration will be returned for the insertion of this information.

XIII. Documents showing the origin or place of despatch of goods (Sections I to X) may be presented at Custom houses at the time of import of the goods together with the lading documents, or on delivery of the declaration, or afterwards with a separate statement handed in previous to the discharge of the goods from the Custom house, but in any case, not later than six months from the date of arrival of the goods at the Custom house.

XIV. On inspection of the goods, the Customs authorities must see that the proofs of origin presented correspond with the goods, and in cases of reasonable doubt, must verify the proofs, apart from the documents referred to above, and make an expert examination of the goods.

XV. If the number of packages of goods presented for inspection should be found to be less than that entered in the documents of origin, this circumstance alone should not be a reason for refusing to recognise the goods as subject to assessment under the "Conventional" or, as the case may be, "General" Tariff, and the documents of origin must not be returned to the owner of the goods. If the latter declares that the missing packages will be delivered later, the Custom house must, on his written request, deliver to him a copy of these documents, with a note on the same explaining the circumstances.

XVI. The documents indicated in Sections I to X of these regulations delivered at Custom houses with postal declarations, will be recognised as proof of origin of goods imported in postal parcels. For goods, received in parcels, delivered to addressees direct from Custom houses (section 617 of the Customs Code, 1912, Supplement), proof of origin may also be presented by the receivers on the same basis as is established for the presentation of proof of origin of goods inspected according to declaration.

XVII. For goods inspected without inspection documents in the cases provided for in sections 197, 198, 257, 391, 399 and 417 of the Customs Code, proof of origin will be accepted on the same basis as is established for goods inspected according to declarations.

XVIII. Documents of origin, as also other documents, after payment of Customs duties on the goods, shall be sent to the competent Control Chambers with the inspection documents.

XIX. In the absence of proofs of origin, or non-compliance of the same with these regulations, the goods will be assessed for duty according to the rates established for goods of German, Austrian, and Turkish origin.

XX. Exemptions from the stipulations of these regulations may be made in exceptional cases on the special authorisation, in each separate case, of the Minister of Finance.

Range finders and parts thereof ;
Sheepgut ;
Silk cloth, silk braid, silk thread, suitable for cartridges ;
Silk noils ;
Silk, Shantung, in the piece ;
Spirits, methylated ;
Spirits of a strength of not less than 43 degrees above proof ;
Swords, bayonets and other arms (not being firearms) and parts thereof ;
Tarpaulins and waggon covers ;
Wheat, wheat flour and wheat meal ;
Wood, namely :—
Ash ;
Ash three-ply wood ;
Spruce ;
Walnut wood ;
Zinc (including zinc ashes, zinc rods, zinc sheets, spelter, and spelter dross).

(B) That the exportation of the following goods be prohibited to all destinations abroad other than British Possessions and Protectorates :—

Accoutrements, namely, web equipment, leather belts, leather bandoliers, leather pouches, other leather articles of personal equipment suitable for military purposes ;

Alunite ;

Blankets, coloured, exceeding 3½ lbs. in weight, containing wool ;

Bone ash ;

Boots, heavy, for men ;

Camp equipment, articles of, including tents and their component parts, wooden huts, ovens, camp kettles, buckets, lanterns, and horse rugs ;

Carts, two-wheeled, capable of carrying 15 cwt. or over, and their component parts ;

Chemicals, drugs, medicinal and pharmaceutical preparations, namely :—

Acetanilide ;

Aconite and its preparations and alkaloids ;

Ammonia and its salts, whether simple or compound, other than ammonium nitrate, perchlorate and sulphocyanide ;

Ammonia, liquefied ;

Ammonia, liquor ;

Antimony, sulphides and oxides of ;

Benzoic acid (synthetic) and benzoates ;

Bromine and alkaline bromides ;

Calcium carbide ;

Carbon tetrachloride ;

Chloride of tin ;

Chlorine (including liquefied chlorine) ;

Coca and its preparations and alkaloids ;

Copper iodide ;

Copper, suboxide of ;

Copper sulphate ;

Cresol (saponified) ;

Formic aldehyde ;

Hexamethylene tetramin (urotropin) and its preparations ;

Hydrobromic acid ;

Hydrochloric acid ;

Magnesium chloride and sulphate ;

Mercury, salts and preparations of (other than nitrate of mercury) ;

Oxalic acid ;

Oxides and salts (other than chlorates, perchlorates, and nitrates) of the following metals :—

Aluminium ;

Cobalt ;

Nickel ;

Tungsten ;

Phosphorus and its compounds ;

Potash salt (except potassium chlorate, cyanide, nitrate (saltpetre), perchlorate, and permanganate) ;

Prussiate of soda ;

Sodium hyposulphite (thiosulphate) ;

Tartaric acid, cream of tartar, and alkaline tartrates ;

Urea and its compounds ;

Zinc chloride and sulphate ;

Coal sacks ;

Deer skins, dressed and undressed ;

Draw plates, jewelled, for drawing steel wire, and diamonds prepared for use therein ;

Electros for printing purposes, composed of lead, antimony, and copper ;

Ferro alloys, including :—
- Ferro-chrome ;
- Ferro-manganese ;
- Ferro-molybdenum ;
- Ferro-nickel ;
- Ferro-titanium ;
- Ferro-tungsten ;
- Ferro-vanadium ;
- Spiegeleisen ;

Ferro-silicon ;

Forges, portable ;

Goat skins, dressed and undressed ;

Graphite, including foundry (moulding) plumbago and plumbago for lubricating ;

Guanos ;

Hemp, the following manufactures of :—
- Cloth ;
- Cordage and twine, not including cordage or twine of Manila hemp or reaper or binder twine ;

Horse shoes ;

Jute, raw and carded ;

Lubricants ;

Maps and plans of any place within the territory of any belligerent, or within the area of military operations, on a scale of four miles to one inch or on any larger scale, and reproductions on any scale by photography or otherwise of such maps or plans ;

Metals and ores, namely :—
- Aluminium, manufactures of aluminium, and alloys of aluminium ;
- Antimony and alloys of antimony, including anti-friction metal ;
- Bauxite ;
- Chrome ore ;
- Cobalt ;
- Copper unwrought and part wrought, all kinds, including alloys of copper (such as brass, gun metal, naval brass and delta metal, phosphor copper, phosphor bronze, and solder containing copper), copper and brass circles, slabs, bars, ingots, scarp, rods, and plates, and also wrought copper of the following descriptions :—

  Copper and brass pipes, sheets, solid drawn tubes, condenser plates, copper wire, brass wire, bronze wire, perforated brass sheets, perforated brass linings, and copper foil ;
- Lead, pig, sheet or pipe (including solder containing lead) ;
- Lead ore ;
- Manganese and manganese ore ;
- Mercury ;
- Molybdenum and molybdenite ;
- Nickel and nickel ore ;
- Scheelite ;
- Selenium ;
- Steel containing tungsten or molybdenum or both, and any tools or other articles made from such steel ;
- Tin and tin ore ;
- Tungsten ;
- Vanadium ;
- Wolframite ;
- Wulfenite ;
- Zinc ore ;

Mica (including mica splittings) and micanite ;

Mineral jellies ;

Mines and parts thereof ;

Oil, blast furnace (except creosote and creosote oil) ;

Oil fuel, shale ;

Oils and fats, all animal and vegetable, including fatty acids, but not including essential oils;

Oil, whale (train, blubber, sperm), seal oil, shark oil, fish oil generally and mixtures or compounds of any of the foregoing;

Oleaginous nuts, seeds and products, namely:—

Castor beans;

Coconuts;

Copra;

Cotton seed;

Ground nuts, earth nuts or pea nuts (Arachides);

Hempseed;

Linseed;

Palm nuts and palm kernels;

Poppy seeds;

Rape or colza seed;

Sesame seed;

Soya beans;

Sunflower seed;

Paraffin wax, wax candles, and waxed paper;

Petroleum, fuel oil (including turpentine substitute and paraffin oil);

Petroleum, gas oil;

Petroleum spirit and motor spirit (including Shell spirit);

Phosphate rock, viz.:—

Apatites;

Phosphates of lime and alumina;

Pigskins, dressed or undressed;

Provisions and victuals which may be used as food for man, namely:—

Animals, living, for food;

Barley, barley meal, and pearled and pot barley;

Butter;

Cheese;

Eggs in shells;

Lard and imitation lard;

Malt;

Margarine;

Milk, condensed, sweetened or not;

Oatmeal and rolled oats;

Peas, except tinned and bottled peas and peas packed in cardboard boxes and similar receptacles;

Sugar, refined and candy;

Sugar, unrefined;

Rope (steel wire) and hawsers;

Rubber (including raw, waste and reclaimed rubber, solutions containing rubber, jellies containing rubber, or any other preparations containing rubber, and also including balata, gutta-percha, and the following varieties of rubber, viz:—Borneo, Guayule, Jelutong, Palembang, Pontianac and all other substances containing caoutchouc) and goods made wholly or partly of rubber; including tyres for motor vehicles and for cycles, together with articles or materials especially adapted for use in the manufacture or repair of tyres;

Search-lights ;

Sheepskins, tanned ;

Sheepskins, whether woolled or not ;

Signalling lamps of all kinds capable of being used for signalling Morse or other code and component parts of such lamps ;

Submarine sound signalling apparatus ;

Surgical bandages and dressings (including buttercloth) ;

Tanning substances of all kinds (including extracts for use in tanning) except chestnut extract, oakwood extract, and valonia ;

Telephone sets and parts thereof, field service telegraph and telephone cable;

Torpedo nets ;

Torpedo tubes ;

Torpedoes and parts thereof ;

Tungsten filaments for electric lamps ;

Turpentine (oil and spirit) ;

Uniform clothing and military equipment ;

Vessels, boats and craft of all kinds ;floating docks and their component parts ;

Waggons, four-wheeled, capable of carrying one ton and over and their component parts ;

Wax, mineral and vegetable, except Carnauba wax ;

Wire, barbed, and galvanised wire, and implements for fixing and cutting the same (but not including galvanised wire netting) ;

Wire, steel, of all kinds ;

Wood tar, and Wood tar oil ;

Wool, raw (sheep's and lambs');

Wool tops ;

Wool noils ;

Wool waste ;

Woollen rags, applicable to other uses than manure, pulled or not ;

Woollen and worsted cloth suitable for uniform clothing, not including women's dress stuffs or cloth with pattern ;

Woollen and worsted yarns ;

Woollen jerseys, cardigan jackets, woollen gloves, woollen socks, and men's woollen underwear of all kinds.

(C) That the exportation of the following goods be prohibited to all foreign countries in Europe and on the Mediterranean and Black Seas, other than France, Russia (except through Baltic ports), Italy, Spain and Portugal :—

Anchors and chain cables ;

Armour plates, armour quality castings, and similar protective material ;

Asbestos ;

Bags and sacks of all kinds (except bags and sacks made of jute and paper bags);

Bicycles, and their component parts ;

Binder twine ;

Bladders, casings, and sausage skins ;

Camphor ;

Carnauba wax ;

Chemicals, drugs, etc. :—

Arsenic and its compounds ;

Bichromate of soda ;

Bismuth and its salts (except bismuth nitrate) ;

Iodine and its preparations and compounds ;

Nux Vomica and its alkaloids and preparations ;

Tin, compounds of, other than chloride of tin and tin ore ;

Chronometers and all kinds of nautical instruments ;

Compasses for ships, and parts thereof, including fittings such as binnacles ;

Cotton, raw ;

Cotton yarn and thread ;

Firearms, unrifled, for sporting purposes ;

Flaxen canvas, namely :—
- Hammock canvas ;
- Kitbag canvas ;
- Merchant Navy canvas ;
- Royal Navy canvas ;
- Tent canvas ;

Forage and food which may be used for animals, namely :—
- Buckwheat ;
- Cakes and meals, the following, namely :—
  - Biscuit meal ;
  - Calf meal ;
  - Fish meal and concentrated fish ;
  - Ground nut or earth nut cake and meal ;
  - Hempseed cake and meal ;
  - Husk meal ;
  - Locust bean meal ;
  - Meat meal ;
  - Palmnut cake and meal ;
  - Poppyseed cake and meal ;
  - Rapeseed or colzaseed cake and meal ;
  - Sesame seed cake and meal ;
  - Soya bean cake and meal ;
  - Sunflower seed cake and meal;
- Chick peas, pigeon peas, gram or dhol ;
- Dari ;
- Millet ;
- Molasses for cattle feeding ;

Grindstones, carborundum wheels, and emery wheels ;

Gums, resins, balsams, and resinous substances of all kinds, except such as contain caoutchouc ;

Hair, animal, of all kinds ; and tops, noils and yarns of animal hair ;

Implements and apparatus designed exclusively for the manufacture of munitions of war, for the manufacture or repair of arms or of war material for use on land or sea namely, plant for cordite and ammunition factories, viz.:—
- Cordite presses ;
- Dies for cartridge cases ;
- Gauges for shells or cartridges ;
- Incorporators ;
- Lapping machines ;
- Rifling machines ;
- Wire-winding machines ;

Intrenching tools and intrenching implements, namely, pick-axes and grubbers, whether of combination pattern or otherwise ; spades and shovels of all descriptions ; helves and handles for pick-axes, grubbers, spades and shovels ; and machinery for trenching and ditching ;

Lacs of all kinds, including shellac, gum lac, seed lac, stick lac, and other forms of lac, but not including lac dye ;

Lignum vitæ ;

Linen close canvas ;

Linen duck cloth ;

Machinery, metal-working ;

Mahogany ;

Mess tins, and water bottles for military use ;

Metals and ores, namely :—
- Copper ore ;
- Iron ore ;
- Iron, hæmatite pig ;

Monazite sand;

Motor vehicles of all kinds, including motor bicycles, and their component parts and accessories;

Packings, engine and boiler (including slagwool);

Provisions and victuals which may be used as food for man, namely:—

Cassava powder and tapioca;

Cocoa powder;

Herrings, cured or salted, in barrels or cases, including dry salted herrings and herrings in brine;

Mandioca or tapioca flour;

Onions;

Potatoes;

Rice and rice flour;

Rye, rye flour and meal;

Sago and sago meal and flour;

Soups, compressed and dessicated;

Tinned and potted meats and extract of meat;

Railway material, both fixed and rolling stock;

Rattans;

Seeds, clover and grass;

Shipbuilding materials, namely:—

Boiler tubes;

Condenser tubes;

Iron and steel castings and forgings for hulls and machinery of ships;

Iron and steel plates and sectional materials for shipbuilding;

Marine engines, and parts thereof;

Ships' auxiliary machinery;

Sounding machines and gear;

Telegraphs, wireless telegraphs and telephones, material for;

Terneplates;

Tin plates, including tin boxes and tin canisters for food packing.

No. 785.—The following extracts are published for general information:—

Third Supplement dated the 6th July 1915, to the "London Gazette" of the 2nd July 1915.

From the General Commanding the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force.

To the Secretary of State for War, War Office, London, S. W.

General Headquarters,
Mediterranean Expeditionary Force,
20th May, 1915.

MY LORD,—

I have the honour to submit my report on the operations in the Gallipoli Peninsula up to and including the 5th May.

In accordance with your Lordship's instructions I left London on 13th March with my General Staff by special train to Marseilles, and thence in H. M. S. "Phæton" to the scene of the naval operations in the Eastern Mediterranean, reaching Tenedos on the 17th March shortly after noon.

Immediately on arrival I conferred with Vice-Admiral de Robeck, Commanding the Eastern Mediterranean Fleet; General d'Amade, Commanding the French Corps, Expéditionnaire; and Contre Amiral Guepratte, in command of the French Squadron. At this conference past difficulties were explained to me, and the intention to make a fresh attack on the morrow was announced. The amphibious battle between warships and land fortresses took place next day, the 18th of March. I witnessed these stupendous events, and thereupon cabled your Lordship my reluctant deduction that the co-operation of the whole of the force under my command would be required to enable the Fleet effectively to force the Dardanelles.

By that time I had already carried out a preliminary reconnaissance of the north-western shore of the Gallipoli Peninsula, from its isthmus, where it is spanned by the Bulair fortified lines, to Cape Helles, at its extremest point. From Bulair this singular feature runs in a south-westerly direction for 52 miles, attaining near its centre a breadth of 12 miles. The northern coast of the northern half of the promontory slopes downwards steeply to the Gulf of Xeros, in a chain of hills, which extend as far as Cape Sulva. The precipitous fall of these hills precludes landing, except at a few narrow gullies, far too restricted for any serious military movements. The Southern half of the peninsula is shaped like a badly-worn boot. The ankle lies between Kaba Tepe and Kalkmaz Dagh; beneath the heel lie the cluster of forts at Kilid Bahr, whilst the toe is that promontory, five miles in width, stretching from Tekke Burnu to Sedd-el-Bahr.

The three dominating features in this southern section seemed to me to be:—

(1) Saribair Mountain, running up in a succession of almost perpendicular escarpments to 970 feet. The whole mountain seemed to be a network of ravines and covered with thick jungle.

(2) Kilid Bahr plateau, which rises, a natural fortification artificially fortified, to a height of 700 feet to cover the forts of the Narrows from an attack from the Ægean.

(3) Achi Babi, a hill 600 feet in height, dominating at long field gun range what I have described as being the toe of the peninsula.

A peculiarity to be noted as regards this last southern sector is that from Achi Babi to Cape Helles the ground is hollowed out like a spoon, presenting only its outer edges to direct fire from the sea. The inside of the spoon appears to be open and undulating, but actually it is full of spurs, nullahs and confused underfeatures.

Generally speaking the coast is precipitous, and good landing places are few. Just south of Tekke Burnu is a small sandy bay (W),* and half a mile north of it is another small break in the cliffs (X).. Two miles further up the coast the mouth of a stream indents these same cliffs (Y2), and yet another mile and a half up a scrub-covered gully looked as if active infantry might be able to scramble up it on to heights not altogether dissimilar to those of Abraham, by Quebec (Y).* Inside Sedd-el-Bahr is a sandy beach (V),* about 300 yards across, facing a semi-circle of steeply-rising ground, as the flat bottom of a half-saucer faces the rim, a rim flanked on one side by an old castle, on the other by a modern fort. By Eski Hissarlik, on the east of Morto Bay (S)* was another small beach, which was however dominated by the big guns from Asia. Turning northwards again, there are two good landing places on either side of Kaba Tepe. Farther to the north of that promontory the beach was supposed to be dangerous and difficult. In most of these landing-places the trenches and lines of wire entanglements were plainly visible from on board ship. What seemed to be gun emplacements and infantry redoubts could also be made out through a telescope, but of the full extent of these defences and of the forces available to man them there was no possibility of judging except by practical test.

* In map (not reproduced).

Altogether the result of this and subsequent reconnaissances was to convince me that nothing but a thorough and systematic scheme for flinging the whole of the troops under my command very rapidly ashore could be expected to meet with success; whereas, on the other hand, a tentative or piecemeal programme was bound to lead to disaster. The landing of an army upon the theatre of operations I have described—a theatre strongly garrisoned throughout, and prepared for any such attempt—involved difficulties for which no precedent was forthcoming in military history except possibly in the sinister legends of Xerxes. The beaches were either so well defended by works and guns, or else so restricted by nature that it did not seem possible, even by two or three simultaneous landings, to pass the troops ashore quickly enough to enable them to maintain themselves against the rapid concentration and counter-attack which the enemy was bound in such case to attempt. It became necessary, therefore, not only to land simultaneously at as many points as possible, but to threaten to land at other points as well. The first of these necessities involved another unavoidable if awkward contingency, the separation by considerable intervals of the force.

The weather was also bound to play a vital part in my landing. Had it been British weather there would have been no alternative but instantly to give up the adventure. To land two or three thousand men, and to then to have to break off and leave them exposed for a week to the attacks of 34,000 regular troops, with a hundred guns at their back, was not an eventuality to be lightly envisaged. Whatever happened the weather must always remain an incalculable factor, but at least by delay till the end of April we had a fair chance of several days of consecutive calm.

Before doing anything else I had to redistribute the troops on the transports to suit the order of their disembarkation. The bulk of the forces at my disposal had, perforce, been embarked without its having been possible to pay due attention to the operation upon which I now proposed that they should be launched.

Owing to lack of facilities at Mudros redistribution in that harbour was out of the question. With your Lordship's approval, therefore, I ordered all the transports, except those of the Australian Infantry Brigade and the details encamped at Lemnos Island, to the Egyptian ports. On the 24th March I myself, together with the General Staff, proceeded to Alexandria, where I remained until 7th April, working out the allocation of troops to transports in minutest detail as a prelude to the forthcoming disembarkation. General d'Amade did likewise.

On the 1st April the remainder of the General Headquarters, which had not been mobilised when I left England, arrived at Alexandria.

Apart from the rearrangements of the troops, my visit to Egypt was not without profit, since it afforded me opportunities of conferring with the G. O. C. Egypt and of making myself acquainted with the troops, drawn from all parts of the French Republic and of the British Empire, which it was to be my privilege to command.

By the 7th April my preparations were sufficiently advanced to enable me to return with my General Staff to Lemnos, so as to put the finishing touches to my plan in close co-ordination with the Vice-Admiral Commanding the Eastern Mediterranean Fleet.

The covering force of the 29th Division left Mudros Harbour on the evening of 23rd April for the five beaches, S. V. W, X, and Y.* Of these V, W, and X were to be main landings, the landings at S and Y being made mainly to protect the flanks, to disseminate the forces of the enemy, and to interrupt the arrival of his reinforcements. The landings at S and Y were to take place at dawn, whilst it was planned that the first troops for V, W, and X beaches should reach the shore simultaneously at 5-30 A.M. after half-an hour's bombardment from the fleet.

The transports conveying the covering force arrived off Tenedos on the morning of the 24th, and during the afternoon the troops were transferred to the warships and fleet-sweepers in which they were to approach the shore. About midnight these ships, each towing a number of cutters and other small boats, silently slipped their cables and, escorted by the 3rd Squadron of the Fleet, steamed slowly towards their final rendezvous at Cape Helles. The rendezvous was reached just before dawn on the 25th. The morning was absolutely still; there was no sign of life on the shore; a thin veil of mist hung motionless over the promontory; the surface of the sea was as smooth as glass. The four battleships and four cruisers which formed the 3rd Squadron at once took up the positions that had been allotted to them, and at 5 A. M., it being then light enough to fire, a violent bombardment of the enemy's defences was begun. Meanwhile the troops were being rapidly transferred to the small boats in which they were to be towed ashore. Not a move on the part of the enemy; except for shells thrown from the Asiatic side of the Straits the guns of the Fleet remained unanswered.

The detachment detailed for S beach* (Eski Hissarlik Point) consisted of the 2nd South Wales Borderers (less one company) under Lieutenant-Colonel Casson. Their landing was delayed by the current, but by 7-30 A. M. it had been successfully effected at the cost of some 50 casualties, and Lieutenant-Colonel Casson was able to establish his small force on the high ground near De Totts Battery. Here he maintained himself until the general advance on the 27th brought him into touch with the main body.

* In map (not reproduced).

The landing on Y beach* was entrusted to the King's Own Scottish Borderers and the Plymouth (Marine) Battalion, Royal Naval Division, specially attached to the 29th Division for this task, the whole under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Koe. The beach at this point consisted merely of a narrow strip of sand at the foot of a crumbling scrub-covered cliff some 200 feet high immediately to the west of Krithia.

A number of small gullies running down the face of the cliff facilitated the climb to the summit, and so impracticable had these precipices appeared to the Turks that no steps had been taken to defend them. Very different would it have been had we, as was at one time intended, taken Y 2* for this landing. There a large force of infantry, entrenched up to their necks, and supported by machine and Hotchkiss guns, were awaiting an attempt which could hardly have made good its footing. But at Y* both battalions were able in the first instance to establish themselves on the heights, reserves of food, water and ammunition were hauled up to the top of the cliff, and, in accordance with the plan of operations, an endeavour was immediately made to gain touch with the troops landing at X* beach. Unfortunately, the enemy's strong detachment from Y 2* interposed, our troops landing at X* were fully occupied in attacking the Turks immediately to their front, and the attempt to join hands was not persevered with.

Later in the day a large force of Turks were seen to be advancing upon the cliffs above Y* beach from the direction of Krithia, and Colonel Koe was obliged to entrench. From this time onward his small force was subjected to strong and repeated attacks, supported by field artillery, and owing to the configuration of the ground, which here drops inland from the edge of the cliff, the guns of the supporting ships could render him little assistance. Throughout the afternoon and all through the night the Turks made assault after assault upon the British line. They threw bombs into the trenches, and, favoured by darkness, actually led a pony with machine gun on its back over the defences and were proceeding to come into action in the middle of our position when they were bayonetted. The British repeatedly counter-charged with the bayonet, and always drove off the enemy for the moment, but the Turks were in a vast superiority and fresh troops took the place of those who temporarily fell back. Colonel Koe (since died of wounds) had become a casualty early in the day, and the number of officers and men killed and wounded during the incessant fighting was very heavy. By 7 A.M., on the 26th only about half of the King's Own Scottish Borderers remained to man the entrenchment made for four times their number. These brave fellows were absolutely worn out with continuous fighting; it was doubtful if reinforcements could reach them in time, and orders were issued for them to be re-embarked. Thanks to H.M S. "Goliath," "Dublin," "Amethyst," and "Sapphire," thanks also to the devotion of a small rearguard of the King's Own Scottish Borderers, which kept off the enemy from lining the cliff, the re-embarkation of the whole of the troops, together with the wounded, stores and ammunition, was safely accomplished, and both battalions were brought round the southern end of the peninsula. Deplorable as the heavy losses had been, and unfortunate as was the tactical failure to make good so much ground at the outset, yet, taking the operation as it stood, there can be no doubt it has contributed greatly to the success of the main attack, seeing that the plucky stand made at Y* beach had detained heavy columns of the enemy from arriving at the southern end of the peninsula during what it will be seen was a very touch-and-go struggle.

The landing-place known as X beach* consists of a strip of sand some 200 yards long by 8 yards wide at the foot of a low cliff. The troops to be landed here were the 1st Royal Fusiliers, who were to be towed ashore from H.M S. "Implacable" in two parties, half a battalion at a time, together with a beach working party found by the Anson Battalion, Royal Naval Division. About 6 A.M., H.M.S. "Implacable," with a boldness much admired by the Army, stood quite close in to the beach, firing very rapidly with every gun she could bring to bear. Thus seconded, the Royal Fusiliers made good their landing with but little loss. The battalion then advanced to attack the Turkish trenches on the Hill 114, situated between V and W beaches,* but were heavily counter-attacked and forced to give ground. Two more battalions of the 87th Brigade soon followed them, and by evening the troops had established themselves in an entrenched position extending from half a mile round the landing-place and as far south as Hill 114. Here they were in touch with the Lancashire Fusiliers, who had landed on W beach.* Brigadier-General Marshall, commanding the 87th Brigade, had been wounded during the day's fighting, but continued in command of the brigade.

The landing on V beach* was planned to take place on the following lines :—

As soon as the enemy's defences had been heavily bombarded by the fleet, three companies of the Dublin Fusiliers were to be towed ashore. They were to be closely followed by the collier "River Clyde" (Commander Unwin, R. N.), carrying between decks the balance of the Dublin Fusiliers, the Munster Fusiliers, half a battalion of the Hampshire Regiment, the West Riding Field Company, and other details.

The "River Clyde" had been specially prepared for the rapid disembarkation of her complement, and large openings for the exit of the troops had been cut in her sides, giving on to a wide gang-plank by which the men could pass rapidly into lighters which she had in tow. As soon as the first tows had reached land the "River Clyde" was to be run straight ashore. Her lighters were to be placed in position to form a gangway between the ship and the beach, and by this means it was hoped that 2,000 men could be thrown ashore with the utmost rapidity. Further, to assist in covering the landing, a battery of machine guns, protected by sandbags, had been mounted in her bows.

The remainder of the covering force detailed for this beach was then to follow in tows from the attendant battleships.

V beach* is situated immediately to the west of Sedd el-Bahr. Between the bluff on which stands Sedd-el-Bahr village and that which is crowned by No. 1 Fort the ground forms a very regular amphitheatre of three or four hundred yards radius. The slopes down to the beach are slightly concave, so that the whole area contained within the limits of this natural amphitheatre, whose grassy terraces rise gently to a height of a hundred feet above the shore, can be swept by the fire of a defender. The beach itself is a sandy strip some 10 yards wide and 350 yards long, backed along almost the whole of its extent by a low sandy escarpment about 4 feet high, where the ground falls nearly sheer down to the beach. The slight shelter afforded by this escarpment played no small part in the operations of the succeeding thirty-two hours.

At the south-eastern extremity of the beach, between the shore and the village, stands the old fort of Sedd-el-Bahr, a battered ruin with wide breaches in its walls and mounds of fallen masonry within and around it. On the ridge to the north, overlooking the amphitheatre, stands a ruined barrack. Both of these buildings, as well as No. 1 Fort, had been long bombarded by the fleet, and the guns of the forts had been put out of action; but their crumbled walls and the ruined outskirts of the village afforded cover for riflemen, while from the terraced slopes already described the defenders were able to command the open beach, as a stage is overlooked from the balconies of a theatre. On the very margin of the beach a strong barbed-wire entanglement, made of heavier metal and longer barbs than I have ever seen elsewhere, ran right accross from the old fort of Sedd-el-Bahr to the foot of the north-western headland. Two-thirds of the way up the ridge a second and even stronger entanglement crossed the amphitheatre, passing in front of the old barrack and ending in the outskirts of the village. A third transverse entanglement, joining these two, ran up the hill near the eastern end of the beach, and almost at right angles to it. Above the upper entanglement the ground was scored with the enemy's trenches in one of which four pom-poms were emplaced; in others were dummy pom-poms to draw fire, while the debris of the shattered buildings on either flank afforded cover and concealment for a number of machine guns, which brought a cross-fire to bear on the ground already swept by rifle fire from the ridge.

Needless to say, the difficulties in the way of previous reconnaissance had rendered it impossible to obtain detailed information with regard either to the locality or to the enemy's preparations.

As often happens in war, the actual course of events did not quite correspond with the intentions of the Commander. The "River Clyde" came into position off Sedd-el-Bahr in advance of the tows, and, just as the latter reached the shore, Commander Unwin beached his ship also. Whilst the boats and the collier were approaching the landing place the Turks made no sign. Up to the very last moment it appeared as if the landing was to be unopposed. But the moment the first boat touched bottom the storm broke. A tornado of fire swept over the beach, the incoming boats, and the collier. The Dublin Fusiliers and the naval boats' crews suffered exceedingly heavy losses while still in the boats. Those who succeeded in landing and in crossing the strip of sand managed to gain some cover when they reached the low escarpment on the further side. None of the boats, however, were able to get off again, and they and their crews were destroyed upon the beach.

Now came the moment for the "River Clyde" to pour forth her living freight; but grievous delay was caused here by the difficulty of placing the lighters in position between the ship and the shore. A strong current hindered the work and the enemy's fire was so intense that almost every man engaged upon it was immediately shot. Owing, however, to the splendid gallantry of the naval working party, the lighters were eventually placed in position, and then the disembarkation began.

A company of the Munster Fusiliers led the way; but, short as was the distance, few of the men ever reached the farther side of the beach through the hail of bullets which poured down upon them from both flanks and the front. As the second company followed, the extemporised pier of lighters gave way in the current. The end nearest to the shore drifted into deep water, and many men who had escaped being shot were drowned by the weight of their equipment in trying to swim from the lighter to the beach. Undaunted workers were still forthcoming, the lighters were again brought into position, and the third company of the Munster Fusiliers rushed ashore, suffering heaviest loss this time from shrapnel as well as from rifle, pom-pom, and machine-gun fire.

For a space the attempt to land was discontinued. When it was resumed the lighters again drifted into deep water, with Brigadier-General Napier, Captain Costeker, his Brigade Major, and a number of men of the Hampshire Regiment on board. There was nothing for them all but to lie down on the lighters, and it was here that General Napier and Captain Costeker were killed. At this time, between 10 and 11 A.M., about 1,000 men had left the collier, and of these nearly half had been killed or wounded before they could reach the little cover afforded by the steep, sandy bank at the top of the beach. Further attempts to disembark were now given up. Had the troops all been in open boats but few of them would have lived to tell the tale. But, most fortunately, the collier was so constructed as to afford fairly efficient protection to the men who were still on board, and, so long as they made no attempt to land, they suffered comparatively little loss.

Throughout the remainder of the day there was practically no change in the position of affairs. The situation was probably saved by the machine-guns on the "River Clyde" which did valuable service in keeping down the enemy's fire and in preventing any attempt on their part to launch a counter-attack. One half-company of the Dublin Fusiliers, which had been landed at a camber just east of Sedd-el-Bahr village, was unable to work its way across to V beach,* and by mid-day had only twenty-five men left. It was proposed to divert to Y beach* that part of the main body which had been intended to land on V beach;* but this would have involved considerable delay owing to the distance, and the main body was diverted to W beach,* where the Lancashire Fusiliers had already effected a landing.

Late in the afternoon part of the Worcestershire Regiment and the Lancashire Fusiliers worked across the high ground from W beach,* and seemed likely to relieve the situation by taking the defenders of V beach* in flank. The pressure on their own front, however, and the numerous barbed-wire entanglements which intervened, checked this advance, and at nightfall the Turkish garrison still held their ground. Just before dark some small parties of our men made their way along the shore to the outer walls of the Old Fort, and when night had fallen the remainder of the infantry from the collier were landed. A good force was now available for attack, but our troops were at such a cruel disadvantage as to position, and the fire of the enemy was still so accurate in the bright moonlight that all attempts to clear the fort and the outskirts of the village during the night failed one after the other. The wounded who were able to do so without support returned to the collier under cover of darkness; but otherwise the situation at daybreak on the 26th was the same as it had been on the previous day except that the troops first landed were becoming very exhausted.

Twenty-four hours after the disembarkation began there were ashore on V beach* the survivors of the Dublin and Munster Fusiliers and of two companies of the Hampshire Regiment. The Brigadier and his Brigade Major had been killed; Lieutenant-Colonel Carrington Smith, commanding the Hampshire Regiment, had been killed and the Adjutant had been wounded. The Adjutant of the Munster Fusiliers was wounded, and the great majority of the senior officers were either wounded or killed. The remnant of the landing-party still crouched on the beach beneath the shelter of the sandy escarpment which had saved so many lives. With them were two officers of my General Staff—Lieutenant-Colonel Doughty-Wylie and Lieutenant-Colonel Williams. These two officers, who had landed from the "River Clyde" had been striving, with conspicuous contempt for danger, to keep all their comrades in good heart during this day and night of ceaseless imminent peril.

Now that it was daylight once more, Lieutenant-Colonels Doughty-Wylie and Williams set to work to organise an attack on the hill above the beach. Any soldier who has endeavoured to pull scattered units together after they have been dominated for many consecutive hours by close and continuous fire will be able to take the measure of their difficulties. Fortunately, General Hunter Weston had arranged with Rear-Admiral Wemyss about this same time for a heavy bombardment to be opened by the ships upon the Old Fort, Sedd-el-Bahr Village, the Old Castle north of the village, and on the ground leading up from the beach. Under cover of this bombardment, and led by Lieutenant-Colonel Doughty-Wylie and Captain Walford, Brigade-Major R. A., the troops gained a footing in the village by 10 A.M. They encountered a most stubborn opposition and suffered heavy losses from the fire of well-concealed riflemen and machine-guns. Undeterred by the resistance, and supported by the naval gunfire, they pushed forward, and soon after midday they penetrated to the northern edge of the village, whence they were in a position to attack the Old Castle and hill 141. During this advance Captain Walford was killed. Lieutenant-Colonel Doughty-Wylie had most gallantly led the attack all the way up from the beach through the west side of the village, under a galling fire. And now, when, owing so largely to his own inspiring example and intrepid courage, the position had almost been gained, he was killed while leading the last assault. But the attack was pushed forward without wavering, and, fighting their way across the open with great dash, the troops gained the summit and occupied the Old Castle and Hill 141 before 2 P.M.

W beach* consists of a strip of deep, powdery sand some 350 yards long and from 15 to 40 yards wide, situated immediately south of Tekke Burnu, where a small gully running down to the sea opens out a break in the cliffs. On either flank of the beach the ground rises precipitously but, in the centre, a number of sand dunes afford a more gradual access to the ridge overlooking the sea. Much time and ingenuity had been employed by the Turks in turning this landing place into a death trap. Close to the water's edge, broad wire entanglement extended the whole length of the shore, and a supplementary barbed network lay concealed under the surface of the sea in the shallows. Land mines and sea mines had been laid. The high ground overlooking the beach was strongly fortified with trenches to which the gully afforded a natural covered approach. A number of machine guns also were cunningly tucked away into holes in the cliff so as to be immune from a naval bombardment whilst they were converging their fire on the wire entanglements. The crest of the hill overlooking the beach was in its turn commanded by high ground to the north-west and south-east, and especially by two strong infantry redoubts near point 138. Both these redoubts were protected by wire entanglements about 20 feet broad, and could be approached only by a bare glacis-like slope leading up from the high ground above W beach* or from the Cape Helles lighthouse. In addition, another separate entanglement ran down from these two redoubts to the edge of the cliff near the lighthouse, making intercommunication between V and W beaches* impossible until these redoubts had been captured.

So strong, in fact, were the defences of W beach* that the Turks may well have considered them impregnable, and it is my firm conviction that no finer feat of arms has ever been achieved by the British soldier—or any other soldier—than the storming of these trenches from open boats on the morning of 25th April.

The landing at W* had been entrusted to the 1st Battalion, Lancashire Fusiliers (Major Bishop) and it was to the complete lack of the senses of danger or of fear of this daring battalion that we owed our astonishing success. As in the case of the landing at X,* the disembarkation had been delayed for half an hour, but at 6 A.M. the whole battalion approached the shore together, towed by eight picket boats in line abreast, each picket boat pulling four ship's cutters. As soon as shallow water was reached, the tows were cast off and the boats were at once rowed to the shore. Three companies headed for the beach and a company on the left of the line made for a small ledge of rock immediately under the cliff at Tekke Burnu. Brigadier-General Hare, commanding the 88th Brigade, accompanied this latter party, which escaped the cross fire brought to bear upon the beach, and was also in a better position than the rest of the battalion to turn the wire entanglements.

While the troops were approaching the shore no shot had been fired from the enemy's trenches, but as soon as the first boat touched the ground a hurricane of lead swept over the battalion. Gallantly led by their officers, the Fusiliers literally hurled themselves ashore and, fired at from right, left and centre, commenced hacking their way through the wire. A long line of men was at once mown down as by a scythe, but the remainder were not to be denied. Covered by the fire of the warships, which had now closed right in to the shore and helped by the flanking fire of the company on the extreme left, they broke through the entanglements and collected under the cliffs on either side of the beach. Here the companies were rapidly reformed, and set forth to storm the enemy's entrenchments wherever they could find them.

In making these attacks the bulk of the battalion moved up towards Hill 114 whilst a small party worked down towards the trenches on the Cape Helles side of the landing-place.

Several land mines were exploded by the Turks during the advance, but the determination of the troops was in no way affected. By 10 A.M. three lines of hostile trenches were in our hands, and our hold on the beach was assured.

About 9-30 A.M. more infantry had begun to disembark, and two hours later a junction was effected on Hill 114 with the troops who had landed on X beach.*

On the right, owing to the strength of the redoubt on Hill 138, little progress could be made. The small party of Lancashire Fusiliers which had advanced in this direction succeeded in reaching the edge of the wire entanglements, but were not strong enough to do more, and it was here that Major Frankland, Brigade Major of the 86th Infantry Brigade, who had gone forward to make a personal reconnaissance, was unfortunately killed. Brigadier-General Hare had been wounded earlier in the day, and Colonel Woolly-Dod, General Staff, 29th Division, was now sent ashore to take command at W beach* and organise a further advance.

At 2 P.M., after the ground near Hill 138 had been subjected to a heavy bombardment, the Worcester Regiment advanced to the assault. Several men of this battalion rushed forward with great spirit to cut passages through the entanglement; some were killed, others persevered, and by 4 P.M. the hill and redoubt were captured.

An attempt was now made to join hands with the troops on V beach,* who could make no headway at all against the dominating defences of the enemy. To help them out the 86th Brigade pushed forward in an easterly direction along the cliff. There is a limit however to the storming of barbed-wire entanglements. More of these barred the way. Again the heroic wire-cutters came out. Through glasses they could be seen quietly snipping away under a hellish fire as if they were pruning a vineyard. Again some of them fell. The fire pouring out of No. 1 fort grew hotter and hotter, until the troops, now thoroughly exhausted by a sleepless night and by the long day's fighting under a hot sun, had to rest on their laurels for a while.

When night fell, the British position in front of W beach* extended from just east of Cape Helles lighthouse, through Hill 138, to Hill 114. Practically every man had to be thrown into the trenches to hold this line, and the only available reserves on this part of our front were the 2nd London Field Company R.E. and a platoon of the Anson Battalion, which had been landed as a beach working party.

During the night several strong and determined counter-attacks were made, all successfully repulsed without loss of ground. Meanwhile the disembarkation of the remainder of the division was proceeding on W and X beaches.*

The Australian and New Zealand Army Corps sailed out of Mudros Bay on the afternoon of April 24th, escorted by the 2nd Squadron of the Fleet, under Rear-Admiral Thursby. The rendezvous was reached just after half-past one in the morning of the 25th, and there the 1,500 men who had been placed on board H. M. ships before leaving Mudros were transferred to their boats. This operation was carried out with remarkable expedition, and in absolute silence. Simultaneously the remaining 2,500 men of the covering force were transferred from their transports to six destroyers. At 2-30 A.M. H. M. ships, together with the tows and the destroyers, proceeded to within some four miles of the coast, H. M. S. "Queen" (flying Rear-Admiral Thursby's flag) directing on a point about a mile north of Kaba Tepe. At 3-30 a.m. orders to go ahead and land were given to the tows, and at 4-10 A.M. the destroyers were ordered to follow.

All these arrangements worked without a hitch, and were carried out in complete orderliness and silence. No breath of wind ruffled the surface of the sea, and every condition was favourable save for the moon, which, sinking behind the ships, may have silhouetted them against its orb, betraying them thus to watchers on the shore.

A rugged and difficult part of the coast had been selected for the landing, so difficult and rugged that I considered the Turks were not at all likely to anticipate such a descent. Indeed, owing to the tows having failed to maintain their exact direction the actual point of disembarkation was rather more than a mile north of that which I had selected, and was more closely overhung by steeper cliffs. Although this accident increased the initial difficulty of driving the enemy off the heights inland, it has since proved itself to have been a blessing in disguise, inasmuch as the actual base of the force of occupation has been much better defiladed from shell fire.

The beach on which the landing was actually effected is a very narrow strip of sand, about 1,000 yards in length, bounded on the north and the south by two small promontories. At its southern extremity a deep ravine, with exceedingly steep, scrub-clad sides, runs inland in a north-easterly direction. Near the northern end of the beach a small but steep gully runs up into the hills at right angles to the shore. Between the ravine and the gully the whole of the beach is backed by the seaward face of the spur which forms the north-western side of the ravine. From the top of the spur the ground falls almost sheer, except near the southern limit of the beach, where gentler slopes give access to the mouth of the ravine behind. Further inland lie in a tangled knot the under-features of Saribair, separated by deep ravines which take a most confusing diversity of direction. Sharp spurs, covered with dense scrub and falling away in many places in precipitous sandy cliffs, radiate from the principal mass of the mountain, from which they run north-west, west, south-west, and south to the coast.

The boats approached the land in the silence and the darkness, and they were close to the shore before the enemy stirred. Then about one battalion of Turks was seen running along the beach to intercept the lines of boats. At this so critical a moment the conduct of all ranks was most praiseworthy. Not a word was spoken—everyone remained perfectly orderly and quiet awaiting the enemy's fire, which sure enough opened, causing many casualties. The moment the boats touched land the Australians' turn had come. Like lightning they leapt ashore, and each man as he did so went straight as his bayonet at the enemy. So vigorous was the onslaught that the Turks made no attempt to withstand it and fled from ridge to ridge pursued by the Australian infantry.

This attack was carried out by the 3rd Australian Brigade, under Major (temporary Colonel) Sinclair Maclagan, D.S.O. The 1st and 2nd Brigades followed promptly, and were all disembarked by 2 P.M., by which time 12,000 men and two batteries of Indian Mountain Artillery had been landed. The disembarkation of further artillery was delayed owing to the act that the enemy's heavy guns opened on the anchorage and forced the transports, which had been subjected to continuous shelling from his field guns, to stand further out to sea.

The broken ground, the thick scrub, the necessity for sending any formed detachments post haste as they landed to the critical point of the moment, the headlong valour of scattered groups of the men who had pressed far further into the peninsula than had been intended—all these led to confusion and mixing up of units. Eventually the mixed crowd of fighting men, some advancing from the beach, others falling back before the oncoming Turkish supports, solidified into a semi-circular position with its right about a mile north of Kaba Tepe and its left on the high ground over Fisherman's Hut. During this period parties of the 9th and 10th Battalions charged and put out of action three of the enemy's Krupp guns. During this period also the disembarkation of the Australian Division was being followed by that of the New Zealand and Australian Division (two brigades only).

From 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. the enemy, now reinforced to a strength of 20,000 men, attacked the whole line, making a specially strong effort against the 3rd Brigade and the left of the 2nd Brigade. This counter-attack was, however, handsomely repulsed with the help of the guns of H. M. ships. Between 5 and 6-30 P.M. a third most determined counter-attack was made against the 3rd Brigade, who held their ground with more than equivalent stubbornness. During the night again the Turks made constant attacks, and the 8th Battalion repelled a bayonet charge; but in spite of all the line held firm. The troops had had practically no rest on the night of the 24-25th; they had been fighting hard all day over most difficult country, and they had been subjected to heavy shrapnel fire in the open. Their casualties had been deplorably heavy. But, despite their losses and in spite of their fatigue, the morning of the 26th found them still in good heart and as full of fight as ever.

It is a consolation to know that the Turks suffered still more seriously. Several times our machine guns got on to them in close formation, and the whole surrounding country is still strewn with their dead of this date.

The reorganisation of units and formations was impossible during the 26th and 27th owing to persistent attacks. An advance was impossible until a reorganisation could be effected, and it only remained to entrench the position gained and to perfect the arrangements for bringing up ammunition, water, and supplies to the ridges—in itself a most difficult undertaking. Four battalions of the Royal Naval Division were sent up to reinforce the Army Corps on the 28th and 29th April.

On the night of May 2nd a bold effort was made to seize a commanding knoll in front of the centre of the line. The enemy's enfilading machine guns were too scientifically posted, and 800 men were lost without advantage beyond the infliction of a corresponding loss to the enemy. On May 4th an attempt to seize Kaba Tepe was also unsuccessful, the barbed-wire here being something beyond belief. But a number of minor operations have been carried out, such as the taking of a Turkish observing station; the strengthening of entrenchments; the reorganisation of units; and the perfecting of communication with the landing place. Also a constant strain has been placed upon some of the best troops of the enemy who, to the number of 24,000, are constantly kept fighting and being killed and wounded freely, as the Turkish sniper is no match for the Kangaroo shooter, even at his own game.

The assistance of the Royal Navy, here as elsewhere, has been invaluable. The whole of the arrangements have been in Admiral Thursby's hands, and I trust I may be permitted to say what a trusty and powerful friend he has proved himself to be to the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps.

Concurrently with the British landings a regiment of the French Corps was successfully disembarked at Kum Kale under the guns of the French fleet, and remained ashore till the morning of the 26th, when they were re-embarked. 500 prisoners were captured by the French on this day.

This operation drew the fire of the Asiatic guns from Morto Bay and V beach* on to Kum Kale, and contributed largely to the success of the British landings.

On the evening of the 26th the main disembarkation of the French Corps was begun, V beach* being allotted to our Allies for this purpose, and it was arranged that the French should hold the portion of the front between the telegraph wire and the sea.

The following day I ordered a general advance to a line stretching from Hill 236 near Eski Hissarlik Point to the mouth of the stream two miles north of Tekke Burnu. This advance, which was commenced at midday, was completed without opposition. and the troops at once consolidated their new line The forward movement relieved the growing congestion on the beaches, and by giving us possession of several new wells afforded a temporary solution to the water problem, which had hitherto been causing me much anxiety.

By the evening of the 27th the Allied forces had established themselves on a line some three miles long, which stretched from the mouth of the nullah, 3,200 yards north-east of Tekke Burnu, to Eski Hissarlik Point, the three brigades of the 29th Division less two battalions on the left and in the centre, with four French battalions on the right, and beyond them again the South Wales Borderers on the extreme right.

Owing to casualties this line was somewhat thinly held Still, it was so vital to make what headway we could before the enemy recovered himself and received fresh reinforcements that it was decided to push on as quickly as possible. Orders were therefore issued for a general advance to commence at 8 A.M., next day.

The 29th Division were to march on Krithia, with their left brigade leading, the French were directed to extend their left in conformity with the British movements and to retain their right on the coast-line south of the Kereves Dere.

The advance commenced at 8 A.M. on the 28th, and was carried out with commendable vigour, despite the fact that from the moment of landing the troops had been unable to obtain any proper rest.

The 87th Brigade, with which had been incorporated the Drake Battalion, Royal Naval Division, in the place of the King's Own Scottish Borderers and South Wales Borderers, pushed on rapidly, and by 10 A.M., had advanced some two miles. Here the further progress of the Border regiment was barred by a strong work on the left flank. They halted to concentrate and make dispositions to attack it, and at the moment had to withstand a determined counter-attack by the Turks. Aided by heavy gun fire from H. M. S. "Queen Elizabeth," they succeeded in beating off the attack, but they made no further progress that day and when night fell entrenched themselves on the ground they had gained in the morning.

* In map (not reproduced).

The Inniskilling Fusiliers, who advanced with their right on the Krithia ravine, reached a point about three-quarters of a mile south-west of Krithia. This was, however, the farthest limit attained, and later on in the day they fell back into line with other corps.

The 88th Brigade on the right of the 87th progressed steadily until about 11-30 A.M., when the stubbornness of the opposition, coupled with a dearth of ammunition, brought their advance to a standstill. The 86th Brigade, under Lieutenant-Colonel Casson, which had been held in reserve, were thereupon ordered to push forward through the 88th Brigade in the direction of Krithia.

The movement commenced at about 1 P.M., but though small reconnoitring parties got to within a few hundred yards of Krithia, the main body of the brigade did not get beyond the line held by the 88th Brigade. Meanwhile, the French had also pushed on in the face of strong opposition along the spurs on the western bank of Kereves Dere, and had got to within a mile of Krithia with their right thrown back and their left in touch with the 88th Brigade. Here they were unable to make further progress; gradually the strength of the resistance made itself felt, and our Allies were forced during the afternoon to give ground.

By 2 P.M., the whole of the troops with the exception of the Drake Battalion had been absorbed into the firing line. The men were exhausted, and the few guns landed at the time were unable to afford them adequate artillery support. The small amount of transport available did not suffice to maintain the supply of munitions, and cartridges were running short despite all efforts to push them up from the landing places.

Hopes of getting a footing on Achi Babi had now perforce to be abandoned—at least for this occasion. The best that could be expected was that we should be able to maintain what we had won, and when at 3 P.M., the Turks made a determined counter-attack with the bayonet against the centre and right of our line, even this seemed exceedingly doubtful. Actually a partial retirement did take place. The French were also forced back, and at 6 P.M., orders were issued for our troops to entrench themselves as best as they could in the positions they then held, with their right flank thrown back so as to maintain connection with our Allies. In this retirement the right flank of the 88th Brigade was temporarily uncovered, and the Worcester Regiment suffered severely.

Had it been possible to push in reinforcements in men, artillery and munitions during the day, Krithia should have fallen, and much subsequent fighting for its capture would have been avoided.

Two days later this would have been feasible, but I had to reckon with the certainty that the enemy would, in that same time, have received proportionately greater support. I was faced by the usual choice of evils, and although the result was not what I had hoped, I have no reason to believe that hesitation and delay would better have answered my purpose.

For, after all, we had pushed forward quite appreciably on the whole. The line eventually held by our troops on the night of the 28th ran from a point on the coast three miles north-west of Tekke Burnu to a point one mile north of Eski Hissarlik, whence it was continued by the French south-east to the coast.

Much inevitable mixing of units of the 86th and 88th Brigades had occurred during the day's fighting, and there was a dangerous re-entrant in the line at the junction of the 87th and 88th Brigades near the Krithia nullah. The French had lost heavily, especially in officers, and required time to re-organise.

The 29th April was consequently spent in straightening the line, and in consolidating and strengthening the positions gained. There was a certain amount of artillery and musketry fire, but nothing serious.

Similarly, on the 30th, no advance was made, nor was any attack delivered by the enemy. The landing of the bulk of the artillery was completed, and a readjustment of the line took place, the portion held by the French being somewhat increased.

Two more battalions of the Royal Naval Division has been disembarked, and these, together with three battalions of the 88th Brigade withdrawn from the line, were formed into a reserve.

This reserve was increased on the 1st May by the addition of the 29th Indian Infantry Brigade, which released the three battalions of the 88th Brigade to return to the trenches. The Corps Expéditionnaire d'Orient had disembarked the whole of their infantry and all but two of their batteries by the same evening.

At 10 P.M. the Turks opened a hot shell fire upon our position, and half an hour later, just before the rise of the moon, they delivered a series of desperate attacks. Their formation was in three solid lines, the men in the front rank being deprived of ammunition to make them rely only upon the bayonet. The officers were served out with coloured Bengal lights to fire from their pistols, red indicating to the Turkish guns that they were to lengthen their range; white that our front trenches had been stormed; green that our main position had been carried. The Turkish attack was to crawl on hands and knees until the time came for the final rush to be made.

The first momentum of this ponderous onslaught fell upon the right of the 86th Brigade, an unlucky spot, seeing all the officers thereabouts had already been killed or wounded. So when the Turks came right on without firing and charged into the trenches with the bayonet they made an ugly gap in the line. This gap was instantly filled by the 5th Royal Scots (Territorials), who faced to their flank and executed a brilliant bayonet charge against the enemy, and by the Essex Regiment detached for the purpose by the Officer Commanding 88th Brigade. The rest of the British line held its own with comparative ease, and it was not found necessary to employ any portion of the reserve. The storm next broke in fullest violence against the French left, which was held by the Senegalese. Behind them were two British Field Artillery Brigades and a Howitzer Battery. After several charges and counter-charges the Senegalese began to give ground and a company of the Worcester Regiment and some gunners were sent forward to hold the gap. Later, a second company of the Worcester Regiment was also sent up, and the position was then maintained for the remainder of the night, although, about 2 A.M., it was found necessary to despatch one battalion Royal Naval Division to strengthen the extreme right of the French.

About 5 A.M. a counter-offensive was ordered, and the whole line began to advance. By 7-30 A.M. the British left had gained some 500 yards, and the centre had pushed the enemy back and inflicted heavy losses. The right also had gained some ground in conjunction with the French left, but the remainder of the French line was unable to progress. As the British centre and left were now subjected to heavy cross fire from concealed machine guns, it was found impossible to maintain the ground gained, and therefore, about 11 A.M., the whole line withdrew to its former trenches.

The net result of the operations was the repulse of the Turks and the infliction upon them of very heavy losses. At first we had them fairly on the run, and had it not been for those inventions of the devil—machine guns and barbed wire—which suit the Turkish character and tactics to perfection, we should not have stopped short of the crest of Achi Babi. As it was, all brigades reported great numbers of dead Turks in front of their lines, and 350 prisoners were left in our hands.

On the 2nd, during the day, the enemy remained quiet, burying his dead under a red crescent flag, a work with which we did not interfere. Shortly after 9 P.M., however, they made another attack against the whole allied line, their chief effort being made against the French front, where the ground favoured their approach. The attack was repulsed with loss.

During the night 3rd-4th the French front was again subjected to a heavy attack, which they were able to repulse without assistance from my general reserve.

The day of the 4th was spent in reorganisation, and a portion of the line held by the French, who had lost heavily during the previous night's fighting, was taken over by the 2nd Naval Brigade. The night passed quietly.

During the 5th the Lancashire Fusilier Brigade of the East Lancashire Division was disembarked and placed in reserve behind the British left.

Orders were issued for an advance to be carried out next day, and these and the three days' battle which ensued, will be dealt with in my next despatch.

The losses, exclusive of the French, during the period covered by this despatch were, I regret to say, very severe, numbering :—

177 Officers and 1,990 other ranks killed,

412 Officers and 7,807 other ranks wounded,

13 Officers and 3,580 other ranks missing.

From a technical point of view it is interesting to note that my Administrative Staff had not reached Mudros by the time when the landings were finally arranged. All the highly elaborate work involved by these landings was put through by my General Staff working in collaboration with Commodore Roger Kayes, C.B., M.V.O., and the Naval Transport Officers allotted for the purpose by Vice-Admiral de Robeck. Navy and Army carried out these combined duties with that perfect harmony which was indeed absolutely essential to success.

Throughout the events I have chronicled the Royal Navy has been father and mother to the Army. Not one of us but realises how much he owes to Vice-Admiral de Robeck ; to the warships, French and British ; to the destroyers, mine sweepers, picket boats, and to all their dauntless crews, who took no thought of themselves, but risked everything to give their soldier comrades a fair run in at the enemy.

Throughout these preparations and operations Monsieur le Général d'Amade has given me the benefit of his wide experiences of war, and has afforded me, always, the most loyal and energetic support. The landing of Kum Kale planned by me as a mere diversion to distract the attention of the enemy was transformed by the Commander of the Corps Expéditionnaire de l'Orient into a brilliant operation, which secured some substantial results. During the fighting which followed the landing of the French Division at Sedd-el-Bahr no troops could have acquitted themselves more creditably under very trying circumstances, and under very heavy losses, than those working under the orders of Monsieur le Général d'Amade.

Lieutenant-General Sir W. R. Birdwood, K.C.S.I., C.B., C.I.E., D.S.O., was in command of the detached landing of the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps above Kaba Tepe, as well as during the subsequent fighting. The fact of his having been responsible for the execution of these difficult and hazardous operations—operations which were crowned with a very remarkable success—speaks, I think, for itself.

Major-General A. G. Hunter-Weston, C.B., D.S.O., was tried very highly, not only during the landings, but more especially in the day and night attacks and counter attacks which ensued. Untiring, resourceful and even more cheerful as the outlook (on occasion) grew darker, he possesses, in my opinion, very special qualifications as a Commander of troops in the field.

Major-General W. P. Braithwaite, C.B., is the best Chief of the General Staff it has ever been my fortune to encounter in war. I will not pile epithets upon him. I can say no more than what I have said, and I can certainly say no less.

I have many other names to bring to notice for the period under review, and these will form the subject of a separate report at an early date.

I have the honour to be,

Your Lordship's most obedient Servant,

IAN HAMILTON, General,

Commanding Mediterranean Expeditionary Force.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 19th August 1915, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. A break in the rains prevailed during the week over the greater part of the country, and rainfall was confined almost entirely to Burma, northeast India, the Himalayas and submontane districts. During the latter part of the week, rainfall reappeared in the south-eastern and central districts of the United Provinces and a few falls occurred in the Peninsula, and the central parts of the country. On the 18th rain fell in the central Punjab and a few showers occurred in Baluchistan.

2. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general in Lower Burma every day, except the 14th. Local rain fell in Upper Burma.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—There was nearly general rain in Assam on the 13th, in Bengal and Chota Nagpur on the 18th, in Orissa on the 17th, and in Bihar on the 15th.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Nearly general rain fell in the United Provinces (excluding the southwestern districts) on the 15th and 16th. Local falls occurred in the Central Provinces and Central India.

Northwest India.—On the 18th rainfall was nearly general in the central Punjab and Kashmir, and local in northeast Baluchistan.

The Peninsula.—Nearly general rain fell in south Hyderabad on the 17th, but elsewhere only a few scattered falls occurred.

3. The chief rainfall amounts were as follows :—

August 12th. Tavoy 2·66", Dibrugarh 1·91", Silchar 2·15", Jessore 2·02", Patna 1·20", Gorakhpur 1·72", Dehra Dun 2·44", Mukteswar 1·39", Simla 1·25" and Murree 2·33".

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 14th August 1915.

Burma.—In Lower Burma the rainfall was general but the fall was less than that of last week. Akyab and the Arrakan Hill Tracts report 11 and 15 inches of rain respectively. In Upper Burma except in the dry zone where scanty rain fell the fall was moderate. Agricultural operations for winter rice in Lower Burma and in irrigated tracts in Upper Burma are proceeding normally. Standing crops are generally healthy. Slight damage to crops is reported by floods. Cattle are healthy. Pasturage is sufficient. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon has risen and is much above normal.

Assam.—Moderate to heavy rain fell in all districts. The weather is generally favourable to standing crops. Flood is reported from Lakhimpur, Kamrup and the Garo Hills. Plucking and manufacture of tea continue. Transplantation of winter rice and harvesting of autumn rice and jute are in progress. Prospects of tea are fair to good and those of paddy and jute are generally not favourable. The price of common rice has risen slightly. Cattle disease is reported from six districts. Insufficiency of fodder is reported in Cachar, Sylhet, Kamrup and Sibsagar.

Bengal.—During the week heavy rain fell over the greater part of eastern Bengal, but the fall was generally light to moderate elsewhere More rain is urgently wanted in the western Bengal districts for the transplantation of winter paddy and for the growth of standing crops. Transplantation of winter rice and harvesting of autumn rice and jute continue. Some damage to standing crops by heavy rain and floods is reported from some eastern Bengal districts. Prospects of standing crops are otherwise fairly good. Fodder is reported to be scarce in parts of Mymensingh and Tippera. Cattle disease prevails in nine districts. Scarcity still exists in some parts of Tippera. Test works are being opened in parts of Bankura. The average price of common rice for the Province has slightly risen as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—During the week the rainfall was general over the Province, the fall being heavy in most districts of Bihar but light in Orissa and Chota Nagpur. The recent heavy rain in Bihar has been beneficial to the standing crops and also to the transplantation of paddy which is going on. More rain is, however, urgently wanted for the operations in Orissa and also in parts of Chota Nagpur. Standing crops are doing well except in parts of Champaran, Monghyr, Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga where heavy rain and floods have damaged the autumn crops to some extent. In parts of Orissa and in Manbhum paddy is suffering from want of rain. The average price of common rice has slightly risen as compared with that of the previous week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from fourteen districts. Test works at Basudebpur and Soro in the Balasore district continue. Test works have also been opened at Gojalpur and Karonajaria in the Basudebpur thana and at Anantapur in the Soro thana of the same district. The average daily attendance on test works during the past week amounted to 295. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good. Transplantation of paddy is going on but more rain is needed in some States for the agricultural operations.

United Provinces.—More rain is urgently needed in the upper and central Doab and in the western submontane tract and also in Jhansi. Good rain has fallen elsewhere. Standing crops are doing well everywhere except in Muttra where they are reported to be withering. Insects, locusts and floods have slightly damaged crops in a few districts. Weeding of autumn crops and preparation of fields for spring crops are in full swing. Harvesting of early rice has begun in some districts. Prospects are favourable. Agricultural stock is in good condition though cattle disease still exists. Food, fodder and water are ample everywhere except in Saharanpur which reports deficiency of pasturage. Prices are fairly steady but tend to rise especially in the west of the Provinces where the rainfall has been less.

Punjab.—Light rain fell in parts of the submontane tracts. Elsewhere the weather was generally dry. Rain is badly wanted everywhere. Late sowing of autumn crops is proceeding but the area sown is generally below normal on irrigated and very restricted on unirrigated lands. Standing irrigated crops are generally in fair condition but unirrigated crops are suffering severely from want of rain and are in some tracts reported as withering. Cattle are generally healthy and dry fodder is sufficient. Green fodder is getting scarce. Water for drinking and irrigation is generally sufficient Prices are rising and generally range between warning and scarcity rates. Price of wheat :—Ambala and Lahore 8½ and Ferozepore, Rawalpindi and Lyallpur 9 seers per rupee.

North West Frontier Province.—Slight rain fell in Swabi and Bannu. The week was rainless in Dera Ismail Khan. The weather is hot. Rain is much needed in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of crops in Peshawar is average on irrigated and poor on unirrigated lands while in Bannu it is good to average and in Dera Ismail Khan average and below average. Maize and chari have been sown in Peshawar. Sowing of autumn crops is proceeding in Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan. Sugarcane and cotton crops in Mardan have been affected by plant disease and sugarcane is being still damaged by insects in Bannu. Harvesting of extra spring crops is practically finished in Bannu with outturn good to average. The condition of cattle is generally good in Peshawar and Bannu and fair in Dera Ismail Khan. Fodder and water are sufficient and procurable except in Nowshera where fodder is insufficient and in Dera Ismail Khan where the water-supply is diminishing in certain villages of the Dera and Kulachi tahsils. The Paharpur canal is running. Prices in Peshawar are high and those of wheat and barley are rising. Prices of all food grains are rising in Bannu and those of bajra are rising in Dera Ismail Khan. The general public health is good.

Jammu.—The rainfall was fairly good. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 7 to 13 and maize from 7 to 17 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is good. There is no cattle disease. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—Good rain fell in Muzaffarabad and insignificant rain elsewhere. Cattle are generally healthy. State crops are fair but other crops are bad for want of rain. Fodder is insufficient in Baramula. The supply of water is unequal to the demand. Prices are rising.

Rajputana.—No rain fell during the week except 780 cents in Jhalawar and 340 cents in Tonk. The weather is generally cloudy. More rain is urgently needed. Sowings of autumn crops have been retarded owing to a break in the rains. Scarcity of pasturage and fodder is felt in Mewar, Jhalawar, Marwar, Ajmer-Merwara, Sirohi, Alwar and Kishengarh. The condition of cattle is weak in some places owing to the deficiency of pasturage. Water is generally sufficient. Prices are falling in Jaisalmer, Shahpura, Merwara and Dungarpur, are rising in the eastern Rajputana States, Mewar, Ajmer and Kishengarh and are steady elsewhere. Emigration of cattle has commenced from Ajmer-Merwara owing to insufficient grazing.

Central India.—During the week the rainfall was general in Gwalior, Baghelkhand, Malwa and the Southern States, partial in Bhopal, slight in Indore and nil in Bundelkhand. The principal falls were over 5 inches in Dhar, over 4 inches in Jhabua, over 2 inches in Jobat and over 1 inch in Alirajapur of the Southern States. It was sufficient throughout except in the Ratlam State of the Malwa Agency. The weather is cloudy. Sowing and weeding of autumn crops are in progress everywhere. Land is being prepared for spring crops in the Southern States. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Agricultural stock is good except in the Narsinghgarh and Korwai States of the Bhopal Agency and in some villages of the Nagod State of Baghelkhand where cattle disease is reported. The fodder supply is sufficient throughout except in five parganas of Gwalior. Prices are high in Baghelkhand, are normal in Bhopal, are fluctuating in the Nimar and Rampura Bhanpura districts of Indore and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The week has been practically rainless except in Chhindwara and in the Berar districts. The break was opportune for weeding and transplantation operations but the Deputy Commissioners of Bhandara, Drug and Raipur report that more rain is now required for these operations. Standing crops are everywhere in good condition but some damage has been caused by recent floods in Jubbulpore and resowing has become necessary in consequence. Fodder and water are sufficient. There are no marked changes in prices which continue to be high.

Feudatory States.—Light to moderate rain was received in all the States but more rain is urgently required in Kawardha, Sakti and Udaipur for transplantation and thinning. Otherwise prospects are generally good. Gram fell by 2 seers in Udaipur.

Bombay.—Slight rain fell during the week throughout the Presidency Proper. More rain is generally needed for standing crops which are withering in Ahmedabad, Cutch, two talukas of Hyderabad, two talukas of Thar and Parkar and one division of Kathiawar. Sowing is progressing. Transplantation continues but has been retarded for want of rain in Ahmedabad, Surat and Rewa Kantha. Seedlings have been damaged by insects in two talukas of Cutch, by locusts in two talukas of Larkana, by winds in two talukas of Hyderabad and in two talukas of Thar and Parkar. The fodder supply is sufficient except in five districts. Cattle are in good condition. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in two talukas of Poona, Hyderabad and Larkana and in four talukas of Thar and Parkar. Drinking water is generally sufficient. Water for irrigation is deficient in Sind, Ahmedabad and Kaira. Prices have slightly risen in Gujarat, the Karnatak and the Deccan, have fallen in the Konkan and are generally steady in Sind.

Hyderabad.—Very slight rain fell during the week. The average fall was 10 cents. Autumn crops are generally fair and require rain in places. They have been damaged by rats and caterpillars in parts of the Raichur and Usmanabad districts. Early rice crop is fair to good and is being weeded. Cattle disease prevails in three talukas. Prices of grains are almost steady. The highest price of juar in districts is 10 seers per rupee in Warangal and the lowest 24 seers per rupee in Adilabad.

Mysore.—The rain fall was light in Kadur and Shimoga and nil elsewhere. The price of ragi has fallen in Tumkur, Mysore and Chitaldrug and has risen in Hassan. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are generally in good condition but the want of rain is generally felt. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall insufficient. Ploughing for rice and transplantation continue. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Fodder for cattle is sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was heavy in the Vizagapatam Agency, good to fair in Ganjam, Vizagapatam littoral, South Arcot, Salem, Trichinopoly, the west coast, the Nilgiris and the South except Tinnevelly and light or nil elsewhere. Standing crops are fair to good but require more rain in parts of six districts. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is proceeding with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are proceeding normally. The condition of cattle is generally good. The supply of water is sufficient except in Kurnool and in parts of Ganjam, Godavari, Bellary, Anantapur, Nellore, Chingleput, Madura, Ramnad, the west coast and the central parts except Trichinopoly. Pasture is sufficient except in Kurnool and in parts of three other districts. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are stationary.

All notifications and other matter intended for publication in those Parts should be addressed to the Publisher at Simla and Calcutta, respectively.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India, Home Department, of August 1901:—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No. 777—79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 P.M. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette.

J. P. HEWETT,

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

The book has been published by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and copies are now procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There are two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and a very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited, and a considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Government Printing, India, Calcutta.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF THE ANDAMAN AND NICOBAR ISLANDS.

NOTIFICATION.

Dated the 7th August 1915.

No. 8.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 14-A, sub-section (1) of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands Regulation, 1876 (III of 1876), as amended by Regulation II of 1915, the Chief Commissioner of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, prescribes the following rules to regulate the administration of civil justice in the Nicobar Islands.

RULES.

1. Any Deputy Superintendent or Assistant Superintendent for the time being serving in the Nicobars is empowered to try and decide any suit or other proceeding of a civil nature arising in the Nicobars and any such officer sitting in such capacity shall be the Court for the purposes of these rules.

2. (1) The plaintiff may institute his suit before the Court either by presenting a written petition of claim or by making a verbal complaint which shall forthwith be taken down in writing by the Court.

(2) The receipt of every such petition and complaint shall be recorded in a register of suits to be maintained by the Court.

3. Every suit shall be instituted within one year next after the accrual of the cause of action; and, if not so instituted, shall be dismissed.

Provided that, where the cause of action has accrued before the commencement of these rules, the suit shall be instituted within one year from the date of such commencement.

4. (1) On the institution of a suit the Court shall direct all the parties, either orally or by written summons, to attend with their witnesses at a place and on a date to be specified by the Court.

Explanation —A direction to attend given to the local agent of any firm or trading concern shall be deemed to have been given to such firm or concern.

(2) At the place and on the date so fixed the parties shall attend in person with their witnesses, and the Court shall hear them and record in writing the substance of their evidence:

Provided that the Court may, if it thinks fit, adjourn the hearing of the suit, in which case it shall fix a place and date for such hearing.

5. No party to a suit shall be represented by any mukhtar or pleader or other legal adviser.

6. (1) Where the plaintiff, having received notice under rule 4, fails to attend at the place and on the date fixed by the Court, the suit may be dismissed.

(2) Where the defendant, having received such notice, fails to attend at the place and on the date fixed by the Court, the suit may be heard ex parte.

(3) Where a suit has been dismissed under clause (1), or decreed ex parte under clause (2), and the plaintiff or the defendant, as the case may be, subsequently appears within a reasonable time and assigns sufficient cause for his previous non-appearance, the Court may set aside the order of dismissal or the decree and fix a place and date for the hearing of the suit.

7. (1) If, at any stage of the hearing, the Court is of opinion that the suit ought to be referred to arbitration, it shall appoint three arbitrators to decide the matters in dispute between the parties and shall fix a place at and a date on which the arbitrators shall report their unanimous decision or the decision of the majority.

(2) At the place and on the date so fixed the arbitrators shall attend with the parties and submit their decision to the Court; but the Court shall not be bound to accept such decision unless the same is in accordance with custom or reasonable and equitable.

8. After hearing and recording the evidence of the parties and their witnesses or after receiving the decision of the arbitrators, as the case may be, the Court shall pronounce judgment either in the presence of the parties or after notice to them. The judgement shall be in writing, shall contain the points for determination and the decisions thereon, and shall conclude with a decree clearly stating the relief granted or other determination of the suit.

9. (1) The decree may direct payment in money or in kind in satisfaction of the claim.

(2) Where in the opinion of the Court the amount decreed is such that the judgment-debtor cannot reasonably be expected to pay the same within one year the decree shall provide for the payment of the amount within such period and by such instalments as the Court thinks fit.

Provided that—

(a) in no case shall such instalments extend over a period of more than five years or in any one year exceed such an amount as will leave reasonable subsistence to the judgment-debtor; and

(b) at any time within the period fixed by the Court for the payment of instalments the Court may, on the application of either party, revise in its discretion the original decree and, subject to proviso (a), reduce or increase the amount of the instalments if in its opinion any material alteration in the circumstances of the judgment-debtor has occurred since the date of the original decree.

10. Except with the special sanction of the Chief Commissioner the Court shall not pass a decree dispossessing any judgment-debtor who is a native of the Nicobars of any immoveable property in the favour or interest of any person who is not a native of the Nicobars nor shall any immoveable property belonging to any such judgment-debtor be attached or sold in the execution of any decree.

11. A decree may be executed either by the Court itself or by any officer in the service of Government empowered by the Court in this behalf, and by such means as the Court thinks fit.

12. The following property shall, unless it is the subject-matter of a suit in which the decree-holder and judgment-debtor are both natives of the Nicobars, be exempt from attachment or sale in satisfaction of a decree :—

(a) religious objects ;

(b) domestic utensils and instruments of agriculture ;

(c) bows, arrows, spears, nets and all other weapons and appliances for hunting and fishing ;

(d) canoes.

13. Nothing in the foregoing rules shall be deemed to limit or otherwise affect the inherent power of the Court to make such orders as may be necessary for the ends of justice, or to prevent abuse of the powers of the Court.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

TARIFF VALUATION OF SUGAR.

The following statement shows in respect of each of the descriptions of sugar distinguished in the Tariff Schedule IV (excepting molasses and all other kinds of sugar), firstly, the total imports into India in the month of July, 1915, and the average value per cwt. as calculated on the returns received from the Customs Houses; and, secondly, a running total showing the total imports into India since the beginning of the year (1st October to 30th September) and the average net value per cwt. so far established. It is published in conformity with the procedure laid down in Customs Circular No. V of 1911, in order to enable merchants to compute the probable rate of duty for the year 1916:—

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA
August 18, 1915

G. FINDLAY SHIRRAS,
Director of Statistics

Published by order of the Governor-General in Council

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN SELECTED ARTICLES IN MAY 1915.

The object of the tables below is to show the quantities of the principal staples of agricultural produce imported from the various provinces, etc., and from foreign countries into the ports of Calcutta, Bombay, Karachi, and the Madras ports during the month of May 1915, and for the two months April to May 1915, as compared with the corresponding periods of 1914. The statistics include foreign seaborne and coasting trade as well as inland (rail and riverborne) trade. They have been furnished by Collectors of Customs, Steamer Companies, Railway Audit Officers, the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, etc.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN MAY 1914 AND 1915.

It will be seen from Table I, that the imports by rail, river and sea in May 1915, as against the corresponding month of 1914 show (in round numbers) a fall of—

28 per cent in raw cotton.
(368,400 bales as against 514,900 bales last year.)

24 per cent in rape and mustard seed.
(15,600 tons as against 20,500 tons last year.)

23 per cent in linseed.
(48,800 tons as against 63,400 tons last year.)

The imports of jute by rail, river and sea into Calcutta show an increase of 146 per cent (335,900 bales as against 136,700 bales last year) due to larger receipts from Assam, Bengal and Bihar and Orissa. The increase of 75 per cent (335,600 tons as against 191,900 tons last year) in the imports of wheat (excluding wheat flour) into the ports was due mainly to larger despatches from the United Provinces, the Punjab, Rajputana and Central India and the Central Provinces and Berar.

It will be seen from Table III (wheat excluding wheat flour) that the principal sources of the imports in May 1914 were (in order of importance) the Punjab, the United Provinces, Sind and British Baluchistan and Bihar and Orissa. During the corresponding month of 1915 the Punjab sent by far the largest quantity, viz., 58 per cent of the total. Table X shows the exports out of India of wheat (including wheat flour) month by month during the last four years.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN MAY 1915 AS COMPARED WITH THE PREVIOUS MONTH.

As compared with April 1915, the imports in May 1915 into the ports referred to above show (in round numbers) an increase of —

429 per cent in tea.
(5,090 tons as against 900 tons previous month.)

235 per cent in wheat (excluding wheat flour).
(335,600 tons as against 100,300 tons previous month.)

81 per cent in linseed.
(48,800 tons as against 26,900 tons previous month.)

4 per cent in gram and pulse.
(48,700 tons as against 46,800 tons previous month.)

and a decrease of—

44 per cent in rice.
(121,700 tons as against 216,900 tons previous month.)

41 per cent in raw cotton.
(368,400 bales as against 629,400 bales previous month.)

39 per cent in rape and mustard seed.
(15,600 tons as against 25,600 tons previous month.)

26 per cent in jute.
(335,900 bales as against 452,400 bales previous month.)

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN TWO MONTHS ENDING MAY 1914 AND 1915.

Table I shows an increase in the two months' figures of jute (136·8 per cent), wheat, excluding wheat flour (87·7 per cent), tea (46·8 per cent), rice, including paddy (46·7 per cent), and gram and pulse (12 per cent). Other articles show a decrease, viz., 44 per cent in linseed, 25 per cent in rape and mustard seed, and 14 per cent in raw cotton.

Exports of linseed to ports from Bengal fell off by 10,000 tons, from Bihar and Orissa by 45,000, and from the United Provinces by 10,000. Assam despatched 5,000 tons, Bihar and Orissa 10,000 and Bombay 5,000 tons less of rape and mustard seed. The despatches of raw cotton from the Punjab decreased by 28,000 bales, from Bombay by 56,000, from the Central Provinces and Berar by 56,000, from the Nizam's Territory by 28,000, and from Madras by 56,000.

The Statistics for May 1915 as also for the two months ending 31st May 1915, are summarised below :—

FOREIGN SEA-BORNE TRADE DURING JULY 1915.

SUMMARY of the ACCOUNTS of the SEA-BORNE TRADE and NAVIGATION of BRITISH INDIA for the month of JULY 1915.

Supplement to the Sea-borne Trade and Navigation Accounts of British India for the month of July 1915.

Published by order of the Governor-General in Council.

FOREIGN COMMERCE.

FOREIGN SEA-BORNE TRADE DURING JULY 1915.

The trade returns of British India for July 1915, as compared with those of the preceding month, showed increases in the total imports and re-exports, but a considerable decrease in the total exports. The total imports of merchandise were valued at R11 crores, exports at R14½ crores (inclusive of R1,88 lakhs, the value of wheat exported on Government account) and re-exports at R45 lakhs. As compared with June 1915, the imports and re-exports increased by 7 per cent each, but the exports fell by 18 per cent. The percentage of net exports* to total exports was 43 in June 1915, and 26 in July 1915. The statement below shows the figures of imports, exports, and re-exports during June and July of the years 1912, 1913, and 1914, and the percentage of net exports* to total exports during the same period:—

	1912		1913		1914		Percentage of net exports * to total exports
	Imports	Exports, including re-exports	Imports	Exports, including re-exports	Imports	Exports, including re-exports	1912	1913	1914
	R(lakhs)	R(lakhs)	R(lakhs)	R(lakhs)	R(lakhs)	R(lakhs)
June . .	10,47	20,59	12,22	17,89	12,68	21,83	49	32	42
July . .	11,70	20,90	14,48	20,63	14,00	19,57	44	30	28

As compared with June 1915, the noticeable increases in July under imports were in sugar, 16 D. S. and above (+R29 lakhs), kerosene oil (+R8½ lakhs), textile machinery (+R8 lakhs), silk piecegoods (+R4½ lakhs), and milk (condensed or preserved) and chemicals (+R2 lakhs each). The increases of R18½ lakhs in cotton white piece goods and of R19½ lakhs in coloured goods were set off by a decline of R36 lakhs in grey goods. Mineral oil (other than kerosene) declined by R6½ lakhs, cement by R4 lakhs, and matches by R3 lakhs. Under exports the principal increases were in jute bags and cloth (+R64 lakhs), tea, black (+R49 lakhs), cotton twist (+R25 lakhs), and barley (+R17 lakhs), while the following articles showed noticeable decreases :— raw cotton (—R1,47 lakhs), wheat including exports on Government account (—R1,45 lakhs), hides and skins, raw (—R43 lakhs), seeds (—R36 lakhs), rice (—R30 lakhs), and raw wool (—R29 lakhs).

As compared with July 1914, there was a decrease of 20 per cent in imports and 24 per cent in exports, while re-exports showed an increase of about 2 per cent. Under imports, the important increases were in sugar, 16 D.S. and above (+R40 lakhs), and kerosene oil (+R5 lakhs), while the principal decreases were in railway plant and rolling-stock (—R67 lakhs), cotton piece goods (—R66 lakhs), copper (—R29 lakhs), and woollen manufactures (—R20 lakhs). Under exports the important increases were in jute bags and cloth (+R1,43 lakhs), wheat including exports on Government account (+R51 lakhs), and barley (+R18 lakhs). The heaviest declines were under raw cotton (—R3,63 lakhs) and seeds (—R1,66 lakhs).

i.e.*, the difference between total exports (including re-exports) and total imports.

VARIATIONS IN CLASSES.

The variations in July, as compared with June of the years 1914 and 1915, according to the four main classes of merchandise, are as follows:—

COMPARISONS WITH THE IMPORTS AND EXPORTS OF JULY 1914.

AN ADVANCE IN THE IMPORTS OF FOOD AND DRINK.

The imports of food, drink, and tobacco increased by R37 lakhs, due mainly to the increased imports of sugar. The quantity of sugar 16D. S. and above imported rose from 29,409 tons to 30,837 tons, and the value from R53½ lakhs to R93½ lakhs, indicating a rise of 67 per cent in the declared value. Imports from Java fell by 7,060 tons, while those from Mauritius increased by 5,900 tons. Imports of spices declined from 17 million lbs to

(a) Includes R3,24 lakhs, being the value of wheat exported on Government account.
(b) " R1,88 " " " " " " " "

a little over 10 million lbs, due mainly to smaller imports of betelnuts from the Straits Settlements.

A DECREASE IN THE IMPORTS OF RAW SILK AND MINERAL OIL.

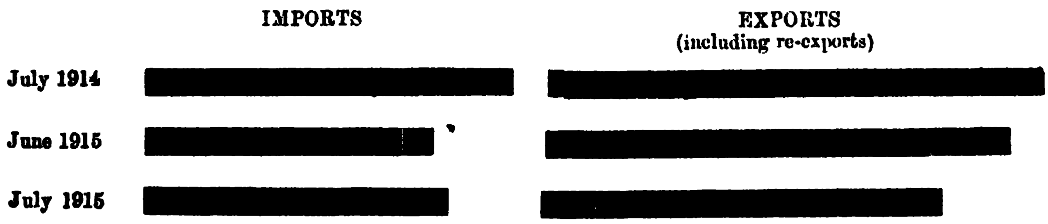
Raw materials declined by R21 lakhs due chiefly to the restricted imports of raw silk and mineral oil (other than kerosene). Raw silk accounted for a decrease of over R5 lakhs, while mineral oil, other than kerosene, declined from R17 lakhs to R3 lakhs.

A DECREASE IN THE IMPORTS OF MANUFACTURED ARTICLES.

Manufactured articles declined by R2,94 lakhs, due chiefly to the reduced imports of cotton manufactures (—R85 lakhs), woollen manufactures (—R20 lakhs), railway plant and rolling stock (—R67 lakhs), iron and steel (—R12 lakhs), copper (—R29 lakhs), and machinery, etc. (—R17 lakhs).

AN ADVANCE IN EXPORTS OF FOODSTUFFS.

Exports of food, drink, and tobacco increased by R47 lakhs, mainly due, as in the two preceding months, to larger shipments of wheat on Government account. Wheat shipped on private account amounted to 37,272 tons, valued at R46 lakhs, and on Government account to 150,295 tons, valued at R1,88 lakhs, the total value of all wheat shipped, both on private and Government accounts, was more than in July 1914 by R51 lakhs. Shipments of husked rice were almost on the level of the exports of July 1914, the total quantity shipped (97,529 tons) showing an increase of 1,445 tons only. There were no exports of rice to the Continental countries in Europe, except 5,027 tons to Holland and 3,696 tons to Portugal. Exports to the United Kingdom, West Indies, and Australia showed marked increases. Exports of barley increased by 15,554 tons, due to heavy exports to the United Kingdom. Shipments of tea fell by 5,683,785 lbs, due to smaller exports to the United Kingdom, China and Canada, there being no exports to Russia as against 3 million lbs in July 1914.



A HEAVY DECLINE IN THE EXPORTS OF RAW COTTON AND SEEDS.

Raw materials exported declined from R9½ crores in July 1914 to R3½ crores, mainly accounted for by the decline in the exports of raw cotton and seeds as in the preceding months. The quantity of raw cotton shipped (21,878 tons) was almost one-third the amount exported in July 1914, owing to the cessation of exports to Germany, Austria-Hungary and Belgium. The value was reduced from R4¾ crores to a little over a crore of rupees, indicating a decline of nearly 31 per cent in the average declared value. Exports of seeds declined from 136,236 tons to 34,307 tons. The decrease was noticeable in almost all the varieties, the heaviest decline being in linseed which fell from 65,439 tons to 10,765 tons. Raw hides and skins also declined by R47 lakhs.

HEAVY EXPORTS OF JUTE GOODS.

Exports of manufactured articles increased by R1,18 lakhs, due mainly to larger shipments of jute goods. The number of jute gunny bags shipped rose from 20½ millions in July 1914 to 45 millions, while the value increased from R81 lakhs to R1,39 lakhs, indicating a decline of 22 per cent in the average declared unit value. Exports of gunny cloth increased from 77 million yards to 129 million yards due to heavy exports to the United Kingdom, Canada, the United States of America, and the Argentine Republic. The United Kingdom in July 1915 took 15¼ million gunny bags and 11⅘ million yards of gunny cloth as against 1½ million bags and about 2 million yards of cloth in July 1914, France imported 3⅕ million gunny bags and 1½ million yards of gunny cloth as against 55,000 bags in July 1914, and Russia took 7⅗ million bags and 40,000 yards of cloth as against 110,000 bags last year. There were no exports of gunny cloth to France or Russia in July 1914.

The following diagrams illustrate the relative magnitude of the import and export trade in merchandise for June and July 1915 and July 1914:—

FOUR MONTHS ENDED JULY 1915.

The summary of the results for four months ended July is as follows:—

	Four months ended July 1915	Increase (+) or decrease (—) as compared with the corresponding period of the year 1914
	R (lakhs)	R (lakhs)	Per cent
MERCHANDISE—

TRADE BY PROVINCES.

The total imports and exports, including re-exports, of private merchandise of the several maritime provinces during the month of July of the years 1914 and 1915 are stated below. The figures of exports in July 1915 include the value of wheat exported on Government account:—

	IMPORTS		EXPORTS, INCLUDING RE-EXPORTS
	July 1914	July 1915	July 1914	July 1915

Burma	1,23	79	1,07	1,03
Total	14,00	11,17	19,57	15,04*

Under imports, all the provinces shared in the decline. Madras showed the heaviest decline of 48 per cent, and Burma declined by 36 per cent, Bengal 18 per cent, Bombay 13 per cent, and Sind 7 per cent. Under exports, Bombay showed the heaviest decline of 56 per cent, Sind of 22 per cent, Madras of 13 per cent, and Burma of 4 per cent, but Bengal showed an increase of nearly 2 per cent.

Spain	1	1	...	16	21	+5
United States of America	37	52	+15	1,70	1,86	+16

It will be observed that in July 1915, imports from the United Kingdom, France, Italy and Holland showed decreases of R1,65 lakhs, R10 lakhs, R4 lakhs and R3 lakhs respectively, while those from the United States increased by R15 lakhs and from Sweden by R3 lakhs. Under exports, the United Kingdom accounted for a decrease of R77 lakhs, France of R55 lakhs, and Italy of R38 lakhs, while Spain rose by R5 lakhs, and the United States by R16 lakhs. There were practically no exports to Belgium, Sweden and Norway, and no imports from Belgium and Russia.

BALANCE OF TRADE.

India's Balance of Trade during July 1915, as compared with July 1914, is shown in the following table. The table takes into account the imports and exports of merchandise and treasure on private account only, as well as the value of wheat exported on Government account during July 1915:—

	July 1914	July 1915
	R (lakhs)	R (lakhs)
Exports of Merchandise,† including Re-exports	19,57	15,04(a)
Imports „ †	14,00	11,17
Excess of Exports over Imports	5,57	3,87
Net Imports of Gold †	63	47
„ „ „ Silver †	69	44
Net imports of Treasure	1,32	91
Council bills paid in India	73·5	9
Sterling bills on London sold in India	...	5,09·5
Enfaced Rupee paper (net imports)	4·7	28·8
Interest on enfaced Rupee paper	1·4	1·3
	d.	d.
Rate of exchange	15·977	15 966

The council bills paid in India in July 1914 and 1915 were all paid through the treasuries. Since wheat exports to the United Kingdom are being financed by Government the demand for council bills is less than what might have been anticipated. As regards enfaced rupee paper, R56,900 represented the amount of paper enfaced to London and R5,29,300 of that re-transferred from London in July 1914, while in July 1915, R23,200 represented the amount of paper enfaced to London and R29,08,900, the amount re-transferred from London.

MOVEMENTS OF GOLD AND SILVER.

In the month of July 1915, imports of gold were valued at R49 lakhs, and exports at R1½ lakhs as against R1,12 lakhs and R49 lakhs, respectively, in July 1914. Of the imports, gold bullion was valued at about R40½ lakhs as against R88½ lakhs last year, imported mostly from the United Kingdom, which sent R35 lakhs worth of bullion last month as against R81½ lakhs in July 1914. Sovereigns and other British gold coin were valued at R7⅓ lakhs as against R22⅔ lakhs last year and were imported mainly from the United Kingdom and Asiatic Turkey. As regards exports, gold bullion worth only R7,400 was exported mostly to the United Kingdom, as against R29¼ lakhs in July 1914. Exports of sovereigns and other British gold coin amounted to about R1⅓ lakhs as against R19½ lakhs in July 1914. The exports to Ceylon were valued at R750 only as against R15 lakhs last year.

† Exclusive of Government transactions

(a) Includes R1,88 lakhs, being the value of wheat exported on Government account

Imports of silver were valued at R49½ lakhs and exports at R5 lakhs as against R79¼ lakhs and R10 lakhs, respectively, in July 1914. Silver bullion imported was valued at over R44½ lakhs (of which over R33⅓ lakhs came from the United Kingdom), and Government of India rupees at R4⅖ lakhs, as against R73¾ lakhs and about R5½ lakhs, respectively, last year.

DECLARED VALUE PER UNIT OF SELECTED ARTICLES.

The declared values per unit of certain selected articles imported and exported during July 1914 and 1915 are noted below :—

FOREIGN AND POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Simla, the 23rd August, 1915.

No. 1866-I.C.—Erratum :—In the notification of the Government of India in the Foreign and Political Department No. 999-I.C., dated the 3rd June, 1915, for the words "Narayan Shripad Kulkarni, Private Medical Practitioner of Hubli Dharwar District, in the Bombay Presidency" read "Narhar Shripat Kulkarni, Private Medical Practitioner, of Hubli, Dharwar District, in the Bombay Presidency."

The 25th August, 1915.

No. 1896-I.B.—In exercise of the powers conferred by the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the following Law to regulate the import, transport, sale and possession of morphia, coca, cocaine and cocaine substitutes in the areas in the Hyderabad State in which the Governor General in Council exercises jurisdiction :—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Law may be called the Hyderabad Intoxicating Drugs Law, 1915.

(2) It extends to the areas in the Hyderabad State in which the Governor General in Council exercises jurisdiction through the Resident at Hyderabad (hereinafter called the Resident).

Definitions.

2. In this Law—

(i) "Coca" means the dried or green leaves of the coca plant (Erythroxylum coca), and includes the plant itself.

(ii) "Cocaine" means the alkaloid obtained from the coca plant, and includes all preparations and admixtures thereof.

(iii) "Cocaine substitute" means any such synthetic preparation as has a physiological action similar to that of cocaine.

(iv) "Intoxicating drug" means morphia, coca, cocaine and cocaine substitutes.

(v) "Licensed druggists" means a druggist who has been licensed under this Law to sell morphia, cocaine and cocaine substitutes, or any of them.

(vi) "Medical practitioner" means—

(a) any person possessed of qualifications which render him eligible for registration under the Medical Act, 1858, and any Act of Parliament amending the same, or under any law for the registration of medical practitioners for the time being in force in any part of British India, or

21 & 22 Vict., c. 90.

(b) any dentist possessed of qualifications which render him eligible for registration as a dentist under the Dentists' Act, 1878, and any Act of Parliament amending the same, or

41 & 42 Vict., c. 33.

(c) any other person engaged in medical practice, licensed as a medical practitioner for the purposes of this Law by the prescribed Authority.

(vii) "Morphia" means the alkaloid of opium known as morphia or morphine, and includes all preparations and admixtures thereof.

(viii) "Notification" means a notification in the Hyderabad Residency Orders.

(x) "Prescribed" means prescribed by rule under this Law.

Prohibition as to coca.

3. No coca shall be imported, transported, possessed or sold.

Prohibition as to import and transport by post.

4. No intoxicating drug shall be imported or transported by means of the post.

Import.

5. No morphia, cocaine or cocaine substitute shall be imported, except under a permit granted by the prescribed Authority, by a medical practitioner or licensed druggist.

Transport.

6. No morphia, cocaine or cocaine substitute shall be transported, except—

(a) under a permit granted by the prescribed Authority, by a medical practitioner or licensed druggist, or

(b) in quantities not exceeding those which any person other than a medical practitioner or licensed druggist as such is authorised to possess under the provisions of this Law.

Possession.

7. No morphia, cocaine or cocaine substitute shall be possessed, except—

(a) when purchased in accordance with the prescription of a medical practitioner, in quantities not exceeding the terms of such prescription;

(b) by a medical practitioner as such, in quantities not exceeding half an ounce in the aggregate of morphia, cocaine and cocaine substitutes, or such greater quantity as the prescribed Authority may, by general or special permit, authorise, or

(c) by a licensed druggist as such in quantities not exceeding those which may be specified in his licence.

Sale.

8. (1) No morphia, cocaine or cocaine substitute shall be sold, except by a medical practitioner or licensed druggist—and

(a) to a medical practitioner or a licensed druggist, in quantities not exceeding those which the purchaser is authorised under this Law to possess, or

(b) in accordance with the prescription of a medical practitioner:

Provided that not more than one sale shall be made on the same prescription, except under the written direction of a medical practitioner.

(2) A written record shall be made of every sale in the prescribed manner.

Major offences.

9. Whoever, in contravention of this Law or of any rule made thereunder, imports, transports, possesses or sells any intoxicating drug, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year, or with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees, or with both.

Minor offences.

10. Whoever breaks any condition of a licence or permit granted under this Law, for the breach of which no other penalty is imposed, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees, and shall be liable to the forfeiture of his licence or permit.

Attempt, abetment and possession of illicit drug.

11. Whoever attempts to commit any offence punishable under this Law, or abets the commission of any such offence, or receives or retains any intoxicating drug in respect of which he knows or has reason to believe that any such offence has been committed, shall be punishable with the punishment provided for such offence.

Enhanced punishment after previous conviction.

12. Whoever, having been previously convicted of an offence punishable under section 9, or under section 10 read with section 9, subsequently commits any such offence, shall be liable to twice the punishment which might be imposed on a first conviction.

Confiscation.

13. Any intoxicating drug in respect of which any offence punishable under section 9 has been committed, shall be liable to confiscation, whether the accused is, or is not, convicted.

Arrest and seizure without warrant.

14. Any officer of Police, subject to the prescribed restrictions, may—

(a) seize and detain any intoxicating drug which he has reason to believe to be liable to confiscation under this Law; and

(b) detain and search, and, if he thinks proper, arrest any person whom he has reason to believe to have committed an offence under section 9, or under section 11 read with section 9.

Warrants of arrest and search.

15. (1) Whenever a Magistrate has reason to believe—

(a) that any person has committed an offence under section 9, or under section 11 read with section 9, or

(b) that any intoxicating drug in respect of which such an offence is being, or is likely to be committed, is kept or sold in any place, such Magistrate may issue a warrant for the arrest of such person, or for the search of such place by day or by night.

(2) A Magistrate issuing a warrant for the arrest of any person under this section may, by endorsement on the warrant, direct that, if such person executes a bond with sufficient sureties for his attendance before the Magistrate, the person to whom the warrant is directed shall take such security, and shall release the person arrested from custody; and the person executing such warrant shall in such a case give effect to such direction.

(3) The person executing a warrant under this section may exercise any or all of the powers specified in section 14, and shall forward anything seized, and, subject to the provisions of sub-section (2), any person arrested, to the Magistrate by whom such warrant was issued.

Search without warrant.

16. Whenever a Police-officer, not below the rank of Head Constable has reason to believe that any intoxicating drug in respect of which an offence under section 9, or under section 11 read with section 9, has been, is being, or is likely to be, committed, is kept or concealed in any place, and that a search warrant cannot be obtained without affording the offender an opportunity of escape or of concealing evidence of the offence, he may, after recording the grounds of his belief, enter and search such place by day or by night, and may exercise therein all or any of the powers specified in section 14.

Application of Criminal Procedure Code.

V of 1898.

17. Save as in this Law otherwise expressly provided, the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, relating to searches, arrests and warrants shall apply, so far as may be, to all searches and arrests made, and warrants issued, under this Law.

Procedure after arrest or seizure.

18 (1) Whenever any officer makes an arrest or seizure under section 14 or section 16, he shall, without delay, take or send any person arrested or thing seized to the officer in charge of the nearest police-station, together with a report of the particulars of such seizure or arrest.

(2) An officer in charge of a police-station, to whom any person arrested or thing seized is made over, shall forthwith forward such person or thing to a Magistrate having jurisdiction, unless he considers further inquiry necessary, in which case he shall proceed in accordance with the provisions of Chapter XIV of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 :

Provided that such officer may, instead of forwarding a person arrested to the Magistrate, take a bond with such sureties as he may think sufficient, for the attendance of such person before the Magistrate on a date to be specified; and in such a case, he shall forward the bond taken to the Magistrate.

Exemptions.

19. (1) Nothing in this Law shall apply to—

(a) the import, transport, possession or sale of intoxicating drugs on behalf of the British Government, or the Government of His Highness the Nizam, or

(b) intoxicating drugs in transit to or from British India in accordance with the law of British India.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (1), the Resident may, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, by notification, either wholly or partially, and subject to such conditions, if any, as he may think fit, exempt any medicinal preparations containing intoxicating drugs, or any class of such preparations, from all or any of the provisions of this Law.

Rules.

20. The Resident may, by notification, make rules for all or any of the following purposes, namely :—

(1) to provide for the registration of sales and for the endorsement of sales on prescriptions ;

(2) to determine the authority by which, the form in which, and the terms and conditions on and subject to which, any licence or permit may be granted ; and may, by such rules, among other matters—

(a) fix the period of validity of such licence or permit ;

(b) fix the fee, if any, payable for such licence or permit, and the time, place and manner of payment of such fee ; and

(c) provide for the production of such licence or permit, on the demand of any officer empowered in this behalf ;

(3) to regulate the disposal of things confiscated or seized as liable to confiscation under this Law ;

(4) to regulate the powers and duties of officers under this Law ; and

(5) generally to carry out the provisions of this Law.

Repeal.

21. (1) The Hyderabad Intoxicating Drugs Law, 1911, is hereby repealed.

(2) The provisions of sections 6 and 24 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, shall apply for the interpretation of sub-section (1). X of 1897.

The 26th August, 1915.

INSURANCE.

Simla, the 28th August, 1915.

No. 14060-90.—In accordance with the provisions of Section 28 of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912 (VI of 1912), the Governor General in Council is pleased to publish herewith the accounts, balance sheets, abstracts, statements and other documents deposited with him by Life Assurance Companies under the provisions of sub-section (1) of Section 11 of the Act and relating to periods not later than the 30th June 1914, together with a note by the Actuary to the Government of India, thereon.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE

BY

The Actuary to the Government of India.

The accompanying accounts and valuation particulars of Indian, British, Colonial and Foreign life assurance companies doing business in British India were due for submission to Government not later than 31st December 1914. The accounts now published comply with the prescribed forms more fully than those contained in the first returns made under the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act which were published in the early part of 1914, and it has consequently been possible to publish, as an appendix to this note, summaries of the ordinary accounts of the Indian companies, while the financial position of many of those companies may now be ascertained from the abstracts of their actuarial valuation reports which are contained in this and in the previous publication. Although the summaries of the accounts are fairly complete they fail to disclose many of the special features of the smaller companies as they are almost entirely hidden when amalgamated with the larger totals of the older and larger companies.

Actuarial valuations.

During the year actuarial valuation reports, each of which disclosed a divisible surplus, were received from the following five companies :—The Bharat of Lahore, the India Equitable of Calcutta, the Indian Life of Karachi, the National Insurance of Calcutta, and the Indian Empire Branch of the Independent Order of Rechabites.

The valuation of the General Assurance Society of Ajmer only shows a surplus when paid-up capital is taken credit for. The solvency of the company is thereby demonstrated, but a surplus thus obtained does not admit of payment of bonus as it is laid down in the Life Assurance Companies Rules that paid-up capital shall not be treated as part of a company's assets for the purpose of showing a divisible surplus at the time of any actuarial investigation into its financial position.

The valuation of the Mangalore Roman Catholic Provident Fund shows the society to be insolvent. As it is a mutual society and has no subscribed capital which could be utilised to make up the deficiency in the funds, it became necessary to reduce the benefits payable under existing policies and to increase the rates of premium for new ones. Of the three methods of reduction of existing contracts suggested by the consulting actuary as a means to restore solvency the society decided to adopt that by which the sum assured payable at death is reduced by one third.

The valuation as at 30th April 1912 of the Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society of Calcutta was not finally completed and submitted to Government until after three years from that date. It presented many difficult questions for solution but, fortunately, it had been made by one of the senior British actuaries from whom the society received much valuable advice which should enable it to remedy the errors made in past years. For the purposes of valuation the business was divided into three sections The ordinary life assurance section was found to be solvent, but with no surplus available for distribution. The combined investment life assurance section disclosed a deficit of from about 4 to 7 lakhs depending on the proportion of premium income at which shareholders are willing to conduct this branch of the company's business The annuities certain and capital redemption section showed a small deficit. Part of the deficit in the combined investment section has now been made good and is shown in the accounts up to 30th April 1914 and the balance falls to be restored as at 30th April 1915. The company must now be careful to keep expenditure at a much lower rate, so that the concern as a whole may be worked at a profit which will justify the assumption of a 7 per cent dividend on the combined investment business and permit of reduction of the capital expenditure.

Actuarial Valuations of the financial position of 14 Indian Companies have now been received. In the following summary of these valuations the particulars have been arranged according to the magnitude of Life Assurance Funds.

‡ Solvency was obtained in this case by reducing the sums assured by one-third.

Liquidation.

The Pioneer Assurance Company, Limited, Bombay, which was established towards the end of 1913 evidently expected to be exempt from compliance with the Life Act as the sum assured under its policies was said to be restricted to Rs. 500. The company, however, rendered itself subject to the provisions of that Act by undertaking that "the heirs of the first claimant would receive Rs. 25,000, those of the second Rs. 15,000 and so on, until the sum of Rs. 10 lakhs has been divided among 10,000 claimants, each claim being in addition to the sum assured." The company was ordered to be wound up by the Civil Court in January 1914.

The Crown Life Insurance Company of Bombay, which was established a year ago, decided in view of the banking crises not to commence the issue of policies and is being voluntarily wound up.

The followirg nine companies which had been carrying on Life Assurance business since the passing of the Life Act are now under process of voluntary liquidation. Such a step was rendered necessary in the majority of these cases by financial difficulties brought about by insurance business having been transacted on the Dividing Society principle.

The financial position of the Coromandel of Bimlipatam disclosed by the audited accounts up to 31st December 1913 made it desirable that the company should be wound up. A meeting convened for this purpose at Bimlipatam adopted the accounts and agreed to the Directors' proposals to wind up the company. The shareholders at a subsequent meeting held at Vizagapatam suspended the Manager and the Secretary and removed the Directors on the ground that the accounts were false; they adopted a resolution disapproving of the Directors' recommendation to wind up the company, and resolved to transfer the company's registered office from Bimlipatam to Vizagapatam. A law suit and a counter suit filed by the rival parties are still pending. It has been decided to await the result of those suits.

The New Bombay Presidency Assurance Society, Limited, was registered on the 1st February 1910 and took over the business of the Bombay Presidency Assurance Society Limited which went into voluntary liquidation on the 31st March 1910. No life assurance policies have been issued by the new company.

New Companies.

One ordinary life assurance company, viz., the British Indian Insurance Company, Limited, of Lahore, was established in India during the year 1914. It has complied with the provisions of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act. Two other companies, viz., the Gujarat Zoroastrian of Surat and the Mutual Help Association of Simla, which were previously working as Provident Insurance Societies, became subject to the Life Act during 1914. The United Assurance Company, Limited, Calcutta, which also had been doing provident fund business lodged during 1914 the initial security deposit under the Act with a view to transacting ordinary life assurance business. It did not, however, issue any policy under the latter class and has subsequently been refunded the amount of the security deposit.

In Southern India, there are several Funds managed by Missionary Societies which have petitioned Government for exemption from compliance with some of the provisions of the Life Act and whose accounts are not included in these returns. The matter is under consideration.

In the following list the names of the existing Indian Life Assurance Companies have been arranged according to the date of establishment under the Province in which their Head Office is now situated.

Mutual Societies.

Of the companies shown as established prior to 1896, thirteen were mutual and only two proprietary. None of these mutual societies have large funds and it is found that in many cases payment of the full deposit prescribed in section 4 of the Life Act presses unduly on their resources. Payment of the full deposit also interferes with the formation of new mutual societies. In such cases Government will favourably consider any application from an Indian mutual society for permission to pay a smaller deposit. Another privilege which Government have recently decided to extend to such societies is with regard to the audit of their accounts. While life assurance companies having a share capital may employ as an auditor only the holder of an unrestricted certificate or the member of one of the six exempted societies of accountants, mutual life assurance companies may, in addition, employ as an auditor the holder of a restricted certificate or an Associate either of the Institute or of the Faculty of Actuaries.

Life Annuities.

Only three Indian companies grant ordinary annuities, viz., the Bharat, Empire of India and the Oriental, the annuity payments made last year by each of these companies, respectively, being Rs. 505, 1,029 and 21,526.

Business other than Life Assurance.

There has been a considerable reduction during the year in the number of Indian companies which transact other business in addition to life assurance, the number having decreased from twenty-one to the nine noted below :—

1. All India United	which transacts	Fire Insurance.
2. Bharat 3. Empire 4. National of Calcutta	„	Fidelity Guarantee Insurance.
5. Rechabites	„	Sickness Insurance.
6. Bengal Provident 7. Hindustan of Gujranwala 8. Victoria	„	Marriage Insurance.
9. Christian Mutual	„	Capital Redemption business.

The classes of business other than Life Assurance which were discontinued may be summarised as follows :—

Policies payable on Marriage	have been discontinued by			10	Companies.
„ „ at Birth	„	„	„	2	„
„ „ at Upanayan ceremony	„	„	„	2	„
Capital Redemption policies	„	„	„	1	Company.
Personal Accident „	„	„	„	1	„

Dividing Insurance business.

The following 13 companies have ceased to issue policies on the dividing principle.

1. Eastern, which issued policies payable at Death.

2. Capital 3. Coromandel 4. Doaba 5. India Equitable 6. Northern Circars 7. Popular 8. Star of India 9. Universal	which issued policies payable at Death and on Marriage.

10. Aryya, which issued policies payable at Death, on Marriage and at Upanayan ceremony.

11. National of Amritsar, which issued policies payable at Death, on Marriage and at Birth.
12. Unique, which issued policies payable at Death on Marriage, at Birth and at Upanayan ceremony.
13. Imperial Guaranteed, which issued policies payable on Personal Accidents.

Many of the above mentioned companies must regret that they ever transacted such business. Life assurance policies on the dividing principle can now be obtained only from the following four companies :—

1. Bengal Provident.
2. Chittagong.
3. Hindustan of Gujranwala.
4. Victoria.

In every case where any of these 17 companies has guaranteed a minimum benefit in respect of each policy that minimum amount is all that is now being paid. Although this is very much less than many policyholders were originally led to expect it is more than some of the companies can now afford to pay. Where no minimum benefit is guaranteed the sum payable on a claim occurring is, as was to be expected, steadily decreasing. In the Introductory Note to last year's issue of the Returns, I referred to the mistakes made by many companies transacting life insurance on the dividing principle in supposing that such business never entails more than a liability for the period to which the premiums paid relate and in supposing that it is unnecessary to build up a reserve on actuarial principles to ensure payment of the benefit guaranteed at death or survivance. Such mistakes if continued in can only end in the insolvency of the company. Those Indian life offices, which have not yet appointed an actuary on their staff and which can afford to do so, might with advantage to themselves procure the services of some of those Indians who have passed the examination of Associate of the Institute of Actuaries, London. These companies could then have expert advice which would help them to build up a business on sound lines and avoid all crude and unsound systems such as the Combined Investment endowment of the Hindusthan Co-operative of Calcutta and the Dividing Insurance business previously referred to. At present only one of the Indian Companies is known to have a whole-time actuary employed on its staff. The Institute of Actuaries holds examinations in April each year in Calcutta and Bombay.

Surrender Values.

Some of the companies which have not yet undergone an actuarial valuation are noticed to be allowing surrender values at a rate which it is quite likely they cannot very well afford. The question of what would be a safe surrender value to allow is much more difficult to answer than is generally believed and should not be decided without actuarial advice. It depends on the rates of premium, charged, the benefits promised and on the company's experience in regard to the rates of mortality, interest and expenditure.

Policy conditions and power to alter them.

In the Introductory Note to last year's Returns, I referred to the desirability of companies stating clearly the procedure to be adopted in making new rules or in altering or repealing existing ones, and prescribing that no such amendment or repeal should detrimentally affect the terms of contracts then existing. Instances have occurred during the year of the need of such rules, as well as of the desirability of each policy containing a full statement of the conditions to which it is subject.

Statistical information.

The new sums assured by Indian companies under ordinary life assurance policies has remained constant during each of the past two years and amounted to about 3 crores and 20 lakhs each year.

Whole Life policies were issued	last year for	40 lakhs.	This is	12·5 % of the total.
Limited Payment policies "	" "	22 "	"	7·0 "
Endowment Assurance policies	" "	246 "	"	76·8 "
Childrens' Endowments and other classes of policies	" "	12 "	"	3·7 "
	Total	320 lakhs

The total sums assured, including bonus additions, under ordinary life assurance policies in force at the end of the year under review was nearly 22½ crores of rupees. This is about 1½ crores in excess of the corresponding amount at the end of the previous year. The total amount for which policies are issued each year in India by all companies cannot be stated as no particulars of this nature are submitted by the British companies and the other companies which transact business both in the United Kingdom and in India.

The average rate of annual premium payable under the policies issued by Indian Companies is nearly equal to 5⅓ per cent of the sum assured. The corresponding rate deduced from the returns to the British Board of Trade is about 4 per cent. The higher rates of premium payable for residence in India have less to do with this difference in the average rate of premium than the fact that more than three-quarters of the sums insured by Indian companies is under the endowment assurance system, while in the United Kingdom such policies do not constitute half such a large proportion of the total business.

It will be seen from the summary of new business that some of the smaller companies have been issuing policies for sums which bear a dangerously high ratio to the total amount of their assets ; this should be carefully guarded against in future.

The summary of dividend rates shows that notwithstanding an increase in the dividends of some of the older companies the average rate of the Indian companies as a whole has fallen to less than half of what it was two years previously. This is greatly due to the fact that no dividend was paid in the year under review by thirteen companies which formerly had paid dividends, several of those thirteen having been persuaded to forego payment of dividend until after completion of an actuarial valuation of their assets and liabilities.

The total income shown in the life assurance revenue accounts of Indian Companies was 1 crore and 42 lakhs—

Of this	1,17 lakhs	or 82·4 %	of the total	was derived from	premiums.
„	23 „	or 16·3 „	„	„	interests and rents (less tax).
„	2 „	or 1·3 „	„	„	other items.
	1,42 „

This total income was disposed of as follows :—

49 lakhs	or 34·4 per cent	of the total	went in payment of	Claims by Death.
13 „	9·3	„	„	Claims by Survivance.
2 „	1·4	„	„	Surrenders.
1 „	·7	„	„	Annuities.
0·4 „	·3	„	„	Bonus in cash and reduction of premium.
0·7 „	·5	„	„	Dividends to shareholders.
28 „	19·7	„	„	Expenses.
2 „	1·3	„	„	Depreciation, transfer to Investment Reserve Fund, etc.
46 „	32·4	„	„	Increase to Funds.
142 lakhs

The total expenses in connection with life assurance business amounted to 24 per cent of the premium income. If the expenditure applicable to new business be assumed to be equal to the new annual premium income it will be found that the balance of the life assurance expenditure comes to about 10 per cent of the renewal premium income.

The life assurance funds of the Indian companies amounted to over 5¾ crores. During the year these funds earned interest at the rate of 4¼ per cent on the average, after deduction of income-tax; this is about ¼ per cent higher than the average rate earned in the United Kingdom by life assurance companies.

The total assets of the Indian companies have increased during the year by over two-thirds of a crore and now amount to nearly 6⅔ crores, made up as follows :—

Mortgages on property in India	13	lakhs.
Loans on Companies' policies within their surrender values ...	37	"
Loans on personal security, etc.	5	"
3½ per cent Government Promissory Notes at approximate cost price	369	"

Total ...	6,63	"

Capital outlay for preliminary and organisation expenses, restoration of valuation deficits, etc., is not included in the above statement; it amounted to 15½ lakhs, due mainly to the capital expenditure of the Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society. The total amount of the paid up capital of the Indian Companies exceeded 37 lakhs of rupees.

British, Colonial and Foreign Companies.

In the last portion of this publication will be found the accounts and valuation particulars relating to 20 companies, of which 15 are constituted in Britain, 2 in Canada, 1 in Australia, 1 in the United States of America and 1 in Shanghai, and which are partially exempt from the Indian Act on the ground that they carry on business in the United Kingdom and comply with the provisions of the English Assurance Companies Act of 1909.

The classes of business, in addition to ordinary life assurance, transacted by those 20 companies are shown in the following statement :—

The principal effect of the exemptions allowed to these British, Colonial and Foreign companies is that they are freed from the necessity of making a deposit with the Controller of Currency and may submit their accounts in the form required by the English Assurance Companies Act of 1909. That Act is slightly different from the Indian Act and requires separate revenue accounts for each of certain classes of business other than life assurance, such as, fire, accident, employers' liability, capital redemption, etc. Not many policies of these classes of business are issued in India, and the revenue accounts relating to these classes as published by these Non-Indian companies have consequently been omitted from this publication, except in cases in which there are not more than two such accounts in addition to the revenue accounts of the ordinary life assurance and annuity business. Similarly, many of the valuation statements furnished by these companies have been omitted where they do not relate to Indian business. Although the particulars are thus reduced by nearly two-thirds, yet nothing of importance has been omitted which either gives details relating to Indian policies or shows the position of a company as a whole.

Exemptions.

During the year complete exemption from compliance with the Act was granted to the National Mutual, London and to the Sun Life Assurance Society London as they no longer issue policies in India, while the City of Glasgow and the Liverpool Victoria life assurance companies no longer submit returns under the Act as they are now incorporated in the Scottish Union and National and Commercial Union Companies, respectively.

The following companies and pension funds have been granted complete exemption from compliance with the Act, and this publication contains no particulars relating to them—

(a) Companies no longer issuing policies in India—
- (1) English and Scottish Law Life Assurance Association, Edinburgh.
- (2) National Mutual, Life Assurance Society, London.
- (3) London and Lancashire Life and General Assurance Association, London.
- (4) Scottish Metropolitan Assurance Company, Edinburgh.
- (5) Star Assurance Society, London.
- (6) Sun Life Assurance Society, London.
- (7) Madras Equitable Assurance Society.

  This society (No. 7) is governed by a separate Act passed by the Madras Legislature and has not issued any policies since 1910.

(b) Pension Funds connected with Indian Government services—
- (1) Postal Insurance Fund.
- (2) Bengal Civil Fund.
- (3) Indian Civil Service Family Pension Fund.
- (4) Bengal and Bombay Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund.
- (5) General Family Pension Fund.
- (6) Hindu Family Annuity Fund.
- (7) Bengal Christian Family Pension Fund.
- (8) Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund.
- (9) Indian Civil Service Annuity Fund.
- (10) Indian Military Service Family Pension Fund.
- (11) Queen's Military Widows' Fund.
- (12) Madras Civil Fund.
- (13) Madras Military Assistant Surgeons' Fund.

The Indian Life Assurance Companies Rules, 1913, as amended.

Short title.

1. These rules may be called the Indian Life Assurance Companies Rules, 1913.

Definitions.

2. In these rules, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "the Act" means the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912;

(b) "Company" means a Life Assurance Company to which the Act applies;

(c) "dividing society business" means life assurance business under which the amount payable on the policy money becoming due is not fixed, but depends either partly or wholly on the results of the division of any portion of the premium income or funds amongst the policies which have become due for payment in proportion to the premiums received under each class in any specified period.

3. (1) Any person who, as an Actuary, investigates the financial condition of a Company or signs valuation returns of a Company shall be either—

Qualifications of Actuaries under the Act.

(1) a Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries, London, or a Fellow of the Faculty of Actuaries in Scotland; or

(2) where application is made by a Company and where, in the opinion of the Governor General in Council, special circumstances exist,—

(a) an Associate of such Institute of Actuaries or of such Faculty of Actuaries; or

(b) such other person having actuarial knowledge as the Governor General in Council may authorize to be employed to perform the duties of an Actuary.

(2) Every application by a Company for permission to employ as an Actuary any person other than a Fellow of the Institute or Faculty of Actuaries shall state the work for the performance of which such person is required, and the Governor General in Council, if he grants the application, shall cause a certificate to be issued to the Company permitting, subject to such conditions and restrictions as he thinks fit, the employment of the person mentioned in the application.

4. An Actuary when investigating the financial condition of a Company shall either satisfy himself as to the accuracy of the particulars extracted from the books or require a certificate of their accuracy from the Manager and one other responsible officer of the Company.

Accuracy of particulars.

5. An Actuary, after investigating the financial condition of a Company, shall report—

Particulars to be given in report of Actuary.

(a) whether the calculations are correct and made on the principles which are contained in the statement furnished under the Fourth Schedule to the Act;

(b) whether these principles have his approval;

(c) whether he has obtained all the information and explanations that he has required;

(d) what adjustment was used in the valuation to allow for unequal incidence of the premium income, and for premiums payable more often than once a year;

(e) the method by which both the ages at entry and the ages at valuation were arrived at;

(f) the rate at each age of the mortality assumed and of the annuity values used in the valuation where the tables employed are not published;

(g) whether all negative values were eliminated from the valuation; and

(h) the reserve values held against policies effected at ages 20, 30, 40 and 50 and which have been in force for 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 15 and 20 years, respectively, in respect of—

(i) Whole Life Assurances with premiums payable throughout life;

(ii) Whole Life Assurances with premiums payable for 20 years;

(iii) Endowment Assurances payable at age 60 or previous death.

Further particulars in case of Company not in a position to distribute surplus.

6. In the event of the Actuary finding that the financial condition of the Company is such that, in his opinion, no payment should be made either of bonus to policy-holders or of dividend to members, he shall state whether or not he finds the Company to be solvent. If he finds it to be insolvent—

(a) he shall state whether he considers that the Company could be made solvent as regards existing contracts by the transfer of its subscribed capital (whether paid or unpaid) to make good the deficiency in the life assurance fund. If so, he shall state what in his opinion is the amount so required, and whether or not any alteration should be made in the rates of premium for future entrants;

(b) if he considers that the Company cannot be made solvent as regards existing contracts by the transfer of the whole of the subscribed capital to the credit of the life assurance fund, he shall state what proportion of the sum assured the Company would, in his opinion, be able to meet under such contracts, if all the premiums thereunder were reduced proportionately with the sum assured, and all subscribed capital were fully paid up and transferred to such fund.

Paid-up capital not to be treated as assets.

7. Companies transacting life assurance and annuity business only may include in the life assurance revenue account the paid-up capital and all the other funds of the Company, such as Investment Reserve Fund, Dividend Reserve Fund, Sinking Fund, etc., stated separately both at the beginning and at the end of a year, so as to show any increase or diminution in such individual funds during the year; but although paid-up capital may be shown along with the funds in this way, it shall not be treated as part of the Company's assets for the purpose of showing a divisible surplus at the time of any actuarial investigation of the financial condition of the Company.

Dividing society business.

8. Every Company transacting dividing society business shall show in its accounts both the premium income and the claims of each class of such business separately from the premiums and claims of the other classes of business transacted by the Company.

Separate Revenue Account.

9. A Company may submit a separate Revenue Account similar to the Life Assurance Account, in addition to forms A, B and C of the First Schedule, for any class of business which it transacts, such, for instance, as dividing society business.

Policies not qualifying for full benefits.

10. If any class of policy is not qualified for full benefits until after the first year or other stated period, the premium income of that class shall be separated accordingly in the accounts In the case of a Company having more than one qualifying period for any such business, the premium income shall be shown separately for each qualifying period.

Audit of accounts of Companies not subject to law of British India regarding registration of Companies.

11. The accounts of every Company not subject to audit in accordance with the provisions of any law for the time being in force in British India regarding the registration of companies shall be audited in accordance with that law.

Qualifications of Auditors under the Act.

11-A. (I) Save as hereinafter provided in this rule any person who audits the accounts of a Company shall be either—

(1) a member of any of the following Institutes and Societies :—

(a) The Institute of Chartered Accountants of England and Wales;
(b) The Society of Incorporated Accountants and Auditors;
(c) The Society of Accountants in Edinburgh;
(d) The Institute of Accountants and Actuaries in Glasgow;
(e) The Society of Accountants in Aberdeen;
(f) The Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland;

or

(2) the holder of a certificate granted by any Local Government under section 144, sub-section (I), of the Indian Companies Act, 1913 (VII of 1913), entitling him to act as an Auditor of Companies under the said Act:

Provided that such certificate does not restrict or limit to any part of British India the right of the holder to act as an Auditor.

(II) In addition to persons specified in sub-rule (I), the following persons may audit the accounts of Mutual Life Assurance Companies, namely:—

(a) A Fellow or an Associate of the Institute of Actuaries, London, or a Fellow or an Associate of the Faculty of Actuaries in Scotland.

(b) The holder of a certificate granted by a Local Government as aforesaid entitling the holder to Act as such auditor throughout the province within which the principal place of business in British India of the Mutual Life Assurance Companies is situate.

Additional particulars in case of Companies to which Act applies.

12. Every Auditor auditing under the Act the accounts of a Company shall state the following additional particulars in his report—

(a) whether or not he has personally verified the whole of the investments with the securities and other vouchers and is satisfied as to their correctness;

(b) any other matters that he considers should be brought to the notice of the members or policyholders of the Company.

Deposit of copies of documents.

13. Copies of the documents mentioned in section 14 of the Act shall be deposited at the head office and the principal branch office in each province in which the Company transacts business for the inspection of any member or policyholder of the Company.

Fees.

14. Copies of all documents deposited with the Governor General in Council under the Act shall be kept by the Registrar of the province in which the head office in British India of the Company is situate, and shall be open to inspection on payment of a fee of one rupee; and any person may procure a copy of any such document or any part thereof on payment of a fee of six annas for every hundred words or fractional part thereof required to be copied.

Translation of documents.

15. If any portion of any document required to be deposited under the Act is not in the English language, a translation thereof, certified by a responsible officer of the Company to be correct, shall be furnished along with each copy deposited with the Governor General in Council.

Form of notice under section 19.

16. Notice under section 19 of any alteration in—

(a) the charter, statute, or memorandum and articles or other instrument constituting or defining the constitution of a Life Assurance Company constituted outside British India, or

(b) the list of directors of such Company, or

(c) the names and addresses of persons resident in British India authorizey to accept on behalf of such Company service of process and and other notices required to be served by the Act, shall, within three months from the date upon which such alteration was effected, be filed with the Registrar, in the Form annexed.

Form referred to in rule 16.

(For Companies constituted outside British India.)

Pursuant to section 19 of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912, notice is hereby given by the ________________ Company constituted in ________________ and which has established a place of business / has appointed an agent to obtain life assurance business at ________________ in British India of the following alterations in the ________________

To

THE SHARE-HOLDERS,

THE BENGAL PROVIDENT AND INSURANCE

COMPANY, LIMITED.

DEAR GENTLEMEN,

In submitting the audited statement of accounts for the year ended 30th June, 1913, we beg to enclose the following reports as mentioned in the Balance Sheet.

1. We have not audited the accounts for the half year ended 31st December 1912 and had to take the figures as correct as certified by other auditors, adopted by the Directors.

2. Managing Agents' Commission Rs. 30,501-14-6. This sum which is calculated at 33⅓ p. c. on collections for the half year ended 30th June 1913 includes expenses of management and the Managing Agents' commission as per agreement entered into by the Company and the Managing Agents.

3. No liabilities of life claim accounts were shown this year.

4. Depreciation to furniture Rs. 140-1-9—out of this sum Rs. 60 has been charged to the Company and Rs. 80-1-9 has been charged to Managing Agents' account as per agreement.

5. Life claim.

Rs. 5,000 paid on life claim 1st class last year and Rs. 2,000 for life claim 2nd class was recovered and adjusted in claim accounts.

Yours faithfully,

B. MUKHERJEE AND COMPANY.

We have examined the above Balance Sheet as also the Balance Sheet of the Life Assurance Fund with the books and vouchers relating thereto and have found them in accordance therewith and drawn up in conformity with the requirements of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act of 1912.

We consider that the probable loss in respect of Loan "2" will exceed the amount of Reserve (Liability item No. 3) at present carried in account; as regards deposits with Banks in Liquidation, we have yet no data upon which to form the opinion of their value. It appears that the total sum of assets set forth is not in excess of the value of such assets in the aggregate.

Our views hereon are fully set forth in our report of even date to the members, subject to which report the Balance Sheets in our opinion exhibit as regards matters of account a true and correct view of the state of the Company's affairs as at the 31st December 1913.

Lahore, 11th March 1914.

BHARAT INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

Statement under the Indian Life Assurance Companies Rules, 1913, made by Mr. Thomas G. Ackland, F.I.A., F.F.A., the Consulting Actuary employed by the Company to make the valuation as at 31st December 1913.

(1) I am a Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries, and an Honorary Fellow of the Faculty of Actuaries in Scotland.

* * * * * * *

(4) The particulars for investigation and valuation have been supplied to me on cards prepared under my instructions by the Company, who accept responsibility for the accuracy of the data. I have satisfied myself of their substantial accuracy.

(5) (a) The calculations made in connection with my investigation and valuation have been carefully verified, and are correct, and made on the principle set forth in the Statement furnished under the Fourth Schedule of the Act.

(b) These principles have my approval, and have been adopted by the Directors upon my recommendation.

(c) I have obtained all the information and explanations required in connection with my investigation and valuation.

(d) The premium payments were assumed as distributed over the calendar year, and allowance was made for premiums payable more frequently than yearly, instalments of which unpaid at death were recoverable, by suitable adjustments in the net premiums, and in the value of the office and net yearly premiums.

(e) It has been assumed that the office age at entry was attained, on the average, on the 31st December of the calendar year of entry, and the valuation ages were arrived at by adding to the office age at entry the number of policy years of duration actually completed.

(f) With the exception of the whole life assurances on female lives at monthly premiums, the O[m] table of mortality was employed throughout. For the class excepted as above, comprising total sums assured of Rs. 62,610 and a total net liability of Rs. 9,069, the special mortality table stated in the reply to Q. (3) of the Fourth Schedule was employed.

(g) The reserve being in no case less than that deduced on a net premium basis, no negative values can arise.

(h) The following are specimen policy values, based on the O[m] Mortality Table at 4 per cent interest, with 6 years' addition to the entry and valuation ages, in respect of whole life assurances, and whole life assurances with premiums limited to 20 years, at the entry ages and after the durations indicated :—

Consulting Actuary.

BHARAT INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

FOURTH SCHEDULE.

Statement respecting the Valuation of the Liabilities under Life Policies and Annuities made and signed by the Consulting Actuary.

(1) The date up to which the Valuation is made is the 31st December 1913.

(2) Policies for the whole term of life have been valued in groups, at each age attained at the Valuation date. Endowment Assurances and Pure Endowments have been valued in classes, according to the unexpired term of the Assurances, the average Valuation ages for Endowment Assurances having been found by Lidstone's method. Double Endowment Assurances, Half-Endowments, and Endowment Assurances combined with Whole Life Assurances have been valued according to present age and unexpired term.

The net premiums have been calculated on the bases as to mortality and interest set forth in reply to Questions (3) and (4), with the exception that in the class of Whole Life policies by monthly premiums (Rupee policies, male and female) 33⅓ per cent has been deducted from the office premiums, and, in the class of Pure Endowments, 7½ per cent has been deducted, to obtain the net premiums employed in the Valuation. No negative values arose under any class. Policies effected on under-average lives, rated up by an addition to the age, have been treated for all purposes in the Valuation as though the rated-up age were the true age. Cases where an extra premium for occupation or other causes has been charged have been valued in accordance with the true entry ages, and an additional reserve equal to one half year's extra premium has been made. These principles have been adopted by the Directors on the advice of the Consulting Actuary.

(3) The Table of Mortality used has been the British offices O[m] table, with an addition of six years throughout, with the following exceptions :—

" Rupee Policies " for whole Life Assurances on male lives have been Valued by the O[m] Table, with an addition of 12 years to the age.

"Rupee Policies", for whole Life Assurances upon female lives, have been valued on the basis of the mortality experience of Indian Females (1901-1911) as set out in the Journal of the Institute of Actuaries, Volume XLVII, pages 379-80. Pure Endowments were valued by discounting the sum assured at 4 per cent compound interest, and deducting 92½ per cent of the value of Office Premiums. Annuities were valued by the O[a] Table without addition to the age.

(4) The rate of interest assumed has been 4 per cent throughout.

(5) As the net premium method of valuation was adopted throughout, the whole loading was reserved as a provision for future expenses and profits. The percentage so reserved, in respect of assurances with immediate participation in profits, was 29·8 per cent, and, for Assurances without participation in profits, 23·3 per cent, or, over the whole business, 26·5 per cent.

(6) The consolidated Revenue Account for the period ending 31st December, 1913, is appended hereto.

(7) The valuation summary, showing the particulars for valuation and the results of the Valuation, also the Valuation Balance sheet, showing the net liability and assets of the Company, with the amount of surplus or deficiency, are appended hereto.

(8) The participating policy-holders are entitled to 90 per cent of the profits made in the participating Branch of the business. The profits have been applied in the form of a simple reversionary bonus, at the rate of 1 per cent upon the sum assured for each complete year's premium paid or payable, calculated up to the Valuation date. In respect of Assurances under which less than 5 years' premiums had then been paid, the bonus is provisionally allotted and vests after payment of 5 years' premiums. These principles have been determined by the Board of Directors.

(9) (1). The total amount of surplus, as shown by the valuation Balance-sheet, is Rs. 95,800, which has been allocated as follows :—

		Rs.
(a) Among policy-holders with immediate participation. (These were 2,536 in number, with sums assured amounting to Rs. 33,60,944)	...	57,600
(b) There were no policy-holders with deferred participation in profits	...	...
(c) Among the shareholders	...	6,400
(d) By way of increase in the Investment Reserve Fund	...	28,750
(e) Carried forward unappropriated	...	3,050
Total	...	95,800

(9) (2) The reversionary bonus allotted to a policy of Rs. 1,000, after 5 years' duration, was, a and in all classes of assurance, Rs. 50. No participating policy had attained 10 years duration at the Answer to Question 11.

After a policy has been in force for three years, it may be surrendered. The guaranteed surrender value for participating policies will be 45 per cent and in the case of non-participating policies 40 per cent of all the premiums paid, excluding the first year's premium, if applied for during the currency of the policy.

In the case of Pure Endowment policies, the surrender value will be 50 per cent for a policy which has been in force for two years or less, and 75 per cent for over two years.

The following are instances of the application of this method :—

All the policies which were considered payable for whole life have been converted into limited payments by the revised rules of the Association which came in force since 1st June 1913.

The Association has no re-assurance business. The largest sum assured on any one life is Rs. 1,000 only.

The total number of policies in force on the Books of the Association is 469, including 43 policies transferred from the lower to the higher classes, assuring in the aggregate Rs. 3,98,500.

The Fund is essentially a Death Benefit Fund, the object of which is to provide for the families of deceased Parsee employes of the Railway System, also for defraying funeral expenses

There are 3 classes to which members under the age of 35 are admitted; and a monthly subscription of Rs. 3, 2-4 and 1-8, respectively entitles a 1st class member's family to a benefit of Rs. 1,000, 2nd class Rs. 750 and 3rd class Rs. 500 on his death.

GENERAL ASSURANCE SOCIETY, LIMITED.

FOURTH SCHEDULE.

1.—31st March, 1913.

2.—The method followed was to value the sums assured as a liability, and the office premiums, less an allowance for future expenses, as an asset. The allowance for future expenses was a varying percentage of the premiums according to the class of assurance, and over the whole business the effect is to make a deduction of about 12½% of the present value of the office premiums payable. The individual percentages were as follows:—

With profits.	Whole Life Assurances	...	25
With profits.	Whole Life Assurances by Limited Preminms		15
With Profits.	Endowment Assurance	...	11
Without Profits.	Whole Life Assurances (Industrial)	...	33⅓
Without Profits.	Endowment Assurances (Industrial)	...	15
Without Profits.	Double Endowments	...	10
Without Profits.	Other Endowments	...	5

The valuation age was obtained as follows:—

The premiums being charged for age next birthday in every case it was assumed that the exact age next birthday was attained at the end of the office year of entry, and the valuation age was, therefore, obtained by adding the curtate duration to the age for which the premium was charged. Thus policies granted at an extra premium on account of the lives being under-average have been treated as entering at the enhanced age corresponding to the premium charged.

The Whole Life Assurances were valued in groups according to the valuation age attained, and the Endowment Assurances were grouped according to the office year of maturity, and valued by means of the average age for each group obtained according to the well-known Lidstone's "Z" method.

Pure Endowments were similarly grouped and were valued on an interest basis, mortality being ignored. (These policies are subject to refund of the premiums paid in event of death before maturity, and the reserve created exceeds the total premiums received).

These principles were determined by the Actuary.

3.—The Assurances were valued by the $O.^{M}(5)$ table of the British Offices' Experience, with an addition of 5 years to the age obtained by the method described above.

4.—The rate of interest assumed was 3½%.

5.—The actual proportions of the annual premiums reserved as a provision for future expenses and profits are given in answer to question 2. The total value of these proportions is 12·8% of that of the office premiums in respect of the assurances with deferred participation in profits, and 11·2% in respect of the non-profit policies.

6 & 7.—See separate statements.

8 & 9.—The premiums charged are very low and the profits, in accordance with the prospectus, are to be distributed as a deferred bonus to those policy-holders who survive the period at the end of which their premiums, accumulated at 4% compound interest, amount to the sums assured.

No profit is disclosed by the valuation, and there is consequently no bonus to be declared.

The Directors have in accordance with Clause 52 of the Articles of Association declared, and paid to the share-holders, dividends amounting to Rs. 5,491-1-7.

There are no annuities payable.

FIFTH SCHEDULE—(11).

No surrender value is at present allowed in respect of "Whole of Life" policies, or for Endowment Assurances (Industrial).

For ordinary Endowment Assurances, and for Double Endowments, a surrender value is allowed, after three full years' premiums have been paid, at the rate of 40 % of the actual premiums paid.

For Endowments, with return of premium in event of death, a surrender value equal to 75 % of the premiums actually paid is allowed after two years' premiums have been received.

For Children's Endowments with premiums dependent on the parents' life, a surrender value of 40 % of the premiums paid is allowed, provided three full years' premiums have been paid.

Extracts from Mr. Lutt's report to the Directors.

In compliance with the "Life Assurance Companies" Rules 1913, I have further to report —

That I have obtained all the information and explanations that I required.

That the adjustment adopted in the Valuation to allow for unequal incidence of premium income was obtained by the assumption that premiums falling due in the first six months of the Society's financial year were payable at the commencement and the remainder at the end of the year, and that the corresponding annual premium only was valued in all cases where premiums were payable more frequently than once a year. (In all participating policies the balance of the full yearly premium remaining unpaid when a claim occurs is deducted upon settlement.)

GENERAL ASSURANCE SOCIETY, LIMITED.

That the financial condition of the Society does not warrant the payment of any bonus or dividend ; and that the life assurance fund is not of itself sufficient at the present time to meet its liabilities ; but that the inclusion of Rs. 50,219 from the shareholders' Capital Account would render the fund, in terms of my previous remarks, sufficient for this purpose.

That I consider it desirable to make some modifications in the rates of premium quoted in the Society's prospectus for future entrants, more particularly in the way of discontinuing the issue of participating Endowment Assurances for the terms of less than fifteen years, and in increasing the premiums for Children's Endowment policies. This will form the subject of supplementary report to the Directors.

I have examined the Books and Accounts of the Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society, Limited, for the year ending 30th April 1914, with the vouchers as kept at the Head Office and the certified returns from the Branch and Agency Offices, and have found them correct.

I have seen the receipt of the Comptroller General for the India Government Securities lodged with him.

I certify that I have obtained all the information and explanations I have required and that in my opinion the above Balance Sheet exhibits a true and correct view of the state of the Society's affairs as at 30th April, 1914, according to the best of my information and the explanations given to me and as shewn by the Books of the Society.

I further certify that the above Balance Sheet is drawn up in conformity with the law.

HINDUSTHAN CO-OPERATIVE INSURANCE SOCIETY, LIMITED.

Statement under the Indian Life Assurance Companies Rules, 1913, made by Mr. T. E. Young, the Consulting Actuary employed by the Directors of the Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society, Limited, to make the first quinquennial valuation of the Society as at the 30th April 1912.

Section 3.—I am a Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries, London.

Section 4.—The particulars of the policies for valuation were supplied to me on cards, which I myself prepared (with full instructions), and I hold a letter under the Signatures of two of the principal Officers of the Society, stating that the entries on these cards have been checked and re-checked, and that, to the best of their knowledge and belief, they are accurate. Some few discrepancies, as was to be expected in so large a number of entries, were found to exist, and these were referred back for correction : other obvious discrepancies were rectified by me as the work progressed, and these being generally an error in the date of birth or entry were at once rectified by a reference to the tabular premiums entered upon the cards. I have carefully scrutinised the valuation schedules in connexion with the ages at entry, the sums assured and the office premiums extracted from cards and, after all discrepancies were rectified as above-mentioned, I was satisfied that the particulars furnished were reasonably correct. Moreover, I found the various particulars upon the cards were consistent so far as I could trace.

Section 5 (a)—All the calculations have been made by my skilled assistants and have been thoroughly checked, and are based upon the principles mentioned in the statement furnished under the Second Heading of the Fourth Schedule of the Act.

(b) The principles on which the valuations have been based were devised by me.

(c) I have obtained full and adequate information from the Society on all the many questions I have had to submit, and in every case I have been furnished with an attested letter signed by two of the principal Officers of the Society to the effect that the answers given and the special information furnished are correct.

(d) The Society accepts all assurances at the nearer-age at entry, and the nearer-age at entry has also been adopted in the valuation : the valuation-ages are the nearer-ages at the date of the valuation, except in a very few cases where the nearer-age at valuation would bring out a "Zero Value", and here the valuation-age has been assumed to be the nearer-age at entry increased by the number of premiums paid.

(f) The table of mortality employed was the O^m table of the "British Offices' Life Tables", 1893, with an addition of 6 years to each age. This table has been published, and where the valuation has been based upon a 3¾ per cent rate of interest, the monetary functions have been ascertained by interpolating between the 3½ per cent and 4 per cent values published.

(g) Every Negative Value and every Zero Value have been excluded from the valuation, and the method of valuation has secured that every policy upon the Books has a definite positive liability attached to it.

(h) The following are specimens of reserve values under policies for the whole-term of life with premiums payable throughout the duration of life:—

Number of premiums paid.	Effected at age :
	20	30	40
1	2·5	3·9	6·2
2	17·7	24·5	35·4
3	28·0	38·6	55·5
4	38·4	52·9	75·8
5	49·0	67·5	96·4

The premiums under whole-life policies subject to a limited number of payments, and the sums assured and premiums under endowment assurances were valued in groups, according to the fact whether they were effected before or after the 30th of April in the calendar year of entry, and in further accordance with the calendar year of maturity (or cessation of payment of premiums as the case might be), and it is therefore not possible to give specimens of the reserve values of individual policies.

Further reserves have in all cases been made on account of (i) early payment of claims, (ii) suspended mortality, (iii) for loading after the whole of the premiums have been paid up in the case of whole-life policies subject to a limited number of premiums, and endowment assurances effected with premiums payable for a less number of years than the number of years contained in the endowment assurance period, and (iv) as mentioned and explained under heading two of the Fourth Schedule of the Act, a large additional reserve has been made to secure that in no case shall the future net premiums valued exceed 75 per cent of the office premiums, while in those cases where the reverse obtains the values given by the net permiums have been allowed to stand. A reserve has also been introduced for the cost of the valuation.

HINDUSTHAN CO-OPERATIVE INSURANCE SOCIETY, LIMITED.

Sections 6 and 7.—The "Ordinary" section of the business calls for no further comment than that it is solvent in itself with a Surplus, * and with careful future management should yield a sound profit to the policy-holders in the future, although I do not consider that on the present occasion any portion of this surplus should be divided. This Fund therefore stands on a sound financial basis, and in my great concern to preserve it, and my earnest desire not to prejudice its future in the mind of the public I offer the following remarks on the deficiencies in the other two Funds.

The "Provident Endowment and Annuity-Certain" Fund:—It is sufficient to say that this fund is insolvent (but only to a small extent at present) owing to the fact that the balance of the office premiums remaining, after the deduction of the 25 per cent towards the management expenses, falls short of the 5 per cent net premiums required. There will be a further deficiency disclosed at the next valuation, but the Directors could relieve this by crediting each year to this fund the balance required to make the 75 per cent of the office premiums received equal to the true premiums required and accumulate these extra credits at the guaranteed rate of 5 per cent.

The "Combined Investment Assurance System" Fund:—I now deal with this fund:—On a 5 per cent valuation the deficiency amounts to Rs. 7,31,279 : 3/2*, and it is of course covered by the Capital yet uncalled which in the Accounts of 1911-12 is stated to be about Rs. 77,00,000. In order that a fair judgment may be formed upon the subject of the deficiency, I call special attention to the following remarks :—

(i) The deficiency is consequent on the insufficiency at present (compared with the usual endowment assurance premiums of the dividends upon the successive Calls of Capital involved in the scheme—the scheme is described under heading one of the Fifth Schedule of the Act—these are naturally very small at first owing to the mode of making the calls, and can only increase as the required Calls are paid-up and as earned augmented dividends can be applied as premiums to increase the fund There are also to be noted the future dividends to be required beyond the term of 25 years if the policy becomes a claim by death, which it has been impossible to insert in the valuation, as the present value can not be assessed, but which nevertheless exists as an additional reserve.

(ii) There are two obvious modes of restoring the deficiency :— (a) The calling up of sufficient Capital to meet the deficiency. The difficulty of this course lies in the fact that such called up capital would so materially increase the total Capital paid-up that it might be practically impossible to provide the assumed earned divided of 7 per cent in the valuation, for such additional Capital would be producing no profit, by investment, to the Shareholders' Profit Fund, but on the contrary, on being transferred to the Assurance Fund would itself require to be accumulated at the guaranteed rate of 5 per cent intetest. Even the saving on reduced expenses (which I have earnestly insisted upon in my report to the Directors) would probably at all events for a considerable period, fail to aid the profits sufficiently to maintain the necessary 7 per cent dividend as premium.

(b) But another mode is feasible, which I have recommended to the Directors. This fund being now closed none of the special expenses incidental to new business are entailed, and the cost is limited to that demanded for the conduct of a business already acquired and diminishing annually ; hence I have suggested that the charge of the Shareholders upon the fund as compensation for sustaining the whole of the expenses should be restricted to 10 per cent, instead of to 25 per cent. I admit that this reduction again hampers the dividend fund in the mode I have mentioned, but this must be counteracted by larger savings on expenditure.

Hence summarising :—

		Rs.
Deficiency in the Provident Fund	...	4,600
Deficiency in the Combined Investment Fund	...	7,31,279*
Total Deficiency	...	7,35,879*
There is a balance of realisable assets over the three accumulated funds as they stood at my valuation of	...	1,17,625

If the reasonable course be adopted of reducing the rate of payment to the share-holders from 25 per cent to 10 per cent on the Combined Investment System (from the 30th April 1912), then—

The Deficiency is	...	3,94,895*
Add Provident Fund Deficiency	...	4,600

Hence Capital to be called up	...	2,81,870*

* See Appendix to Fourth Schedule.

HINDUSTHAN CO-OPERATIVE INSURANCE SOCIETY, LIMITED.

(c) I have also indicated to the Directors in a supplemental Report another alternative, which consists in a direct modification of the sums assured in the Combined System, according in equity, to the ages at entry and the terms of the policies. While furnishing the Directors with calculations in connection with such modification, I have refrained from expressing any personal judgment upon the practical feasibility of action in this direction. This is a matter which rests exclusively upon the discretion and judgment of the Directors themselves, and their legal advisers. Should they consider the course to be practicable, the deficiency, I should say, approximately, would disappear as the result.

(3) It is also to be remarked that during the first 10 years of the duration of the policies, Calls, paid under the scheme, will be credited to capital Account in aid of the free Capital and should be taken into consideration in connexion with the amount of Capital to be called up.

(4) The dividends declared in the past have been successively 7 per cent, 9 per cent, 10 per cent and 10 per cent. I cannot predict the future scale of dividend, but, as a practical valuation must be made, I have assumed a uniform dividend, as premium, of 7 per cent per annum, of which 75 per cent has been utilised as premiums. And I have pointed out in my Report that the fulfilment of this assumption is absolutely dependent upon a serious and immediate diminution of expenses.

(5) The essence of the position is the very heavy rate of expenditure. My Report treats most urgently and emphatically upon this point, and the absolute necessity of instant, severe and continuous reduction of expenditure as the indispensable condition of stability and prosperity generally, and the preservation of the excellent Ordinary Branch.

T. E. YOUNG, F. I. A.,

HINDUSTHAN CO-OPERATIVE INSURANCE SOCIETY, LIMITED.

THE FOURTH SCHEDULE.

Statement respecting the Valuation of the Liabilities under the Life Policies and Annuities of the Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society, Limited, to be made and signed by the Actuary.

I

The valuation is made up to the 30th April 1912.

NOTE.—Owing to the special nature and features of the business I have been compelled, with a view to ascertaining the real effect in each of the departments, to make three separate valuations and thus to present three separate Summaries and Valuation Balance Sheets, which disclose the whole of the processes and results.

The general principles adopted in the valuation, the method followed in the valuation of particular classes of assurances and the method by which the net premiums have been arrived at, were determined by me.

Article Number 117 of the Society's Articles of Association constitutes a guide to the valuation, and is as follows :—

"The Premium Reserve Fund" (that is what is commonly known as the Life Assurance Fund) "shall be maintained in order to secure the due fulfilment of the Society's obligations to its policy-holders and shall not be drawn upon for any purpose other than the payment thereout, firstly, of duly substantiated claims under policies and, secondly, of profit additions thereto. Provided that 75 per cent of the premium income of the Society (the balance thereof remaining after being drawn upon as above improved at 5 per cent interest) shall either be placed in the Premium Reserve Fund or applied for the benefit of the policy holding interest only."

NOTE.—The above bracket should obviously end after the words :—
. . . . "drawn upon as above"
T. E. Y.

The ORDINARY ASSURANCE Section of the business consists of the usual class of assurance business involving the contigency of life, as is carried on in all ordinary Life Assurance Companies. The PROVIDENT ENDOWMENT and ANNUITY-CERTAIN section of the business consist of what are ordinarily known as "Sinking Fund' policies and of one Annuity Certain. The COMBINED INVESTMENT ASSURANCE system section of the business is fully described under Heading number one of the Fifth Schedule of the Act, as drawn by me.

The principles are here given as they affect the three classes of the business.

THE ORDINARY ASSURANCE BUSINESS.

Contracts in the first year of Assurance :—Here a reserve has been made in every case, irrespective of the class of the assurance, to provide for the unexpired risk of death during the balance remaining, at the date of valuation, of the period covered by the premium last paid prior to the date of the valuation. In cases where the premiums are payable yearly this reserve consists of one half of the single premium for a term assurance for a period of one year, reckoned upon the appropriate sum assured and valuation age ; in half-yearly cases the reserve is one quarter of such single premium ; and in quarterly and monthly payments of premium the reserves are one-eighth and one-twenty-fourth respectively of such single premium. The reserves thus set up are consistent with the general basis of the valuation as explained in the next paragraph.

Contracts in the second and Subsequent years of Assurance :—In all cases it has been assumed that the first year's premium has been entirely absorbed in the payment of initial expenses, and the payment of current claims by death appertaining to such policies in the first year of assurance, and hence the premium that will be required to provide for the future risk of death will be the premium appertaining to the original age at entry increased by the addition of one year ; and in the case of Endowment Assurances, and Whole life Assurances under a limited number of premiums, besides the addition of the one year to the age at entry there will require to be a deduction of one year from the original number of years during which premiums are stipulated to be paid. It was at once perceived that these hypothetical premiums would put too great a strain on the future premium resources of the Society as regards short-term Endowment Assurances. and Whole-life Assurances under premiums payable during a short period, and the valuation has been very considerably strengthened by the inclusion of a large additional reserve to secure that in no case shall the hypothetical premium valued exceed 75 per cent of the office premium, while in all cases where the reverse obtains the hypothetical premiums alone have been brought into the valuation. The method adopted has entirely excluded Negative values ; the valuation-schedules have also been carefully scrutinised to discover any Zero-values, and by amending the valuation-ages all Zero-values have been accorded a Positive value. This amendment of the valuation-ages was effected by adding the number of premiums paid to the age at entry. Thus, a positive liability has been assigned to every policy, and the reserve has in no case been less than the surrender value. The liability of the Society was ascertained by deducting from the present value of the sums assured, the present value of the future premiums, ascertained as above, and, besides the additional reserve above-mentioned, further additional reserves have been made to provide for (i) the early payment of claims, (ii) suspended mortality, (iii) absence of loading under whole-life limited-premium policies, and under endowment assurances subject to premiums payable for a less number of years than the number of years comprised in the endowment assurance period in order to meet the expenses when premiums are no longer payable. I am satisfied from certified details furnished by the Society, on schedules drawn by me, and from the very great preponderance of policies effected at half yearly, quarterly and monthly premiums, that the premium income may accurately be considered as distributed uniformly over the year, and hence under the whole-life assurances with premiums payable throughout the whole duration of life the usual addition of ·5 to the annuity function has been adopted. Special modifications, as hereafter explained, had to be made in connexion with Endowment Assurances and policies effected with a limited number of premiums. The sums assured and premiums under Whole-life policies with premiums payable throughout life, and the sums assured under Whole-life policies subject to a limited number of premiums were classified according to nearer ages at the date of valuation.

HINDUSTHAN CO-OPERATIVE INSURANCE SOCIETY, LIMITED.

The sums assured and premiums under Endowment Assurances, and the premiums under whole-life policies subject to a limited number of payments were grouped in accordance with the calendar year of maturity (or cessation of premiums as the case might be) and each such group was then sub-divided according as the policies were effected prior or subsequent to the 30th April in the calendar year of assurance-entry. Thus in the case of a policy effected in the calendar year, 1909, with a number of premiums limited to 20 payments, the last premium would become payable in the calendar year 1928 (similar remarks equally apply to Endowment Assurances) but the number of future premiums remaining to be made from the 30th April 1912, would be 16 or 17 according as the policy was originally effected prior or subsequent to the 30th April 1909.

The premiums of policies effected prior to the 30th April were valued by the annuity $\frac{1}{6} + a_{\overline{x : n-\frac{1}{6}}|}$ and those of policies effected subsequent to the 30th April were valued by the annuity $\frac{2}{3} + a_{\overline{x : n-\frac{2}{3}}|}$ both annuity-values assuming a uniform distribution of the premium income, and n the number of future yearly premiums payable.

In each sub-divided group the average valuation-age was found by a Modification of Lidstone's "Z" method. Under policies effected prior to the 30th April the valuation-age is :—

M—(number of premiums remaining to be paid + $\dot{8}3$) ;

While under policies effected subsequent to 30th April the valuation-age is :—

M—(number of premiums remaining to be paid + $\dot{3}$).

The appropriate assurance-functions in each group were found from the annuity-functions above-mentioned.

Endowment assurances subject to premiums payable for a less number of years than the number of years comprised in the endowment assurance period were dealt with in a similar manner, first as regards the calendar year of maturity, and then as regards the calendar year in which the premiums would cease to be paid.

The extra rating on policies on under-average lives has in all cases been met by the Society, when accepting the risk, by an addition of years to the age, and these rated-up ages have been treated as the true ages in the valuation. There are no cases of constant extra premiums assessed on the sum assured.

In the case of policies with premiums payable more than once a year, the following courses have been adopted :—

Whole life policies with premiums payable throughout life :—Here the policies have been valued in exactly the same way as though they had all been cases with yearly premiums, and an addition has then been made to the present value of the premiums so found, of the balance of the net premiums (or office premiums as the case might be) outstanding for the current year of assurance.

In the case of endowment assurances and whole-life policies subject to a limited number of premiums where there may be n, $n + \frac{1}{4}$, $n + \frac{1}{2}$, $n + \frac{3}{4}$, &c., premiums remaining to be paid, the yearly net premiums have been valued by the annuity for n payments and the result thus obtained has been increased by the addition of the actual amount of the unpaid portion of the full net premium (or office premium as the case might be) for the current year of assurance.

As the office premiums are true instalment-premiums (that is, subject to the condition that, in the event of the death of the life assured before the payment of the full number of instalments applicable to the current year of assurance, the unpaid instalments shall be deducted from the sum assured at settlement of the claim) the process adopted, as defined above, is essentially correct.

THE COMBINED INVESTMENT ASSURANCE BUSINESS.

This section of the business was closed to new entrants in June, 1911.

A full description of the nature of these contracts is given under Heading number one of the Fifth Schedule of the Act. The sums assured, and the extra premiums, where payable, were valued in exactly the same way as the Endowment Assurances under the Ordinary Assurance Business, as described above. The present value of the future dividends receivable (which take the place of the ordinary endowment assurance premiums) was ascertained as follows :—

A nominal share of Rs. 1,000, with Rs. 500 to be finally paid up in connexion with the scheme, was taken as the basis of the calculations ; then, at the moment of effecting the policy the present value of a future dividend of 1 per cent connected with a share of the nominal value of Rs. 1,000, with Rs. 500 to be finally paid up by 10 yearly instalments, payable in advance, of Rs. 50 each, would be :—

$$(v \times \cdot 5) + (v^2 \times 1\cdot 0) + (v^3 \times 1\cdot 5) + (v^4 + 2\cdot 0) + (v^5 \times 2\cdot 5) + \ldots\ldots\ldots\ldots\ldots + (v^9 \times 4\cdot 5) + (v^{10} + v^{11} + v^{12} + v^{13} + \ldots\ldots + v^{25}) \times 5\cdot 0.$$

Where 24 future dividends only are outstanding, the above series would commence with $(v \times 1\cdot 0) + (v^2 \times 1\cdot 5$ $+ \ldots$ and the final term would be $(v^{24} \times 5\cdot 0)$ and so on for 23, 22, 21, &c., future dividends outstanding. A table of these present values was prepared and, for policies of the face value of Rs. 1,000, these values were directly entered, while, for other amounts assured, the correct proportional parts of these functions were inserted. The total in each group was then modified, in accordance with the principles above-mentioned, to give effect to the average time that would elapse before the next dividend would on the average fall due.

The valuation takes account of 75 per cent only of the extra premiums where payable, and 75 per cent of an assumed dividend of 7 per cent, and the deficiency thus brought out must therefore only be regarded in the light of this assumed dividend. The past dividends declared by the Society have been as follows:—7 per cent, 9 per cent, 10 per cent, 10 per cent, and 10 per cent.

It is also to be remarked that I have not included in the valuation the present value of the dividends beyond the 25 years which are exactable under the scheme.

Extra reserves have been made for early payment of claims in the case of death within the endowment assurance period, and for suspended mortality.

THE PROVIDENT ENDOWMENT AND ANNUITY-CERTAIN BUSINESS.

This section of the business consists exclusively of what are commonly known as "Sinking-Fund" insurances, and of one Annuity-Certain.

The reserves have been formed by accumulating the net premiums at interest from the average dates or payment; in the case of contracts "Paid-up" and under single premiums the present values of the sums insured have been taken as the reserves, while in the case of the Annuity-certain an ordinary annuity-certain, loaded for monthly payments, has been used in the valuation. Having regard to the 25 per cent of the premiums contributed to the expenses, I have recommended the Directors to cease doing any futher business at the present rates of premiums.

The table of mortality used in the valuation was the O^m table of the British Offices' Life Tables, 1893, with an addition of 6 years to each age. This table was decided upon after I had made a careful examination into the mortality experience of the Society. A further reserve has been made for suspended mortality—the lives being "Select" on the whole.

4.

The rates of interest assumed in the calculations were as follows:—

In the Ordinary Assurance Business—3½ per cent;

In the Combined Investment Assurance Business, and in the Provident Endowment and Annuity-Certain Business—5 per cent (estimated from an exact 4 per cent valuation).

These rates of interest were adopted for the following reasons:—

Ordinary Assurance Business:—The net rate of accumulation guaranteed by Article 117 of the Constitution is 5 per cent. and adopting a reasonable margin arrived at the rate I assumed.

Combined Investment Assurance Business:—The valuation had originally been based by me upon 4 per cent and exact results at that rate has been obtained. Reflection satisfied me that looking (i) to the fact that the Series was finally closed, and (ii) that all the contracts (endowment assurances) were definitely terminable within a comparatively short period of years, this course was not just or appropriate. Hence to the exact results of the 4 per cent valuation, I added an adjustment (after calculation) to produce a 5 per cent valuation.

Provident Endowment and Annuity-Certain Business:—Here it appeared reasonable to adopt the full 5 per cent as the whole of the business is a terminating one, and I have further recommended the Directors to close it to new entrants on the existing rates of premiums. The valuation had originally been made by me at 4 per cent but I added an adjustment (duly calculated) in order to produce a 5 per cent valuation.

The proportion of annual premiums, reserved as a provision for future expenses and profits in the case of policies effected under the Ordinary Assurance section of the business, is for Ordinary whole-life policies the difference between the office yearly premiums, and the net yearly premiums appertaining to ages at entry one year older than the ages on which such office premiums are based; in cases where premiums are payable for a definite number of years the reserve is the difference between the office premiums appertaining to the true ages at entry and to the true period during which it is contracted that premiums should continue to be paid, and the net premium appertaining to an age one year older and a duration of premium payments one year less.

Besides the usual extra reserve made to meet the expenses when premiums shall cease to be paid under Whole-life Assurance with a limited number of premiums, and Endowment Assurances with premiums payable for a less number of years than the number of years comprised in the endowment assurance period, a very large additional reserve has been made to secure that in all cases the net premiums valued shall in no case exceed 75 per cent of the office yearly premiums, while, whenever, the reverse has obtained, the net yearly premiums as described above have been allowed to stand.

In the valuation of the extra premiums and the assumed rate of future dividend a margin of 25 per cent has been left unvalued, to provide for the future expenses of the Combined Investment Assurance Business. In this connexion I refer to my remarks in the last paragraph but two of the Combined Investment System section under heading two of this Schedule. In connexion with the tentative rate of future dividend of 7 per cent which I have adopted in order to present a practical Valuation Balance Sheet, it must be understood that I do not pretend to make any prediction whatever of the future rate of dividend, the 7 per cent tentatively assumed being a rate within that which had been declared during the last three years of the quinquennium.

As regards the Provident and Annuity-certain section of the business, I refer to my remarks under that section in my answer under Heading two of this Schedule.

The above account is made out in exact accordance with the certified copies of the duly audited Revenue Accounts for each year as submitted to me, but it will be observed that in the Valuation Balance Sheets, I have included as an adjustment certain amounts of further Interest Revenue to conform with my interpretation of Article 117 which reads as follows :—" The Premium Reserve Fund shall be maintained in order to secure the due fulfilment of the Society's obligations to its policy-holders and shall not be drawn upon for any purpose other than the payment thereout, firstly, of duly substantiated claims under policies and, secondly, of profit additions thereto. Provided that 75 per cent of the premium Income of the Society (the balance thereof remaining after being drawn upon as above improved at 5 per cent compound Interest) shall either be placed in the Premium Reserve Fund or applied for the benefit of the Policy-holding interest only " A minute of the Board of Directors dated the 4th February 1914 states :—" The Directorate do not express any opinion as to the depletion of the Premium Reserve Fund by reason of the Auditor computing interest on only the amounts of the Fund as at the beginning of each year, but hereby authorise the Actuary, Mr. T. E Young, to replace in the Ordinary Life Fund any amount of Interest which may thereby or otherwise be found by him to be short of the amount required by the 5 per cent guarantee given by the Articles as understood by him, the amount thus replaced being balanced against the requisite amount of further Capital Outlay. " On a careful perusal of Article 117, I have no hesitation in adopting the interpretation I have above expressed.

†This should rightly be included among the surrenders.

These amounts are the true office yearly premiums; the Society only credits the Life Assurance Fund with the yearly premiums, appropriating the loading for half yearly, quarterly and monthly payments of premiums to the Item "Interest" in the Share-holders' Revenue Account. The premiums are true Instalment Premiums, that is, any balance of the current year's premiums outstanding at the time of death is deducted from the sum Assured and the balance only paid over to the Representatives.

8 and 9.

I do not advise the distribution of any portion of the Surplus in the Ordinary Branch, and have recommended that the entire amount should be carried forward unappropriated.

In coming to this decision I am influenced by the following facts and considerations :—

(i) That the Society is a young one, and I should like to see its valuation basis (in respect of the allowance for initial expenses) somewhat more strengthened before any distribution is entertained ;

(ii) I consider that the effect of the heavy lapse-rate, which the Society has experienced, on the future rate of mortality should be precisely observed, not only before any distribution should take place, but also before any Scheme of Distribution is formulated and recommended to the Directors for adoption ; and

(iii) The 5 per cent interest guaranteed on this amount (beyond the 3½ per cent assumed) so carried forward unappropriated will have an appreciable effect by the time the next valuation takes place and will thus considerably strengthen the position, and help towards the reduction of the valuation to a normal basis.

T. E. YOUNG, F. I. A.,
Actuary.

APPENDIX I TO THE FOURTH SCHEDULE.

Since my valuations and Returns were prepared, I have received a letter dated the 26th February, 1914 from the Head-office, informing me that certain "intimated" Claims have not been included in the Audited Accounts.

So far as I can ascertain the omitted items amount to :—(i) in respect of the Ordinary Branch—Rs. 69,969, and (ii) in respect of the Combined Investment System Branch—Rs. 75,500.

Thus (even if all the Intimated Claims should be admitted by the Directors) a Surplus still remains in the Ordinary Branch ; while the Deficiency in the Combined Investment System Branch is increased by the portion of intimated claims which may be admitted.

T. E. YOUNG, F. I. A.,
Actuary.

APPENDIX II TO THE FOURTH SCHEDULE.

I.—PENDING INTIMATED CLAIMS.

By reason of a misunderstanding the amounts of the claims intimated but not admitted were not included in the Audited Balance Sheet furnished to Mr. T. E. Young for the valuation. On the requisition of the Actuary to the Government of India a statement on the point was subsequently prepared and submitted but reached Mr. Young too late to be included in the Valuation Balance Sheet ; moreover, owing to the same not being couched in proper technical terms, Mr. Young could not gather the correct figures therefrom, and in his appendix to the Fourth Schedule he stated what he considered to be (but what as a matter of fact were not) the figures supplied from the Head Office of the Society. This led to further correspondence which terminated by Mr. Young advising the Directorate (acting upon the Solicitor's and Auditor's reports) to state the correct figures for the sanction of the Actuary to the Government of India.

The following are the correct audited figures for the Pending Intimated Claims so arrived at :—

Ordinary	... ...	Rs. 60,969
Combined	... ...	„ 49,900

For the purpose of ascertaining the amount to be added to the liability side of the Ordinary and Combined Valuation Balance sheets respectively on account of the above :—

(i) a deduction of Rs. 1,000 should be made from the figure for Ordinary Claims and an addition of the same amount made to the figure for the Combined Claims, by reason of one Combined Claim for Rs. 1,000 having been erroneously treated as Ordinary in the Audited Balance sheet furnished for the valuation, which error was subsequently detected and corrected in the Audited accounts.

(ii) Rs. 4,500 should be deducted from the figure for the Ordinary Claims by reason of this amount having already been taken into account under the head of "intimated claims admitted" in the Balance sheet for the valuation.

(iii) Rs. 1,600 should be deducted from the figure of the combined claim by reason of this amount having already been taken into account under the head of "Intimated claims admitted" in the Balance Sheet for the valuation.

Thus the correct amount to be respectively taken as added to the Liability side of the Valuation Balance Sheets, as given in the body of the Schedule, are as under :—

Ordinary	... ...	Rs. 55,469
Combined	... ...	„ 49,300

and the figure of the Ordinary surplus must be read as diminished, and that of the Combined deficiency as increased accordingly.

II.—PAID-UP POLICY RESERVE.

The Actuary to the Government of India is of opinion that an additional Reserve for Paid-up Policies (to which the holders of lapsed Policies may be entitled on application) should have been shown as a liability which would further reduce the above surplus but admits that the point is not free from an element of reasonable doubt. The question of this Reserve was not investigated by Mr. T. E. Young, as the materials before him at the time of the Valuation did not include the particulars from which the necessity for such further Reserve might be deduced. As there is no question of dividing any surplus before the next valuation, the Actuary to the Government of India, in order to avoid further delay, has not required this matter to be investigated at this stage. It will therefore be held over till the next valuation which falls to be made as at the 30th April 1917. In the meantime those who are in any way interested in the valuation results should read the Valuation Balance Sheet and specially the Ordinary Branch surplus, as subject to the possibility of such additional Reserve.

1—Concluded.

THE COMBINED INVESTMENT SYSTEM.

THIS SCHEME WAS CLOSED IN JUNE 1911.

Class A Policies.

Any person, aged between 18 and 50, provided he be not suffering from any serious disease, was granted an Ordinary Endowment Assurance free from payment of all ordinary premiums provided he took up shares in the Society of a nominal amount equal to the amount of the policy. The purchase price of such shares was spread over the first 10 years of the contract—the assured paying down cash for shares to the extent of 5% of the sum assured at the time of entering into the contract, and further payments for calls of a like amount were to be made at the beginning of each year thereafter, up to and inclusive of the tenth year. Thus at the end of this period the sum paid up would be equal to half the amount of the policy. These payments, as and when made, are credited to the Capital account. The shares thus purchased are termed " Bond " shares.

The assured covenants on behalf of himself and legal heirs that all dividends on the shares thus purchased shall be paid to the Society during a period of 25 years reckoned from the date of the original grant of the contract. The Society then credits 75% of the actual dividends declared upon such paid-up portions of shares to the Life Assurance Fund as premiums on the Endowment Assurance policy granted. The balance of 25% of these dividends is credited to the share-holders' Account in consideration of their guarantee to defray all the costs of conducting and managing the business, and to accumulate the Funds at 5% interest per annum. It will be seen that the Shares on which dividends are credited to the Life Assurance Fund annually increase in amount during the first ten years and thereafter remain constant for the remainder of the 25 years.

If the assured should die before the whole of the ten share calls have been taken up and paid for, then the Life Assurance Fund pays over the full sum assured,—namely, any amount due for share calls not paid at the time of death to the Capital Account, and the balance of the sum assured to the legal heirs of the Assured. 75% of the dividends on the amount thus fully paid up continues to be paid to the Life Assurance Fund for the remainder of the 25 years above mentioned.

If the Assured should die at any time during the Endowment Assurance period, the sum assured is paid over (with the specific reservation in the particular case just abovementioned where it is paid partly to capital and, partly to the legal heirs), and the Society has the power to increase the period, over and above the 25 years stipulated, during which the dividends shall continue to be paid to the Life Assurance Fund.

If the Assured survive the Endowment period the full sum assured will be paid over, and the lien that the Society held upon the dividends will immediately cease, and future dividends will be paid to the legal heirs.

Class B Policies.

The scheme was also open to under-average lives and to persons aged between 50 and 55, but in these cases shares to the extent of the sum assured (with calls to the like extent of 5% of the sum assured similarly paid for) had to be purchased for 15 years, instead of 10 years.

Class A and B Policies.

The term of the Endowment Assurances was in all cases 25 years, but the assured was allowed to vary the term to 20, 15 or 10 years on payment of " extra " yearly premiums as under :

20 year term	Rs. 7	As. 8	per	Rs. 1,000	assured.
15 " "	" 16	" 14	"	"	"
10 " "	" 27	" 8	"	"	"

Class A Policies were required to pay 10 of the above yearly " extra " premiums, and class B Policies 15. Where class B Policies were varied to 10 years only 10 yearly " extra " premiums alone were required to be paid.

If the assured should die before all these " extra " premiums had been paid, a deduction of Rs. 5 per Bond share per annum would be made in respect of the balance of " extra " premiums remaining to be paid at the time of death. In the case of Class B—10 year Endowment Assurances this deduction is increased to Rs. 6-12-0 per Bond share per annum.

NOTE.—This reply to my enquiry had not reached me when these returns were despatched, and hence the amount has been filled in at the Head Office of the Society.

8 and 9

The Total Amount of Immediate Annuities on lives and the amount of Annuities and Premiums receivable annually for all classes of Annuities other than immediate annuities in existence at 30th April, 1912.

The Society had no annuity contracts on the Books on the 30th April, 1912.

HINDUSTHAN CO-OPERATIVE INSURANCE SOCIETY, LIMITED.

The average rate of interest yielded by the assets constituting the Life Assurance Funds of the Society calculated by Hardy's Formula during each year since 8th May 1907.

Year.	Ordinary.	Combined.	Provident.
8th May 1907 to 30th April 1908	Nil	No Business	Nil
1st " 1908 " " " 1909	2 4 8 %	Nil	1 13 1 %
" 1909 " " " 1910	2 9 7	0 4 4 %	3 8 8
" 1910 " " " 1911	3 6 10	2 3 10	3 15 9
" 1911 " " " 1912	3 14 8	5 0 0	4 4 4

The above rates of interest are obtained from attested copies of the duly audited Revenue Accounts, by Hardy's Formula:

$$\frac{2 I}{A + B - I}$$

By Article 117 of the Society's Articles of Association the Share-holders guarantee the accumulation of 75 % of the premium income remaining after payment of all claims and surrenders at 5 % Interest Net. The auditors have interpreted this as a guarantee of 5 % on the fund at the beginning of the year, and no interest on the increases to the fund during the year.

I am unable to concur with the Auditors' interpretation and I have, by increasing the three Funds by a total of Rs. 16,736-8-3 distributed as in the valuation Balance Sheets, made the rate of interest yield on the Funds 5 % in each year except the years of commencing business, where I have assumed that the effective income would come in during the last 8 months of the year only—the first four months being practically taken up with canvassing and other preparations.

The Share-holders' guarantee is stated to be free of Income Tax.

The Society has no Reversionary investments.

II.

The present practice of the society is to grant minimum Surrender Values on the following scales:—
Whole Life Assurances 30 % of all the premiums paid excluding the first year's premium.
Endowment Assurances 40 % of all the premiums paid excluding the first year's premium.
Provident Endowments:

Number of Premiums paid.	Cash Surrender Value.
From 1 to 5 ...	Total Premiums paid less 5 %
" 6 to 10 ...	Total Premiums paid
" 11 to 15 ...	Total Premiums paid plus 5 %
" 16 to 20 ...	Total Premiums paid plus 10 %

Examples of Surrender Values at present allowed for Policies of Rs. 1,000 for the whole term of Life, and for Endowment Assurances payable at the end of 20 years or at previous death.

I beg to report that I have audited the Balance Sheet of the India Equitable Insurance Company, Limited, dated the 30th June 1914, as above set forth with the books and accounts as kept in Calcutta in which are incorporated the certified returns from the Branch and have obtained all the information and explanations I have required. In my opinion the Balance Sheet is drawn up in conformity with the Law and exhibits a true and correct view of the state of the Company's affairs according to the best of my information and explanations given to me and as shewn by the books of the Company.

I have also seen the receipt of the Comptroller General for the India Government Stock lodged with him and verified other Investments and security papers.

I also certify that in my belief the assets set forth in the Balance Sheet are in the aggregate fully of the value stated therein and that no part of any fund therein has been applied directly or indirectly to any purpose other than the class of business to which it is applicable.

INDIA EQUITABLE INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

FOURTH SCHEDULE.

FOURTH SCHEDULE.

Statement respecting the valuation of the Liabilities under Life Policies of the India Equitable Assurance Co., Ltd., made by the Consulting Actuary.

1. The date up to which the valuation is made is the 30th June, 1913.

2. The valuation has been made upon the following principles :—

(a) Policies for the Whole Term of life subject to uniform premiums throughout life were valued in classes according to the ages attained by the lives assured. Whole Life Policies subject to Limited Premiums or Paid up were valued individually according to age attained.

(b) Endowment Assurance Policies and Popular Life Policies were valued in classes according to the unexpired term of the Assurance and a mean valuation age was calculated for each group by an application of Makeham's Formula for the law of mortality, in such a way that full weight was given to the various present ages of the assured lives in each group and to the magnitude of the respective sums assured.

(c) Combined Whole Life and Endowment Policies, and Double Endowments were valued individually.

(d) Children's Endowments and Cheap Investment Policies were valued on an interest basis simply and the reserve was arrived at by deducting from the discounted value of the sums assured the present value of the future Office Premiums. As regards the Cheap Investment Policies there is a condition that the dividends on the shares, which form part of the benefit, may be deferred at the discretion of the Directors and in view of this condition it has been thought sufficient to take the shares at 75 per cent. of their face value. Probably this course over-states, if any thing, the real liability.

(e) In cases where the anniversary of the Policies fell within six months of the Valuation date, the premium was valued by the Annuity due and in other cases by the simple annuity. Experience shows that this method makes an automatic and very accurate adjustment for the incidence of the premium income.

(f) For policies other than Children's Endowment and Cheap Investment Policies the net premiums were calculated on the basis of the British Offices O^m (5) Table with $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. interest and were the true net premiums for the risk without any allowance whatever for initial expenditure.

(g) In the case of lives assured at increased rates, whether permanent or temporary, the policies were valued as though only the minimum contract premiums were payable with an additional reserve equal to one half year's extra premium.

The principles were determined by the Directors on the advice of the Consulting Actuary.

3. The Table of Mortality used was the British Offices O^m (5) Table, an addition of five years to the age being made in the case of Whole Life Policies only as an allowance for Indian mortality.

4. The rate of interest assumed was three and one half per cent throughout.

5. The loading reserved is the whole of the difference between the office and the net premiums without any allowance for initial expenditure, and represents for policies with immediate profits 27·46 per cent., for Policies with contingent Profits, 19·65 per cent for Policies without profits, 1·61 per cent and for Popular Policies, 17·49 per cent., of the annual premium income. In the case of Limited Premium and paid up Policies, an additional reserve has been made to provide for expenses and profits after the premiums have been made up.

Note—The business is in three sections, namely, (1) that which may be called the Ordinary Business, (2) the Popular Policy Scheme, and (3) the Rupee Policy Marriage Insurance. The Policies in the first two categories have been valued, but no valuation is required of the Rupee Policy Marriage Insurance as that is scarcely more than a Banking Account.

8 and 9. No annuities have been granted by the Company.

10. On account of the recent establishment of the Company, it is scarcely possible to give a full and satisfactory answer to this question, but for the last two years of the valuation period the rate of interest realised on the mean fund was as follows:—

Year ending 30th June.	Average rate of interest per cent. per annum. Rs.	As.

11. After three years and three years' premiums have been paid in the case of policies for the whole of life, whether by uniform annual premiums or by a limited number of annual premiums exceeding twenty, or after two years and two years' premiums paid, when the limited premiums do not exceed twenty, the guaranteed minimum surrender value is 30 per cent., of the premiums paid. In the case of endowment assurances after two years and two years' premiums have been paid, the guaranteed minimum surrender value is 33 per cent. of the premiums paid.

For Children's endowments after two full years' premiums have been paid the surrender value consists of the whole of the premiums paid with 2 per cent. compound interest.

No scale of surrender values other than the above has yet been prepared.

GEORGE KING, F.I.A., F. F. A.

London, 1st September 1914.

INDIA EQUITABLE INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

Statement under the Indian Life Assurance Companies Rules, 1913, made by Mr. George King, the Consulting Actuary, employed by the Directors of the India Equitable Insurance Company, Limited, to make the first valuation of the Company as on 30th June, 1913.

Section 3 of the Rules :—I am a Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries, London, and a Fellow of the Faculty of Actuaries in Scotland.

Section 4 of the Rule :—The Officials of the Company supplied a schedule signed by them as correct, showing all the policies, according to their books, in force on 30th June, 1913, and at my request the Managing Director wrote me a letter stating that the schedules were complete. The particulars in the schedules were then verified as far as possible as to rates, etc., from Prospectuses supplied and after correspondence, all discrepancies were cleared up. I am, therefore, satisfied that the particulars on which my valuation is based, are correct.

Section 5 of the Rules. —Attached to this statement are the replies to the questions asked in the 4th and 5th schedules of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912, and as regards the 4th schedule, I certify :—

(a) that the calculations are correct and were made on the principles explained in the answers to the questions of the Fourth Schedule;

(b) that these principles have my approval;

(c) that I have obtained all the information and explanations which I have asked for.

(d) that the adjustment, used in the Valuation, for unequal incidence of the premium income is set forth in answer to question No. 2 of the Fourth Schedule, and that, as regards premiums payable more often than once a year, seeing that in the Balance sheet the outstanding instalments of premiums represent only those instalments which were actually due and unpaid at the Valuation date, an adjustment was made to the value of the future premiums and the reserves for the instalments of the current year's premiums falling due after the valuation date;

(e) that, as regards ages at entry, it was assumed that the Office age at entry was attained on the 30th June following entry, and for the valuation age there was added to the entry age, so ascertained, the number of policy years actually completed. In the case of policies for the whole of life an addition of 5 years was made to such entry and valuation ages respectively as an allowance for Indian mortality;

(f) that the table used in the valuation is that known as the O^m (5) which has been published.

(g) that the method of valuation secures that there can be no negative values ;

(h) that the following are specimens of the Reserve Values :—

(i) Whole Life Assurances with premiums payable throughout life ;

INDIAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

Fourth Schedule.

STATEMENT RESPECTING THE VALUATION OF THE LIABILITIES UNDER LIFE POLICIES AND ANNUITIES.

1. The valuation of the Indian Life Assurance Company, Limited, is made up to 31st May 1912.

2. The general principles adopted in the above valuation are as follows :—

I. Each life is separately valued. The profits already declared are added to the sum assured. In calculating the present value of future premiums, the present age of the assured is taken at what it will be at the next birth day. In calculating the present value of the amount assured, including profits already declared, the present age is taken at what it was or will be on birth day after last payment of premium.

II. The present value of the sum assured payable at death occurring at any time is ascertained by multiplying the sum assured, with profits added, by the whole life single premium per rupee for age on birth day after the last premium payment.

III. In the case of Endowment policies payable at death or on attaining the specified age, the single premium for temporary life assurance plus single premium for pure endowment per rupee is taken for age on birth day after last payment of premium and multiplied by the sum assured with profits already added. In the case of deferred profits payable on attaining the specified age only, the sum assured payable at death or on attaining the specified age is multiplied by single premium per rupee for temporary life assurance, plus single premium for pure endowment; and to provide the deferred profit the total amount of deferred profit payable at the specified age is multiplied by pure endowment single premium per rupee payable at the specified age.

IV. Under Article 114 of the Company's Articles of Association, ten per cent. of the gross premium is deducted for expenses, profit, etc., and 90 per cent. thus becomes the net premium. In the case of under-average lives all calculations are made by antedating the assured's birth by the number of years added to his actual age on the medical adviser's recommendation at the time of admission.

3. H . Mortality Tables have been adopted throughout in making the valuation.

4. The rate of Interest assumed throughout in the calculation of the above valuation is 3%.

5. Under No. 114 of the Company's Articles of Association, 10% of the gross premium is transferred absolutely to meet expenses and Shareholders' profits. In making the present valuation, however, 17½% has been deducted from the gross premium, so as to strengthen the reserves. The reserves are further strengthened by valuing the Company's special graduated polices under Tables Nos. 9, 14 and 15 as if the full face value and profit added had to be paid on death occurring at any time.

6. Consolidated Revenue Account is attached herewith marked 6 A (4).

7. The Liabilities of the Company under Life policies are detailed in the summary of the valuation form of the fourth schedule attached hereto marked 7 A (4). A statement showing the net liabilities and assets is also attached, marked 7 B (4).

8. The principles upon which the distribution of the profit is made are determined by para. 115 of the Company's Articles of Association in accordance with which 95% of the profit is applied in making bonus additions to the existing policies with profits and 5% is placed to the credit of the Shareholders. Bonus is allotted at the end of each quinquennium, when the periodical valuation is made, with reference to the number of annual premiums paid, without any condition as to minimum number of payments required. Bonus vests only on declaration of such bonus after valuation, but retrospective effect is given in cases of death occurring between the last day of the quinquennium and the date of such declaration.

9. (1) The total amount of profit disclosed by the valuation of the Company on 31st May 1912 is Rs. 1,15,215 13-9 which has been allocated as under :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
(a) Among the policyholders with immediate participation payable at death or on attaining the specified age in respect of 1,132 participating policies ...	93,320	0	0
(b) In the case of policies with deferred bonus, fixed additions are made independently of the bonus declaration and due provision is made in the valuation for such addition. The amount allotted from the profits ascertained is therefore ..	Nil.

CROP FORECAST.

SUGARCANE.

First SUGARCANE forecast, 1915-16.

This forecast is based on reports received from eight provinces, which contain, on an average, 95 per cent of the entire area under sugarcane in British India.

The returns show that an area of 2,415,000 acres is planted with sugarcane this year in the reporting provinces, as against 2,373,000 acres on this date last year, an increase, notwithstanding the high prices * of sugar, of only 2 per cent. The average acreage planted during the previous five years (1909-10 to 1913-14) was 2,196,000 acres. The increase, therefore, is 10 per cent over the quinquennial average on this date.

The present estimate of area, as compared with that at the corresponding date of last year, shows an increase of 6 per cent in the United Provinces and of 3 per cent in Bengal, while the Punjab shows a decrease of 10 per cent and Bihar and Orissa of 1 per cent.

The character of the season at sowing time was, on the whole, favourable, and the present condition of the crop is reported to be generally good, except in the western parts of the Punjab where the unirrigated crop is suffering through drought.

The detailed figures for the provinces are as follows :—

	First forecast, August
	1915-16	1914-15	Increase + or Decrease —
	acres	acres	acres
United Provinces .	1.390,000	1,311,000	+79,000

Bihar and Orissa .	268,000	271,000	—3,000
Bengal . .	234,000	227,000	+7,000
Bombay and Sind (including Native States) . .	78,000	68,000	+10,000
Assam . .	36,000	48,000	—12,000
North-West Frontier Province . .	32,000	32,000	...
Central Provinces and Berar . .	20,000	19,000	+1,000
Total .	2,415,000	2,373,000	+42,000

The provincial reports are summarised below :—

United Provinces (52·3 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The actual area planted will not be known until December next,

* The price of T. M. O. (white) Java sugar in Calcutta on 1st April 1915 was Rs. 11-12-0 per maund : for Mauritius sugar Rs. 11-0-0: for Cossipore (1st class white) sugar Rs. 12-8-0 : and for Cawnpore sugar Rs. 10-14-0 against Rs. 7-0-0, Rs. 6-14-0 Rs. 7-10-0 and Rs. 7-11-0 per maund respectively on the corresponding date last year.

when crop statements are complete, but on the basis of the reports received up to date the total area is roughly estimated at 1,390,000 acres, which is 6 per cent over the area at this date last year. The increase is attributed to favourable conditions at sowing time, such as high prices of gur and heavy rain in the latter part of last cold weather. Germination was good, and the crop stood the hot weather well. Towards the latter part of June good rain fell in most districts; while all parts of the provinces, except the Agra and Meerut Divisions, received sufficient rain at the beginning of July. A somewhat long break followed, and it was not until well into the third week of July that general rain fell. The cane crop continues very promising and at present there is a prospect of an outturn above normal.

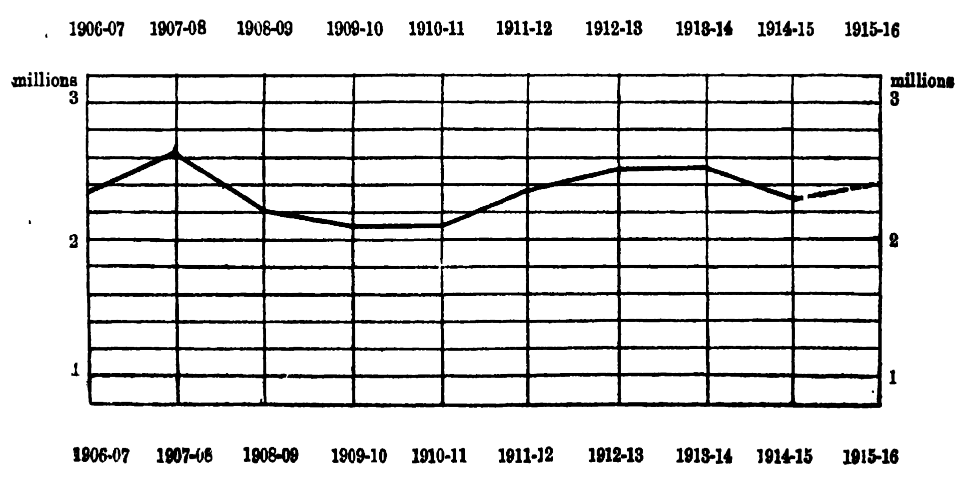
Punjab (15·9 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The total area is now estimated at 357,000 acres, being 10 per cent less than the area estimated at the corresponding date last year. The decrease was chiefly on the irrigated area of the Karnal and some other districts. The season was favourable when sowings began, but the insufficiency of rain after the middle of March and the inadequacy of canal water affected the sowings subsequently. The condition of standing crops is average or good, except in the west where unirrigated crops are suffering from drought. Rain is badly wanted everywhere.

Bihar and Orissa (10·9 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The total area planted is estimated at 268,000 acres, which is 1 per cent below the area reported at this date last year. The weather conditions have been generally favourable. Want of irrigation was felt in Angul and Sambalpur, and has damaged the crop to some extent in the latter district. The condition of the crop is reported to be fair to good. The outturn is estimated to be about 94 per cent of the normal, as against 100 per cent last year.

Bengal (9·5 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The total area under the crop is reported to be 234,000 acres, being 3 per cent in excess of the area at this date last year. At planting time the weather was generally favourable, except in the districts of Burdwan, Midnapur, Rajshahi, Bogra, and Malda, where there was want of adequate rainfall. Subsequent heavy rain towards the end of May and during June in some of the Eastern Bengal districts injuriously affected the growth to some extent, but on the whole the weather conditions have not been unfavourable. The prospects so far are reported to be fairly good. The total outturn of the crop is reported to be about 88 per cent of the normal, as against 82 per cent last year.

Bombay and Sind (2·7 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The information received is incomplete. The area so far reported comes to 78,000 acres (29,000 acres being in Native States), which is nearly 15 per cent above the area reported at this date last year. Plentiful water-supply in wells and tanks owing to good rains of last year and better prices fetched for the product since the outbreak of war induced larger sowings everywhere in the Presidency. But in Sind the deficiency of water-supply restricted cultivation. The crop is reported to be thriving everywhere.

Assam (1·5 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The area planted is reported to be 36,000 acres, which is 25 per cent below the area reported at this date last year. The decrease was mostly in the districts of Darrang, Sibsagar, and Lakhimpur. Excessive rainfall at the time of planting restricted the area to some extent. The effect of the weather on the crop was not favourable. The probable outturn is estimated at about 92 per cent of the normal.



North-West Frontier Province (1·3 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The area placed under the crop is estimated at 32,000 acres, which is the same as returned at this date last year. Insufficient rain at sowing time curtailed the area in Hazara and Bannu, but high prices of gur stimulated sowings in the Peshawar district.

Central Provinces and Berar (0·9 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The total area planted is estimated at 20,000 acres, being 5 per cent in excess of the area at this date last year. The conditions at sowing time were favourable and germination was successful. The monsoon broke out in the last week of June and the rainfall was generally well distributed and sufficient for agricultural purposes. In July moderate to heavy rain fell all over the provinces, which continued till the 4th of August. Prospects of the standing crops are favourable.

Chart.—The chart below shows the preliminary estimate of area now made with the final figures of the preceding nine years :—

AREA OF SUGARCANE

(In million acres)

Sugarcane crop in foreign countries.—The latest information published by the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome, is that in Egypt the weather is generally favourable. The supply of water is sufficient. The condition of the crop in Upper Egypt is good.

From non-official sources it appears that in Cuba the conditions have been very favourable for field work, especially for the preparation of the lands and the sowings, the latter presenting a good aspect. The weather is favourable in the chief producing tracts of the United States and in the Hawaiian Islands; in Porto Rico it is reported to be too dry.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

The book has been published by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and copies are now procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There are two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and a very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited, and a considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Government Printing, India, Calcutta.

THE TREASURY:
Calcutta, the 27th August 1915.

H. F. HOWARD,
Controller of Currency.

THE HON'BLE THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF BRITISH BALUCHISTAN.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Quetta, the 17th August 1915.

No. 2413-R.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by Section 4(1) of the Agriculturists' Loans Act (XII of 1884), the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner of British Baluchistan is pleased to make the following additions to and alterations in the rules promulgated with his Notification No. 549, dated the 1st March 1909 :—

Substitute the following for rule 11 :—

Option of borrower to repay before due date.

11. Repayments should be made by yearly or half-yearly instalments and on dates fixed by the Collector for each Tashil with reference to the times most likely to suit the convenience of borrowers of the Tashil, but the borrower may, if he so wishes, repay the amount due by him by larger instalments, or repay the whole amount due by him at any time.

Insert the following as rule 12 and renumber the present rules 12 to 19 as 13 to 20 :—

System of equated repayments.

12. With a view to the simplification of procedure and accounts, tables* have been prepared showing the amounts of the equated instalments due annually or six-monthly in repayment of loans of Rs. 10, 20, 30, 40, 50, 60, 70, 80, 90 and 100 according to the date of the first instalment and the period of repayment; the rate of interest taken being 6¼ per cent. During the period of grace no charge will be realized for interest, as interest for this period has been allowed for in the calculation of equated payments. Should the loan be of an amount different from those for which tables have been prepared, the amount of each equated payment should be calculated to the nearest anna by simple proportion. To save trouble in calculation, however, it is advisable, unless for special reasons, to fix every loan on which interest is to be paid, at some multiple of Rs. 10. When a loan is advanced in more than one instalment, the whole loan may, for the purposes of the tables, be considered to have been made on the date when the last instalment was paid to the borrower.

*Separately printed.

Where the date on which the first equated instalment of a loan would fall due does not coincide with either of the dates fixed by the Collector under rule 11, the advance, for purposes of the tables of equated instalments, should be considered to have been made on the fixed date next succeeding the date of the payment of the loan, the resulting loss of interest being disregarded.

Substitute the following for rule 13 (as now numbered) :—

Payment of loan and executions of agreements.

13. When it has been decided to grant or to recommend a loan, steps should forthwith be taken to have the necessary documents executed. The tables of equated instalments should be explained to the borrower who should be invited to choose the terms for the repayment of the loan subject to the restrictions laid down in Rule 10. It should especially be pointed out to the borrower that the sooner the repayment of the loan begins and the shorter the period over which it is spread, the less amount will have to be paid. The applicant or applicants should be required to execute an agreement in the annexed Form C. Clause 3 of this Form should be filled up in cases in which the applicant or applicants hypothecates or hypothecate his or their own property as security; in other cases it should be struck out. If a third party becomes security, an additional bond should be executed in the annexed Form D or E according as the surety is a village community or a group of agriculturists (see Rule 8) or not, or in the annexed Form F, where the security offered is immovable property. After the necessary documents have been executed, the officer having authority to sanction the loan shall give an order in the annexed Form G for the payment of the amount of the loan.

N. B.—In case of loans under the Agriculturists' Loans Act all securities besides the applicant's personal security are optional (see Rule 8).

Substitute the following for rule 15 (as now numbered) :—

Levy of penal interest.

15. Subject to the provisions of Rule 17 if an instalment is not paid when it becomes due, the Collector may, if the delay exceeds one month, and shall if it exceeds six months, charge interest at a rate not exceeding 6¼ per cent. per annum on such overdue instalment for the period during which it remains unpaid :

Provided that if the default in payment is due to the borrower's inability to pay and the levy of such interest would be productive of hardship, the Collector may recommend that it may be remitted, recording reasons for his recommendation which shall be submitted to the Revenue Commissioner who shall pass orders on such recommendation.

Substitute the accompanying forms for the existing Forms A, C, and G.

Substitute "Rule 13" for "Rule 12" in Forms D, E, and F.

By order,

DENYS BRAY,

Secretary.

No. 2415-R.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 10 of the Land Improvement Loans Act (XIX of 1883), the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner of British Baluchistan is pleased to make the following additions to and alterations in the rules promulgated with his Notification No. 542, dated the 1st March 1909:—

Substitute the following for rules 16 and 17:—

Repayment of loans.

16. Subject to the provisions of Rules 17 and 19, the convenience of the borrower should be consulted, as far as possible, in fixing the instalments by which repayment is to be made. Repayments should be made by yearly or half-yearly instalments, and on dates fixed by the Collector for each Tahsil with reference to the times most likely to suit the convenience of borrowers of the Tahsil, but the borrower may, if he so chooses, repay by larger instalments, or repay the whole amount of his debt at any time.

Date from which repayment should begin.

17. Within reasonable limits, the convenience of the borrower should be consulted as to the date from which repayment should begin, and such date should not precede the date when, by the exercise of ordinary care and diligence, the profits from the improvement may be expected to cover the payment of the instalment. This period of grace, however, should not, without the special sanction of the Local Government, exceed 2½ years from the date of the actual advance of the loan, or, when the loan is advanced in instalments, from the date of the actual advance of the last instalment. It is not desirable that borrowers should be exempted from repayment longer than is necessary to create resources from which the repayments may be made. Similarly in order to prevent high charges for interest, advances should be made repayable within as short a period as is consistent with the object for which they are made.

Insert the following as rule 18 and renumber the present rule 18 as 19:—

System of equated repayments.

18. With a view to the simplification of procedure and accounts, tables* have been prepared showing the amounts of the equated instalments due annually or six-monthly in repayment of loans of Rs. 10, 20, 30, 40, 50, 60, 70, 80, 90 and 100 according to the date of the first instalment and the period of repayment; the rate of interest taken being 6¼ per cent. During the period of grace no charge will be realized for interest, as interest for this period has been allowed for in the calculation of equated payments. Should the loan be of an amount different from those for which tables have been prepared, the amount of each equated payment should be calculated to the nearest anna by simple proportion. To save trouble in calculation, however, it is advisable, unless for special reasons, to fix every loan on which interest is to be paid, at some multiple of Rs. 10. When a loan is advanced in more than one instalment, the whole loan may, for the purposes of the tables, be considered to have been made on the date when the last instalment was paid to the borrower.

*Separately printed.

Where the date on which the first equated instalment of a loan would fall due does not coincide with either of the dates fixed by the Collector under rule 16, the advance for purposes of the tables of equated instalments, should be considered to have been made on the fixed date next succeeding the date of the payment of the loan the resulting loss of interest being disregarded.

Substitute the following for rule 19 (as now numbered) :—

Period within which loans should be repaid.

19. When the officer dealing with the application has arrived at a decision on the points referred to in rule 17, he should, unless he wishes in view of the considerations above suggested to limit the borrower's discretion, explain the tables to him and leave him to choose the term for the repayment of the loan. He should especially point out that the sooner he begins to repay the loan and the shorter the period over which repayment is spread the less will he have to pay.

The period of repayment should not in any case, except with the sanction of the Local Government, be longer than 20 years.

Renumber the existing rules 19 to 23 as 20 to 24.

Substitute the following for rule 24 (as now numbered) :—

Penal interest for non-repayment on due date.

24. Subject to the provisions of rule 27, if an instalment is not paid when it becomes due, the Collector may, if the delay exceeds one month, and shall, if it exceeds six months, charge interest at a rate not exceeding 6¼ per cent. per annum, on such overdue instalment for the period during which it remains unpaid : provided that, if the default in payment is due to the borrower's inability to pay, and the levy of such interest would be productive of hardship, the Collector may recommend that it may be remitted, recording reasons for his recommendation, which shall be submitted to the Revenue Commissioner, who shall pass orders on such recommendation.

Renumber the existing rules 24 to 30 as 25 to 31.

Substitute the accompanying Forms for the existing Forms A, C and F.

Substitute "Rule 22" for "Rule 21" in Form B, clause (7).

Substitute "Rule 20" for "Rule 19" in Forms D and E.

By order,

ORDERS BY THE HON'BLE THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF AJMER-MERWARA.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Abu, the 19th August 1915.

No. 41.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 9 of the Ajmer Forest Regulation No. VI of 1874, the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner is pleased to prescribe the following rules with regard to hunting, shooting, and the setting of traps or snares in the state forests of Ajmer-Merwara :—

1. In these rules the word "hunting" includes tracking for the purpose of discovering the lie of wild animals.

2. The following acts are absolutely prohibited within a state forest :—

(i) poisoning carcasses of animals;

(ii) spearing and running deer with dogs;

(iii) watching in the neighbourhood of water or salt licks between sunset and sunrise to shoot animals other than carnivora resorting to such places.

3. The following acts are prohibited within a state forest except as provided below :—

(1) the setting of snares or traps except with the written permission of the Conservator of Forests;

(2) hunting or shooting, except

(a) by a person holding a permit granted by the Conservator,

(b) by a person permitted by order of Government to hunt or shoot without a permit,

(c) for the purpose of destroying carnivora in the immediate neighbourhood of habitations and cattle stations.

4. The Conservator may, with the previous sanction of the Local Administration, prescribe sanctuaries to be kept closed for a fixed number of years wherein all hunting and shooting shall be absolutely prohibited during such period. Such prohibition shall extend to all persons whether exempted or not.

5. The Conservator shall divide the forests into shooting areas and shall fix the number of any species that may be shot in any one year in any one area and restrict shooting so as to prevent the fixed limit being exceeded. This restriction applies to both permit-holders and exempted officers.

6. Permits of the following descriptions to hunt and shoot may be granted by the Conservator for a shooting area for big game, game birds, and ground game :—

(a) a permit in Form A appended to these rules allowing the holder to hunt and shoot subject to any restrictions imposed under rules 4 and 5 above.

(b) a permit in Form B appended to these rules allowing the holder to shoot game birds and ground game.

7. (1) A permit in Form A shall only be available for the person in whose name it is issued and for the number of guns specified. A permit in Form B is personal, i.e., non-transferable.

(2) Every person to whom a permit has been granted shall produce the same on demand of any forest or Police Officer.

(3) A permit granted by the Conservator shall be valid only for the shooting area detailed therein, provided that wounded game may be pursued into any other shooting area.

(4) A permit may be cancelled at any time by the Conservator, if circumstances render it advisable.

(5) The permit-holder is responsible that the members of the party observe the forest law and rules and the conditions of the permit.

(6) If the Extra Assistant Conservator of Forests considers that any member of the party has committed a wilful breach of the said law, rules or conditions he may cancel the permit; the whole party shall thereupon quit the forest immediately. The circumstances of the case shall be forthwith reported by the Extra Assistant Conservator of Forests to the Conservator.

(7) Nothing in these rules shall be taken to exempt any person from liability in respect of any offence by fire, injury to the forest or its produce, or other offence punishable under rule II of the Forest Bye-laws framed under section 9 of the Ajmer Forest Regulation, VI of 1874, and sanctioned by the Chief Commissioner, in his Secretary's letter No. 1505-S, dated 4th June 1875.

(8) The holder of a permit shall not shoot or allow to be shot any animal or bird, the shooting of which is not permitted by the terms of the permit.

The Conservator when granting a permit may give the holder special permission to shoot other birds and small mammals required bonâ fide for purposes of natural history.

(9) The holder of a permit shall not shoot or allow to be shot more than the number of heads of any species entered in the permit.

(10) On a permit-holder vacating the shooting area for which he holds a permit he shall return his permit to such official as may be named thereon after recording the number and species of all animals killed by him and his party.

8. Permits in Form A may be granted for a specified time not exceeding 15 days; in Form B for a period not exceeding one month, on the following conditions in addition to those entered in rule 7 above:—

(1) that the holder shall observe the close season for birds as entered in the permit,

(2) that the holder shall shoot only the game or edible birds entered in the permit; birds of prey, and vermin;

(3) that the holder shall not, without the special permission of the Conservator endorsed on the permit, shoot the females of deer or antelope or males without horns, or with horns in velvet.

9. The following fees shall be paid for permits in advance:—

From A—	By residents of Ajmer-Merwara Rs. 2 each per gun. By outsiders Rs. 5 each per gun.	For a permit for 15 days or less.

From B—Rs. 2 per gun for a period not exceeding one month.

Not more than one permit in From A shall be granted for the same period in the same shooting area and fifteen days shall elapse between the grant of two successive permits. Moreover a holder of a permit in From B may not shoot in any area while reserved under a permit in Form A.

10. A forest official shall be appointed to attend the permit-holder to show the boundaries of the shooting area within which the permit is valid and to accompany the party if deemed advisable by the Extra Assistant Conservator of Forests.

11. The following are exempt from payment of fees, being permitted to hunt and shoot on the same conditions as permit-holders:—

(a) Gazetted Forest Officers on duty;

(b) All other Gazetted Officers serving under the Chief Commissioner of Ajmer-Merwara.

12. Requests for permits shall ordinarily be dealt with in order of priority of application. No such application shall, however, be valid if received more than three months before the permit is required. A register shall be maintained in the Office of the Conservator showing for each class of permit—

(a) date of receipt of application;

(b) date of application;

(c) orders passed;

(d) date of order.

13. No permit shall be refused merely on the grounds that a permit for a later date has already been sanctioned, but such permit shall only be granted for a period which does not infringe the interval established by the grant of a permit previously applied for.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Delhi, the 20th August 1915.

No. 5579-Home.—Whereas by Notification No. 4159-Home, dated the 21st June 1915, notice was given of the intention to invest the security mentioned in the margin with the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments for the Province of Delhi, and the term fixed by that Notification for the presentation of any objections or suggestions has expired and no objections have been received.

Government Promissory Note No. 270556 of the 3½ per cent. loan of 1865 for Rs. 3,000.

It is hereby ordered under Section 4, sub-section (1) of the Charitable Endowments Act, 1890 (VI of 1890), that the aforesaid security for money hereinbefore specified be, and is hereby vested, in the said Treasurer of Charitable Endowments upon the terms aforesaid.

No. 5582-Home.—In continuation of Notification No. 5579 of this date and on the application of Lala Sanwal Das, the following scheme has under section 5, sub-section (1), of the Charitable Endowment Act, 1890, VI of 1890, been settled for the administration of the property which has been vested in the Treasurer of Charitable Endowment for the Province of Delhi and under section 5 (3) of the said Act, the Chief Commissioner is pleased to order and hereby orders that it shall come into force from this date :—

Scheme for the management of the Sanwal Das Trust.

1. The interest on the said note will be drawn by the Treasurer, Charitable Endowments, Delhi ; and after a deduction of a commission of ¼ per cent. for drawing interest and of the actual expenditure on remittance charges, the balance of interest drawn shall be forwarded by him to the Executive Engineer, Public Works Department, Provincial Division, Delhi, for the time being.

2. The said Executive Engineer shall disburse the amounts received by him from the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments in the following manner :—

(1) Annual repairs to the piao building, Rs. 10 per annum which will be executed by the said Executive Engineer.

(2) Pay of the Brahman to supply water to the Public, Rs. 7 per mensem or Rs. 84 per annum.

(3) Miscellaneous expenditure on earthen waterpots and brass utensils, a sum not exceeding Rs. 5 per annum.

3. The Brahman shall be appointed by the said Sanwal Das during his lifetime and after the death of the said Sanwal Das by the Executive Engineer, Public Works Department, Provincial Division, Delhi, for the time being.

4. The purchase of earthen pots and brass vessels shall be made under the orders of the Executive Engineer, Public Works Department, Provincial Division, Delhi, for the time being.

5. Lists of properties and abstracts of accounts will be published by the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments in the manner laid down in Government of India Notification No. 1569, dated 24th October 1890, or such other manner as the Government may direct.

6. The Executive Engineer, Public Works Department, Provincial Division, Delhi, shall keep accounts for each year of the sums received by him from the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments and of the disbursements made by him and shall submit his accounts at the close of each year for the inspection of the Chief Commissioner.

7. When at the close of the year a cash balance remains in the hands of the Executive Engineer, Public Works Department, Provincial Division, being the difference between remittances received by him from the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments and payments made by him in full according to clause 3 of this scheme of management, such cash balance shall be credited by the said Executive Engineer, Public Works Department, Provincial Division, Delhi, to the Funds of the Municipal Committee of Delhi.

Class 1, No. 2999. Paul Ruben, 100 Bishopsgate, London, England. August 10, 1915.

NOTICES.

THE PATENT OFFICE, 1, COUNCIL HOUSE STREET, CALCUTTA.

Public room, open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Saturdays, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

1. All communications relating to applications for patents and for registration of designs under the Indian Patents and Designs Act (II of 1911), or in continuation of applications under the Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888) should be addressed to the Controller of Patents and Designs, 1, Council House Street, Calcutta. Documents sent by post should be carefully packed.

2. Directions for the guidance of inventors and others are given in the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911 (price 10 annas), and in the Indian Patents and Designs Rules, 1912 (price 2 annas). These should be consulted before an application is made to the Controller.

3. Advice. The Patent Office cannot undertake (1) to give opinions on the interpretation of Patent Law, or on the advisability of protecting inventions and designs nor their infringement; (2) to make searches in respect of information available in the public room; (3) to recommend any particular agent; or (4) to assist in the disposal of inventions. Applicants are warned that the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, is in force in British India only, and patents granted under it do not extend to the United Kingdom or any of the British possessions. The International Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property does not include India. For information regarding patents in countries other than India applications should be made to the patent offices in the countries concerned.

4. Fees are payable in cash and must be received in the Patent Office within the time allowed by the Acts. When cheques are offered in payment of fees, it must be clearly understood that the office cannot hold itself responsible for any delay that may occur in the collection of cash on the cheques; any cheque not payable in Calcutta is subject to commission. In cases where it is not possible to have the fees handed in at the Patent Office, it is preferable to send them by money-order or postal order payable at Calcutta to the Controller of Patents and Designs, and to advise him that they have been so sent. Stamps will not be received in payment of fees.

5. Trade and property marks and names are not registered and medicines are not patented under the Indian Patents and Designs Act. There is no provision of Law in British India for their registration. Neither does this Act deal with pictures, photographs, etc., for which copyright is obtainable under the Indian Copyright Act, 1914.

6. Printed Specifications of applications, which have been accepted, are published within about three weeks after acceptance has been notified in the Gazette of India. These specifications can be purchased at the Patent Office at a uniform price of 8 annas per copy; and may be seen free of charge, together with other publications of the Patent Office, at the following places:—

MANGALORE ROMAN CATHOLIC PROVIDENT FUND.

FOURTH SCHEDULE.

Statement by the Actuary respecting the Valuation of the Liabilities under Life Policies of the Mangalore Roman Catholic Provident Fund.

I

The valuation is made as at 31st December 1913.

II

(a) The present investigation is the first that has been made into the value of the Liabilities of the Society which was originally commenced as a Dividing Society, the rules however having been altered from time to time to permit of a larger proportion of the contributions being placed to reserve than was originally allowed for.

An Investigation is now required by the provisions of the Act under which this return is made as the Society has been held to come within the scope of these provisions. The principles adopted in the valuation were determined by the Actuary.

(b) The Liability of the Society was ascertained by deducting from the present value of the sums assured the present value of 94 per cent of the Office Premiums actually payable.

(c) The Sums Assured by the Policies are payable at death and the Premiums are payable during the whole currency of the Policies. The Policies were classified for valuation according to age next birthday at the anniversary of the Policy nearest to the date as at which the valuation is made.

(d) There are no Policies on under average lives.

III

The Tables of Mortality used in the valuation are:—

(a) For Male Lives the British Offices O^{M} Table with a rating up of 7 years.

(b) For Female Lives the British Offices $O^{F(5)}$ Table with a rating up of 2 years.

The functions of this Table are published in the Transactions of the Faculty of Actuaries, Volume VII, Part II.

IV

The rate of interest assumed in the calculations is 4 per cent.

V

The proportion of the Annual Premium Income reserved as a provision for future expenses is 6 per cent of the Office Premiums and allowance is made in the value of the net Premiums for the elimination of all possible Negative Values.

VI

VIII.

There is no provision made in the rules of the Society for the distribution of profits.

MANGALORE ROMAN CATHOLIC PROVIDENT FUND.

IX.

No profits have been made by the Society as at the date up to which the Valuation is made.

Pursuant to the Indian Life Assurance Companies Rules, 1913, the Actuary has stated in his Report as follows:—

Rule 4. The particulars required for the valuation were extracted from the records of the Society and forwarded by the President who has certified that they are correct in every particular.

Rule 5. (a), (b) and (c). The valuation was made on the basis and on the principles which are contained in the statement furnished in the Fourth Schedule to the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912. All the explanations required for the valuation were received, the principles of the valuation are approved and the calculations are believed to be correct.

(d) The premiums under all the Policies of the Society are payable monthly and the value of the future premiums was obtained by multiplication of the annual premiums by the value of the continuous annuity ($\bar{a}_x$).

(e) The ages at entry are the ages at the birth-day next following the date of entry. The ages at valuation are the ages at the birth-day next following the nearest anniversary of the Policy at the date of valuation.

(f) The rates at each age of the mortality assumed and of the annuity values used in the valuation are as follows:—

MANGALORE ROMAN CATHOLIC PROVIDENT FUND.

(h) The reserve values required to be held against Policies of Class I (Sum Assured Rs. 455 increasing to Rs. 966-14-0) effected at ages 20, 30 and 40 and which have been in force for 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 15 and 20 years, respectively in respect of male and female lives are as follows:—

Duration of Policy in years.	Males age at entry.			Females age at entry.

20	148	315	493	60	202	370

Note:—The reserve values for Policies of Class II (Sum Assured Rs. 340 increasing to Rs. 722-8-0) and Class III (Sum Assured Rs. 200 increasing to Rs. 425) are, to those above given, practically proportionate to the sums assured of the respective classes.

The reserve values are those which are allowed for in the Summary and valuation of the Policies return under the Fourth Schedule of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act 1912 but are not actually held by the Society as hereinafter stated.

Rule 6. The result of the valuation shows that the Society cannot meet its liabilities and is therefore insolvent.

(a) The Society is a mutual one and has no subscribed Capital which could be utilised to make up the deficiency in the Funds. The rates of premium for future entrants will require to be altered.

(b) The proportion of the sum assured the Society would be able to meet under its existing contracts if all Premiums thereunder were reduced proportionately with the sum assured is estimated at 38 per cent. It is not considered that this method of reducing the contracts is the best for the Society to adopt in the circumstances and after investigation it is recommended that the sum assured payable at death in respect of the existing contracts should in the case of all members having entered the Society prior to the alteration in 1894 of the rules as to the sums payable at death, be reduced to 55 per cent of the amount provided for by the present rules, and in the case of all members having subsequently entered the Society the sum assured should be reduced to 87½ per cent of the amount so provided for, the premiums under all the existing contracts to be payable in future at the same rate as at present.

BASIS OF VALUATION.

Rate of Interest.

I have adopted 3½% as the rate at which the Funds may be assumed to accumulate.

Mortality.

Sufficient data are not yet available on which to base precise estimates of the rate of mortality likely to be experienced by the Company. Such statistics as have been published relative to Indian mortality indicate that the rate of mortality among Natives is improving and that, in the case of medically selected lives, the British Offices (Om) Tables with an addition to the age of some five or six years is a fairly safe basis to adopt in the case of whole life assurances, and that in the case of Endowment Assurances the addition may be dispensed with. I have, therefore adopted that basis.

Loading.

What is known as a Net Om Valuation, that is one in which the net actuarial premiums, (and not the premiums actually payable or some modification of them) are valued and taken credit for, is not, as a rule, suitable in the case of a recently established Company with a heavy initial expenditure. This is owing to the fact that in such circumstances a company cannot keep in hand a sufficiently large portion of the contributions. In such a case it is, therefore more appropriate to take credit for the future actual premiums payable less such a deduction as may be thought reasonably sufficient to meet future expenses on the existing business and, if possible, provide for bonus. After careful consideration I am of opinion that a margin of not less than 16 per cent of the future Office premiums should be left for these purposes, and have consequently set against the present actuarial value of the Sums Assured the present value of 84 per cent of the actual Office premiums payable under the Assurances. The Pure Endowments which are all with returnable premiums have been valued by accumulating past premiums, subject to a deduction for expenses, at 3½ per cent, the resulting Reserve along with the future premiums similarly modified being just sufficient, if accumulated at that rate of interest, to meet the claims under these Endowments.

The following is a summary of the Assurances and of the Valuation :—

Class of Policy.	Number of Policies.	Total Sums Assured.	Total premiums payable.	Value of Sum Assured.	Value of 84 per cent of Office premiums.
		Rs. A. P.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.

Valuation as at 29th February 1912.

The Reserve, being the difference between—

the Value of the Sums Assured	...	Rs. 38,71,206
and the Value of future Premiums	...	„ 34,81,576
is thus	...	„ 3,89,630
against which the Life Assurance Fund at the date of Valuation was	...	„ 3,91,104
Shewing a Surplus of	...	„ 1,474

In view of the heavy initial expenditure already referred to, a surplus at the end of the first five years sufficiently large to provide a bonus, was scarcely to be anticipated. It should, however, be added that even the nominal surplus brought out cannot be considered as actually realised. The present value of such a large proportion as 84 per cent of the Office Premiums exceeds the present value of the sums Assured in the case of many of the policies, especially those effected only a year or two ago, and particularly on whole life premium scale at young ages. The result in such cases is what is termed a Negative Value, in other words, the Policy is treated as an asset. That asset would be lost to the Company if the policies were dropped and, since there is no certainty that they will be kept up, the excess of the values of the Premiums over the values of the Sums Assured in those cases should, strictly speaking, be excluded altogether from the Valuation and, if this were done, the position would not appear so favourable as it does.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

We have completed a careful Audit of the Company and have obtained all the information and explanations we have required.

We have examined the Books and accounts for the year ending 31st December 1913 and hereby certify that to the best of our belief and information the same are correct and drawn up in conformity with the law so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Company's affairs as shown by the books of the Company.

We have examined and counted the Government Securities lodged with the Bank of Bombay by the Official Trustee of Bombay on the Company's behalf, in virtue of the Trust Deed, and found that they held, as at 31st December 1913, Government of India Promissory Notes of the face value of Rs. 3,65,28,900. We have also examined and counted the Bonds for Municipal, Port Trust and Improvement Trust Securities in the custody of the National Bank of India, Limited, and found them to amount to Rs. 44 81,000 as shown in the Balance Sheet. The Receipt of the Comptroller General for Rs. 2,00,000 Government Paper deposited as security under the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act has been produced to us and found in order.

We hereby further certify in terms of the Deed of Trust, dated 29th March 1882, that 80 per cent of the Gross Premiums received during the year, and Interest after deducting Claims, Pensions, Re-assurance Premiums, Surrenders, Dividends and Loans on Policies, amounts to Rs. 21,66,716-7-0 and has been added to the Trust Fund account as under:

REPORT ON THE VALUATION OF THE LIABILITIES AND ASSETS OF INDIAN EMPIRE DISTRICT No. 105

OF THE

INDEPENDENT ORDER OF RECHABITES, S. U. FRIENDLY SOCIETY, as at 31st December 1910.

BRETHREN,

The particulars necessary for the Valuation of the Liabilities and Assets of the Branch as at 31st December 1910, having been received and dealt with, I have the honour of reporting to you as instructed.

Tables used and Modifications.

The Branch was established in the year 1893. The Table of Contributions are based on Rechabites Experience as required by the General Rules. The Sickness Benefits (duration) are 26 weeks for Full pay, 26 weeks for Half pay, and Quarter pay remainder of incapacity, modified in cases of short intermittent sickness within a period prescribed by the rules.

Assumptions.

The Valuation requires that all Benefit Fund moneys shall realise an average annual rate of interest of not less than £ 3 per cent. and that the aggregate Sickness Benefits in the future shall not exceed the average provided for in the Financial Tables based on the General Rechabite Membership Experience compiled by Mr. Neison.

Membership Distribution and Average Age.

The age distribution of the 1,506 Members and Widows remaining is shewn in the following Table, the general average age being equal to 26-7-12 years per Member.

Valuation Age Last Birthday.	Number of Members.	Valuation Age last Birthday.	Number of Members.	Valuation Age Last Birthday.	Number of Members.

36—40 ...	80	...	...	...	...

Valuation Balance Sheet.

The Contributions and Benefits have been scheduled and examined, and the necessary calculations made. The ascertained position is set out in the following summary—

Valuation Balance Sheet as at 31st December 1910.

LIABILITIES.	Amount.	Assets.	Amount.

RECHABITES.

The Sickness Benefits of all the Tents are assured by the District.

Comparison with past Records.

The Valuation looks forward to the end of the life of the last of your present members but the rate of interest earned or of sickness experienced and paid for in excess of, or below that assumed in the tables, will vary for good or ill the position shewn in the Valuation Balance Sheet The actuarial surplus in the Funeral Fund at this (1910) Valuation is equal to a sum of 4s. 4¾d. in the £ and that of the Sick Fund works out at 5¾d in the £ of liabilities.

Interest and Sickness Figures.

Your Funds have earned for Management purposes an average rate of interest of £3·33 per cent. per annum. Well secured investments producing a higher rate of interest than 3 per cent for Benefits Fund purposes would assist in producing surpluses or reducing deficiencies, and any special care now given would be amply compensated in the future. The Sickness experience was 8 per cent. more than that expected. The statement below (disregarding the effect of the "period off Rule") shews the differences between such expected and actual Sickness.

Experience of the	First 26 Weeks.	Continuation of incapacity. Second 26 Weeks.	Remainder of Sickness.	Total Claims.	Mortality in the District.
	Weeks.	Weeks.	Weeks.	Weeks.
Tents (Actual) ...	8,599	61	132	8,792	44
Order (Expect) ...	7,165	546	446	8,157	42
Differences ...	+1,434	—485	—314	+635	+2

Remarks, Recommendations or Suggestions.

The + indicates that the cost of sickness in that period has been greater than expected, the minus sign means that it has been less and in the latter event to the advantage of the Branch.

Had the Sickness Benefit Contributions been ½d. per share per month extra the cost of excessive sickness would have been thereby provided. The abnormal secession rate has however made good all such overpayments and in addition provided a Goods Fund of £618 (part of £815 shewn) leaving a handsome surplus of £1,713 for appropriation purposes. The Funeral Fund surplus is likewise attributable to (secession) diminished liabilities. Only 193 weeks of sickness were in respect of periods after the first 26 weeks. Three per cent. interest calculated on the average Benefit Fund should be credited thereto annually.

Auditor's Report to the Shareholders of the Shanghai Life Insurance Company, Limited.

I have audited the above Balance Sheet with the Books, Accounts and Vouchers of the Company at the Head Office, Shanghai, and with the signed Statements received from the Agencies. I have obtained all the information and explanations that I have required. I have examined the Deeds and Securities, Certificates, etc., representing the Investments, Loans and Bank Balances set out in the above Account and certify that, with the exception of the Funds deposited with the High Court (England) and the Comptroller-General, Calcutta, for which I have seen acknowledgments, the said Deeds and Securities were in possession and safe custody on 31st March, 1914. In my opinion, the above Balance Sheet is a full and fair one and is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Company's affairs according to the best of my information and the explanations given me and as shewn by the Books of the Company.

In accordance with the provisions of Section 113 (Sub-section 2) of the Companies (Consolidation) Act, 1908, I report to the Shareholders that I have audited the Balance Sheet of the ALLIANCE ASSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED, dated the 31st December 1913, and the several Accounts incorporated therein as above set forth, together with the vouchers relating thereto. I have obtained all the information and explanations I have required with reference thereto. In my opinion such Balance Sheet is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Company's affairs according to the best of my information and the explanations given to me and as shown by the books of the Company. The Audit has included verification of the Bank Balances, inspection of the Company's Stocks, Shares and Deeds, as well as those held as Security, excepting such Securities and Deeds as are deposited abroad for which certificates have been produced. The accounts relating to the business of the Imperial, Provident and Economic Offices transferred to the Company have been kept in accordance with the Agreements of the 22nd January 1902, the 8th February 1906, and the 5th April 1911, respectively.

London, 24th March, 1914.

We certify :—

(1) That in our belief the Assets set forth in the above Balance Sheet are, in the aggregate, fully of the value stated therein. The Stock Exchange Securities stand in the Company's Books at the market values, which market values are arrived at by taking the middle prices on the last day of the year, less accrued Interest and Dividends,

(2) that part of the Shareholders' Assets has been deposited under Local Laws in various places out of the United Kingdom, as security to holders of Policies there issued, but no part of the Life or Annuity Assets has been so deposited, and

(3) that no part of any Fund has been applied, directly, or undirectly, for any purpose other than the class of business to which it is applicable.

ALLIANCE ASSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

RETURNS PURSUANT TO THE ASSURANCE COMPANIES ACT, 1909.

FOURTH SCHEDULE (A).

STATEMENT respecting the VALUATION of the LIABILITIES under LIFE POLICIES and ANNUITIES of the ALLIANCE ASSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED, (excluding the IMPERIAL LIFE FUND, the PROVIDENT LIFE FUND and the ECONOMIC LIFE FUND).

1.—The date up to which the Valuation is made is the 31st December 1913.

2.—Except in the case of some minor classes of Policies (more particularly referred to in the following paragraphs) the liability is ascertained by taking the difference between the present values of the sums assured, including reversionary bonuses, and the present values of the net premiums. In all cases where the original premiums have been reduced by the application of profits, the present values of the reduction are added to the liability.

The Valuation Age is the nearest integral age at the date of valuation, except in the case of Endowment Assurances, the Valuation Age for which is the age next birthday at entry plus the curtate duration. The Endowment Assurances are grouped according to the year of maturity, and a mean valuation age, determined by the "Z" method, is used for each group.

The net premiums used are as follows:—

For all Assurances other than Endowment and Contingent Assurances and Children's Endowments, the net premiums are O^M 3 per cent. premiums, based on the nearest integral age at entry; for Endowment Assurance Policies, the net premiums are O^M 3 per cent. premiums, based on the age next birthday at entry; for Contingent Assurance Policies, the net premiums are Carlisle 3 per cent. premiums, based on the nearest integral ages at entry; for Children's Endowments the net premiums are calculated at 3 per cent. interest, mortality being ignored.

For Reversionary Annuities the net premiums are $O^{[a]}$ 3 per cent. premiums based on the nearest integral ages at entry.

The reserve for Deferred Assurances and Deferred Annuities at periodical premiums (with return), is the amount of the premiums paid accumulated at 3 per cent. interest: that for Issue and "Name and Arms" Assurances and Temporary Assurances secured by single premiums is the whole of the premiums paid, whilst in the case of Temporary Assurances subject to annual premiums the reserve is a whole year's Office Premium.

For Policies issued subject to reduced rates of premiums for the first five years of assurance the reserve during these five years is a proportion of the Office Yearly Premium increasing from 50 per cent. to 150 per cent according to the class and duration; thereafter uniform premiums are payable and the Policies are included amongst the ordinary Whole Life or Endowment Assurance Policies.

In the case of Whole Life Policies which are Paid-up or are subject to Limited premiums, the sums assured and loadings have been valued in groups with the ordinary Whole Life Assurances, and the tabular premiums have been valued in groups according to the number of future premiums payable. The loadings reserved are the same as for ordinary Whole Life Assurances of the same age at entry.

Full reserves have been made for Policies in respect of which premiums have fallen into arrear, but which are capable of reinstatement in accordance with the Company's Regulations.

Additional special reserves have also been made:—

(1) For future expenses and profits in respect of Endowment Assurance Policies which are Paid-up or are subject to Limited Premiums;

(2) For the payment of claims immediately, after proof of death and title, and

(3) For the liability in respect of lapsed Policies kept in force under the Company's Non-forfeiture Regulations.

ALLIANCE ASSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

Policies on under-average lives are valued in the same way as normal cases, and an additional reserve equal to one year's extra premium is made. A similar additional reserve, equal to one year's extra premium, is made in cases where an extra premium is charged for foreign residence or occupation.

The principles adopted in the Valuation are determined by the Directors under powers conferred by the Company's Laws and Regulations.

3—The Tables of Mortality used in the Valuation are as follows :—

(a) The O^M Table for all classes of Assurance other than Contingent Assurances.

(b) The Carlisle Table, for Contingent Assurances.

(c) The British Offices' Life Annuity Tables, 1893, (distinguishing between Male and Female lives and taking account of recent selection) for Annuities.

4.—The rate of Interest assumed in the Valuation is 3 per cent.

5.—The amount and proportion of the Annual premium Income as at 31st December 1913, reserved as a provision for future expenses and profits, are as follows :—

With-profit policies £ 116,296, being 22 per cent. of the Annual premium Income (exclusive of extra premiums).

Without-profit policies £ 9,524, being 9 per cent. of the Annual premium Income (exclusive of extra premiums).

There are no policies with deferred profits.

6.—The Consolidated Revenue Account for the period since the last Valuation is as follows:—

ALLIANCE ASSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

8.—The principles upon which the distribution of profits is made are as follows :—

Out of the divisible profits the sum of £ 150,000 is appropriated to the Shareholders, provided that such sum of £ 150,000 is not greater than one-fifth or less than one-tenth of the divisible profits. The balance of the divisible profits is appropriated to provide a Reversionary Bonus to all Policies entitled to participate.

The principles of distribution are determined by the Directors under powers conferred by the Company's Laws and Regualtions and by the respective Agreements for the transfer of the business of the Royal Farmers' and General Insurance Company and the Provincial Insurance Company to the ALLIANCE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

In the case of Royal Farmers' and Provincial Policies the Bonus is calculated as a percentage on the sums assured according to the number of years' premiums paid since the last division of profits.

In the case of the Policies of the Alliance Old Series (i.e., Policies issued prior to the 1st January, 1894) the Profits are distributed partly in proportion to the assumed reserves at the beginning of the Valuation period, and partly in proportion to the premiums paid during the period; the profits are declared in the form of a Reversionary Addition to the Sum Assured, or of a permanent reduction of the future premiums.

In the case of the Policies of the Alliance New Series (i.e, Policies issued since 31st December, 1893) the Bonus is calculated as a percentage on the sums assured and previous Bonuses (if any) attaching ; according to the number of years' premiums paid since the last distribution of profits.

Every Policy on the Participating Scale (excepting certain policies subject to reduced premiums during the early years of assurance, which carry the right to participate only in respect of enhanced premiums paid, and Deferred Assurances on the lives of Children, which carry the right to participate only in respect of premiums paid after the Assurance commences) is entitled to share in the profits, provided that the Policy be fully in force on the date of the Valuation, that all premiums due on or before that date have been duly paid to the Company, and that the life or lives assured have survived the said date. In every case the Bonus vests immediately it is declared.

9.—The results of the Valuation are as follows :—

Surplus as shewn by Valuation Balance Sheet	...	£ 811,775
Add Interim Bonuses paid during the Quinquennium	...	28,176
TOTAL PROFIT (including £ 108,550 brought forward from the previous Quinquennium)	...	£ 839,951

This sum has been disposed of as follows :—

28,176 was paid in Interim Bonuses during the Quinquennium.

653,267 was allocated to 28,548 Policies with immediate participation in Profits assuring £ 15,344,842 (inclusive of Bonuses) after deduction of Re-assurances.

150,000 was allocated to the Shareholders.

£839,951

The above-mentioned sum of £ 108,550 brought forward from the previous Quinquennium, included £30,000 which belonged entirely to the Alliance Old Series (i.e., Policies issued prior to the 1st January, 1894). This sum of £ 30 000 had accumulated by the end of the valuation period to £ 35,089 of which £31,443 formed part of the allotment at this distribution to Old Series Policies, leaving a balance of £ 3,646 which is included in the above-mentioned amount of £ 8,508 carried forward.

No portion of the Profits was carried to Reserve Funds or other accounts.

ALLIANCE ASSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

The following tabular statements give specimens of Reverisonary Bonuses (assuming that none of the previous Bonuses has been surrendered or commuted) allotted to ALLIANCE Policies for £100 for Whole Life and Endowment Assurances effected at various ages at entry and having been in force for five years, ten years and upwards, at intervals of five years, respectively, together with their cash values and the equivalent permanent reductions of premium.

10.—The average rate of interest yielded by the assets, whether invested or uninvested, constituting the Alliance Life Assurance and Annuity Fund, calculated upon the mean fund of each of the undermentioned periods, without deduction of income tax, is—

For the year ending 31st December 1910, £4 1 10 per cent per annum.

"	"	1901,	4 0 10	"	"
"	"	1911,	4 0 10	"	"
"	"	1912,	4 1 5	"	"
"	"	1913,	4 4 1	"	"

The mean fund upon which the average rate of interest is calculated includes reversionary investments and is obtained by taking the arithmetical mean of the funds at the beginning and end of the period under review and deducting therefrom one-half of the interest brought into account during that period.

11.—The Surrender Values allowed in respect of ordinary Whole of Life and Endowment Assurance Policies are determined as follows:—

(a) For Participating ordinary Whole Life Policies—the full Pure-premium Reserve by the O^M Table, taking interest at 4½ per cent, for an age at entry, one year more than the actual age next birthday and a duration one year less.

For Non-Participating Policies of the same class—the value already described multipied by the ratio which the O^M Single Premium for the age attained, at 4½ per cent interest bears to that at 4 per cent interest.

(b) For Participating Endowment Assurances—the present value, by the O^M Table with interest at 4 per cent, of the guaranteed paid up Policy, the sum assured by such paid up Policy bearing the same proportion to the original sum assured as the actual number of years' Premiums paid bears to the maximum number originally payable.

For Non-Participating Policies of this class—the present value by the O^M Table with interest at 4½ per cent of the same paid-up Policy.

In both cases the Surrender Values of Participating Policies are increased by the full value, according to the O^M Table with interest at 4 per cent. of any profits declared and attaching.

The following are specimens of the Surrender Values of Non-Participating Policies according to the bases described above:—

CHINA MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

RETURNS TO THE BOARD OF TRADE UNDER THE ASSURANCE COMPANIES ACT, 1909, AS ON 31ST MARCH 1913.

(FOURTH SCHEDULE.)

Statement respecting the VALUATION OF THE LIABILITIES under Life Policies and Annuities of the China Mutual Life Insurance Company Limited made and signed by the Actuary, and the Consulting Actuary.

I.

The valuation was made as on 31st March 1913.

II.

Except in a few special cases the policies were valued in groups. The policies for the whole of life were grouped according to the nearest age on the valuation date. The endowment assurances and double endowment assurances were grouped according to the office financial year of maturity and for each year of maturity an average present age was calculated on principles involving Makeham's formula for the law of human mortality. Pure Endowments with return of premium were valued at interest only, mortality being ignored; but in the case of the Educational Endowments where premiums cease on the death of the father, the sum assured was valued at interest only, and the premium by a temporary annuity on the father's life.

The net premiums employed in the valuation of policies involving life risk (except those issued in Japan were derived from the $O^{m}(5)$ mortality table at 5 per cent. interest for an age one year older at entry than the actual age, but with a maximum allowance for initial expenses of 2 per cent. in capitalized value on the sum assured. The net premiums for pure Endowments with returns of premium were calculated on the same principles but at interest only. The net premiums for policies issued in Japan were calculated by the $O^{m}(5)$ mortality table on a strictly net premium basis at 4 per cent. interest.

Policies on under-average lives when an extra premium was charged were valued as for the actual age at entry, and an additional reserve was made of one half year's extra premium. Where the policies are subject to a contingent debt, the full sum assured was valued.

The principles and methods followed in the valuation are determined by the Directors acting under the advice of the Actuary and the Consulting Actuary.

III.

The Mortality Table used in the valuation was for Assurances the $O^{m}(5)$, it having been found that that Table gave a somewhat higher estimate of liability than if a Table based on the actual mortality prevailing amongst the lives assured had been used. For Annuities, the British Government Table, 1884 was used.

IV.

Interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum was assumed in respect of all Assurance business other than Japanese, for which 4 per cent. per annum was assumed. For Annuities 4 per cent.

V.

The whole of the difference between the office premiums and the net premiums as valued was reserved for the extra mortality that may be expected and for future expenses and profits. This loading amounted to the following percentages of the Office Premiums:—

For the general business—

With deferred profits ... 32·21 per cent.

Without profits ... 32·09 "

For the Japanese business—

With deferred profits ... 28·85 "

Without profits ... 26·56 "

There is no business with immediate profits.

VII.

The following statements show the liabilities of the Company under Life Policies and Annuities at the date of the valuation, with the number of policies, the amount assured and the amount of premiums payable annually under each class of policy, both with and without participation in profits; also the net liabilities and assets of the Company, and the amount of surplus.

The Company issues policies in various currencies, some Gold and some Silver. The policies of each currency are valued by themselves but all on the same principles explained in answer No. 2. The results are then converted to taels at suitable rates of exchange and for the British Board of Trade Returns the taels are converted to sterling money at 7½ Taels to the £, the taels therefore being taken as worth 2*s.* 8*d.* Sterling. This rate of exchange is applied to the assets as well as to the liabilities, and seeing that the investments in Gold and Silver currencies are approximately in proportion to the respective Gold and Silver liabilities, fluctuations in the rate of exchange are not of much importance and do not affect the financial position of the Company.

CHINA MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

VIII.

By clause 131 (a) of the Deed of settlement it is provided that "not less than 90 per cent. of such sum, if any, as would, but for this clause, be available for distribution as profits of the Company in each year, shall be applied for the benefit of such of the policyholders of the Company as may be insured with profits at such times, in such manner and upon such terms as the Directors may from time to time determine."

Only very recently have policies begun to mature for Bonus and hitherto a careful estimate has been made of the surplus available and the Directors have decided on the amount to be allotted to the policies actually maturing in the next succeeding year; the balance of surplus having been carried forward.

It is intended that in future the balance carried forward shall be (for the purpose of calculation and not as appropriated to individual policyholders) allotted to all the policies with Bonus terms unexpired as reversionary bonus which will be commuted into a Pure Endowment maturing at the end of the Bonus term; and that at each future valuation the value of these Endowments shall be held as reserve for the deferred Bonuses. In this way the proper amount of cash will be available to be distributed in each year amongst the policies with bonus terms ending in that year: but for a few years to come it will be necessary to supplement specially the Endowments of the policies actually maturing for Bonus, by making an additional allotment out of the current profits.

The shareholders are entitled to not more than the remaining one-tenth of the profits. All the policies of the Company are issued with Deferred Profits, with the condition that in the case of the Endowment Assurances and Pure Endowments the profits are payable in cash on the maturity of the respective policies, and in the case of Whole Life Policies and of a few others at the end of the deferred term selected at the outset and thereafter at the end of a similar deferred term. The number of years premiums to be paid before a Bonus is allotted and vests is the number of years of the Deferred term selected by the policyholder at the commencement. The Bonus in the case of Endowment Assurances and Pure Endowments is payable in Cash at the end of that term, but in the case of Whole Life Policies and a few others is declared as a reversionary bonus, which may be commuted for cash or reduction of premium.

IX.

The total amount of profit made by the Company during the quinquennium was as follows :—

Bonus paid to Policyholders during the quinquennium	... ...	36,337	17	8
Value of reversionary bonuses declared during quinquennium	... ...	877	13	8
Dividends paid to shareholders	... ...	2,000	0	0
Surplus disclosed by the valuation	... ...	33,682	0	4
Total Profit	... ...	72,897	11	8

		£	s.	d.
(a) Among policies with immediate participation in profits	...	Nil.
(b) Among 498 policies assuring £124,761 14 8 with deferred participation in profits and bonus terms ending during the year 1st April, 1913 to 31st March 1914	...	13,808	16	0
(c) Among shareholders	...	666	13	4
(d) To Reserve Funds or other accounts	...	Nil.
(e) Carried forward to be accumulated at mortality and interest for the benefit of policies with bonus terms unexpired	...	19,206	11	0

These policies, which include some with recurring Tontines, were 17,191 in number assuring sums of £4,017,218 13 4.

The system of the Company does not permit of such specimen bonuses being stated as are asked for by this question, but the following are specimens of the bonuses on Whole Life Policies of £1,000 with Bonus term of 5 years expiring in the year 1913-14, and with further recurring bonus terms of 5 years each.

NOTES.—In addition to the above the Company has liabilities in connection with the fusion of the hand-in-hand Insurance Society, also under an agreement with the Liverpool Victoria Insurance Corporation, Ltd., and for amounts uncalled on share in Insurance Companies owned by this Company.

The Company holds in connection with its Trust business and otherwise various securities not set out in this Balance Sheet.

The Book Values of the Securities comprised in the Life Account, the West of England Life Fund and the Union Life Fund will be reviewed at the next Quinquennial Valuation in accordance with usual practice. Subject to this qualification, we certify that:—

(1) In our belief the Assets set forth in the above Balance Sheet are in the aggregate fully of the value stated therein, less the Investment Reserve Fund. The Book Values of the Stock Exchange Securities, after deducting the amount of the investment Reserve Fund, are in the aggregate under the Market Values, such Market Values being based, with small exceptions, upon the middle closing Prices of the 31st December, 1913, as recorded in Official Lists.

(2) Part of the Assets has been deposited under Local Laws in various places out of the United Kingdom as security to holders of Policies there issued.

(3) No part of any fund has been applied directly or indirectly for any purpose other than the class of business to which it is applicable.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

We report that we have audited the above Accounts with the Books, Branch Returns and Vouchers of the Society, and have obtained all the information and explanations we have required. We have examined or verified the Securities relating to the Investments Mortgages and Loans, and the Certificates for Securities held abroad or lodged with Foreign Governments under their Regulations. We report that in our opinion the above Accounts and Balance Sheet of the 31st December 1913, are properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Society's affairs, subject to the above note, according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us, and as shewn by the Books of the Society.

We certify that no part of any Fund has been applied directly or indirectly for any purpose other than the class of business to which it is applicable.

In accordance with the Assurance Companies Act, 1909, we certify :—

(1) That Deposits out of General Assets have been made in various places out of the United Kingdom, under local laws, as security to policy holders in those places, for all classes of business. The only specific Deposit of Life Assurance Assets which has been made abroad in respect of Life Assurance Business is $100,000 deposited in the United States.

(2) That in our belief the Assets set forth in the Balance Sheet are in the aggregate fully of the value stated therein, after deducting the amount set aside in investment Fluctuation Fund.

(3) That no part of any fund has been applied directly or indirectly for any purpose other than the class of business to which it is applicable.

NOTE.—The values of the Stock Exchange Securities are arrived at by taking the mean market prices of the various investments as at 31st December last.

LIVERPOOL AND LONDON AND GLOBE INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

(A). FOURTH SCHEDULE.

Statement respecting the valuation of the Liabilities under Life Policies and Annuities of the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company, Limited, made by the Actuary.

N. B.—The Statement does not include the Policies of the Globe Insurance Company, which are given separately.

1. The valuation is made up to 31st December, 1913.

2. The principles upon which the valuation is made are determined by the Directors by virtue of the powers conferred on them by the Deeds of Settlement and Acts of Parliament of the Company.

The liability of the Company is ascertained, except in the case of a few minor classes of assurance, by taking the difference between the present value of the sums assured and the present value of the future net premiums, such net premiums being those for the ages next birthday at entry. Endowment Assurances are valued by the well known "Z" method of Mr. G. J. Lidstone. Additions are made to the reserves to provide for claims being payable immediately after proof of death instead of at the end of the policy year in which death occurs, for loading on limited payment policies after the premiums have ceased and for revival of lapsed policies. In a few minor classes of assurance such as pure endowments, deferred assurances for children before the risk is entered upon, etc., the reserve is ascertained by accumulating the gross premiums paid at 3 per cent. compound interest. In the case of term assurances at annual premiums one year's premium is reserved and in single premium cases the reserve is a proportion of the premium paid. Policies on under-average lives for the whole term of life are valued at the rated up age. Other classes including Endowment Assurances are valued at the true ages, one year's extra premium being added to the Reserve.

3. The Tables of Mortality used in the valuation are the British Offices (O^m (5)) Life Tables for assurances in the participating Class, the Guaranteed Bonus Class, and the Without Bonus Class, for assurances of less than five years' duration in the participating and without Bonus Classes and for all Endowment Assurances the O^m Table is used. The Annuities are valued by the British Offices (O^{am}) and (O^{af}) Life Annuity Tables, allowance being made in the calculations for the effect of recent selection.

4. The Rate of Interest assumed in the calculations is 2¾ per cent. for assurances and 3 per cent for annuities. The net premiums used in the valuation are calculated at 3 per cent., in order to increase the margin of loading reserved for future expenses and profits.

5. The proportion of the annual premium income reserved as a provision for future expenses and profits, is in the Participating Class, the difference between the gross premiums and the net 3 per cent. O^m premiums, amounting to 22·1 per cent. In the Guaranteed Bonus Class, provision for future bonuses having already been made as regards the Policy-holders, (vide Summary Statement under heading 7) all future profits fall to the proprietors and provision for expenses only has to be regarded. The proportion of annual premium income reserved in this Class for future expense, is, 12·1 per cent of the gross premiums. On the one side are valued the original sums assured and accrued bonuses, plus the value of the future guaranteed bonuses, treated as "increasing assurances", and on the other side the net O^m premium for the original sums assured, plus the balance of the premiums, after providing the 12·1 per cent for future expenses. In the Non-Bonus Class the expenses are provided for by the difference between the gross premiums and 3 per cent. O^m net premiums, amounting to 10·0 per cent.

6. The Company does not issue policies with deferred profits.

6. The Consolidated Revenue Account since the last valuation is as follows:—

8. The principles on which the Distribution of Profits among the Shareholders and Policyholders is made, are determined by the Directors, who adopted a resolution that the policyholders in the Participating Class are entitled to nine-tenths of the Divisible profits of their class.

All Policies at full premiums in the Participtaing Class which have been in force for one or more years share in the Division of Profits, while such Policies of less than one year's standing rank in the quinquennial division next following for the full number of annual premiums paid. The Bonuses vest immediately on declaration. The Profits in the Without Bonus Class belong to the Proprietors.

The Policyholders in the Guaranteed Bonus Class do not share in the profits according to the ordinary technical application of the term, their Bonuses being commuted, and fixed as part of the Policy at the outset of the assurance. These Guaranteed Bonuses commenced on each policy respectively after five annual payments of premium, and irrespective of the dates of valuation. Any profits after allowance has been made for these Guaranteed additions fall to the Proprietors.

9. The results of the Valuations are as follows :—

(1) The total amount of profit made by the Company, after providing £50,000 towards depreciation in Securities and including accumulated surplus arising out of the Valuation of the previous Quinquennium then left in reserve, is £618,266 allocated as follows :—

(a) To Participating Policyholders, £245,550 among 14,682 policies representing a sum assured of £5,485,074. In addition, Interim Bonuses amounting to £10,89[illegible] have been paid during the quinquennium.

(b) The Company does not grant policies with deferred participation.

(c) To members' Life Profits Account £76,938.

(d) To strengthen the Annuity Reserve £25,000.

(e) Surplus still left in Reserve £270,778 including £35,460 undivided surplus in the Participating Class.

LIVERPOOL AND LONDON AND GLOBE INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

(2) Specimens of bonuses allotted to Policies for £100, effected at the respective ages of 20, 30, 40 and 50, and having been in force for five, ten, fifteen, twenty, twenty-five or thirty years respectively, together with the amounts apportioned under the various modes in which the bonus may be received.

FIFTH SCHEDULE.

10. The average Rate of Interest at which the Life Assurance Fund of the Company was invested at the close of each year during the period since the last investigation, before deduction of tax, is as follows.—

	£ s. d.
In 1909	3 17 5	per cent.
„ 1910	3 18 7	„
„ 1911	3 19 2	„
„ 1912	3 19 4	„
„ 1913	3 18 2	„

The Mean Fund on which the average rate of interest is calculated includes Reversionary Investments, and is ascertained by deducting one-half a year's interest from the arithmetical mean of the Funds at the beginning and end of the respective years.

11. The following Table exhibits the minimum values allowed for the surrender of Policies of different standing for £100, effected at various Ages for the whole term of life.

Surrender Values are allowed for ordinary Whole Term Policies after three, for Whole Life Policies with limited payments after one, and for Endowment Assurances after two Annual Premiums have been paid. The above values apply to Non-Bonus Policies. Bonus Policies are, in addition to these values, allowed the Cash Value of their Reversionary Bonuses.

For Endowments on the Returnable Scale the minimum values are 75 per cent. of the total Premiums received.

For Endowments on the Non-Returnable Scale the values are determined according to the State of Health of the Endowed, and the particular circumstances of each individual case.

The Company does not transact business at other than European rates.

NOTE 2.—In the Balance Sheet above all securities listed on the Stock Exchange are valued at prices quoted on December 31st, 1913, or the last quotation previous to that date. All other Securities, Bonds, Debentures, etc., are valued by a Bond Broker at the prevailing price at December 31st, 1913; the School District Debentures being taken at cost, which was considered market value.

We have audited the Accounts of the Company for the year ending 31st December, 1913, and have examined the above statement of Assets and Liabilities and accepted the certificate of the Company's Actuary regarding the balance of Shareholders Account and Life Insurance Fund.

We certify that, in our belief, the Assets set forth in the above Balance Sheet are, in the aggregate, fully of the value stated therein.

On the 31st December, 1913, we examined the Securities of the Company, the Cash and the Bank Balances and found them in order.

In our opinion the above statement is properly drawn up, so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the Company's affairs.

MANUFACTURERS LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

FOURTH SCHEDULE.

Statement respecting the VALUATION OF THE LIABILITIES under Life Policies and Annuities to be made and signed by the Actuary.

I.

The date up to which the valuation is made is 31st December 1913.

II.

The general principles adopted in the valuation are as follows :—

The policies have been valued according to the net premium method of valuation by the tables of mortality and rate of interest mentioned in Sections III and IV below. For the purposes of valuation, the policies have been brought together in groups according to plan, age at entry and duration. For age at entry, the age next birthday has been taken, and all policies have been assumed to have been issued in the middle of calendar year of entry. On account of the Company guaranteeing on certain policies a surrender value at the end of twenty years from date of issue equal to the H^m 3 per cent reserve, an additional reserve sufficient to provide for the difference between the H^m 3 per cent and the H^m 3½ per cent reserve at the end of twenty years has been set aside. The policies coming under this provision consist of all Whole Life and Limited Payment Life policies issued at Northern rates since January 1st, 1904. The requirements of the Insurance Act of Canada, whereby a yearly valuation of the policy liabilities of the Company must be made, have been complied with, although at the present valuation a rate of interest one-half of 1 per cent lower than that required by the provisions of this Act has been employed for all policies issued prior to the year 1900. The valuation of particular classes of Assurances has been made from prepared tables of policy reserves. The net premiums used in the valuation have been arrived at by an exact calculation from prepared tables of net premiums. The above principles are in accordance with the requirements of the Insurance Act of Canada and the rulings of the Insurance Department.

Under-average lives are occasionally accepted by the Company at normal rates, and the policy is written subject to a lien or contingent debt. In such cases the following endorsement is placed upon the policy :—

" This policy is issued by the Company and accepted by the Insured subject to the special condition, that if the death of the Insured occurs during the first policy year, the amount of the insurance payable in the event of death will be £...... ....and will increase yearly by the sum of £ ....commencing on the.................day of....................19......until the insurance payable hereunder equals the amount mentioned in the face of the policy. It is also agreed that if the death of the Insured shall be caused by purely accidental, violent and external injuries which shall result in death within three months from the happening of the accident, and be uncomplicated by disease of any kind, then the amount of Insurance mentioned on the face of the policy shall be the sum payable, subject to the other conditions of this policy."

The amount of the debt and the yearly reduction depend upon the nature of the extra risk.

In valuing such policies no account is taken of the debt, and the calculation of both reserves and profits are made exactly as if no such debt existed.

III.

The tables of Mortality used in the valuation of assurances are as follows :—

For policies at Northern rates, General and Abstainers' section, the Institute of Actuaries H^m. table.

For policies at Tropical rates the American Tropical table.

For policies at Sub-Tropical rates a table based on the mean of the Institute of Actuaries H^m. table and the American Tropical table.

For Annuities British Office Life Annuity Tables (1893).

IV.

The rate of interest assumed in the calculations is 3½ per cent.

V.

As the valuation has been made on the net premium method the provision for future expenses and profits is the entire difference between the gross premiums receivable and the net premiums used in the valuation. The actual percentages of the gross premiums thus reserved are as follows :—

	Deferred Profits.	Quinquennial Profits.

VIII.

The principles upon which profits are distributed are determined by the Board of Directors. According to the Charter of the Company the holders of participating policies in any section or sections are entitled to at least ninety per cent. of the profits set apart by the Directors for distribution as having been derived from participating policies in such section or sections.

The participating policies issued by the Company are divided into two classes: (1) Those under which profits are distributed on their fifth anniversary and quinquennially thereafter. (2) Those under which payment of profits is deferred until the expiration of the respective accumulation periods and quinquennially thereafter.

The principles upon which the distribution of profits among shareholders and policyholders is made, are as follows:

For policies with Accumulation Periods all policies were grouped according to year of issue, plan, age and gross premium. Each group was credited each year from commencement with all premiums received thereon, together with its share of all interest and profits earned, and debited with its proper share of expenses, death claims, surrender values and all other payments, the balance remaining being the "fund" at the credit of the policies in the group from year to year. From the funds at the credit of those policies on which profits were to be distributed, the proper reserves were deducted and ninety per cent. of the balance was set aside for distribution to the policyholders. The Insured was given the option of taking the amount thus found as a single cash payment or its equivalent as an annuity for life, or as a bonus addition to the sum assured, the latter being subject to evidence of good health.

For policies with quinquennial distribution of profits the dividends were calculated by accumulating funds by policy years using factors closely approximating to the actual experience of the Company. From these funds the proper reserves were deducted and 90 % of the resulting surplus allotted. The Insured was given the option of converting the cash profits into an annual reduction of premiums for the following five years or into a bonus addition to the sum assured. If, however, the bonus addition was not chosen at the first distribution it was not available at a subsequent distribution unless evidence of continued good health was furnished.

Policies with quinquennial distribution of profits must be in force five years in order to be entitled to share in the profits of the Company. Policies issued on the accumulation plan must be in force until the completion of their respective accumulation periods before they are entitled to share in the profits of the Company. Bonuses vest immediately when allotted.

The Total Amount of Profit made by the Company during the five years ending 31st December, 1913, was £444,656.11. which was allotted as follows :—

X.

The average rate of Interest at which the Life Assurance Fund was invested during the Valuation Period was as follows:—

Year ending 31st December	(a) £ s. d.	(b) £ s. d.
1909	5 11 8 per cent.	6 1 1 per cent.
1910	5 8 10 per cent.	5 8 11 per cent.
1911	5 14 8 per cent.	5 19 0 per cent.
1912	6 1 6 per cent.	7 17 10 per cent.
1913	6 5 7 per cent.	6 10 7 per cent.

These rates are calculated from the formula $R = \frac{2I}{A + B - I}$ where A is the amount of the fund at the beginning of the year, and B the amount at the end of the year, and I is in (a) the net income from interest and rents, and in (b) the net income from interest, rents and profits from the sale of securities.

No Reversionary Investments are included in the Mean Fund.

XI.

Surrender values are usually allowed on all policies (other than term assurances) after three years' premiums have been paid and in policies now issued these values are guaranteed.

On Endowment assurance policies with profits now issued, the cash values are based on the Hm 3½% reserves, and on Life and Limited Payment Life policies with profits, these values are based on the Hm 3½% and Hm 3% reserves. Cash values on without profits policies are based on the with profits cash values with a deduction varying with plan, age and duration.

FOURTH SCHEDULE.

Statement respecting the Valuation of the Liabilities under Life Policies and annuities made by the Actuary.

I.

The date up to which the Valuation is made is the 31st December 1913.

II.

(i) The principles upon which the Valuation has been made were determined by the Directors, acting under the advice of the Actuary.

(ii) With the exceptions mentioned below under (iii), (iv) and (v), the Valuation has been made on the principle of deducting the present value of the net premiums applicable to the various contracts from the present value of the corresponding sums assured and bonuses.

The net premiums employed were those corresponding to the Office ages at entry, according to the bases stated in Answers III. and IV. The Valuation ages for both lives assured and annuitants were their nearest integral ages as at the date of Valuation. Endowment Assurances were valued in groups arranged according to the calendar year of maturity, the mean Valuation ages for each group being calculated on the Z method.

In respect of policies transferred from the Whittington Company, the premiums valued were 90 per cent. of the office premiums. The resulting reserve is, in the aggregate, equal to that obtained under a net premium valuation.

(iii) In the case of Convertible Term, Increasing Premium and Short Term Assurances, a proportion of the office premium has been reserved. The reserve thus provided exceeds that obtained by a net premium valuation.

(iv) For Deferred Assurances, Sinking Fund Assurances, and Deferred Annuities with Return of Premium the full premiums received with compound interest at the valuation rate of 3 per cent. have been reserved.

(v) In respect of a few Issue and other special risks, the total amount of premiums received has been reserved.

(vi) The method of valuation adopted provides a full reserve of loading on those policies which are paid up or subject to a limited number of premiums.

(vii) Special reserves have been made for early payment of claims, and for unequal incidence of premium income. Policies on under-average lives were valued at their true ages, the extra premium being taken as equivalent to the current risk. A reserve equal to a full year's extra premium was made to meet the unexpired extra risk, whether the extra premium were imposed on account of health, foreign residence, or occupation.

III.

The Tables of Mortality used in the Valuation are :—

For Assurances other than Survivorship, and for Deferred and Reversionary,

Annuities without Return of Premium, the Om Table,

For Survivorship Assurances, the Carlisle Table.

For Immediate Annuities, the British Offices Life Annuity Tables (Analysed.)

NATIONAL MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY.

IV.

The Rate of Interest assumed in the calculations is 3 per cent.

V.

The proportion of the annual premium income reserved as a provision for future expenses and profits :—

In respect of Policies effected with the Society, or with the Mutual or National Societies, the whole of the loading, i.e., the difference between the premiums actually payable and the net premiums according to the bases stated in Answers III. and IV. This loading was equal to 23·3 per cent. of the relative annual premium income in the case of Assurances with Immediate Profits and to 10 per cent. in the case of Assurances without Profits.

In respect of Policies transferred from the Whittington Company 10 per cent. of the annual premium income.*

VI.

The Consolidated Revenue Account is at page 84.

VII.

The Summary and Valuation is at pages 85-86. The Valuation Balance Sheet is as follows .—

VALUATION BALANCE SHEET AS AT 31ST DECEMBER, 1913.

Dr.		Cr.
To Net liability under Life Assurance and Annuity contracts (as per Summary Statement provided in Fourth Schedule) ...	£2,645,735 0 0	By Life Assurance and Annuity Funds as at 31st December 1913 (as per Balance Sheet)	£2,986,833 0 0
" Balance, being Surplus ...	341,098 0 0

VIII.

The principles upon which the profits have been distributed among the policy-holders were, so far as regards Class A of the late National Society, prescribed by the Society's Act of Parliament, and were, as regards all other Policies, determined by the Directors under the advice of the Actuary, in accordanee with the Articles of Association.

The divisible surplus has been applied (a) as regards With-Profit Policies effected with the National Life Assurance Society prior to 1st January, 1871, which Policies constitute Class A of the Society, to reduce the premiums for the five years following the date of Valuation by a uniform percentage, or to provide equivalent additions to the sums assured in the case of Policies taking profits in that form ; (b) as regards all other With-Profit Policies entitled to participate, which Policies constitute the With-Profit Class of the Society, to provide a Reversionary Bonus at a uniform rate of 36 per cent. per annum compound, reckoned on the sums assured and bonuses declared since 2nd July, 1896, and attaching to the Policies at the 31st December, 1913, adjusted in respect of any difference between the rate of premium paid and the rate of premium now charged by the Society, or to provide equivalent permanent reductions of premium in cases where profits have on previous occasions been applied to reduce the premiums.

All participating policies are entitled to receive a year's bonus for each full annual premium paid during the Valuation period.

All bonuses vest immediately on declaration.

* This is equivalent to the reserve of the full loading on the remainder of the non-profit business.

NATIONAL MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY.

IX.

(i) The total amount of profit made was £359,299 (including £78,544 carried forward unappropriated at 31st December, 1908). This sum is arrived at by adding to the surplus, as shown by the Valuation Balance Sheet, the sum of £18,201, being the amount paid in interim bonuses during the quinquennium. The profit has been allocated as follows:—

(a) The sum of £235,934 has been divided among 8,791 Policies assuring £3,878,346 (exclusive of previous bonus additions), all of which were entitled to immediate Participation. In Class A of the late National Society, the premiums payable for the five years 1914-18 will be reduced by 100 per cent., or equivalent reversionary additions will be made to the sums assured.

(b) The Society does not issue Policies with Deferred Participation.

(c) The Society is a Mutual Society, and the amount divided among shareholders is therefore nil.

(d) The amount of surplus carried forward unappropriated was £102,164.

(ii) The following are specimens of the Reversionary Bonuses allotted to Whole Life Policies for £100 in the "With-Profit" Class:—

NATIONAL MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY.

X.

The average Rate of Interest yielded by the assets, whether invested or uninvested, constituting the Life Assurance Fund of the Society, calculated upon the mean fund of each year during the period since the last investigation without deduction of Income Tax, was as follows :—

		£	s.	d.
During the year	1909	4	7	9	per cent.
Ditto	1910	4	10	2	"
Ditto	1911	4	11	10	"

Ditto	1913	4	19	0	"

The mean fund, upon which the average Rate of Interest is calculated, excludes reversionary investments.

XI.

The following Tables, calculated for a £1,000 Policy, show the minimum Surrender Values, exclusive of the value of any bonus additions, allowed in respect of Ordinary Policies for the Whole Term of Life, and for Endowment Assurances, according to the present practice of the Society. These Values apply both to With-Profit and Without-Profit Policies, but With-Profit Policies, on which the Bonus has not been commuted, receive in addition the Cash Value of the Reversionary Bonus or Reduction of Premiums.

NOTE.—The values of the Stock exchange Securities were arrived at as follows :—Where sales were made at the Stock Exchange a list was kept for thirty days previous to and including December 31st, 1913, and what was thought a fair average market value was used. In some instances where the securities were very active and sales frequent, the mean price for the week was taken. In the case of inactive bonds the bid and asking prices were observed for thirty days and the average used. The values of foreign securities were based upon the mean of certain daily high and low quotations. In our belief the assets set forth in the foregoing Balance Sheet are in the aggregate fully of the value stated therein

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

We have examined the books kept at the Head Office of the Company at New York, and the returns made by Branch Offices to the Head Office. Having regard to the periodic audit of the accounts by the Insurance Department of the State of New York, and to the exhaustive character of the Company's internal audit, we have not been instructed to make, and have not made, a complete examination of the books and accounts, but have tested the same, and have similarly tested the list of securities by the inspection of a limited number selected by us.

We have obtained all the information and explanations which we have required, and, subject to the partial nature of our examination, are of opinion that the foregoing Balance Sheet is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Company's affairs, according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us, and as shown by the books of the Company at the Head Office.

FOURTH SCHEDULE.

STATEMENT RESPECTING THE VALUATION OF THE LIABILITIES UNDER LIFE POLICIES AND ANNUITIES MADE BY THE ACTUARY.

1. This valuation is made up to the 31st day of December, 1913.

2. The principle on which the policies are valued is that known as the " net reserve " basis, the net reserve for each policy being the excess of the present value of the sum assured over the present value of the future net premiums receivable. The net reserves used are the " mean reserves ", such mean reserves being one-half of the sum of (1) the net premium ; (2) the terminal reserve for the policy year completed in 1913 ; and (3) the terminal reserve for the policy year completed in 1914. The " mean reserves " are ascertained directly from tables, and, consequently, the valuation is not made by ascertaining separately the total present values of the sums assured and of the future net premiums receivable, and deducting the latter from the former.

The grouping of the policies for valuation purposes covers the year of issue, age at issue, and plan of assurance in a way that forms group that are homogeneous. The method of valuation is the same for all classes of assurances. The net premiums are calculated on the same mortality and interest bases at those on which the valuation is made, the age being that at the nearest birthday at entry. The Principles are fixed by the laws of the State of New York.

Prior to 1st January, 1907, the Company accepted lives when the risk was impaired, or where there was believed to the additional hazard on account of occupation, under forms of policy known as " Intermediate " and " Adjustable Accumulation ". Under these forms the risks assured were placed in separate classes as to profits, with accumulation periods of 10, 15 and 20 years, and with the agreement that the profits to be declared at the end of the accumulation period should depend upon the mortality in the special class in which they were placed. In the " Adjustable Accumulation " Class certain policies were also made subject to the condition that if death took place within a specified number of years the Company would be liable, not for the face amount of the assurance, but for a smaller amount, which increased each year by a sum equal to the amount of the annual premium paid by the Assured, until the face amount of the assurance was reached, after which the face amount of the assurance was payable. The " Adjustable Accumulation " Class was introduced in 1896. The " Intermediate " Class was introduced in 1904, and in it were included only cases with minor impairments.

Since 1st January, 1907, underaverage lives have been accepted by advancing the age, and in the valuation policies on such lives have been treated as normal policies issued at the advanced age at entry.

3 and 4. The Tables of Mortality used and the rates of interest assumed in the valuation are :—

All assurances except those mentioned below, American Mortality, 3 per cent interest.

Assurances on Impaired Lives (issued prior to 1st January 1907) and Tropical Assurances, hypothetical tables of Mortality representing at each age one and one-half times and twice the American rate of Mortality, 3 per cent interest.

The classes of policies valued at " Double American " 3 per cent are as follows :—

(a) All policies issued at the Tropical scale of premium ;

(b) All policies in the " Adjustable Accumulation " Class issued with a lien against the assurance ;

(c) All policies in the " Adjustable Accumulation " Class issued without a lien, for the years of issue 1904 to 1906 inclusive.

The classes of policies valued at " Sesqui-American " 3 % are as follows :—

(a) All policies issued at the Semi-Tropical scale of premium ;

(b) All policies in the " Adjustable Accumulation " Class issued without a lien, for the years of issue 1896 to 1903 inclusive ;

(c) All policies issued in the " Intermediate " Class.

Annuities, McClintock's Annuity Tables, 3% interest.

5. This valuation being made on net premiums, the proportion of the annual premiums reserved for future expenses and profits, and therefore left unvalued, is the entire " loading " or margin between the tabular premium charged and the relative pure or net premium. This margin was in respect of assurances with immediate profit

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

23·49%, with deferred profits 19·61% and without profits 8·18% of the annual premium income of these respective Classes at 31st December 1913. In respect of the total annual premium income at 31st December 1913, the margin was 21·42%.

6. For information called for by this question, see Schedule marked "Revenue Account".

7. For information called for by this question, see Schedules annexed, marked "Fourth Schedule 7".

8. There are no shareholders. The Company is mutual and all profits belong to the policy-holders. The profits are distributed among the various classes of assurance (i. e., the various Dividend systems) on the principle of the Contribution plan. The distribution to individual policies participating at the end of a deferred dividend period of ten or more years is made in accordance with tables of Standard cash values constructed in general according to the method described in a pamphlet published in 1905 by the Vice-President and Chief Actuary (Rufus W. Weeks), and entitled "True Accounting With 'Deferred Dividends'".

For policies written subsequent to December 31st, 1906, and known as "Contribution Annual Dividend" policies the Company's rule of apportionment of annual dividends is in accordance with the principles and methods described in a paper by Rufus W. Weeks entitled "A Practical Rule for Calculating Annual Dividends", and published in the "Transactions of the Actuarial Society of America, No. 36".

These principles have been adopted by the Board of Directors, acting under the powers conferred by the Charter of the Company, and the Insurance Laws of the State of New York.

Under these Insurance Laws, surplus accruing upon all policies issued after December 31st, 1906 (Contribution Annual Dividend policies), must be ascertained and distributed annually. On policies completing their first assurance year in 1914, no dividend was apportioned by the Company as payable in 1914. On Policies completing their second to seventh years in 1914, and on policies written in 1907, but with the first assurance year taking effect from a date in 1906 and therefore completing their eighth assurance year in 1914, dividends were declared at 31st December, 1913.

Under Policies issued prior to 1st January 1907, dividends are declared in cash at the end of the accumulation period of 10, 15 or 20 years; or, in some cases at the end of 7 and 5-year intervals, or annually, as may be provided in the policy.

9. (1) The profit of the Company for the year ending on the 31st day of December 1913 was £2,705,107 2*s*. 10*d*.

The amount of surplus on December 31st 1913, was £21,810,121 19*s*. 4*d*., which has been carried to the following accounts :—

Reserve to provide dividends payable to policyholders in 1914 and in subsequent years per policy contracts :

NOTE.—The bases for Annuities are McClintock $3\frac{1}{2}$°/$_o$ for issues prior to 1909 and McClintock 3°/$_o$ for later issues : except Austria where the basis is R. F. $3\frac{1}{2}$°/$_o$; France, R. F. 4°/$_o$ for issues prior to 1898 and R. F. $3\frac{1}{2}$°/$_o$ for later issues; Russia, Semler 4°/$_o$, and Canada Japan and Mexico, McClintock 3°/$_o$.

The Bases for Assurances for Argentine, Belgium, Brazil, Bulgaria, Canada, Germany, Japan, Hungary, Mexico, Norway, Servia, and Switzerland are the same as Fourth Schedule, 3 and 4.

The bases for other countries are as follows :

Austria.—Actuaries' 4°/$_o$ for all Assurances in case of death issued prior to 1st January 1898. American 3°/$_o$ for all other Assurances.

France.—Actuaries' 4°/$_o$ for issues prior to 1901, American $3\frac{1}{2}$°/$_o$ for issues from 1901 to 13th March 1907. Since 13th March 1907: A. F. $3\frac{1}{2}$°/$_o$ for Assurances in case of death and R. F. $3\frac{1}{2}$°/$_o$ for Pure Endowments. For Assurances on Impaired Lives and Tropical Assurances issued prior to 13th March 1907, hypothetical tables of Mortality representing at each age one and one-half times and twice the American rate of mortality and 3°/$_o$ interest.

Russia.—Actuaries' 4°/$_o$ for all Assurances in case of death issued prior to 1st January 1898, M. I. 4°/$_o$ for all other such Assurances and Semler 4°/$_o$ for all Pure Endowments.

Spain.—Assurances with Annual Dividends, American Mortality, 3°/$_o$ interest. Assurances with Deferred Dividends bearing 3°/$_o$ guarantees, American Mortality, 3°/$_o$ interest; all others, American Mortality, $3\frac{1}{2}$°/$_o$ interest. Assurances on impaired lives (issued prior to 1st January 1907) and tropical assurances, hypothetical tables of mortality, Sesqui and Double American, 3°/$_o$ interest.

The tables called R. F. and A. F. are based on the annuity and assurance experiences respectively of French Life Assurance Companies, and information regarding them may be found in the Journal of the Institute of Actuaries, Volume XXXIII, pages 485 and following. The table named M. I. is based on the experience of 23 German companies. The Semler Table is based on the annuity experience of the "Preussiche Renten-Versicherungs-Anstalt."

*The Life Assurance business of the Northern consists of two distinct branches—the Participation and the Non-Participation. In the former the profits belong to the Policyholders, in the latter to the Shareholders. Separate accounts are, therefore, given. Payment of the sums assured is guaranteed by the Shareholders' Capital in both branches.

AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE.

I report that I have obtained all the information and explanations I have required. I have examined and compared the above Balance Sheet and the foregoing Revenue Accounts with the books and vouchers at the Head Office and with the returns received from the Branches and find them in accordance therewith. I have had produced to me all the Securities held by the Society, with the exception of certain Mortgage Deeds deposited for safe custody with foreign Bankers, and other assets deposited with various Governments, for which certificates have been produced to me.

I am of opinion that this Balance Sheet is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Society's affairs according to the best of my information and explanations given to me and as shown by the books of the Society.

The Mortgages, Loans and other Assets (with the exception of the Stock Exchange Securities, the market value of which at the 31st December last was £2,855,693) are taken at or under the values which were placed upon them by the Directors at 30th June, 1911, with the exception of any Investments or other Assets since made or acquired, which are taken at cost or under.
